The personnel of the chorus is fine. It seems, on hearing the ensemble, that every voice must be of absolutely first class quality and equally patent is it that the mass of musicianship is great.

Mr. Clissold has grown to be a very definite as well as a thoroughly genial conductor, and the work of the singers throughout reflected the authority, poise and finish of his baton.

After a rousing reading of "The Star Spangled Banner" the chorus lent itself enthusiastically to H. W. Fairbanks' stirring "Loyal and True," which was much liked, and thereafter their groups included the "Berlin Medley," as sung in the cantonments, ending with "Pack Up Your Troubles," sung with extreme effect, the audience gladly accepting the invitation to "swell the chorus"; "God Eternal, Mighty King," a solidly melodic and very religious number written for the club by Ernest O. Sellers; "The Spacious Firmament," which was a grateful arrangement of "The Heavens Are Telling" (Haydn); "The Crusaders" (Protheroe), "Our Flag" (Verdi), "I Long for Thee" (Haertel), "The Heavens With Praise" (Beethoven) and the universally popular as well as wholly beautiful "Land of Mine," by James MacDermid of Chicago.

Edgar Nelson was the solo organist and played with immense verve and brilliant color a Concert Overture (Mansfield), and smaller numbers of Stoughton, Gordon Balch Nevin and Fletcher, creating a splendid impression throughout and scoring a genuine sensation with the Overture, which is, in truth, a remarkable piece of virtuosity in composition and which requires for its proper playing transcendent technic as well as great intelligence, both of which qualities were brought to it by Mr. Nelson.

Some harp solos were played by Clara Louise Thurston, and besides singing a grateful obligato in one of the choral numbers William Griswold Smith was heard in a group of tenor solos which pleased the audience extremely.

Mr. Smith has fine presence and abundant musical feeling, coupled with an intelligence which covers all points of interpretation and which is especially notable in the definiteness of enunciation.

This item proved to be invaluable in the great song, "The Americans Come" (Fay Foster) and was one of the factors which resulted in this being a definite feature of the program.

Besides this number, which was sung with intensity and dramatic appeal, Mr. Smith showed much suavity and good musical style in "Caro mio ben," by Giordini.

C. E. W.

MINNETTE WARREN
COMPOSER-PIANIST
Mgt. Warren Concert Bureau
305 SCHIFFMANN BLDG. ST. PAUL, MINN

WILHELMINE LANG
DRAMATIC SOPRANO
Concert - Oratorio - Recital Pupils
2054 W. Chicago Avenue Phone Humboldt 24

MME. BRUNE-MARCUSSON
SOPRANO Concert—Oratorio—Pupils
400 Fine Arts Bldg. Phone West 611

LESTER MARGARET Soprano WILLIAM Composer-Accompanist
5211 BLACKSTONE AV. PHONE MIDWAY 8888

Melba Mae French-Barr
LYRIC SOPRANO
Studio 1530 Kimball Building Phone Edgewater 8322

MAE Doelling Pianist Teacher
2912 Burling Street

Eugene F. Dressler
NAVY

Hazel Dell Neff
Coloratura Soprano 4263 5th Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ruth Lowenberg
SOPRANO
4236 Grand Boulevard Drexel 1863

GEORGE RALF KURTZ
Organ Piano Accompanying
Sherwood Music School Fine Arts Bldg. Annex

ROLLIN Bass-Baritone PEASE
910 Colfax St., Evanston, Ill. Phone Evanston 6522

Orchard School Music and Expression
Piano, Voice, Violin, Cello, Theory, Dancing
1537 Hyde Park Boulevard. Phone Blackstone 1789

LYELL BARBER
PIANIST
Bush Conservatory Superior 8700

GERTRUDE OGDEN FLEMING
DRAMATIC SOPRANO
Centralizing School of Music Tel. Wabash 6349

ETHEL BRENK
137 20th Street SOPRANO Milwaukee, Wis.

Anne Williams Teacher of Piano and Harmony
STUDIO: 28 Latrobe Avenue
PHONE: Columbus 1760

Tollefsen Trio
CONCERTS - MUSICALES
MGT. WINTON & LIVINGSTON, NEW YORK

Marian Coryell Accompanist Composer Pupils
STUDIO: 72 West 68th St., New York

A SPLENDID OPENING NIGHT AT THE OPERA

Reviewed by CHARLES E. WATT

Something over twenty-five years ago the Auditorium, which was then an amazing development in architecture and style and which remains today one of the finest temples of operatic art in the world, was opened with a great blare of trumpets.

The president of the United States was there, as also was Adelina Patti, Clarence Eddy and a lot more of the world's greatest, and also there was much music written "especially for the occasion."

There was magnificent enthusiasm in evidence.

Eight years ago the Chicago Opera Company gave its opening performance and thus Chicago, after years of dependence on the Metropolitan "road equipment" for its Grand Opera, was at last given its own company and was started along that road which now has culminated in this city being classed second to none in operatic adventure and achievement.

Again there was unlimited appreciation and enthusiasm.

But on Monday evening of this week there occurred a scene in the Auditorium (at the opening of the eighth Chicago season) which so far surpassed either of the other historical dates as to place it in memory as something sui generis—something which will never be seen again by any living person.

The demonstration involved so many factors that one despairs of writing adequately about them all, but the chief factor—the one big thing—was the burst of patriotic enthusiasm which occurred after the second act of the opera "Traviata."

The scene which took place at that time was so far superior in sentiment and expression to anything witnessed on the memorable Armistice Monday as to place that day completely in the background of the memory of every one so fortunate as to be present at the Auditorium on Monday night.

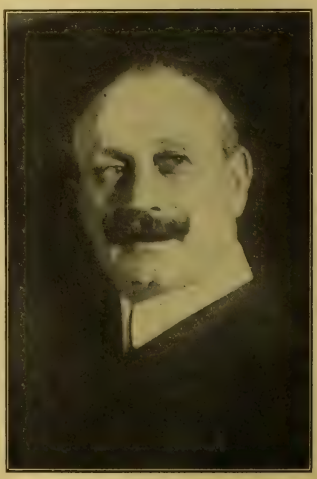
All honor to those who promoted this event! All praise to the artists and the audience alike for the keen enthusiasm with which the plan was carried through.

With Campanini in the lead, four other conductors followed him into the orchestra pit amidst a salvo of applause which, of course, was chiefly meant for him, but which included in approbation also the new conductor, Polacco, and those better known—Charlier, Hasselmans and Sturani.

Each of these had his turn in the scene which followed.

The parting curtain disclosed a very deep and wide setting with ascending steps at the back.

The entire chorus and ballet was assembled on this stage and served as background and assistants to each Standard Bearer as he or she came down the steps in turn—each appropriately garbed and each proudly displaying the Standard of the Country he had been assigned to represent.



CLEOFONTE CAMPANINI
General Director

First—Auguste Bouilliez came firmly grasping the flag of Belgium, and in a voice of power and beauty (a voice new to Chicago) intoned the beautiful "Brabaconne."

There was great applause and cheering and this was intensified somewhat when Riccardo Stracciari came and in exultant style and glorious voice presented "Garabaldi's Hymn" in honor of Italy.

Then came the popular hero of the opera as well as the stalwart representative of beloved France, Lucien Muratore, and so great was the preliminary applause that he could scarcely begin "La Marseillaise," and when he had finished it the tumult was something stupendous. Cries of "Vive la France" filled the air and hundreds wept for joy in memory of the heroic deeds of our brave ally.

Then there came down the steps a vision of delight—Miura in Japanese full regalia and gently waving the flag of her country. She intoned sweetly and beautifully the sad, monotonous patriotic air of Japan and retired amid vociferous acclaim.

Followed then the statuesque Cyrena Van Gordon, who, garbed exactly as Britannia

SYLVIA TELL
American Premiere Danseuse

—Photo by Daguerre

RICCARDO STRACCIARI
Italian Baritone

should be and with the exact voice and style for the splendid song, gave us "God Save the King" in full beauty and power, and again was the audience roused to a frenzy of delight.

But when Mr. Campanini called out "The United States Forever" and Galli-Curci came lovingly waving The Flag, and in her inimitable way sang "The Star Spangled Banner"—then indeed did pandemonium break loose and for uncounted minutes the cheering and handclapping were at fever height and intensity.

♮ ♮ ♮

Then appeared Mr. Floyd Gibbons and gave us a wonderful word picture of some things that have been done "over there, and, paraphrasing the command of a vital American officer, he ended his speech with "and now come on, damn you—give to the boys; do you want to hold on to what you have forever?"

And after that the young ladies went about the capacity audience and collected boxesful of money for the service drive.

. . . . . .

And if all this took away a little from the possible enthusiasm for the opera itself it did not in one iota detract from the beauty of it or the keen, discriminative enjoyment of one of the finest audiences ever housed in the Auditorium.

The opera was "Traviata," very beautiful as to music, very lovely in setting and dress and splendidly cast.

Georgio Polacco (in debut at Chicago's baton) proved himself a wonder. We shall have much more to say of him.

His reading of the Orchestral Prelude to the third act was one of the finest bits ever heard at the opera.

Galli-Curci was in glorious voice and sang as well as she has ever done in Chicago, and that, of course, is saying everything. Her histrionism, always lovely, is growing in variety and power.

Stracciari, at his best in the elder Germont, was in fine form and again scored heavily.

Guido Ciccolini, in Chicago (operatic) debut, sang the part of Alfred very beautifully after he had once mastered the first act nervousness. His solo work in the second act was very fine indeed and his duets with Galli-Curci were at a point of perfection rarely attained.

In appearance he is very much like John McCormack was the first year of our opera—in voice he is thrilling and appealing. We shall expect many treats from Ciccolini.

Beryl Brown, a Chicago soprano, in the small part of Flora was very nice to look upon and disclosed a voice of such purity and beauty as to put her in line for other and bigger parts easily.

Louise Berat, Giuseppe Minerva and Octave Dua did minor parts in accustomed style, while Desire Defrere, always picturesque and very much in the story, added his quota as usual.

Vittorio Trevisan, a thoroughly dependable actor as well as a good singer, has grown invaluable in our company and has taught us to expect, from his every impersonation, something very near perfection. On Monday he played the part of the Marquis in full dignity and good voice, while Constantin Nicolay, another indispensable, found in the part of the doctor one which suits his histrionism very well and provided him also some grateful vocal moments.

The orchestra, under the skilled hand of Georgio Palacco, sounded better than ever before and the chorus gave promise of much good work, once discipline has been thoroughly established and ensemble has become perfectly balanced.

In the ball room scene of the third act there was introduced a short but very attractive ballet divertissement, and in this the central figure was the newly engaged premiere, Sylvia Tell.

It chanced that her premiere appearance occurred on her sixteenth birthday.

She is a very attractive girl and unquestionably she has brains. No solo dancer since Rosina Galli has been so altogether pleasing.

(Continued on page 10)

AUGUSTE BOUILLIEZ
Belgian Baritone

AMELITA GALLI-CURCI
As Violetta

ALLEN SPENCER IN PIANO RECITAL

The program given by Allen Spencer at the Playhouse on last Tuesday afternoon for the benefit of the American Friends of Musicians in France was scheduled as being composed entirely of works by French and American composers, though this writer is puzzled in trying to make the name of Percy Grainger fit in with either nationality.

The full list included Emile Bernard, Debussy, Alkan, Edward Royce, Cesar Franck, Percy Grainger, Noble Cain and Leo Sowerby, the last three all being in actual military service, Mr. Cain being a former pupil of Mr. Spencer and both he and Mr. Sowerby being members of the faculty of the American Conservatory, which sponsored the performance.

There was present a very large audience, and enjoyment of the wonderfully novel and equally fine program was keen. Mr. Spencer was at his very best (and that is saying much) and played with great authority in every sense of the word.

Not all of the program was heard by this writer, but in the earlier groups Mr. Spencer did such admirable work and produced such excellent results that there is no question but that, by the time he reached the famous "Washerwoman" paraphrase, he had his audience completely subjugated to the spell of his personality and his art, and entirely convinced that he is an artist in a very broad as well as a minutely satisfying way.

C. E. W.

CHARLES COURBOIN

On Tuesday evening, November 5, Charles M. Courboin, the famous organist, gave the opening recital in the concert series at Oberlin College Conservatory, Oberlin, Ohio, a series which includes Levitzki, the pianist, the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, and other fine attractions. Mr. Courboin was greeted by an audience of some nineteen hundred people and was received with great enthusiasm. His virtuosity, wonderful technic and absolute command of the varied resources of his instrument called forth the most complimentary references from the people and press of Oberlin.

Mr. Courboin's recital booked for November 6 in Cincinnati had to be canceled at the last moment on account of the ban on public gatherings due to the influenza epidemic. This has been set over to December 12.

On November 19 Mr. Courboin will play in Rochester before the Western New York Chapter of the American Guild of Organists in the Central Presbyterian Church. This will be his fourth recital in Rochester in the past three years.

The week of December 9 will be taken up by a western tour. On Tuesday evening, December 10, Mr. Courboin will play in Carleton College Conservatory, Northfield, Minn. Thursday evening, December 12, he plays in the Church of the Covenant, Cincinnati, under the auspices of the Southern Ohio Chapter of the American Guild, and Friday afternoon, December 13, he plays in Grand Rapids before the St. Cecilia Society, a return engagement from last season.

CLEVELAND BOHNET PRESENTS PUPILS

In the neat little recital hall connected with the American Conservatory, in which institution he has recently begun to teach piano, Cleveland Bohnet on last Friday evening presented three pupils in a very attractive program.

So well done were the numbers and so distinctly good grade was the work presented as to at once mark Mr. Bohnet a fine teacher and to indicate that his work in Chicago will be crowned with the same success that has been his portion in other places.

Master William Castenholz, a boy of about ten, opened the program, playing "A Little Waltz," by Jessie Gaynor, with such accuracy in technical matter and such free flow of musical feeling as to prove both that he has a nice degree of talent and that it is being surely guided along progressive and intelligent lines.

Helen Pollenz, a few years older and very attractive in appearance and manner, was heard in the Beethoven "Pathetique" Sonata and acquitted herself with credit both to herself and her teacher.

She has in mind a very definite as well as distinctive reading of the famous sonata and has worked it out carefully and musically.

Esther Arneson, the most mature of the players, proved her mettle and her routine in the Rondo in A minor (Mozart) and two movements of the Grieg Sonata in E minor.

In the first she showed conclusively that not only has she facility of technic sufficient to cope with the Mozart difficulties (as plentifully besprinkled in the number under consideration) but also that she has a very clear idea of the strictly classical style.

In Grieg she showed a virility as well as a definiteness that promised abundant results in her further years of study.

C. E. W.

BOOKINGS OF MRS. EDWARD MAC DOWELL

Although the untoward conditions now happily behind us have affected Mrs. Edward MacDowell's early bookings, still those dates which she was to fill have only meant postponement in most cases, and the appended list explains the rest.

Zanesville, Ohio, November 25.
Port Huron, Mich., December 3.
Akron, Ohio, December 11.
Wilmette, Ill., December 18.
Chicago, Ill., December 20.
Chicago, Ill., January 4.
Englewood, Ill., January 6.
Chicago, Ill., January 7.
Bay City, Mich., January 10.
Toledo, Ohio, January 14.

Fraser—Arthur Randolph Fraser, organist of Grace Church, Oak Park, gave a preludial organ recital of patriotic music on Wednesday evening at St. Luke's Church, Evanston, in connection with that church's big victory service. Mr. Fraser included in his program the Hallelujah Chorus from "The Messiah" (Handel), theme and variations on "The Star Spangled Banner" (Dudley Buck), "Land of Hope and Glory" (Elgar) and Grand Fantasia on the Allied Airs (Rogers).

HERBERT J. WRIGHTSON
PIANO THEORY ORGAN
610 FINE ARTS BLDG.
WABASH 2583
Residence Phone, Wilmette 2082

LEOPOLD GODOWSKY
World-Famed Pianist Season 1918-19
KNABE PIANO USED
HAENSEL & JONES
Aeolian Hall
New York

Iva Bigelow Weaver
SOPRANO Oratorio & Recitals
MARY WOOD CHASE SCHOOL,
Fine Arts Building, Chicago
Mack Block, MILWAUKEE, WIS.

LENORA SPARKES
Lyric Soprano of the Metropolitan Opera House
Concerts, Oratorio, Festivals, Recitals
DANIEL MAYER, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK CITY
HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager

Yeatman Griffith
Teacher of FLORENCE MACBETH, Prima Donna Coloratura, and many other Artists and Teachers
318 W. 82nd St., New York. Tel. Schuyler 8537

HUGO GOODWIN
CONCERT ORGANIST Pupils Accepted 19 W. Delaware Pl., Tel. Superior 1558

THOMAS NOBLE MACBURNEY
609 Fine Arts Building BARITONE Phone Wabash 8988

Centralizing School of Music | Centralizing School of Acting
GERTRUDE RADLE-PARADIS, President | WILLIAM OWEN, Director
Departments: Piano, Theory, Voice, Violin, Violoncello, Expression. SEND FOR BOOKLET
Box 27, 20 East Jackson Blvd., CHICAGO, ILL.

WHAT DANIEL MAYER'S ARTISTS ARE DOING

Wassily Besekirsky, who has been soloist with the Philadelphia and other orchestras, has been appointed concert master of the Russian Symphony Orchestra.

Florence Macbeth, coloratura soprano of the Chicago Opera Company, scored a big success in Detroit.

Mischa Levitzki, phenomenal pianist, has postponed his recital to Sunday afternoon, December 22, at Aeolian Hall.

Russian Symphony Orchestra has played to capacity houses en route.

Oliver Denton, pianist, and Elias Breeskin, violinist, are on tour with the Russian Symphony Orchestra.

Daniel Mayer was in Detroit with his two artists, Florence Macbeth and Eugene Berton, Tuesday, November 12.

Walter Greene, American baritone, made his New York debut in recital at Aeolian Hall Thursday afternoon, November 21, at 3 o'clock. Francis Moore was at the piano, under the management of Daniel Mayer.

Mischa Levitzki, phenomenal pianist, whose recital was scheduled for December 5, has been postponed to December 22, at 3 p. m., at Aeolian Hall.

Oliver Denton, the American pianist, will give his first recital of the season in Aeolian Hall Saturday afternoon, November 30, at 3 o'clock. Mr. Denton will feature American composers. Particularly interesting will be a new work by Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, also pieces by Mana Zucca, Harold Morris, the Keltic Sonata by MacDowell, and other pieces by Liszt.

Emma Roberts, contralto, will give her first New York recital on Tuesday afternoon, January 7, at 3 o'clock, in Aeolian Hall. Miss Roberts will have several novelties on her program. Kurt Schindler will be at the piano.

———♯♯♯———

Hostetter—Hildred Hanson Hostetter, who has been in New York for several months singing in concert, as well as studying and preparing new programs, has returned to Chicago and to professional work in this city. She is living at 2837 Burling street.

———♯♯♯———

Dickey—Annabelle MacIntyre Dickey, contralto, sang for the pupils of the Oak Park High School on last Friday morning.

LYCEUM ARTS CONSERVATORY
(INCORPORATED)
ELIAS DAY, Director
EDWARD CLARKE, Associate
"DEFINITE PREPARATION FOR A DEFINITE WORK"
Our faculty includes such well known names as Elias Day, Sibyl Sammis-MacDermid, Louis Kreidler, Frederick Morley, Katherine Howard-Ward, Charles Edward Clark, Jeanne Boyd, Frederik Frederiksen, Tor Van Fyk, Ora Padget-Langer, Louise Cozad, Carl Klamsteiner, Thirza Mosher, Frank H. Borstadt, Jr., Will H. Bickett, Rachel Steinman Clarke, Oranne Truitt Day, Mary R. Fitch, Marguerite Kelpsch, Willis A. Behrens, Irma Montgomery Gibson and Nance D. Thompson.
A thorough education is offered in music and dramatic art, leading to diploma and degree.
More than 300 young people have secured positions in our concert companies during the last five years. For Free Catalog Address
FRANK A. MORGAN, MANAGER
Box M. N. 600-610 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Chicago, Ill.

CHICAGO SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The orchestra program of last week consisted of one-half German compositions and the other half of the other nations.

There were works of Weber, Mozart and Beethoven, representing Germany, and one each of Massenet, Daniel Gregory Mason and Smetana, representing, respectively, France, America and Bohemia.

To take up America first: Mr. Mason was represented in a group of songs called "Russians" and sub-titled "A Drunkard," "A Concertina Player," "A Revolutionary," "A Boy" and "A Prophet." These items, while rather lugubrious in tone and monochromatic as to color, gave one the impression of distinct nationalistic feeling and much skill in writing. They were sung by the young American baritone, Reinald Werrenrath, who was the soloist of the concerts.

And America is again acknowledged this week, when Vera Kaplan Aronson, a resident of Chicago though born in Russia, will be the soloist, choosing as her medium of expression at the piano one of the concertos of Saint-Saens, who is, of course, French.

Smetana was represented in his Symphonic Poem "The Moldau," a fine piece of work, vital of content and thoroughly interesting in development.

Weber was once more given attention in his Overture to "Oberon," which has long been a "stock piece" with the orchestra but which unquestionably should now be relegated to the "pop" nights if used at all.

Were this piece (charming as it is in a light way) by an American, or even a Frenchman, its "popular" trend would long ago have caused it to be dropped from the regular repertoire of the orchestra, at least for the regular concerts.

Mozart was represented by an aria from "The Marriage of Figaro," sung by Mr. Werrenrath, which is totally unfit for concert use, being specifically of the opera.

Beethoven, in his Symphony No. 8, F major, proved to be beautiful music—a little tame, perhaps, and distinctly passe in comparison with the glow of Smetana, for instance—but still attractive music.

Massenet was drawn upon for the "Vision Fugitive," from his "Herodiade," which is the best male aria in the opera and likewise gave Mr. Werrenrath his best opportunity in the concert, although this writer has long since come to the conclusion that no operatic arias whatever are suitable for presentation at symphony concerts.

The orchestra was in fine form and played almost every item of this program at its full possibility of effect, and Mr. De Lamarter, who is evidently gaining in confidence in himself week by week, gave an impression of authority, at least in the Beethoven, which was several degrees in advance of anything he has shown herctofore.

The program for the current week is as follows:

Overture—Froissart ..... Elgar
Symphony No. 2, E minor ..... Rabaud
Allegro moderato; andante; scherzo; finale
Concerto for Pianoforte No. 2, G minor, Op. 22 ..... Saint-Saens
Andante sostenuto; allegretto scherzando; presto
Scherzo—L'Apprenti Sorcier ..... Dukas
C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

Remington—Thomas Remington, baritone, of the faculty of the American Conservatory, will appear in the concert at Kimball Hall on Saturday afternoon, November 23, singing works of MacDowell, Homer, Gounod, Grieg and Clough-Leighter.

Alexander RAAB
PIANIST
CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

Nicholas Garagusi
THE AMERICAN VIOLINIST For Concerts and Recitals.
Management EMIL REICH, 1 W. 34th St., New York

Clyde Stephens
PIANIST
Faculty Appointment, Coe College Cedar Rapids, Ia.

MASON SLADE
Organ
Lawrence Conservatory, Appleton, Wis.
Christ Episcopal Church, Chicago
Phone Midway 930

JENNIE F. W. JOHNSON
CONTRALTO
American Conservatory. 700 Oakwood Blvd., Chicago

SABA DOAK
CONCERTS ORATORIO RECITALS
SOPRANO
Plaza Hotel, Chicago
Tel. Superior 2680
Mgt. Alma Voedisch
1425 Broadway, N. Y.

Edgar Nelson
BUSH CONSERVATORY

Chant Sans Paroles
A New Composition for Piano and Violin by BENIOT LEVY
Published by - - The Clayton F. Summy Co.

Hertha E. Johnson
PUPILS 1207 Kimball Hall
SOPRANO
CONCERTS Phone Harrison 7949

DR. FRANCIS HEMINGTON
Concert Organist
Pupils Received
Phone Oak Park 2464

CARL J. WATERMAN
TENOR
Teacher of Singing and Public School Music
Lawrence Conservatory Appleton, Wisconsin

HARRY DETWEILER PIANIST
TEACHING
Chicago Musical College
Pres. Columbia Conservatory, Aurora, Ill.

HAZEL SILVER Lyric Soprano
Bush Conservatory Tel. Superior 8700

Cleveland Bohnet
PIANIST, AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

REGINA HASSLER-FOX
AMERICAN MEZZO-CONTRALTO
Personal Representative, L. S. FOX, 133 Fifth Ave., N.Y

GRANT HADLEY
BARITONE
KIMBALL BLDG.

MONICA GRAHAM
Mary Wood Chase School
STULTS
SOPRANO
BASS
WALTER ALLEN
1306 KIMBALL HALL

THE BURNS SCHOOL OF MUSIC
PHYSICAL EXPRESSION AND ETIQUETTE
M. Rose Burns, President
725 Lyon & Healy Bldg. and 401 W. 63d St.

GUIDO CICCOLINI
Young Italian Tenor Who Made Successful Debut in "Traviata"

TAMAKI MIURA
Japanese Soprano

CONSTANTIN NICOLAY
In the Opening Night Cast

OPENING NIGHT AT THE OPERA

(Continued from page 7)

Miss Tell is a Chicago girl. She studied piano up to September with Miss Kathryn Day at the Chicago Piano College, and she has been, for a long time, an indefatigable student of dancing with Mme. Marie Yung, the former ballet mistress of the Chicago Grand Opera.

Chicago is to be congratulated that another of her young artists has been so signally honored—Mme. Yung has again proven her great ability, Campanini has proven his uncanny acumen, and finally the opera company as a whole is to be felicitated on the acquisition of Miss Tell.

♮ ♮ ♮

Other Operas

"Butterfly" was given on Tuesday and "Trovatore" on Wednesday. Reviews will appear next week.

Tonight "Thais" will be given, including the debut of Mme. Gall. On Saturday afternoon Galli-Curci will sing in "Lucia" and in the evening there will be a fine performance of "Isabeau" with a cast which seems to indicate that Saturday evenings are to be of better grade this year than heretofore.

♮ ♮ ♮

The International Concert

On Sunday afternoon an international concert will be given at 3 o'clock with the following attractive program:

Aria from Le Roi de Lahore ..... Massenet
Desire Defrere (Belgian)

Two Russian Songs .....
Vira Amazar (Russian)

Serenade from Damnation de Faust ..... Berlioz
Gustave Huberdeau (French)

Chansons de la Woevre ..... Henri Fevrier
Mimi Pinson met sa Cocarde
Les Canaris de Verdun
Louise Berat (French)

Group of Greek Songs .....
Constantin Nicolay (Greek)

Aria from Manon ..... Massenet
Marguerite Namara (American)

Aria from L'Elisir d'Amore ..... Donizetti
Guido Ciccolini (Italian)

Aria from Les Pecheurs des Perles ..... Bizet
Evelyn Parnell (American)

Aria from Don Giovanni ..... Mozart
Warren Proctor (American)

Aria from La Forza del Destino ..... Verdi
Emma Noe (American)

Aria from Salvator Rosa ..... Gomez
Virgilio Lazzari (Italian)

Aria from Mignon ..... Thomas
Irene Pavloska (Polish)

Group of Neapolitan Songs .....
Francesco Daddi (Italian)

Aria from Herodiade ..... Massenet
Dora Gibson (English)

Quartette from Rigoletto ..... Verdi
Misses Parnell, Pavloska
Messrs. Ciccolini, Defrere

At the Piano:
Marcel Charlier (Belgian)
Frank St. Leger (English)
Arnaldo Conti (Italian)

♯♯♯

Fischel—Esther Luce, student of Max Fischel, is on tour with a concert company playing in towns in the United States and Canada.

LUCIEN MURATORE
French Tenor

CYRENA VAN GORDON
American Contralto

VITTORIO TREVISAN
In the Opening Night Cast

CONCERTS TO COME

Friday, November 22

Orchestra Hall, 2:30—Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Auditorium, 8:00—"Thais."

Gymnasium, Northwestern U, Evanston, 8:00—Concert by University School of Music Symphony Orchestra.

♮ ♮ ♮

Saturday, November 23

Ziegfeld Theater, 11:00—Chicago Musical College concert.

Kimball Hall, 3:30—American Conservatory concert.

Knupfer Studios, 2:00 to 5:00—Pupils' recitals.

Auditorium, 2:30—"Lucia.

Auditorium, 8:15—"Isabeau."

Orchestra Hall, 8:15—Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

♮ ♮ ♮

Sunday, November 24

Auditorium, 3:00—International concert.

The Playhouse, 3:30—Rudolph Reuter, piano recital.

Orchestra Hall, 3:30—Mabel Garrison, song recital.

Turner Hall, 3:00—Orchestra concert (Ballmann).

Trinity Church, 4:30—Cantata "Triumph of David."

St. Paul's Church, 4:30—Violin and organ recital; Amy Emerson Neill and Mason Slade.

St. James' Church, 8:15—Musicale; voice and piano.

Edgewater Beach Hotel, 4:00—Musicale; voice and violin.

♮ ♮ ♮

Monday, November 25

Auditorium, 8:00—"Aida."

♮ ♮ ♮

Tuesday, November 26

Auditorium, 8:00—"Carmen."

Orchestra Hall, 8:15—Toscha Seidel, violin recital.

♮ ♮ ♮

Wednesday, November 27

Ziegfeld Theater, 11:00 a. m.—Olive Nevin, song recital.

Auditorium, 8:00—"William Tell."

♮ ♮ ♮

Thursday, November 28

Orchestra Hall, 8:15—Popular concert.

Medinah Temple, 8:15—Braslau-Zimbalist, joint recital.

Auditorium, 8:00—"Linda di Chamounix."

♮ ♮ ♮

Friday, November 29

Orchestra Hall, 2:30—Chicago Symphony Orchestra; Raoul Vidas, soloist.

Auditorium, 8:00—"Tosca."

———♯♯♯———

RALPH MICHAELIS VIOLIN RECITAL

Mr. Michaelis will play at the Preiser School of Music, 530 North Pine avenue, on Tuesday evening, November 26, in the following program:

Sonata Le Tombeau.....Leclair (1697-1764)
Grave, Allegro ma non, troppo, Gavotte, Allegro
Concerto, G Minor, Opus 26..... Bruch
Vorspiel, Adagio, Finale
Serenite ..... Viextemps
Menuet ..... Hochstein
Orientale ..... Amani-Elman
Polish Dance ..... Szulc
Albumleaf ..... Wagner
Allegretto ..... Boccherini-Kreisler
Melodie ..... Gluck-Kreisler
Mazurka ..... Zarzycki

Fannie Barnett Preiser, Accompanist.

AT THE WHITNEY TEW STUDIOS

One of the outstanding features of last Sunday's at home given by the charming hostesses at the Whitney Tew Studios was the dramatic interpretation of Loewe's famous ballad "Edward" by Mr. John A. Alcott. In this forceful portrayal of the fiercest of human passions Mr. Alcott rose to the occasion and delivered the whole with admirable artistic restraint.

Though, as Mr. Tew stated, Mr. Alcott's voice under the modern mania for dividing the voice into innumerable classifications would be called the basso-cantante, yet the top G had all the rich depth of the bass.

It was still left to this young singer to perform a feat astounding to modern ears. His study of the voce di mista (a term, by the way, constantly used by the older Italian writers and Fetis, the recognized authority) has covered only about seven months. The art became lost, and the term voce de mista obsolete in consequence.

At the close of the big bass aria from Hayden's "Creation" the basso rose to the D, in altissimo in the cadenza, carrying the same quality to the high note. With the first attempt a slight unsteadiness of the breath pressure caused the scale to be somewhat uneven, but Mr. Alcott, with laudable persistence, repeated the whole aria, later achieving the unprecedented feat of securing a perfectly equable tone throughout.

Mlle. d'Oex and Miss Werra Schutte seem both to have advanced in repose. The coloratura delivery demands a rather lighter attack than these young singers have as yet acquired, though as a whole their work is commendable, sometimes very remarkable, and steadily progressing. The coloratura work of each followed contralto songs.

Miss Jean Sutherland accompanied her own charming singing of two Swedish folksongs, "Necken" and "Spin Spin."

Miss Janet Bergstrom, Ruth Carl and Yseult Thorelius, all younger exponents of the principle of co-ordination advocated by Mr. Tew, showed painstaking application of the rules and did some very neat work.

Miss Elna Fredeen gave evidence of careful training in the requirements of rhythm in the "Creation" aria, her time and accentuation doing credit to the careful musicianship exacted in this studio. She should allow her rich quality of voice more freedom.

Mrs. Alcott sang the big coloratura "Rossini" scene with skillful nuance. This followed a very low contralto song delivered with the full qualities expected of this voice.

Miss Mabelle Clemenson, a debutante, presented the Cavatina from Meyerbeer's "Robert le Diable" and Mme. Melius sang "Ah, mio cor" from Handel's "Alcina" and "The Cuckoo" (Lehmann), both keeping up to the fine standard of the evening.

Mr. Tew stated that through the operation of the scientific principle of co-ordination any basso-cantante should sing altissimo notes, as Mr. Alcott had illustrated, and which he further demonstrated by singing the well known tenor song, "Maiden Mine" by Sterndale Bennett.

Mr. Tew has shown so conclusively that all female voices under the voce di mista process are easily equal to the demands of any modern contralto-soprano compass that he drew especial attention to the work of the bass.

D. A. M.

———♯♯♯———

NORTH SIDE TURNER HALL CONCERTS

The second concert of the regular Sunday afternoon concerts given at the North Side Turner Hall by Ballmann's Orchestra (Martin Ballmann, conductor) will take place Sunday afternoon, November 24. The program is of strictly popular character. Soloists will be Miss Freya Maria Mack, soprano; Professor A. V. Cerny, violoncello; William E. Van Doren, cornet, and Mme. Emme Weast-Bichl, harp. The concerts begin promptly at 3 o'clock.

———♯♯♯———

Ranous—Arthur Ranous, baritone, gave a program for the Evanston Woman's Club on Tuesday afternoon, November 19, at the Club House. Mr. Ranous was also soloist for Oriental Consistory, November 18, 20 and 21.

IDA GEER WELLER
Mezzo-Contralto

May Be Engaged for Her Specially Arranged Programs—

"Songs for Children," "Compositions by Women," "Songs by American Composers" or in Miscellaneous Recital.

All are timely and notably well-suited to either club or local manager who has a particular need to meet.

The discriminating intelligence of the singer has builded programs of much worth and the rare insight shown in their compilation is equalled by the lovely interpretation given the songs.

THE PRESS HAS SAID:

Her voice is of velvety smoothness, rich and resonant, and her range is quite unusual.
MUSICAL COURIER.

Mrs. Weller has a gorgeous middle register and her upper notes are of rare beauty. Her diction is clean and her manner ingratiating.
MUSICAL AMERICA.

She showed keen dramatic sense and a vocal grasp both sure and musical.
PITTSBURGH INDEX.

Serious minded in all that she has accomplished, few artists have given their programs the hours of hard work and unselfish assiduous study that has gone into hers.
PITTSBURGH GAZETTE TIMES.

In all her work she showed fine interpretation, good control, much beauty and tone and excellent diction.
JOHNSTOWN DEMOCRAT.

IDA GEER WELLER, formerly of Pittsburgh and New York, may be addressed: 175 Lexington Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Elderly Person

There were 125 women in the one big room on the far West Side. There were 5,000 comforters to be repaired for cantonments. There was every gradation of social standing among the women, but the comforters to be mended for the soldier boys were the levelers. Comradeship and cordiality reigned.

It was nearly noon. Every woman had a "box lunch" for that period. The pile of comforters stared at them as a task lasting indefinitely. They worked patiently, cheerfully, but with the war's end seemingly as far away as the botton of the pile of work.

The lady in charge answered the telephone's ring. "What?" she gasped. Then she turned and almost screamed out: "The war is over!" An awesome silence followed. Then a choking sob sounded. It broke the spell. But the women couldn't talk. They dropped their work and began to cry, even though they smiled. Every sentence they sought to utter fluttered off into broken words. Then the little Italian women, who came bareheaded to do their portion, began to embrace and kiss one another emotionally.

"But what are you crying about?" said the chairwoman. "The war is over. Don't you understand? There's nothing to cry about. You ought to shout." But the tears were running down her own cheeks unrestrainedly.

There is a little poem extant of a man who went about whistling cheerfully. But an underlying current in the whistling indicated that "he whistled that he might not weep." There are not many who care to be caught breaking down "under observation." For such reason, it may be, the public at large demonstrated their joy over victory and unleashed their emotions in so many other different ways that no chronicle could note a tithe of the absurdities indulged in. They didn't want to cry in public, so they did various other things which attracted more attention than their tears could—strange inconsistency! But no one has any quarrel with them. Every man has his own definition of happiness, and when he gets it it is a luxury.

On that unforgettable Thursday the Elderly Person confesses that he belonged to the quiet fraternity. It seemed so momentous a day—a time so fraught with a serious present, a tragic past and an anxious future. There was plenty to divert too tense thought, however. To absorb and preserve the impressions of such an event was pretty nearly the obligation of every individual. There will probably never be such days again as that Thursday and Monday. Every Chicagoan should have a storehouse of reminiscence to draw from for coming generations. Those in the canyon of La Salle street rather had the advantage in some respects. In his memory cells the Elderly Person treasures the dull gray of the Thursday afternoon and the gathering rainstorm. Through the haze there floated continually the impromptu confetti which poured endlessly from the windows of the skyscrapers. There was little consecutive work done, but a semblance of organization was preserved for the most part. The repressed excitement found vent for the employes of offices in tearing all available paper into tiny strips and fragments. When a waste basket was thus filled and emptied from a high window there was no telling where the fluttering pieces would alight. They flew about aimlessly, picturesque. The ticket tapes and adding machine rolls were used for streamers which wandered like clouds amid the tiny bits. The pavement became littered deep, but the supply lasted until night, and the rain fell.

Monday morning early a heavy whistle on the Southwest Side began its monotonous clarion of joy. It kept to its roar continuously for twenty-four hours. It was maddening. There was no avoiding its penetrating insistence. When it finally quieted, a sense of desertion ensued. We can grow so accustomed to unpleasant conditions that we find the unendurable can be endured!

The Elderly Person had figured it out that Thursday would use up all the enthusiasm and that Monday would afford a "sane celebration." He had lain awake in concert with the whistles blowing and felt that species of collapse which follows as reaction from long strain. He wanted, more than anything else, to be quiet and thankful without demonstration, and supposed everyone else felt the same way. But when he stepped from the train plump into a man and woman with strings of sleighbells about their necks and dragging a loaf of bread, fastened to a string, behind them—and who looked as if they had been out all night—he knew he had misjudged. What he saw then and what followed seemed to belong to lawless Halloween and dark nights. To perform eccentricities in broad daylight appeared uncanny. But people indulged all day long and offered no apologies. The human impulse to "do something" was irresistible and had full sway. The fireman in the office building didn't show up at all. He is usually the embodiment of all that is staid. He has three sons in France. He became gloriously drunk. The elevator men had to work all day, smoldering resentment energizing every pull of the cable. Next morning they were missing—they filled up during the night. Yet they have been heretofore the most regular of men. They were the opposite of the man who recklessly paralyzed his wife by bringing home a huge bunch of chrysanthemums as his idea of the proper celebration!

Outstanding, however, was the attitude of the liberated sex. Woman asserted her right to equality with man in most pronounced manner. If, in a number of cases, the liberty verged far into what might be mildly called indiscretion, the comment must be free from censure. What happened in Russia and may happen in Germany comes because of a too long period of injustice and a certain oppression. You cannot liberate people who have been held in check a long time and not expect excess as the reaction.

At the same time it is pretty hard for a discerning observer to look with equanimity upon women lining up at a saloon bar and drinking indiscriminately with men; or to see a girl astride an automobile front with disheveled hair and flushed face; or to see the future mothers of men wantonly bestow their embraces and kisses in public; or to see young girls of the age when innocence makes them of enduring attractiveness surrender the beautiful bloom in pell-mell encounters, actions and general "roughhouse" behavior. As long as a double standard of moral conduct obtains, such sights are saddening, because the world as a whole does not condone them. In perfect justice, men should receive the same condemnation for infraction of what are called rules of decency as is meted to the other sex. It may be, in the future working out of equal rights, that condemnation will not follow either offender. Just now, however, it follows only one. It did not require much thinking to know that many tears would flow as a result of Monday's relaxation, and they would not be the same sort of tears as were shed by the comforter-mending women.

It is always dangerous for elderly per-

CHOIRMASTERS

We recommend most highly the new anthem for Christmas

"SING AND REJOICE"

No. 13,335—12c

By GEORGE B. NEVIN

This anthem, full of the Christmas spirit, will brighten your program. A sample copy will be mailed to Organists and Choirmasters on request.

"THE ADORATION"

By GEORGE B. NEVIN

This is our most popular Christmas Cantata (60c), of which over twenty-five thousand copies have been sold. Full list of Mr. Nevin's compositions sent for the asking.

Oliver Ditson Company

BOSTON, MASS.

RINGO

MARGUERITE

SOPRANO

414 W. 121st St., NEW YORK CITY

TELEPHONE MORNINGSIDE 8905

sons to question the trend of the times in which they find themselves, and for that reason this Elderly Person tries to feel that in some way what he heard a lady call the "freedom" of her sex is not going to make it lose what has usually excited the unqualified reverence of men. There are inherent qualities which make woman lovable and which belong alone to her. If her entrance into a wide sphere robs her of her "inalienable rights" there will be a distinct loss to the world. The lady who contemplated some excesses and said "Where are those girls' mothers?" probably put her finger on the remedy.

The courage of those fine women who have come out of their sheltered homes to help in the various "drives" have made it plain that they can do unusual and unexpected tasks and not let down from those standards which tradition and experience hold as best.

But, in survey and reflection, would it not be self-evident that the comforter-mending women, who cried for joy, came nearer measuring what it all meant, in peace and freedom and restoration, than those who declined to "let down" and voiced their sentiments less conventionally? Honest, now!

There is just one other observation verging on the fault-finding line. Is it not singular that there was no law, civic or military, which could be invoked to keep temptation from the innocent, the undisciplined, the weak? With no dignified formal celebration prepared, with every business closed and people turned loose for a holiday, and 20,000 jackies added for good measure of bubbling youth and enthusiasm, the saloons ran wide open and there was no authority to close them, even though everyone knew they were the one unquestioned menace. The forces of evil reaped so large a harvest that they can now endure a long dry spell and not suffer.

THE ELDERLY PERSON.

———♯♯♯———

Clark—Dorothy Neill and Dorothy Bolinger sang at the Bush Conservatory concert last Saturday afternoon. Both are sopranos and both pupils of Charles W. Clark. Miss Neill sang "I Send My Heart Up to Thee" (Branscombe) and "A Lovely Night" (Ronald), and Miss Bolinger's numbers were "Day Is Gone" (Margaret Lang) and "Spring Rapture" (Harry Gilbert).

LESTER GROOM'S SECOND ORGAN RECITAL

The old Johnston organ at the Church of the Ascension may be a difficult thing to manage from the technical standpoint, and doubtless sheer labor is required in the mastery of its heavy tracker action, but equally sure it is that Lester Groom is complete master of the situation when he occupies the organ bench there, and he finds his reward, even as the audience draws immense pleasure also, in the wonderful beauty and quality of the tone he is able to elicit.

Few of the new organs which have been displayed recently have anything like the solidity and richness of tone which flows out in abundance from this rather limited (as to variety of stops) old organ.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC CREDITS

Constructive Drill Book No. 1 and 2, one dollar each, over 400 constructive drills in each.

EARN MORE—Teach adults and children partly in classes, one-half hour private lesson, one hour class lesson per week.

HELP YOURSELF — Improvise, Play and Write 95220 Modulations from one given tone. Develop Musical Memory, Intellectual Memory and Fore Feeling. Create Keyboard and Written Harmony. Teach with Scientific Pedagogy. Prices $10.00 to $220.00.

Teachers may join a class any time.

Address EFFA ELLIS PERFIELD
Chicago, Ill. 218 S. Wabash Ave.
New York City, 109 W. 45th St.
St. James Hotel

The Church of the Ascension is a wonderful place in which to hear an organ recital, for it is so extremely austere in appearance, so ascetic in the attitude of those who attend, and so altogether "high church" in every aspect that it seems, when one is safely inside its portals, that Chicago is many miles away and that one is in a new (old) world of spirituality and dreams.

Mr. Groom, quiet, sedate and resourceful, disclosed sufficient technic to cope with every difficulty of his elaborate program and had plenty of reserve force left with which to care for the interpretative values involved.

In my opinion, his playing of the Boellman Toccata was not only the best thing on the program but it was also a display of transcendent technic as well as of fine musical qualities, while the Tschaikowsky "Marche Funebre" was done so extremely well as to prove Mr. Groom a musician of splendid feeling as well as of good technic.

His Bach playing was authoritative, and Widor, Handel and Horatio Parker all received fine treatment at his hands, while the fine little work of Goodwin, "In Olden Times," proved to be, in his reading, one of the gems of the program.

Mr. Groom was assisted by Miss Ella Tillen, a young contralto who, though her voice is still only in the formative stage, shows fine musical qualities. She gave a good reading of "But the Lord Is Mindful" (Mendelssohn) and "The Virgin's Lullaby," from Dudley Buck's "Coming of the King," finding in the latter a particularly good vehicle for the display of her powers.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

Bingham—The Red Cross Shop of Los Angeles at Eighth street and South Alvarado has been having afternoon teas for several weeks, where various people who "do things" have been giving their talents to make things pleasant. Among those who were present and who contributed something of interest at the last tea, were Gloria Ray of the Municipal Playhouse, Hollywood; Robert Haines of the Orpheum Circuit, who talked briefly and strongly on Liberty Bonds; Helena Bingham, who sang several of her songs and gave as an encore, "Hail, Starry Flag," which always arouses enthusiasm. Lillian Walker, a film artist, made a pretty little bow and said she was glad to be there. This was in response to a request from Carl Bronson for a speech. Miss Walker declared she was no orator, but proved she was quite picture. Owing to the prevalence of influenza in the city further teas will be discontinued in accordance with an order by the board of health closing all public amusements, etc.

———♯♯♯———

Owens—Last Monday evening a number of the vocal pupils of H. W. Owens gave a program before the Haydn Choral Society. Among those taking part were Mae Betts, mezzo-soprano; Mildred Wessman, contralto; Catherine Owens, soprano; Thelma Fisher, soprano; Mrs. Ivy Stewart, mezzo; Mrs. Cora Gale, soprano, and Mrs. Edith Baughman, mezzo.

PABLO CASALS World's Greatest Cellist
Tour of 1918-19 Booking Now
Exclusive Management, USERA & CO., 10 East 43rd Street, NEW YORK

Giuseppe De Luca CELEBRATED Baritone of Metropolitan Opera Co.
Address for Concerts—Metropolitan Musical Bureau, Aeolian Hall, New York City

DONATO A. PARADISO Voice Specialist and Opera Coach
807-808 Carnegie Hall - - - - - - NEW YORK

Churches

IN OAK PARK

Lake street in Oak Park (I had almost written Fifth avenue), in the two blocks nearest Kenilworth avenue, is the nesting place of no fewer than five big churches—i. e., the First Congregational, the First Presbyterian, the First Methodist, Grace Episcopal, and Unity Church.

And while Oak Parkers take but a languid interest in anything outside their own boundaries, they certainly are alert in cognizance of anything which is "of Oak Park."

On last Sunday morning, when "Liberty Services" and "Peace Celebrations" were held all over Chicago, the famous two blocks in Oak Park were fairly alive with people going to and coming from the various big services planned—and there were, by actual count, something over a hundred automobiles standing at the curb in this vicinity during the service hour.

At the First Congregational Church the extreme effort toward special celebration in the Morning Service lay in Gounod's "Praise Ye the Father," which, while stirring, is also distinctly hackneyed.

It was sung at full valuation by the quartet, but the really fine work, and work really of a quality which can be duplicated by very few quartets in the country, was done in the little Response after Prayer (not programmed).

The personnel of this quartet is Else Harthan Arendt, Permelia Gale, Grant Kimbell, and Frank Johnson—splendid artists each and every one, and, taken together, an ensemble of the most exquisite blend and superb quality as well as impeccable musicianship.

The Offertory solo was done by Grant Kimbell, and his beautiful voice found in "The Earth Is the Lord's" (Lynes) a fine and sufficient medium for the display of all its effectiveness, while in his handling of the content of the piece he proved himself again, and very emphatically, intelligent and distinctly musical.

There was a substitute organist for the day, and so the fine new organ was not heard to any particular advantage, but there was present a magnificent audience, and the entire service was carried forward in that satisfying way which has long made this church one of the finest in the vicinity.

♮ ♮ ♮

At Grace Church, next door, there was a much more exciting time.

To begin with, the Second Regiment Band, with J. W. Farr conducting, came down Fifth avenue (Lake street, I mean), playing "When the Boys Come Home" with full equipment of tone and style and entered the church just in time for the Processional, which followed a splendid quarter of an hour of organ music by the popular organist and director, Arthur Randolph Fraser.

For his numbers Mr. Fraser chose the Military March (Gounod), "In Memoriam" (Nevin), the Arcadian Suite (Lemare), and a Fantasie on Allied Airs (Rogers), which included "God Save the King" (England), "La Brabaconne" (Belgium), "Kimi ga yo" (Japan), "Garibaldi's War Hymn" (Italy), "National Anthem" (Russia), "La Marseillaise" (France), and "The Star Spangled Banner" (America).

All this was played with spirit and good style. The Processional Hymn was "Onward, Christian Soldiers" and the Recessional was "God of Our Fathers" (Warren), and anybody witnessing and hearing the first would willingly wait longer than the (almost) two necessary hours to see and hear the latter, for, beyond a question, the spectacle and the sound were both thrilling.

In all the history of Processional pageantry ever seen by this writer nothing has ever surpassed last Sunday morning at Grace Church, and the only thing that has equaled it was at St. James' last July in celebration of Bastille Day.

There was a wonderful Service Flag, a most beautiful silk "Old Glory," the Flags of All Our Allies, and appropriate bearers for all these as well as of the usual concomitants of the church processions—then there was a company of one hundred fine singers (including the regular Church Choir and the other Parish Choirs), followed by the Clergy and the entire Oak Park Reserve Militia, the whole procession forming a brave and loyal picture and the accompanying singing being full, free and moving in intensity.

The singers were heard (gloriously) also in the "Hallelujah" from "The Messiah" (Handel) and in the beautiful B minor Te Deum of Dudley Buck as well as in "The Star Spangled Banner," in which there was wonderful assistance by the band, the bugler especially doing notably fine and impressible work.

The cornet formerly used by Knowlton Fisk, a communicant and choirman of Grace Church, the first to give his life in the great war, was used for the bugle calls.

All of the service music of the morning was chosen with skill and delivered with constant beauty, but interest was especially keen in the Kyrie, Gloria, Gratias Tibi, Sursum Corda, Sanctus, Benedictus, and Agnus Dei, comprising the Communion Service in F (manuscript), written by Mr. Fraser and dedicated to the Rev. F. R. Godolphin, who was at his home post after many months of service as army chaplain.

This service was written for the Godolphin anniversary (as well also as the Fraser anniversary, which occurred on the same day), which happened about a month ago, but could not be given at that time because of the closing of all Oak Park churches on account of the influenza epidemic.

The imposed wait, however, did not dull the interest in the work, and the immense audience listened with great attention and found the music and the rendition very good.

Mr. Fraser writes fluently and gracefully, and he understands the values of light and shade as well as of contrasts, and he has used all these and many other factors generously.

The appealing soprano solo in the Agnus Dei was well done by Master Lyman Eldredge, and the baritone bit in the Benedictus by Richard Anson.

The fine tenor solo in the Dudley Buck work was done by Harry Slater.

All the hymns were rousingly done, there was a fine sermon, and, throughout, Mr. Fraser conducted and played in the manner of a very fine artist, which indeed is his proper classification.

And after it was all over in the church the band went proudly marching down Fifth avenue playing a march with full equipment of accent and stress as well as with a volume of sound which told all Oak Park that Victory was being celebrated even on the Lord's Day and in the usually

The FINNEY FINGER STRETCHER and (PATENTED) FINGER GUIDE

Violinists and Pianists Will Appreciate These Two Wonderful Inventions

Used and recommended by YSAYE, HEIFETZ, GODOWSKY, EDDY BROWN, ZIMBALIST, FLESCH, SPALDING, PARLOW and scores of other world famous artists

Jacques Thibaud writes:

Dear Mr. Finney: Your system is very practical for students of the violin and I am sure will bring you the greatest success. It will make easy both the accuracy of intonation and placing the fingers in the proper place on the fingerboard.

Your Finney Finger Stretcher

will be a boon to the artist on tour, who does not find sufficient time for practice and technical preparation for his concert. Its great value lies in the strength it gives to the hand and flexibility to the fingers.

With kindest regards and best wishes for your deserved success,

JACQUES THIBAUD.

Adolfo Betti of the Flonzalay Quartette writes:

I have examined with great care your two inventions and have found them both unusually interesting. Your system for placing the fingers of the left hand ought to be, if properly used, of great help to the beginners.

As for the "Finney Finger Stretcher" it is the most ingenious and practical instrument of that kind I ever saw.

Very sincerely yours,

ADOLFO BETTI.

An Artist Pianist writes:

I find that five minutes' use of your

"Finney Finger Stretcher"

before a concert is equivalent to one hour's practice.

Makes easy, fingered octaves, tenths and other difficult stretches on the violin or piano, or any other instrument.

HUNDREDS ALREADY SOLD

YOU CANNOT AFFORD TO BE WITHOUT THE FINNEY FINGER STRETCHER

Send $2.00 ($18.00 per dozen) prepaid parcels post. Send to-day!

The FINNEY FINGER GUIDE (Write for prices.) For Artists and Students. Is now used by many schools and colleges. Practically indispensable for intonation and class work. A limited number of violin teachers and students can arrange for special Post Graduate Course in Finney System of Rapid Technic. Write for particulars.

FINNEY SCHOOLS OF VIOLIN

SALES DEPT. N 3231 WRIGHTWOOD AVENUE, CHICAGO, ILL.

quiet (if not sacred) precincts of Chicago's most recherche western suburb.

C. E. W.

CONCERT AT ST. JAMES'

The second of the Sunday evening series of concerts at St. James' introduced Hugo Goodwin, organist of the church, in a program of his own compositions, the assisting singer being Roy Abramson, scheduled as "Premier Soprano" of the choir, who presented several well chosen songs, being most successful in "The Last Rose of Summer."

"Carnival Passes By" (published by Gamble-Hinge Music Co.), "Kismet" (Gamble) and "At the Cradle Side" (Ditson, Boston), had been played before my arrival.

"In the Garden" (J. Fischer & Bro., New York), proved to be a hearty romance, but full of good harmony and interesting in detail. "The Fountain Sparkling in the Sunlight" (Gamble), which made a big success when played in one of the famous "series" of recitals given by Mr. Goodwin, again showed its definite and attractive character.

"Told by the Campfire" (Summy Music Co., Chicago) is written to a turgid and (perhaps) too extensive a "story" to be well contained on a single instrument. The theme is really one for Symphonic Poem treatment, but nevertheless it has much beauty hidden among its brave moments.

"Longing for the Forest" (Ms.) is a study in abrupt contrasts and good effects, "In Olden Times" (Summy) is, in my opinion, the very best of the Goodwin compositions, being crisp and characteristic, while the Symphonic Scherzo (Ms.) is a piece of brilliant concert aspect built along the lines of a Toccata at full swing.

Mr. Goodwin is a splendid organist—expert in technic and in the manipulation of stops and all other devices, and besides he is a fine theoretician and has excellent musical feeling—all these combined to make his recital thoroughly pleasurable.

On next Sunday evening the program will be given by Helen Hovey Daniels, soprano, and Harold Triggs, pianist.

C. E. W.

SPECIAL FESTIVAL SERVICE AT THE NEW FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Rallying from the enforced idleness, due to submission to the mandates of the health authorities during the influenza epidemic, the three adult choirs of the New First Congregational Church, Ashland and Washington boulevards, may be heard next Sunday evening, November 24, in Hiller's "Song of Victory." Mrs. G. L. Tenney will be the soprano soloist, and Miss Alice R. Deal will preside at the organ, the service being under the direction of George L. Tenney.

To the music-lover and student there is a splendid opportunity to be found here in the cordial invitation given by these choirs. No better place could be found to study at first hand choir work and derive the benefit of training in oratorio and cantata work than here with these five choirs. The choirs are well organized, including the carols, little girls from 6 to 14 years; the boy choir, from 6 to 16; the Cecilians, girls of high school age; the Trebles, young women above high school age, and the Choral Union, composed of the adult men and women. Each choir has its distinctive vestment and rest rooms and time for rehearsal. If any reader wishes to avail himself of the opportunity of study of this character, write or call George L. Tenney, Lewis Institute, corner Madison and Robey streets, and he will take care of the necessary preliminaries. The hearts of these choir folk are large and warm and the fellowship with them is delightful.

SOUTH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

An Old Folks' Concert will be given at South Congregational Church on Tuesday evening, November 26. The regular quartet, Helen Buckley Lee, Byrde Kitson Schwarz, Edwin F. Rea, and W. J. Oliver (substituting for James Wasson), a chorus of forty voices, Mrs. F. E. Hathaway, Alice Weber, and Hugo Goodwin, will be on the program. Albert Cotsworth is organist and director at this church.

Hancock—Sunday afternoon, December 1, Mr. Irving C. Hancock will play an organ recital in the Second Presbyterian Church, Twenty-first street and Michigan avenue, as the guest of Mr. McCarrell, the organist. The Second Presbyterian organ has recently been rebuilt and enlarged to four manuals and is now one of the city's greatest organs. The hour is 4 p. m. and the program will be printed next week in Music News.

Clark—Helen Drummond Clark's piano class at Watseka has a scehdule of monthly meetings for this season, at each one of which something original will be presented. Last week the subject was "The North American Indian Music," and a very interesting program was presented.

EDGEWATER BEACH MUSICAL

The big lounge room at the Edgewater Beach Hotel is the perfection of a place to listen to music happily and comfortably. There are softly shaded lights, most luxuriously lazy couches, and lots of space. Small wonder that Jessie B. Hall makes them invitingly popular by making the framework satisfactory. When into the scene are added Annabelle MacIntyre Dickey, Mrs. Charles Orchard, and Grant Kimbell the artistic exactions are entirely at rest and there is naught to be done but sit back and enjoy. When Mrs. Orchard is at the piano there is sure to be a refinement of accuracy, tones and feeling. She is more than sympathetic—she adds a proportion of distinction which comes from an intense musical nature warmed and toned by culture.

Madame Dickey chose a widely varied program and proved how easy it is to be interesting and enjoyable without recourse to the German tinge which has heretofore been a large concomitant of song groupings. The songs of Duparc, Hahn, and Hue were their own exposition of what is of value. They fairly glow with beauty, proportion and grace—and if this triad be present charm must ensue. Mme. Dickey sensed them admirably, with the restraint that goes when delicate touches are used to tell the story. The "Prison" of Hahn was admirably done. She has a voice of noble quality, rich and full, of extended range, and she manipulates it with ease and authority. In the ballads of simple character she knew how to let the voice play its part. In the dramatic moments it also was a potent factor. To enumerate a few of the high lights mention must be made, in addition to the French group, of Logan's "Lift Thine Eyes," Homer's "Sheep and Lambs," and Kramer's "Last Hour," the latter so choice in expression as to be virtually ideal. She was warmly applauded.

Mr. Kimbell opened his contribution with two Handel arias. I heard the rousing finale of the "Sound an Alarm" and it had the stir and emotion demanded. A fine bit of dramatization was the "E Lucevan Stelle" from Puccini's "Tosca," done with a full appreciation of the intensity of the scene. A group of his very best ballads had Clay's "Songs of Araby" to top it. And he made them all individual and intimate. If I give a certain preference to the effect he produced in Burleigh's "Her Eyes Twin Pools" it does not depreciate the others. His singing in this number was an object lesson as to the rare beauty of pure and sustained tone. It sounded much simpler than it was through his delivery. Mr. Kimbell has cultivated his personality as well as his voice. It is no mean factor in his upward progress. The comfortable dowager sitting near me repeated audibly, "Isn't he charming?" and he was, in a manly, ingratiating way.

The twilight hour with this lovable music was so pleasant that it was decided to have the communicating doors of the brilliant dining room flung open and the clatter of what they call a "jazz band" break into the stillness.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

Lyceum Arts Conservatory—A program was given at the Lyceum Arts Conservatory on last Friday evening by Ruth Rothe, a pupil of Marguerite Kelpsch, and Lyda Roehl, soprano.

Lucille Stevenson

Soprano Teacher of Voice
Available for Concerts
Address: R. M., 1625 Kimball Hall Chicago

CARLO LITEN

FAMOUS BELGIAN TRAGEDIAN
NOW IN AMERICA Dramatic Recitals and Recitations
Exclusive Management
DANIEL MAYER Aeolian Hall, New York

The Jennette Loudon Studios
PIANO :: THEORY :: ENSEMBLE
614 FINE ARTS BUILDING

WESTERN Conservatory
E. H. SCOTT Pres.
KIMBALL HALL . . . CHICAGO

GEORGE R. GARNER | Celebrated Colored American Tenor
4405 CHAMPLAIN AVENUE

MARIE KERN-MULLEN
CONTRALTO
CLUBS—CONCERT—ORATORIO—RECITALS
International College of Music
Phones Wabash 5918 and Edgewater 438.

THIRZA MOSER PARMENTER
SOPRANO—TEACHER OF VOICE
Lyceum Arts Conservatory, Lyon & Healy Building

CHAPEK MUSIC SCHOOL NOTES

The Milwaukee Evening Sentinel of November 14, 1918, published the following item:

"Son of a Pioneer Musician in Revue

"Joseph E. Chapek, U. S. N., musician, first class, of Great Lakes, Ill., is taking part as violinist in the orchestra of the Great Lakes Revue this week at the Davidson Theater. Mr. Chapek, before volunteering for the navy, was teacher of violin at the Chicago Conservatory of Music and Chapek Music School of Chicago.

"He is the son of Professor Joseph H. Chapek, a well-known violinist and teacher of Chicago, a former resident of Milwaukee and one of the city's foremost musical artists. He was a pioneer in the field of music, being especially active in the production of chamber music during the seasons from 1883 to 1889.

"The celebrated string quartet, 'From My Life,' of Smetana, the great Bohemian composer, had its first American performance in Milwaukee January 29, 1884, in one of the concerts given by the Mendelssohn Quintet Club for Chamber Music, of Milwaukee, at the Academy of Music.

"The quartet was played by Joseph H. Chapek, Christoph Bach, Bernhard Bach and Ernst Beyer. Otto Von Gumpert was the pianist of the organization."

♮ ♮ ♮

George J. Zahrobsky of Company A, 1st Regiment, Camp Dewey, Great Lakes, Ill., one of Professor Chapek's most talented pupils, recently appeared as violin soloist at the drill hall at Camp Dewey before several thousand seamen, playing the "Holka Modrooka" of Sevcik, Serenade of Drdla, and Kreisler's "Viennese Melody" with remarkable success.

♮ ♮ ♮

A recital by the violin pupils of J. H. Chapek, and vocal and piano pupils of Mrs. Augusta H. Chapek, will be given Sunday afternoon, December 1, at 2:30 o'clock at the Chapek Music School, 3452 Broadway.

♮ ♮ ♮

Ernest Krizan, the pianist, an artist student of Mrs. Chapek, will give a concert for the benefit of the Czecho-Slovak Army Sunday, December 8, at 8 p. m., at the Bohemian-American Hall, 1436 West Eighteenth street.

He will play the Tschaikowsky Concerto, Prelude of Rachmaninoff, the Chopin Polonaise and the Liszt Rhapsody No. 12. He will be assisted by Mrs. Augusta H. Chapek, pianist; Antoinette Zebrowska-Perlowska, violinist; Helen Stavko, soprano, and Susan Kerch, soprano.

Andrew Shurtek, President of the Slovak League of America, will deliver an address.

♮ ♮ ♮

The West Side branch of the Chapek Music School, which for many years has been located at 1801 Blue Island avenue, corner West Eighteenth street, was moved to more convenient quarters in the fine building of the Bohemian-American Hall, 1436 West Eighteenth street, between Blue Island avenue and Laflin street.

♯ ♯ ♯

Turner Hall—The popular Sunday afternoon orchestra concerts at Turner Hall, under the direction of Martin Ballmann, were resumed last Sunday at 3 o'clock and will be continued throughout the Winter.

COLLEGE OF ST. CATHERINE, ST. PAUL

Song recital by Professor Harry Phillips, on Wednesday, October 16, 1918:

Scene and aria from Ballo in Maschera.....Verdi
In a Persian Garden.....Liza Lehmann
Zummerzetzhire (old song).....Ernest Newton
Legend of the Sagebrush (Jongleur de Notre Dame).....Massenet
The Crying of Water.....Campbell-Tipton
Danny Boy.....Weatherly
Silvia.....Ole Speaks
A Memory.....Fairchild
Pipes of Pan.....Elgar
At Twilight.....Ethelbert Nevin
Negro Spirituals.....H. T. Burleigh
Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen
I Want to Be Ready
Deep River
Ave Maria (with violin obligato).....Percy B. Kahn

Professor Harry Phillips of the Minneapolis Symphony, who is in charge of the vocal department of the College of St. Catherine, on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock gave a very delightful hour of song. The wide variety in Mr. Phillips' selection is noteworthy. It included humor, pathos and sublimity, English and Negro dialect, and Persian legend.

The students were particularly attracted by the humor of "Zummerzetzhire," the pathos of "Danny Boy," and the way in which Mr. Phillips, in the Negro Spirituals, succeeded in giving the atmosphere of a whole colored congregation. The sweet, dainty woodland song, "Silvia," and the effective closing number, Kahn's Ave Maria, with violin obligato, have left a pleasing memory.

Organ Recital

The following program was given by George A. Thornton on Wednesday, October 30:

Concert Fantasia.....Sir R. P. Stewart
The Question.....W. Wostenholm
The Answer.....W. Wostenholm
Sonata in A.....Mendelssohn
Gavotte (Mignon).....Thomas
Prelude and Ingue.....Bach
The Magic Harp (pedal solo).....Meale
Toccata.....Mailly
Marche Solenelle.....Mailly

♯ ♯ ♯

THE LEGINSKA COIFFURE NOW PREVALENT AMONG PIANISTS

If one is a frequenter of concert halls in New York City and if one is particularly partial to piano recitals, one is sure to notice the pravalence of the Ethel Leginska coiffure among the audience. Since the one and only Leginska decided for reasons of comfort and economy to "bob" her temperamental tresses, it seems as if every young thing striving for mastery of the pianoforte thought they could become a Leginska by doing the same. As James Huneker remarked in the New York Times recently in the course of a review: "The hall was full of little Ethel Leginskas with Buster Brown coiffures, full of suppressed technic and boiling over with enthusiasm." "Of course, it's flattering to be imitated," says Ethel, "but I do get tired of seeing myself duplicated sometimes." And apropos, we have just heard that Gertrude Hoffmann is planning to do an imitation of the "Paderewski of Women Pianists" in her cross-country vaudeville tour.

♯ ♯ ♯

Peterson-Barth—Helen Peterson-Barth, the contralto, in answer to a number of inquiries, states that her address is still Chicago, Ill.

♯ ♯ ♯

Peterson—May Peterson, soprano, was soloist at the Harlem Philharmonic Society concert, New York, on November 21.

A Rendezvous for the Elite—Artists and Musicians

PANCRAZI'S

Genuine Italian Restaurant and Rotisserie

486 COLUMBUS AVENUE
BETWEEN 83RD AND 84TH STREETS
NEW YORK

HUGO GOODWIN
ORGANIST AND CHOIRMASTER, ST. JAMES EPISCOPAL CHURCH
DIRECTOR BACH CHORAL SOCIETY. ORGAN, PIANO, VOCAL COACH
WITH INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE 666 RUSH STREET SUPERIOR 7283

ALLEN RAY CARPENTER TENOR Kimball Hall

CHARLES W. CLARK "Master of the SongWorld" BARITONE J.C. Barker, 893 N. Dearborn St CHICAGO

SMETANA TRIO CHARLES LINK TENOR VIOLINIST Violet Martens Accompanist Coach
MARY WOOD CHASE SCHOOL, 800 LYON & HEALY BUILDING

H. W. OWENS VOCAL DIRECTOR WESTERN CONSERVATORY Voice Teacher Coaching PHONE WABASH 3506

Morgan KINGSTON LEADING TENOR METROPOLITAN OPERA CO., New York Concert Direction Metropolitan Musical Bureau AEOLIAN HALL NEW YORK

SAMOILOFF PUPILS SING

On October 26 the well known singing teacher, Lazar S. Samoiloff, the popular interpreter of the Bel Canto Method of teaching singing, gave a pupils' recital and reception, in which fourteen pupils participated. They all sang solos, duos and trios, with excellent phrasing, style and good voice placement. One of the pupils, Miss De Stuers (as notice reads on the program) had lost her voice entirely a year ago from using it wrongly, and after ten months of singing exercises in the Bel Canto Method her voice returned. She sang two songs with exceptional warmth and phrasing. Mr. Volpe's song had the most applause.

Mrs. H. Romanoff, an opera singer of fame, dramatic soprano, sang a duo from "Aida" with Miss De Stuers, and a group of Russian songs never sung in America. Her voice is very big and of a warm quality. Her phrasing was exquisite. Mrs. Romanoff will give a recital in Aeolian Hall on November 30; then more about her.

Miss Vivien Holt, a lyric coloratura soprano, was heard very many times at the Samoiloff concerts. She is occupying a high position between concert singers. Her coloratura is clear, light and distinct. Her phrasing is charming and full of color.

Miss Benson, Miss Elsa Merril, Miss Smith, Miss De Loca, Miss Sherer, Miss Harris, Miss Guerra, Miss Arens and Miss Griffen showed very beautiful voices, fine phrasing and most of all, musical singing.

Mr. Scotti, basso profundo, sang two songs where he had to reach down for the low contra C and also for the high F. This voice is of exceptional mellow and warm quality, equalized in all ranges.

Mr. Ivanoff, the master of the Russian instrument baladikir, played two numbers on this very musical instrument.

Miss Holt sang also two exquisite songs, composed by Samoiloff's assistant, L. S. Weiner, one of which had to be repeated.

As a closing number was sung the Trio from "Carmen" by Miss Arens, Miss Sherer and Miss De Luca.

Mr. Weiner accompanied all the pupils with skill and artistic understanding. Flowers were given to every one of the pupils so that the stage looked like a flower garden. A dance followed and refreshments were served. About 600 people were present, among them many professional singers and teachers.

♯♯♯

SALINA, KAN.

On Tuesday evening, November 5, the Salina Union, with the capable assistance of Mrs. Vera Grace Shipman, presented a decidedly worth while program at New Theater, during which at regular intervals the election returns were flashed upon a screen.

The theater, telephone and United Press, together with the services of the performers, were given gratis for the benefit of the Council of Defense.

Early in the evening Hanrel's Concert Band played several selections outside the theater and later went inside and played from the stage, which was concluded by the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the audience, conducted by Dean Cox of the Kansas Wesleyan School of Music.

Numbers were rendered by the Ukulele Girls of Salina and Master Paul Berger, soprano soloist of Christ Cathedral.

The treat of the evening, however, was the Bethany Girls' Glee Club (Charles Keep, conductor) and Miss Alma Rosengren, violinist, of Linsborg, Kan.

Mr. Keep is a thorough musician and understands the much abused art of choral conducting. He has a clear, decisive beat, to which his chorus magnetically responds. Excellent tone work, good contrast, precise attack and intelligent shading were present in abundance. That Mr. Keep is well equipped for his work there can be no doubt and we will be delighted in hearing his organization again.

Miss Rosengren played the difficult "Faust" Fantasie by Sarasate in splendid style. The smooth legato and sympathetic interpretation was that of a mature artist. The audience was spellbound under the influence of her bow and her numbers were greeted with real enthusiastic applause.

Miss Rosengren is a promising young violinist who, after two years of study in Boston, comes to head the violin department of Bethany College, Linsborg, Kan.

♯♯♯

CARLO LITEN WITH THE MINNEAPOLIS SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

Carlo Liten, the Belgian tragedian, who scored such triumph at Philadelphia with the Philadelphia Orchestra, will be soloist with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, December 5 and 6.

♯♯♯

Scott — "Joy," a new song by Beatrice MacGowan-Scott of Chicago, published by Summy, will be sung by Mabel Garrison at her Orchestra Hall concert next Sunday afternoon. The same song will be used shortly by Marie Sidenius Zendt.

Again MAX ROSEN Triumphs

On Tour With New York Philharmonic Orchestra

SOME OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

MAX ROSEN WITH NEW YORK PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA IN PROVIDENCE

"His playing of the Saint-Saens Concerto called forth an ovation. The young artist was recalled no less than ten times."

"Max Rosen, one of the musical sensations of last season in New York, made his Providence debut in the Saint-Saens Concerto in B minor. Several of Auer's youthful pupils invaded New York last season, and chief among them were Jasha Heifetz and Max Rosen. We have heard Heifetz and marvelled at his wizardry; and yesterday gave opportunity for a comparison of two remarkable young men who rank with the greatest living violinists. It was at once apparent that Rosen is a player that makes a powerful appeal through his emotional qualities. Like all Auer finished products, he is apparently free from the worries of technic. He has a remarkable left hand and a very clean and efficient style of bowing. Aside from these necessary essentials his playing immediately attracts and charms the hearer by its delightful expression—that wonderful gift which is surest to win the favor of the music lover. Rosen also draws a tone from his instrument that for sheer beauty has scarcely been equalled by any violinist ever heard here. It is not a large tone, but it is of ravishing sweetness and pure as sunlight. It is not the type of tone that is filled with sickly sentiment—it has character and in measures of melody its beauty and expressiveness are indeed charming to hear. In Rosen everything seems subordinate to the human side of his art. He sings tenderly and sweetly, expressing the yearning of the heart for beauty through his violin."—Providence Journal, November 11, 1918.

"Max Rosen, following his rendition of Saint-Saens' Concerto, was accorded an ovation seldom given to soloists in Providence. The youthful violinist was forced to bow in appreciation more than ten times, and even then the audience continued its enthusiastic applause. Mr. Rosen without question found himself settled quickly in the esteem of all who knew what constitutes excellence in the violinists' art. Equipped with a large, rich tone, especially big and penetrating in the upper positions of the first string, and with a free, elastic and beautifully controlled bow, he played with great dignity and finish of style, but with warmth and feeling. The essential traits of his art appeared to be breadth and elegance, together with sustained beauty in a largely written legato. However, his playing in rapid passages, including those with harmonics or intricate double stops, indicated the possession of adequate technic and a fine feeling for the decorative effects in music. The repose and artistic control of his playing were greatly to be admired."—Providence News, November 11, 1918.

MAX ROSEN SCORES ON TOUR WITH NEW YORK PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA

"Mr. Rosen, a youthful appearing player, has a breadth of style which reminds one of Kreisler, but has an individuality very much his own nevertheless."—Worcester (Mass.) Evening Post, November 7, 1918.

"One could but marvel at the artistry of the boy and wonder at the amount of temperament in one so young. Rosen's performance was worthy of an artist of long standing and much experience. His technic and bowing were brilliant, and his playing of the entire Saint-Saens Concerto in B minor will long be remembered by those who heard him last night."—Worcester Daily Telegram, November 7, 1918.

"Max Rosen certainly has a superb technic, yet what one thinks of is never the perfection of his playing, but its charm. His tone is deliciously sweet and pure. Never does he force a note; all is of a caressing charm to the most hypersensitive ear, and his playing has a personal and poetic quality which is rare in players so young. It is evident that he has a great future, and already he is one of the most attractive and interesting of violinists."—Springfield Republican, November 8, 1918.

"Max Rosen played the Saint-Saens Concerto with rare understanding and technical skill of the highest order. The second movement, in muted-string effect, like the first, was a soaring, exultant, spiritual melody, played caressingly yet with most effective mastery. At the end of the solo number the youthful artist was recalled eight times."—The Springfield Union, November 8, 1918.

THE PRESS AT LARGE

In this division of Music News there will be printed, week by week, comments on various concerts and artists which have appeared in the daily and weekly press of the country. This is done in the belief that this matter will be found to be of great interest to a large number of people. This is in no sense an advertising department, and no items will be accepted for pay

Florence Easton Triumphs With Boston Symphony Orchestra

At her first of a series of six appearances with the Boston Symphony Orchestra Florence Easton won the following critical approval after her appearance in Symphony Hall, Boston, on November 1 and 2.

Two operatic airs sung by Mme. Easton of the Metropolitan Company were the chief items. Appearing in her own fresh, comely, youthful person, the singer quickly won the eye as she soon pleased the ear of her new audience.—H. T. Parker in Boston Transcript.

---

Heard in the "Dove Sono" from Mozart's lyric comedy of "Figaro's Wedding" and in the musing monologue of the mother from Debussy's cantata of "The Prodigal Son" her voice quickly disclosed a crystalline quality, likening it in measure to that of Mme. Eames in her prime. There is like limpidity, like measured radiance of tone, but Mme. Easton's voice is at present the warmer, the more susceptible to play of characterizing color. In both airs Mme. Easton proved herself an accomplished singer, with sense of the music as music and also as speech of an operatic personage and token of an operatic moment. Mme. Easton's song was as purling as Debussy's; the neat lights and shades of the music played also in her tones.

♮ ♮ ♮

Story of La Forza Del Destino

The following "story" taken from the New York Press is timely in view of the recent revival of the opera at the Metropolitan Opera House:

"Briefly told, the story is that Don Alvaro, nobleman from India, falls in love with, and is beloved by, the daughter of the Marquis of Calatrava, who considers him too plebeian to enter his Castilian family. An elopement is planned but is frustrated. An accidental discharge of Don Alvaro's pistol kills the father. After some adventures, the daughter, Donna Leonora, seeks the protection of the church and is immured. Her brother, Don Carlos, under an assumed name, seeks Don Alvaro to avenge his father. But Alvaro, too, has disguised himself and fighting together in Italy the two men become bosom friends. When Alvaro is wounded the identity of both is disclosed. Alvaro takes refuge in the church. Carlos follows him into the cloister and forces a duel in front of his sister's lonely dwelling. The curtain falls upon the death of all three."

Florence Macbeth Triumphs at Detroit

Florence Macbeth, prima donna coloratura soprano of the Chicago Opera Company, scored an enormous success before an audience of 5,000 at the concert of the Central Concert Course of Detroit. The vast audience sent out their approval by recalling Miss Macbeth time and time again.

The following is an excerpt from the Free Press, Detroit, Mich.:

"Her conscientious artistry and her rarely beautiful, fresh, natural voice together with a charmful stage address are all in her favor. We believe it is quite within the truth to say that the singer's rendition of her two florid arias, the mad scene from 'Lucia,' and the 'Bell Song,' from 'Lakme,' were practically flawless. Her pitch was true, her tones were full, round and caressing without the suggestion of mental anxiety. Her phrasing was deliciously delicate. Her presentation of the 'Midsummer Lullaby' of MacDowell stood out among her shorter numbers as a bit of atmosphere transmitted to tone."

♮ ♮ ♮

The Orchestra's "Pop" Concert

Eric DeLamarter conquered the audience of the first of the season's orchestral "pop" concerts last night as deftly and even more certainly than he has won his way with the far less effusive patrons of the regular subscription series. It was another deserved tribute, though perhaps not such an uphill job as some of the other audiences make it. For as the audiences of the popular series are more enthusiastic in the reception of what they like, so they are more open minded in deciding that they like it.

It took just about the opening number, the overture to "The Merry Wives of Windsor," for last night's audience to decide that it liked the new person conducting—for one must follow the participial construction of the program by which DeLamarter is differentiated. Then in the "Peer Gynt" suite, and a lovely performance he gave of it, too, the applause began to come, until toward the end it was as high as it had ever been since the foundation of the series. The third section was repeated, and an encore followed.—Chicago Journal.

♮ ♮ ♮

As to the Werrenrath Repertoire

Figaro's song of suspicion, from the fourth act of "The Marriage," is capital Mozart from the first line of the preluding recitative to the final note of come despair; but it is a situation-song, belonging in the opera, asking for stage and setting and "business," and losing point when detached for uses like Mr. Werrenrath's. He sang it with lovely tone and unctuous phrasing; and it did not go so well. He picked a better conveyance for his purpose in the "Vision Fugitive" from "Herodiode"; and with this facile, familiar and lush but elegant bit of Massenet he caught the approval of the audience—the largest so far as the season is gone.

A third turn in the bill was devoted by the young baritone to a group of songs, "Russians," made by Daniel Gregory Mason to "poems" by Wytter Binner. The five texts are so much pastiche, effective enough in the traffic of the magazines, that survives the recent long-ago when we were saturated with the notion that the Russians were, in B. L. T.'s locution, a wonderful little people. Mason's music sounded as if made from logarithms with a stencil and brush. His composition neither lighted nor reflected the verses, which the singer put across with skill, clarity, and a sincerity which gave more to the music than he was able to get from it.—Chicago Tribune.

♮ ♮ ♮

Mr. Czerwonky's Accompanist

The facile and inerrant Mr. Nelson was the pianist—The Chicago Tribune.

---

CENTRALIZING SCHOOL

The following program was given at Centralizing Hall last Saturday afternoon by pupils of the Centralizing School of Music. Another of the same character is announced for Saturday, November 23. To anyone interested in the progress of children these recitals will be well worth attending, as they represent instruction of a superior kind, not only superior in quality but well systematized and standardized:

Prelude No. 20.....Chopin
Avalanche.....Heller
Mildred Black
Nocturne, Op. 37, No. 1.....Chopin
Adeline Rowles
Vocal—
Clover.....MacDowell
Little Mother of Mine.....Burleigh
Dawn in the Desert.....Ross
Mrs. Vernon Ford
Fluttering Leaves.....Koelling
Frances Boal
Prelude No. 7.....Wright
Justin Dart
Reading—Billy Brad and the Big Lie.....
.....Ellis Parker Butler
Marge Sullivan
Clatter, Clatter.....Gaynor
Here Comes a Robin.....Gaynor
Louise Cramer
Prelude and Fugue.....Bach
Polonaise.....Chopin
Florence Thompson
Vocal—
Carmena.....Wilson
My Star.....Rogers
Freedom for All, Forever.....Hilliam
Dorothy Ditt
Helene Hess at the piano
By the Lake.....Williams
Louise Brown
Arabian Night.....Mildenberg
Helen Becker
Pan's Flute.....Godard
Donald Knapp
Vocal—
The Moon Drops Low.....Cadman
Within My Heart.....Bungert
Hayfields and Butterflies.....Del Riego
Mrs. Vernon Ford
Andante, Op. 10, No. 1.....Beethoven
Alice Becker
Rhapsodie, Op. 11, No. 3.....Dohnanyi
Elsie Schoenherr
MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

---

Nevin—Olive Nevin, soprano, cousin of the late and very popular Ethelbert Nevin, will give a song recital under the auspices of Carl D. Kinsey at the Ziegfeld Theater on Wednesday morning, November 27.

GENNARO PAPI

at the Baton Contributes to a Memorable Initial Performance of La Forza del Destino at the Metropolitan Opera House

Following are the press comments:

"Mr. Papi conducted effectively."—(New York Evening World, Nov. 16, 1918.)

"Mr. Papi conducted the orchestra in a way that was quite masterly."—(New York Globe, Nov. 16, 1918.)

"Gennaro Papi conducted the orchestra, which did full justice to Verdi."—(New York Evening Sun, Nov. 16, 1918.)

"The orchestra under Gennaro Papi held its own."—(New York Evening Post, Nov. 16, 1918.)

"Mr. Papi conducted with good judgment and spirit and gave the work its full value in musical interest and effect."—(New York Herald, Nov. 16, 1918.)

"The playing of the orchestra under Papi's persuasive and electrifying baton deserves to be mentioned."—(New York American, Nov. 16, 1918.)

"Generous appreciation is due to Signor Papi, the conductor."—(New York Tribune, Nov. 16, 1918.)

AGNES LAPHAM IN PIANO RECITAL

Although not so announced, it happened that through the fact of several artists having to cancel Chicago recitals because of illness, to Agnes Lapham fell the distinction both of opening the Chicago season and of giving the first Sunday recital at the new Kimball Hall, under the management of F. Wight Neumann.

That Miss Lapham is popular with the Chicago concert-going public and that her friends are loyal to her when she announces an appearance were made evident, first in the unusually large audience present at her recital, and, secondly, in the enthusiastic reception accorded her work.

Miss Lapham is a serious minded and altogether logical pianist. There is intelligence and thought back of each number she presents and always there is also the comfortable feeling present that she has technic so well developed and under such admirable control that never is there any need to worry about results.

Her program was skillfully chosen and it was presented in clear-cut, definite way and with always a very nice sense of musical values.

The graceful but exhilarating "Alceste" (Gluck-Saint-Saens) was played in a rippling style entirely consonant with its content, and the charming melody line was always conserved faithfully and musically.

The Beethoven Sonata, Opus 31, No. 2, which in its opening movement constitutes a difficult technical problem, in its second involves the most careful of melody work and in its third demands a light-hearted facility both of touch and feeling, had been excellently studied and digested by Miss Lapham, and at the public reading gave forth interpretative charm as well as technical accuracy.

The second group was devoted to Chopin and included the Waltz, Opus 70, No. 1, and Etudes, Opus 10, No. 3, and Opus 25, No. 9.

The waltz, which is one of the daintiest and most musically delightful of all the bijou works of the Polish master, was played with a very nice sense of tonal values and melody progression, while the two Etudes, dissimilar in character and together presenting many problems of piano-musicianship, were met bravely and held to consistent as well as brilliant outpouring.

Miss Lapham is specifically of the temperament and the facility to cope successfully with Chopin, and this group may rightly be said to have been unusually well given and strikingly vital in force and in Chopin-comprehension.

The last group contained the most novelty of any and it was of much interest to the audience, the Rossetter Cole "Legend," with which it began, being particularly well done and especially liked by the hearers.

MacDowell's "Br'er Rabbit" and "Scotch Poem" made good material and vivid contrast, while the Liapounow "Nuit de Noel" was expressive as well as vital and the big concert waltz, the Strauss-Schuett "Fledermaus," which closed the program, proved to be both brilliant and very much in the Lapham metier.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

Arendt—Else Harthan Arendt, soprano, sang the Offertory Solo at the First Congregational Church in Oak Park last Sunday evening, her number being "The Holy City" (Adams).

ESTELLE L. RUSSELL STUDIO

The Cliosophic Club entertained their friends at Mandel's in the ivory room on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Russell had the program in charge and presented the Russell Trio—Misses Louise Treitz, soprano; Leah Gehri, mezzo, and Mabel Hatton, alto—Miss Bernice Austin, pianist and accompanist, assisting the trio, and Miss Madeline Armistead, a very charming reader.

The trio were heard in several selections and Misses Treitz and Gehri in solos. A really delightful afternoon socially and musically.

The Russell Choral Club celebrated Victory Day from two standpoints, the Allies and Cupid. After the usual rehearsal a social hour followed—games and music and the presentation of two pictures to two of the members who were recently married. Soloists for the evening—Misses Ella Heming and Lydia Anderson. Special Thanksgiving service Sunday evening, Garfield Park Baptist Church. Soloists—Misses Pauline Solomon and Mildred Fash.

———♯♯♯———

BEULAH TAYLOR PORTER

Beulah Taylor Porter, accompanist, has filled the following engagements recently:

Nov. 15, accompanist for Master Sam Thompson, boy soprano, in the afternoon at Gary, Ind., evening accompanist for Luella Friertag, soprano, in recital in Oak Park at Concordia College; Nov. 18, accompanist for Orpha Kendall Holtsman at the Edgewater Beach Hotel; Nov. 18, accompanist for the Mu Phi Epsilon Concert in Ziegfeld Theatre in the morning and for Mignonette Schruta, violinist, and Rene S. Lund, baritone, at the Chicago Artists' Association in the afternoon.

———♯♯♯———

LUCY J. HARTMAN IN WAR WORK

Miss Lucy J. Hartman, the popular contralto, has been giving her entire time since September 1 to Red Cross work at the Central division.

She will continue in this during the reconstruction period.

OLIVE NEVIN RECITAL

Next Wednesday at 11 o'clock, at Ziegfeld Theater, Olive Nevin, soprano, will give a recital under the management of Carl D. Kinsey; Edoardo Sacerdote will be the accompanist. An interesting program has been arranged, as follows:

Qual Farfalletta amante.....D. Scarlatti (1683-1757)
Ch'io mai vi possa-lasciar d'amare.....
.....G. F. Handel (1685-1759)
Plus de depit, plus de tristesse (Les Deux Avares).....Andre Gretry (1741-1813)
Bid Me Discourse.....Sir H. R. Bishop
From Monte Pincio (Nocturne)
Faith
My Goal
.....Edward Grieg
Invocation—To Russia.....M. Balakireff
Eastern Romance.....N. Rimsky Korsakoff
Oxana's Song (Christmas Night).....
.....N. Rimsky Korsakoff
Le Vase Brise
Chantez! la nuit sera breve
Dites Moi
La Chanson des Lavandieres
(Ruy Blas)
.....Ethelbert Nevin
Exaltation.....Mrs. H. H. A. Beach
The Call of Radha.....Harriet Ware
Wings.....Gena Branscombe
After.....Mrs. H. H. A. Beach

———♯♯♯———

Hebert—Miss Harriet L. V. Hebert, who scored a big success in her recent appearance before the Catholic Woman's League, will sing on Thanksgiving eve at a musicale at the home of Miss Susan Flynn, and on December 15 will be soloist at St. Mary's-of-the-Lake. Miss Hebert, who specializes in an Indian program as well as in programs of French songs, presented the "Marseillaise" every evening for five weeks at the Liberty Loan Clearing House, and while in Montana earlier in the year she sang it daily (sometimes as often as five times a day) for three months.

———♯♯♯———

Edgewater Beach Hotel Musicale—The usual Twilight Musicale at the Edgewater Beach Hotel will be given on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 24, at 4 o'clock by Mme. Henriette Pepin, mezzo-soprano, and Rhea Dorothy Lynch, violinist, under direction of Jessie B. Hall.

Grant Kimbell

...TENOR...

Successful Recitalist

4756 FORRESTVILLE AVE.

Telephone Drexel 8519

CHRISTIE LANGENHAN

SOPRANO
Oratorios
Concerts
Recitals

MANAGEMENT
HUGO BOUCEK 116 West 39th Street NEW YORK

Ethel M. Rice

MANAGER OF . . . Musical AND Dramatic Artists

CLUB PROGRAMS ARRANGED
CHAUTAUQUA LYCEUM DRAMATIC COACHING

1536 KIMBALL HALL
PHONE WABASH 1260 RES. PHONE EDGEWATER 2719

ALICE SJOSELIUS

SOPRANO

"Mistress of a tone surpassingly exceptional"

Direction, EVELYN HOPPER
Aeolian Hall, New York City STEINWAY PIANO

PHYLLIS LA FOND

Soprano

CONCERTS OPERAS RECITALS

Management ANTONIA SAWYER, Aeolian Hall, New York

ELIAS BREESKIN

RUSSIAN VIOLINIST KRANICH & BACH PIANO USED
Sole Management, DANIEL MAYER, Aeolian Hall, New York
HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager. 739 Fine Arts Building, Chicago

RALPH MUNROE PARK Pianist
WABASH 1761 905-6 LYON & HEALY BLDG.

MAX ROSEN TALKS ON AUDIENCES AND THEIR VARYING EFFECTS ON AN ARTIST

A very interesting article by Max Rosen appears in The Violinist for October in which he gives the results of his experiences with audiences in general and American audiences in particular. He finds them critical but fair and very enthusiastic once their approval is bestowed. Mr. Rosen says: "When I enter upon the stage I make a mental note of the size of the audience and am subject to a little excitement. I would not call it nervousness because a musician who knows his instrument and his program should never get nervous, but the excitement of a performance mingled with the applause is a wonderful tonic and stimulant. As soon as I start playing I lose myself and forget the audience almost completely. I have been asked whether a few restless members of an audience make any difference to me while playing. I would say that a few unappreciative listeners work a great hardship on any artist. You probably recall the many stories of artists who have stopped their performance on account of a thoughtless person of this kind. An example was given at a performance by De Pachmann, who stopped and turned around to a lady who was fanning herself rather briskly, and exclaimed, 'How do you expect me to play 9/8 time while you are fanning 2/4?'"

———♯♯♯———

THE FRENCH ORCHESTRA

An incident related by the head of Wurlitzer & Company, manufacturers of musical instruments in Cincinnati, is an interesting commentary upon the affection with which the serious French musician regards the apparatus of his profession. This house arranged some time ago to lend to members of the Paris Symphony Orchestra a set of brass, wood-wind, string and other instruments to be used on their present tour of the United States. The reason for this loan was that these artists and professors from the Conservatoire de Paris were loath to run the risk of loss or damage to their own musical mediums by exposing them to the ravages of U-boat butchers in crossing the Atlantic. Consequently they intended to leave their own equipment in Paris while they risked their lives instead to come to this country for their first concert tour here. Some of these instruments have been handed down from one generation to another and all are of great artistic as well as intrinsic value.

However, the French government was quite as unwilling to risk losing any of these musicians as they were to endanger their precious tools, and consequently arranged for their passage on a French battleship instead of a passenger vessel. With this security they were reassured, and consequently American audiences will hear their concerts from the same instruments they have used for years in Paris. The manufacturer is better satisfied too, as the value of the equipment he was to lend is about $10,000, and while it would have doubtless been returned as good as new, there would have been a sales depreciation of about $3,000 because of the instruments having been used.

———♯♯♯———

Towner—The marriage is announced of Dr. D. B. Towner, director of music course of the Moody Bible Institute, to Miss Ada Page.

MUSIC IN PITTSBURGH

The Pittsburgh musical season of 1918-1919 began with the end of the closing order. The five weeks of inactivity meant much deprivation to the music lovers and the return to musical life was enthusiastically welcomed by all. Charles Heinroth, organist and director of music of Carnegie Institute, played the first of his series Saturday night in Carnegie Music Hall, Schenley Park, and plays the second Sunday afternoon.

Casper P. Koch, city organist at Northside Carnegie Hall, began his series Sunday afternoon.

Thursday night Eugene Ysaye, Belgian violinist, and Beryl Rubenstein, Polish pianist, appear in the first program of the Ellis series, to be given in the Carnegie Music Hall.

Friday night Mabel Garrison, soprano, and Hipolito Lazaro, tenor, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, appear in the first program of the Heyn series, to be given in the Carnegie Music Hall.

Saturday afternoon the French Military Band, Capt. Gabriel Pares directing, in a patriotic concert for the benefit of the "Foyer du Soldat" (French Y. M. C. A.), in Syria Mosque at 2:15 o'clock.

Saturday night the French Military Band will repeat the afternoon program at 8:15 o'clock in Syria Mosque.

The first recital of the season under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Musical Institute was given in Carnegie Music Hall Monday night, November 18, to introduce two new members of the faculty, Miss Margaret Horne, violinist, and Charles Edward Mayhew, baritone. The accompanists for the recital were T. Carl Whitmer and William H. Oetting.

A feature of the tea given on Saturday afternoon in the Italian room of the William Penn Hotel by the Y. W. C. A., as a send-off to the workers in the United War Work campaign, was the music. The program was presented by Miss Olive Nevin, Mrs. Jerome E. Capen, Miss Rose Hamilton, Miss Ravencroft and Miss Amanda Vierheller, vocalists, accompanied by Mrs. Blanche Sanders Walker, pianist; Mrs. Ruth Bowers Gibson, violinist, and Miss Myrtle June McAteer, cellist.

S. R. K.

MILWAUKEE

The ban being lifted Monday, allowed the schedule of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra to take place as listed. Mr. Richard Koebner, who has been instrumental in making it possible for Milwaukee music lovers to hear these concerts for several seasons, is in charge as usual. He has also arranged for a most attractive list of individual artists to be heard throughout the season.

♮ ♮ ♮

The Arrow Musical Club, which has stood for so many years for the best in choral work, announces an unusually large chorus to be heard in three concerts. A company of five French instrumentalists from the Paris Conservatory of Music will be the added attraction at the first concert, Florence Macbeth and Arthur Middleton at the later ones. Mr. Protheroe as conductor and Mr. John Jones as general hustler for the organization have officiated so efficiently for so long it goes without saying they are acting in their usual capacity.

♮ ♮ ♮

Miss Charlotte Puge, contralto, who has been residing in Boston the past year, writes her teacher, Mrs. Iva Bigelow Weaver, she has been engaged as soloist with the Apollo Club of Boston, Emil Mollenhauer, conductor, for its April concert.

Milwaukee showed its appreciation of Miss Puge by giving her engagements as soloist with some of our best choral societies and it is evident she is equally well treated in Boston.

♮ ♮ ♮

Miss Margaret Rice has announced the artists of her second season of Twilight Musicales. Arthur Alexander and Gabrielle Gills, who present the first two concerts, are both strangers to Milwaukee. Mme. Olga Samaroff and the Trio de Lutice are listed for the third and fourth concerts and have a host of admirers from former hearings. Miss Rice is the very capable and energetic personal manager of Arthur Shattuck and well understands what is necessary to please the public.

Remington—Thomas Remington has been engaged to sing the name part in "Elijah" when that oratorio is presented by the Haydn Choral Society under the direction of H. W. Owens at Central Music Hall on December 12.

THELMA GIVEN
Violinist
Management:
Metropolitan Musical Bureau
35 West 42nd Street, New York, N. Y.

TEW
WORLD'S GREATEST VOCAL TEACHER
Engages to equip every pupil with an understanding of the Art of Singing, which insures a natural, unforced compass of from three octaves upwards of PURE, BEAUTIFUL, FLEXIBLE, and POWERFUL tone. (a) Principle of Co-ordination Applied to Vocal Mechanism, possible only through reversal of all modern Vocal Orthodox Methods. (b) Understanding of Principle (Logos), the Only Teacher.
SUITE 612 AND 613, FINE ARTS BUILDING, CHICAGO
TELEPHONE—WABASH 6990

MISCHA LEVITZKI The Genial Russian Pianist
Season 1918-19 Booking Now
Management DANIEL MAYER
HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager
AEOLIAN HALL
Baldwin Piano Used
NEW YORK

LYRIC SOPRANO EDNA DE LIMA FORMERLY OF THE LONDON COVENT GARDEN
FOR CONCERTS, OPERA, RECITALS
MANAGEMENT HAENSEL AND JONES
AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK

FLORENCE EASTON
Metropolitan Opera, N. Y.
Chicago Opera, Chicago
Covent Garden, London
DUET RECITALS CONCERTS
FRANCIS MACLENNAN
Management: HAENSEL & JONES, Aeolian Hall, New York

Music in New York

1 W. Thirty-fourth St.

By JOSEPH DE VALDOR

The Plaza Musicales—Cecil Arden Appears as the Bright Star

The first of the Plaza morning musicales was given on Tuesday, November 5, at 11:30, at the fashionable hotel on Fifth avenue. In spite of the early hour society was out in force, and in spite of two other artists on the program the interest centered on the appearance of Miss Cecil Arden, the mezzo-contralto of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Her first rendition was the "Aria di Orfeo," by Gluck (not by Haydn, as the program indicated). It would be interesting to hear her in a performance of Gluck's opera, for her vocal equipment is there to make the part an Arden success.

Haydn's "Mermaid Song" was exquisitely given. The song by Paradies had all the charm one would have wished. Excellent diction and clear enunciation were displayed in "Danny Boy" (Weatherly) and "La Morenita" (Buzzi-Peccia). Miss Ina Grainge was at the piano. The other two artists were Victor Wittgenstein, pianist, and Mayo Wadler, violinist.

♮ ♮ ♮

Society of American Singers Give "Mikado"

Wishing, perhaps, to recuperate from the losses incurred by the presentation of grand opera and opera comique, the G. & S. comic operas seem the proper thing to attract larger audiences. We welcome the splendid music, but as to the interpreters, only a few can be detached for special mention. In the "Mikado" presentation only Robinson Newbold was able to keep up the humor. His monologues, his comedy and the dancing were at high-water mark. Herbert Waterous was also conspicuous vocally and histrionically in the part of the man holding many offices. As for the rest, little was shown, sung or acted in Nipponese manner. The orchestra was well conducted by John McGhie and was a consolation for the mediocrity of some performers who appeared on November 12.

♮ ♮ ♮

Brief Notes of Recitals and Concerts

The brilliant French pianist, Alfred Cortot, gave his only recital at Aeolian Hall on Armistice day, and in spite of the New York festivities, which made all inhabitants of the city forget all else, the audience was very large. Yvette Guilbert gave another of her "Chansons" recitals at the Maxine Elliott on November 10. Lydia Ferguson gave a costume recital much on the same lines with Yvette Guilbert at the Princess Theater on Sunday evening, November 10. Leo Ornstein gave his first recital on the afternoon of November 12. At the Princess Theater Miss Julia Henry (formerly Heinrich) gave a song recital. At the Metropolitan on November 12 John McCormack, Jacques Thibaud and Lenora Sparkes appeared for the United War Work; $75,000 was taken in. On November 12 the first concert by the New York Chamber Music Society was given at Aeolian Hall. Violinist Czerwonky gave a recital at Aeolian Hall on November 13. On November 14 at the Booth Theater pupils of Isadora Duncan, with George Copeland, Bostonian, pianist, appeared.

The Philharmonic Society of New York opened its season on November 14, evening. At Aeolian Hall Edwin Hughes gave his annual piano recital on the evening of November 14.

The Symphony Society of New York gave at Carnegie Hall a concert on the afternoon of November 14; Mabel Garrison, soloist. On November 15, at Aeolian Hall, song recital by Lotta Madden. Piano recital at Aeolian Hall by Leon Sampaix. On November 16, Mme. Niessen-Stone gave a song recital at Aeolian Hall.

♮ ♮ ♮

First Week of the Metropolitan—"Aida"—Giulio Crimi's Debut

On Wednesday evening, November 13, the second night of opera, "Aida" was given, with Giulio Crimi in a successful interpretation of Radames. The cast enlisted Louise Homer, Claudia Muzio, Louis D'Angelo, Adamo Didur and Thomas Chalmers. Maestro Moranzoni was at the baton. Owing to the first performance of "La Forza del Destino" and its unusual cast, comments on the "Aida" performance are deferred for another issue or a repetition of the opera.

♮ ♮ ♮

"La Figlia del Regimento"—Fernando Carpi as Tonio

Following its successful revival of last year, on November 14 Donizetti's war opera received another presentation before a large audience. There were no changes in the cast. The opera is full of life. It has a libretto dealing with the amusing items which war provides. In the part of Tonio Fernando Carpi was glorious. His voice is fresher this season, and as to his artistic singing it may be recommended to some of his colleagues. He has such style in his vocalization as only few tenors have. There is a reminiscence of Edmond Clement, the pinnacle French tenor. His acting had all the spirit of a youthful, gay soldier. The public gave him spontaneous applause, without the aid of the claque.

Maestro Papi is an expert Donizettian conductor. His baton was authoritative not only for the interpreters but for the players and ensemble. The charming and spirited score was drawn from the orchestra with brilliant effects. All went well until Fricda Hempel introduced a touch of burlesque, which went badly with an Italian opera. Her singing of "Keep the Home Fires Burning" in the last act was not appreciated. You cannot win the affections of the American public by such tactics, and we are rather surprised that the management permits such unesthetic happenings in an opera house.

First Performance of 'La Forza del Destino' (The Force of Destiny)

Rosa Poncelle, a Phenomenal Voice, Needs Schooling; Giuseppe De Luca Glorious as Don Carlos; Alice Gentle a Full Fledged Artist; An Ideal Ensemble; Gennaro Papi Excels at the Baton

Mr. Gatti-Casazza will be overwhelmed with the following inquiry: "Why, after ten years of regime at the Metropolitan, has he kept Verdi's beautiful opera on the shelf until now?" And we may also add that two other operas by the King of Melody, "Don Carlos" and "Ernani," are being preserved in the vaults of the Broadway temple.

GIUSEPPE DE LUCA

"La Forza del Destino" reminds us strongly of "Rigoletto" and "Traviata," but there is so much of original music that the opera is destined to remain from now on in the repertoire, not because of Mr. Gatti-Casazza's desire, but because of the public's demand. It is a long opera, with two scenes in the first act, three in the third and two in the fourth; but one can never be fatigued by listening to its music. I have no intention to analyze the opera, and will speak of its music when I am commenting upon the cast.

The story of the opera is on another page of our journal. Not since the memorable days of Maurice Grau, when the Metropolitan was embellished with artists who made the opera writers flame with admiration, has the cast been so well selected. For some time no such ensemble has been gathered. It is an exception; we fear it will not be repeated unless the same wisdom is used by the management. The cast comprised two new debutantes, which makes four in all since the inception of the season.

The great surprise of the evening was the new soprano, Rosa Poncelle, an American, who was discovered in vaudeville by William Thorner, a New York teacher and, by the way, the man who made Galli-Curci's engagement at the Chicago opera a possibility.

J. WARREN ERB
CONDUCTOR SONG COACH
ARTISTS ACCOMPANIST
Permanently at
STUDIO HALL, 220 MADISON AVENUE
NEW YORK

Miss Poncelle's was her first appearance in the opera and after only six months' training. Her voice is not less than phenomenal. It is a glorious dramatic lyric timbre, luscious, warm, brilliant and clear in the upper tone. She sings with a wonderful facility. It is a powerful voice, colored—from the lower to the upper register it is fluent, clear, mellow, sparkling. Naturally for a girl whose training has been so limited she needs more schooling; she has to acquire routine of vocalization, also she must get rid of singing off key. With a study of one year or more Miss Poncelle will surely be ranked as one of the greatest singers the world of today has ever recorded, save Rosa Raisa or Emmy Destinn. Her stage presence is exceptional and her acting discloses intelligence. Finally the Metropolitan has acquired something worth while, and her future appearances are awaited with great interest.

Giuseppe De Luca, as Don Carlos, was a gigantic feature of the performance. It would be difficult to mention in which act he was better. In everything he did in the performance, whether in solos or duos or in the ensemble, De Luca's voice was a glory. He sang with a beauty of tone, with force and the artistry which places him in the ranks of the great baritones of the present day. His acting was noble, majestic and effective. If we had heard him only as Don Carlos his name should be engraved in gold letters.

Mardone's basso voice is one of the most beautiful in existence; it resembles Pol Plancon's. If he only were an artist such as the great Frenchman was! The second act was his—a flawless exposition of a nature-gifted organ.

Alice Gentle was charming, gay, full of life, especially in the "E viva la guerra." She has progressed to an extent where her services in the Metropolitan will be more than valuable. Notwithstanding a slight tremolo in her mezzo-soprano voice, the organ is beautiful, powerful, warm and the most admirable lower register I've heard for some time. Her "Rataplan" was artistically rendered and the aria proved that she would be able to sing the part of Maria in the "Daughter of the Regiment."

Thomas Chalmers disclosed another view of his artistry. The characteristic monk, which reminds one of the Sacristan in "Tosca," makes him commendable for the exceptional interpretation he gave Father Melitone.

Caruso was glorious. It reminded one of the Caruso of yore when he did not force his upper voice, when he avoided shouting. The Neapolitan tenor still remains the great tenor. His lyric arias were magnificently sung

Louis D'Angelo in the short role, Marquis of Calatava, gave a few moments of pleasure through the clear and sonorous quality which belongs to him.

The rest of the cast included Paltrinieri, another debutant; Reschiglian, Marie Mattfeld and Paolo Ananian. Gennaro Papi was a tower of strength at the baton. The Verdian music appealed straight to the heart through his capable conducting. He showed extreme ability of handling such a conspicuous cast, a large chorus, a big ballet and eighty-five musicians. The glory also belongs to him, as the conductor was such a help that the performance will remain memorable in the annals of the Metropolitan Opera. The chorus work was excellent and Mr. Setti must be praised for the accurate preparations. The scenery by Messrs. Gros and Fox was beautiful, and the ballet had its share in the success. There was an overflowing audience—the largest ever recorded.

The enthusiasm was high, the recalls countless and the bravos in great quantity. None of the interpreters was forgotten—each one had his share in the ovation. "La Forza del Destino" should remain in the repertoire as long as the same cast is a possibility. And congratulations to Gatti-Casazza.

♮ ♮ ♮

"Thais," with Robert Couzinou as Athanael

Massenet, revived on Saturday matinee, brought forward the new French baritone, Robert Couzinou as Athanael. Naturally this role affords more opportunities to judge an artist's abilities than the "Grand Pretre" in "Samson et Dalila," so a definite judgment of his vocal and artistic powers is possible now. Mr. Couzinou is exactly that power which the Metropolitan has lacked for some seasons—French roles were tediously interpreted until last season. Now, with a genuine French artist, the repertoire is to see an improvement. Mr. Couzinou possesses a sweet baritone quality, in the upper register it approaches the tenor. He impressed us at times as Maurice Renaud. His singing of the second act was capitally done, flawlessly acted, with a perfect and individual charm and splendid French enunciation. In this opera he was the only one, save for Mr. Rothier, whose interpretation reminded us that the opera comes from the pen of Massenet.

Leon Rothier in the small part of Palemon was an ideal partenaire to Mr. Couzinou. Geraldine Farrar's voice this season is even more debilitated than ever—only the pure French diction remains of her assets. Mme. Delamois, as one of the lesser courtisanes, was excellent.

Pierre Monteux directed the orchestra with taste and comprehension, including the "Meditation," which was well received. Mr. Diaz's singing of Nicias convinced us of his rapid progress in vocalization and the improvement of his voice.

One of the puzzles of the performance was the uncalled for Indian costume plus a Redman's feathered hat. Can you imagine a red-garbed Thais?

On Saturday night "Cavalleria" was given with Florence Easton, Paul Athouse and Chalmers; "Pagliacci" with Morgan Kingston, Claudia Muzio, Scotti and Laurenti; Moranzoni conducted. Comment deferred.

♯ ♯ ♯

VIRNA HARMAN WALKER STUDIOS

The audience was so large that it crowded into the dancing space at this popular studio on Saturday evening. Deservedly, every offering brought great applause, and in some instances an encore was necessary. Not being able to go into the technique of dancing, one who seeks for reasons for Miss Walker's success finds it in her enthusiasm. There was an infectious abandon in all the graceful, lithe movements and posturing. She has a keen eye for the picturesque and knows how to impart it. Singularly free from angularity of movement were the many dancers employed, and they grouped themselves easily and naturally, with no false steps or uneasy movements. It was all thoroughly delightful—a reflective credit to all engaged and, as a consequence, a large one for the studio itself. A long list of solo dances preceded the larger work of the evening. It will not be wrong to give a liberal meed of compliment to a lad named Robert Pause, who evidenced remarkable talent and precocious development. There is every reason to predict for him a future of real purpose. Ruth Allene Pryor is another gifted pupil. Employed in the various dances were the Misses Kensting, Brin, Fisher, Ruff, Gladstone, Skehen, Barrett, Ewalt, Van Horn, Pryor, Slotnikoff, Cuy Kendall, and Lucille Seabrook. The latter also contributed two vocal numbers, neatly and musically.

The "Pandora" ballet was charming, and Miss Walker, surrounded by a bevy of pupils, made it a distinctively lovely picture to be remembered.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

♯ ♯ ♯

Mandy—Miss Helen Harris, pianist; Miss Anna Takach, violinist; pupils of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mandy, and Mrs. Myrtle I. Richardson, soprano, pupil of John Loring Cook, rendered a fine musical program for "The Daughters of the British Empire" in the Stevens building last Saturday afternoon.

ORRIN BASTEDO
BARITONE
Appeared Successfully with the Society of American Singers Season 1918
Concerts-Opera
Personal Address 257 W. 86th St., New York

Carolina Lazzari
LEADING CONTRALTO
CHICAGO OPERA ASSOCIATION
Management: CHARLES L. WAGNER
D. F. McSweeney, Associate Manager
511 Fifth Avenue, New York

LELA LOWE-PIERSON
VIOLINIST
Tel. Rogers Pk. 4701. 6807 Wayne Av.

FLORENCE CARO LINDLEY
SOPRANO
Tel. Edgewater 1095. 1216 Rosedale Ave.

Tina Mae Haines Teacher, Coach Lectures, Recitals
4452 SIDNEY AVE. Tel. KENWOOD 5083

FRANK W. VanDusen PIANO ORGAN
American Conservatory Kimball Hall

ALTA MILLER
CITALS MEZZO-SOPRANO PUPILS
1707 Hinman Av., Evanston Tel. Evanston 318

WALTER WHEATLEY
TENOR
Western Address; Lincoln, Neb.

ROWLAND LEACH
VIOLINIST BUSH CONSERVATORY

Mary Bower, B. M. With Chicago Musical College
Teacher of Piano, Harmony, Organ and Psychology of Music
1953 Sunnyside Ave. Phone Ravenswood 6287

Virna Harman Walker
STUDIO OF DANCING
Ballroom Ballet Pantomime Phones:
206 S. Wabash Av., Suite 200. Wab. 2460; Hay'k't 4347

MILON R. HARRIS, Tenor
Voice Development and Artistic Singing
STUDIO, 929 KIMBALL HALL CHICAGO

FREDA STARR
AMERICAN LYRIC SOPRANO
Management Lincoln Bureau 1257 So. 27th St., Lincoln, Neb.

Thomas REMINGTON Basso
ROOM 610 KIMBALL BUILDING

Veada K. Hatfield
SOPRANO CHURCH, CONCERT, TEACHING
361 Forest Ave., River Forest, Ill.

ANNA GROFF-BRYANT
Dean of the School of Three Arts of Lombard College
Galesburg, Ill. Send for latest bulletin.
Chicago Studio. 707 Fine Arts Building.

Adelaide PIERCE
CONTRALTO
Warren Concert Bureau, Schiffmann Bldg. St. Paul, Minn.

Cora ANDERSON
PIANIST Kimball Hall

LILLIAN AMMALE Pianist
Care of MUSIC NEWS

PUZZLING QUESTIONS REGARDING MUSIC ANSWERED

Letters addressed to this department will be answered by Mary Bower, B. M., who has made an exhaustive study of not only piano playing but also of music and both the psychology of music and the psychology of teaching.

♮ ♮ ♮

Question—Could I be a musician of good standing if I begin to study music at the age of 25, providing I am persevering and study under competent teachers? I am told I have talent.

A. M. B.

Answer—The age of beginning musical studies is not necessarily a bar to future accomplishment.

Paderewski did not take up the study of music seriously until he was over 20; Wagner did not seriously begin to acquire the fundamental facts of musical theory until after he was 17; Schubert and Mendelssohn composed masterpieces at 17.

♮ ♮ ♮

Question—I am writing you to ask if you can give me the name of a book (or possibly you may have some lectures on the subject) which deals with the indolent child.

I have some pupils with more or less ability who are satisfied with very mediocre work, and I want to awaken the desire for better work.

A. Z. H.

Answer—For over two years I spent two days each week studying the abnormal child, that I might better understand teaching normal children. It was surprising to find what the mentally deficient could do provided they wanted to do it. The merit is in awakening the desire in each individual pupil, and to do this find something that particular pupil would like to play, even if it is music that has no educational value. If he plays this with musical feeling and imagination you are on the road to success, and you can gradually lead him to want music that is of educational value.

New interests, new or greater powers must be ingrafted on, or from, or developed out of existing (spontaneous) interests or powers. The strength you wish your pupil to acquire must be first cousin to some strength he already possesses, must come to seem to him a prolongation of what is already natural and easy to him.

If a pupil comes to you and wants a popular piece, give it to him and teach him to play it correctly. Once the musical feeling and imagination are aroused you can easily awaken the desire for music of educational value, but if in the beginning he does NOT want the better class of music you will hear nothing but "notes, notes, notes, and then notes, correctly played," when he comes for his lesson.

♮ ♮ ♮

Question—I am submitting to you a set of text books for piano instruction, which have cost me much time and money and which have brought me no returns. I am inclosing a catalogue of a music school of which I am the author and which I have been told brought the school no returns.

Will you kindly tell me what you consider stands in the way of success?

M. B. R.

Answer—The part of your question regarding the text books I answered in the October column.

As to the catalogue, it has some very good points, but as a whole it is colorless; in other words, it lacks character.

You say your text books have proven a failure. Then why make them the leading text books used in a conservatory? It is a difficult matter to launch a new school. It can only be done by studying efficient business methods and what successfully established schools are doing. Try no innovations until your school is established.

Your catalogue states you have a department of "Business Psychology." I suppose by that you mean a Psychology of Business Efficiency Department, which, if correctly worded, should be a strong drawing card and a much needed one by the majority of musicians.

The write-up of your "Higher English" department is badly worded and means nothing to prospective pupils. In the back of your catalogue you have two pages of small ads, sixteen in number; I have seen catalogues of successful schools which had several high class, full, or half-page ads, but never pages of small miscellaneous ads; it shows lack of business efficiency, it probably took more time to get these small ads; it shows a lack of business efficiency. They are very unsightly in the catalogue of a conservatory of music.

But if I am right in thinking you have had very little experience as a teacher and your business manager has yet to acquire a knowledge of business efficiency, then you have made a good beginning. Make it a stepping stone for the future, and not a stumbling block.

♯♯♯

LILY WADHAMS MOLINE

Lily Wadhams Moline, well known Chicago organist, has been busy with composition for the past few years and now has to her credit the following list of established successes: Allegretto, published by Summy, a very effective organ piece for offertory or concert; "O God of Love" and "A Psalm of Praise," two very good sacred songs; "In Slumberland," "Springtime," "Love's Way," secular songs, and "The Clarion Call," a rousing patriotic number.

For the piano Mrs. Moline has written three Etudes, a Concert Etude, an "Etude de Style" and "Chanticleer."

♯♯♯

ORPHA KENDALL HOLSTMAN

Orpha Kendall Holstman, soprano, gave a recital of the songs of Illinois composers for the music study class at Princeton, Ill., on Tuesday evening, November 12. On Monday evening, November 18, Mrs. Holstman sang for the North End Club at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, and on Wednesday afternoon, November 20, she gave a recital of Indian songs and Negro spirituals for the Chicago Woman's Club.

♯♯♯

Silber—It is rumored that Sidney Silber will give a piano recital in Chicago in the early Spring. Mr. Silber has appeared here twice and is remembered as a scholarly and brilliant pianist.

BASSO Dr. Carver Williams
Cosmopolitan School Kimball Hall

ALMA HAYS REED
SOPRANO
6543 GLENWOOD AVENUE

MUSIC IN WAR TIME

MARY L. STEPHENSON

Music in time of war is an absolute essential. It soothes the sick and stimulates the well.

Martial music has a double role. It brings rhythm to the feet and a throb to the heart. Let even a fife and drum corps appear on the village street and soon every passer-by has fallen into line. Soldiers stand straighter and march better and with less fatigue if the band is playing.

The American Red Cross has made use of this power of music in its work of relief in every possible way. Under its auspices American opera singers have gone through the hospital wards singing for those brave boys and many a patient has had his bed of pain made easier in this way.

What camp singing has done for the boys is already a matter of history. Every camp has had its song leader as a recognized member of the camp personnel. This chorus singing has been a safety valve to many a young soldier boy both in times of depression and of exultation. It has been a vital part of camp life.

Music has played its part in both the hospitals in camps and cantonments and in the base hospitals of Europe. Everything from ragtime to classical music is called for and given to the convalescents. Every Red Cross recreation hut has a piano so that the boys can gather round and let one of their own number play for them. There is also a phonograph or victrola so that all they have to do is to put in a needle and set back and be entertained. Even a toy flute or mouth organ given a convalescent soldier in his hospital bed has furnished endless entertainment for himself and his near-by companions.

Many soldier songs have been written since the war began. Some of these have been good and some have been very bad, judged from a musical standard. But the test of a war song is not whether it is musically good but whether it is musically great; whether it stirs emotionally and makes everyone feel like "joining in." And many of our new war songs measure up to this standard.

But popular as are the ragtime melodies and the street songs in the camps and cantonments of America, once "over there" the more serious songs and the folk songs of the homeland have a strong appeal for our soldiers.

A Red Cross chaplain tells of visiting a group of American soldiers billeted in a little French village. He went the length of the village street where on a knoll he found gathered the boys ready to sing. Much to his surprise they did not begin with the popular airs, but struck up "Rock of Ages," "Nearer My God to Thee" and other such hymns. They sang with sweetness and with fervor, but gradually the song became hushed and each boy seemed wrapped in his own thoughts. Finally they sang "Lead, Kindly Light," and when they came to the line "the night is dark and I am far from home," they faltered and one by one they stole out into the darkness until only the tenor was left to finish the hymn.

Aside from the stir of martial music and the emotional outlet of song, music fills still another important place in the life of the soldier in time of war. For it has been found to be a splendid remedial measure in the rehabilitation work with the soldiers.

Because of its healing and soothing powers it is a great aid in restoring to a normal state of mind a man suffering from shell shock. The shattered nerves are calmed and the bodily pains assuaged.

In time of war the singing of patriotic songs becomes an exceedingly popular practice among civilians as well as in the army. The children of Europe are already learning the patriotic airs of America. In Italy the children cared for by the American Red Cross in nurseries and hospitals have been singing our own "Star Spangled Banner" in Italian. In Belgium, too, the children at the soup kitchens show their gratitude to the Americans by singing lustily our national airs in broken English.

The entire musical world of America has a part to play in the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call week. By lining up with the American Red Cross at this time, more and better music will be insured our soldiers both at home and abroad during the coming months.

###

Hemingway—Compositions of Clara Edmunds Hemingway of Gary, Ind., have been listed in advertisements by Arthur P. Schmidt, Oliver Ditson, Heffelfinger Company and Witmark & Sons.

DUNNING SYSTEM
OF
Improved Music Study
FOR
BEGINNERS
Normal Teachers
HARRIET BACON MacDonald
3623 Pine Grove Ave.
CARRIE MUNGER Long Chicago
Congress Hotel
Mrs. MacDonald's Classes: Dallas, Tex., October 28; Tulsa, Okla., January 6; Chicago, Mrs. Long's Classes: New Orleans, La., January 10, 1919; Birmingham, Ala., March 1; Chicago, Ill., May 1.

ANTOINETTE
ZEBROWSKA-PERLOWSKA Concert Violinist
7812 SOUTH SHORE DRIVE
Tel. So. Chicago 4885

Blanche E. Snider
LYRIC SOPRANO
429 Fine Arts Bldg. On tour with Cathedral Quartette

ARTHUR RANDOLPH FRASER
Choirmaster and Organist. Grace Church. Oak Park
PUPILS—PIANO and ORGAN
TELEPHONE OAK PARK 5749

Letitia V. Barnum, Director
CHICAGO SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION AND DRAMATIC ART
Fine Arts Bldg. 410 Michigan Ave., Chicago

LENOX LUCIE ROBERTS
Soprano—Pupils
849 FINE ARTS BUILDING, WED. AND SAT. A. M.
1019 Superior St., OAK PARK. Phone O. P. 3530-F

Hanna Butler
Soprano PUPILS RECITAL ORATORIO
512 Fine Arts Bldg. Tel. Wabash 4870

Arthur Shattuck, Pianist
Management Margaret Rice, Secretary, 325 Oakland Avenue, Milwaukee
The Steinway Piano

READ The Musical Observer
the best music monthly published. Too little space to tell you about the many good things it contains. Send for a copy of current issue free. MUSICAL OBSERVER CO., Cooper Square, NEW YORK.

ANNA E. GEORGE
PIANIST COMPOSER
Teaching at Bush Conservatory

Esther Fricke-Green Accompanist
Organist Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist
625 Lyon & Healy Building

Mrs. Charles L. Krum
SOPRANO
Studio, 621 Fine Arts Bldg. Res. 5000 Harper Av. Tel. Drexel 2986

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Buren Stein
Auditorium Musical-Dramatic Conservatory
AUDITORIUM BLDG. CHICAGO

CLARA EDMUNDS-HEMINGWAY
Contralto-Whistler-Reader-Pianist,
ORIGINAL Composition Recitals. ORATORIO, Concert, Recital
CHURCH. 563 Madison, Gary, Ind. Phone 1224

SILVIO SCIONTI
PIANIST
American Conservatory, Kimball Hall

FREDERICA GERHARDT DOWNING
CONTRALTO
Oratorio - Concert - Recital
709 South Harvey Av., Oak Park, Ill. Phone O. P. 1478

Allen W. Bogen
CONCERT ORGANIST PUPILS
5429 Harper Ave. Tel. Blackstone 1913

MRS. EDWARD MacDOWELL
Programs of MacDowell Music Steinway Piano
Management: Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway, New York
Proceeds of these recitals revert unreservedly to the MacDowell Memorial Association

IRVING C. HANCOCK
Organist and Choirmaster, Trinity Episcopal Church
PUPILS—PIANO AND ORGAN Phone Drexel 6903

Frances Frothingham
PIANO—HARMONY
605 KIMBALL BUILDING

Jessie Nichols Baldwin
Soprano Teacher of Singing Recitals
617 Kimball Hall and Orchard School

Olive Nevin, Soprano
"A Nevin Worthy of the Name"
325 WEST 57th STREET NEW YORK

GRAHAM HARRIS, Violinist
Winner Nat'l Contest N.F.M.C. Biennial Convention
240 E. Tremont Av. NEW YORK

Palmer Christian
Concert Organist

MUSICIANS' CLUB

Heading the program of the current concert of the Musicians' Club of Women, formerly the Amateur Club, was the statement that the date covered the 476th concert by the club. A truly noteworthy record. It might easily embrace the evolution of Chicago from a backward western town, indifferent to music and culture, to the eminent musical center it is now and the metropolis it is to be. I couldn't help saluting the memory of those who founded it and hoping that they might know, in some way, just how large a harvest their planting had yielded.

Recital Hall was filled. A great many prominent musicians were there, and that still larger group of women who love music ardently and support it generously. It was very pleasant to be in the atmosphere of discerning enjoyment. The offerings were received with cordiality, the participants being made to feel that they were welcome for themselves and for their music.

On the program were such sterling, reliable standbys as Katherine Howard Ward and Tina Mae Haines for accompanists. Ruth Breytspraak played the violin in her own gifted, earnest way. Winifred Stuart McGraw, an excellent contralto, had a choice group of songs, done delightfully. Agnes Lapham played the piano, using as one selection Rossetter Cole's thoroughly pianistic "Legende," something "full of the out of doors," as Miss Lapham remarked. And she made it tell the story charmingly. Elsa Harthan Arendt gave an example of the modern Mr. Treharne, who did not fully arrive in his effort, despite Mrs. Arendt's sincerity and talent. But it was worth going miles to hear her sing Godard's "La Tasse," a simply glorious song, gloriously worked out by an artist with voice and brains.

A Moszkowski sonata for two violins and piano was a genuine novelty, but unfortunately was not heard by the writer. It enlisted the services of Miss Breytspraak, Elena Moneak, and Marie Bergerson Borroff.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Recital by Miss A. Louise Suess, reader; Mr. Thomas Remington, baritone, Kimball Hall, Saturday afternoon, November 23, at 3 o'clock. Program:

L' En Voi ..... Kipling
The Man Who Knew ..... Service
Scene from Act II, If I Were King..... McCarthy
Miss Suess
Midsummer Lullaby ..... MacDowell
Uncle Rome ..... Homer
Recitative and Aria—Sous les Pieds d'une femme ..... Gounod
(From Le Reine de Saba)
Mr. Remington
Peter's Speech ..... Bell
Miss Suess
A Swan ..... Grieg
The Song of the Sword, Tofana ..... Clough Leighter
Mr. Remington
A Lady in a Pullman ..... Cooke
Miss Suess
Miss Mabel Stapleton at the Piano.

CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

The student players of the Chicago Musical College will present three plays in Ziegfeld Theater this Saturday morning. The curtain will rise at 11 o'clock. The following works will be given:

"The Girls Over Here," a patriotic play in one act by Marie Doran; "Gone Abroad" and "When the Club Meets."

Neill-Slade—Amy Emerson Neill, violinist, and Mason Slade, organist, will give a concert at St. Paul's Church, Fiftieth street and Dorchester avenue, on next Sunday afternoon, Nov. 24, at 5 o'clock, this being at the hour of the usual evening service.

TRINITY CHURCH

Next Sunday afternoon (November 24) at 4:30 o'clock the choir of Trinity Episcopal Church will sing Buck's Cantata, "The

SAM THOMPSON

Triumph of David." Master Sam Thompson will sing the soprano solo work, Master Francis Duncan the alto, Mr. W. C. Schoubel and Mr. B. F. Lewis the tenor and bass parts. The public is cordially invited to this service.

LYCEUM ARTS CONSERVATORY

On Friday evening, November 15, a short and very pleasing pupils' recital was given at the Lyceum Arts Conservatory. The participants were Ruth Rothe, piano pupil of Miss Marguerite Kelpsch, and Lynda Roehl, contralto, a pupil of Mrs. Thirza Mosher-Parmenter. Both performers gave evidence of talent, though the work of both was marred slightly by extreme nervousness, which was really uncalled for inasmuch as the audience was made up almost entirely of friends. However, both proved distinct credits to their teachers and showed the results of conscientious work.

Miss Rothe's tone was clear and her technic careful and exact. Miss Roehl's voice, deep in quality, holds great possibilities for the future. Though the lowest tones were at times somewhat covered and the enunciation was not always clear, the interpretation was at all times good and the voice finely resonant, without a harsh note. The program is here quoted:

Gavotte and Musette ..... D'Albert
Conzonetta ..... Schuett
Prelude in C sharp minor ..... Rachmaninoff
Miss Rothe
Melisainde in the Woods ..... Goetz
Miss Roehl
Romance ..... Sibelius
Shadow Dance ..... MacDowell
Scotch Tone Poem ..... MacDowell
Prelude, D minor ..... Chaminade
Miss Rothe
Prayer Perfect ..... Stenson
In Flanders Fields ..... Bergen
Miss Roehl
Tarantelle ..... Raff
Miss Rothe
Miss Kelpsch, second piano

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

CECIL ARDEN
METROPOLITAN OPERA COMPANY
MEZZO-CONTRALTO
For Concerts and Recitals
Management
EMIL REICH, 1 W. 34th St,, NEW YORK

HERBERT GOULD
(BASSO CANTANTE)
Herbert Gould will sing
"Messiah"
Engagements during the on-coming Xmas season (provided they do not interfere with his work as Song Leader at Great Lakes) at $150.00
Studio address: 523 Fine Arts Building
Chicago

"Brilliant Debut of New Violinist"

H. E. KREHBIEL, NEW YORK TRIBUNE

RAOUL VIDAS

Evening Globe, Nov. 11, 1918.
(By Pitts Sanborn)

Raoul Vidas, another one of these gifted young fiddlers, made his local debut yesterday. There is a Greek quality in his feeling for musical design, in the solid and graceful modeling of his phrases. His sense of rhythm points to the possibility that he might become another Ysaye. He draws from his instrument an uncommonly large, warm, rich tone. He is a player of marked temperament, controlled by a substantial, if not always obviously facile, technique.

In spite of a remarkably calm exterior, the young fiddler was probably somewhat nervous, but flaws were exceedingly rare. In Lalo's "Concerto Russe" he exhibited a noble cantabile and uncommon authority. Shorter pieces that followed included a "Saltarelle" marked Wieniawski-Thibaud, which he played with delightful delicacy and had to be repeated. The audience was large and exceedingly demonstrative.

Brooklyn Eagle, Nov. 11, 1918

Raoul Vidas, who made his American debut yesterday afternoon in Carnegie Hall, is neither a young Russian nor a pupil of Leopold Auer. Instead, he is of Roumanian birth and French training, receiving instruction in Paris of the venerable Berthelier. Though a boy in years, he plays with the assurance and poise of a matured artist.

Not being an Auer pupil, Vidas occasionally strays from the pitch, but for that matter so do Mr. Kreisler, Mr. Ysaye and Mr. Thibaud. At times Vidas indulges in tone that is thin or rough; so likewise does each and all of the others. Only since and through the coming of Heifetz have we demanded the physically perfect co-ordination of bow and finger. So much we offer in advance to forestall the captions.

Vidas draws a tone that is for the most part pure and even; he accomplishes with surety of touch and pliancy of bow the strictly technical needs that form the basis of excellent violin playing. But beyond the technical side (would that we might waive its discussion as we do in the case of pianists of the first rank), he displays a firmness of musicianship rare in one of his years, a quality that manifests itself in the clarity and style with which he invests every composition. Corelli's familiar Variations was distinguished by breadth and nobility of utterance; the Lalo Russian Concerto, a complete, well-rounded effort, and under the potency of the boy's art little short of a masterpiece. The shorter pieces and the final Jota Navarra of Sarasate were sheer delight as they came from flashing bow and agile finger of this latest master of the violin.

This player storms no emotional heights, nor does he revel in the temperamental and spicy outpourings of a Bolshevik nature. He is essentially of the French school. His playing partakes of the cerebral rather than emotional, of the intellectual rather than the sensuous. To whomsoever there is beauty in form, and the purely aesthetic elements Vidas, though immature as a boy must be, offers a welcome relief to the unrestrained outpourings of the Slavic temperament.

New York Evening Post, Nov. 11, 1918
(By Henry T. Finck)

Almost unheralded Raoul Vidas came here, but the fact that his name was in the Philharmonic Orchestra's list of soloists indicated that he is, or is going to be, an artist of superior rank. No doubt of this remained after his playing of the first two pieces on his program, Corelli's "Follies d'Espagne" and Lalo's "Concerto Russe." He also played Sarasate's "Jota Navarra," and shorter pieces which gave him abundant opportunity to reveal his superlative skill and his rare art —rare even in these days when good violinists seem to grow on every tree. A detailed analysis must be reserved; suffice it to say that he has a rich, ingratiating tone, full command of technique, and an art of phrasing that unveils the inner charms of the music he plays.

New York Evening World, Nov. 11, 1918
(By Sylvester Rawling)

Raoul Vidas, violinist, at his American debut, established his right to rank with the best. Scant 16, this French-Roumanian youth is not to be considered as a prodigy. He is an artist. Modest and void of affectation, but self-possessed and assured, he made his initial bow and compelled recognition. The best of Leopold Auer's proteges will find in Mr. Vidas a worthy rival. His technique, of course, is adequate. He produces a big tone, round, smooth and captivating, without effort. He shows intelligence and taste.

New York Sun, Nov. 11, 1918
(By J. N. Henderson)

Mr. Vidas will without question find himself settled quickly in the esteem of all who know what constitutes excellence in the violinist's art. He clearly demonstrated his worth in the first two numbers of his list, Corelli's "Follies d'Espagne," and Lalo's Russian Concerto, for within the limits of these two works there is scope for a satisfying display of a violinist's resources in technic, style and expression.

Equipped with a large, rich tone, especially big and penetrating in the upper positions of the first string, and with a free, elastic and beautifully controlled bow, he played with great dignity and finish of style, but with warmth and feeling. The essential traits of his art appeared to be breadth and elegance, together with sustained beauty in a largely written legato.

However, his playing in rapid passages, including those with either harmonious or intricate double stops, indicated the possession of adequate virtuoso technic and a fine feeling for the decorative effects in music. The repose and artistic control of his playing were greatly to be admired.

Tribune, Nov. 11, 1918
(By E. H. Krehbiel)

The large audience which gathered at Carnegie Hall yesterday afternoon upon the occasion of the American debut of Raoul Vidas, French violinist, did credit to its appreciation of musical artistry by the warmth of welcome it accorded him.

It discovered in him a violinist who will make his contemporaries, even in the first rank, look to their laurels, if he maintains the high standard which his playing yesterday revealed. He came not as the heralded product of a master's hand, but as an artist standing upon his own merits for recognition. That recognition was not long delayed.

Boyish in appearance, but with a certain dignity, entirely at his ease, but without bravado, before his program had progressed far he showed himself a well grounded musician and an artist of sensibility.

Seldom has a newcomer received a more enthusiastic reception. He was welcomed with vociferous applause and shouts of approval.

Mr. Vidas has to a remarkable degree the essentials of the violinist's equipment—an agile left hand, flexible and admirably controlled bowing, sureness of intonation, pleasing tone, of fine sonority in the lower register, clearness and brilliance in the upper, distinction in phrasing and warmth of feeling tempered by good taste.

His performance of Corelli's "La Folia," variations on an air of baffling simplicity, with which he opened his program, proclaimed him at once a musician of parts.

In other numbers he showed mature powers, poise and range of expression.

We feel safe in predicting that the future holds much for this young man.

New York American, Nov. 11, 1918.
(By Max Smith)

Raoul Vidas disclosed a good, clean technique and a commendable desire to play in a straightforward, unaffected style. His intonation was rarely at fault, even in double stopping; his fingers had velocity and assurance; his bowing was light and resilient.

New York Herald, Nov. 11, 1918
(By Reginald De Koven)

There is a subtle, scented sensuous delicacy to Mr. Vidas' tone, suave, insinuating rather than commanding, which makes for definite and refreshing individuality. All this, combined with pliant bowing, an almost impeccable intonation, most fluent and facile finger work, and a quite unusual command of the flute-like tone of the E string in highest register in harmonics or otherwise, make up a really distinctive artistic personality. I liked, too, an absence of all pose and a confidence and continence in his interpretations, which his artistic and technical capacity seemed fully to justify.

In Lalo's Concerto Russe, the full powers of the soloist were revealed, as the whole number, and especially the Chant Russe, which sang and soared in passion and sentiment, was played with an authority, depth of feeling and technical finish which well deserved the enthusiastic applause and subsequent encore it received. The Kreisler Prelude-Allegro amply justified my previous remark that in style this most promising young artist nearly approached that of this famous and popular artist. A spirited and brilliant rendering of Sarasate's Jota Navarra, where all technical difficulties seemed as nothing to the executant, brought the recital to an effective close.

New York Times, Nov. 11, 1918
(By James Hunneker)

Raoul Vidas, violinist of France, strangely mature at 16 years, intelligent, musicianly, struck his first note in a classic of France. In Lalo's Concerto Russe, the young player showed his tone quality in the songlike middle movement, his rhythmic verve in the final allegro, that earned an encore. Rhythm, indeed—clean-cut, cameo phrasing—is his foremost trait. The Prelude and Allegro from Pugnani he gave with individual authority and power.

New York Telegraph, Nov. 11, 1918

Raoul Vidas, another great French violinist, showed brilliancy of bowing, intense tone, color and a fine, free technique which characterizes the newcomer as an artist of high attainments. In the Allegro of Lalo's Concerto Russe he showed the virtuoso at the peak of a fine performance.

Laparra's Intermezzo was played with exquisitely poetic fancy, and daring originality in reading and expression were manifest in M. Vidas' playing of the Saltarelle by Wienawski-Thibaud.

New York Evening Sun, Nov. 11, 1918

A young violinist, Raoul Vidas, an artist whose merits have had their recognition in his native France, made his American debut in Carnegie Hall yesterday afternoon. It is not often that the applauding hat comes off spontaneously to a young and comparatively unheralded foreigner, but it did that yesterday in tribute to a performance which showed, throughout the afternoon, full proof of a high, sensitively wrought achievement. For Mr. Vidas may be said to have made that thing called a success.

He is a Frenchman and a product of the Paris Conservatoire, and his playing was stamped with the restraint and finish characteristically Gallic. He began his program yesterday with Corelli's Follies d'Espange, followed by Lalo's Concerto Russe, two pieces which although they do not exact great things of the player, showed him to be a possessor of a steady, well controlled tone, which while it possessed a richness and a sureness of intonation and all the needed coloring, quivered also with delicacy and lent itself flexibly to the lighter moods of the bow. His formal ending before a round of encores was a piece of the Spanish Sarasate's, in which his feeling and rhythm and his fine delicacy of style were apparent. And one is grateful to such a young violinist for an almost Greek repose and dignity of bearing.

Soloist With Chicago Symphony Orchestra, November 29-30

Management Music League of America., Inc., 1 W. 34 Street, New York

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF SINGING

All progress both in science and art is the nearer approach to nature, a truer knowledge and a clearer understanding of the vital principles of cause and effect.

The art of singing is today making its greatest progressive stride. In the last twenty years there has been a constant and decided change of attitude toward the human voice.

Visiting the studios of our most advanced teachers, one finds surprisingly little attention being given to conscious breath. At least we have begun to recognize the error of conscious and voluntary breathing, of interfering with nature's perfect adjustment, though our reasoning may go no further. As a result of this one step we have arrived at the point of recognizing the valued application to the singing voice of one of nature's basic principles, viz., "Minimum of effort, maximum of result." In other words, the least physical effort used in singing is rewarded with a maximum of tone, not only in power, but in quality. Thus far we have made just one definite step toward our ideal of a "soul-singing voice."

The very thought of placing the singing voice in the realm of involuntary action precludes all conscious physical effort such as must be necessary so long as we try to control the breath by muscular consciousness in order to make a tone or use the same means to support that tone.

But the question arises, if we are not to depend on breath to produce and to support tone, then what?

The large class of musical instruments are of two kinds—wind and string. Having taken the voice out of the first class, we will apply the principles of the stringed instrument to it and note the result.

The tone of a stringed instrument is dependent for all its qualities, either directly or indirectly, upon vibration. Vibration is a series of consecutive movements of the string which sets the air in motion, thus producing sound waves. In the violin, for example, what seems to be the steady pressure of the bow on the strings is found upon analysis to be a series of impulses made possible by the use of resin, which is found to catch and release the string constantly, but so rapidly that a continuous tone seems to be the result. The hammers of the piano give this same repeated impulse in producing tone. In each instance a true musical tone depends on a regular vibration of the string. When this vibration is reflected from a sounding board, which in its turn focuses and amplifies the vibration many hundred-fold, we have a true musical tone filled with resonance.

The formation of the sounding board is according to the individuality of the instrument. The greater the space open for the reflection of the sound wave the more perfect its texture, and in proportion to its relation to the string do we get results in our tone. The large sounding board of the grand piano renders its tonal possibilities greater than those of the upright piano. Having found upon analysis that both the violin and piano are dependent on the plucking of the string (the repeated impulse) for their tone, and on the unlimited "reflection of vibration" (resonance) from their sounding board for power and quality of tone, we are prepared to make our application to the singing voice.

It is understood, of course, that no one would expect beautiful tones from an untuned instrument however great the artist who performs. Too, it may be just as clearly seen why an amateur cannot be expected to get beautiful tones from a perfectly tuned instrument.

In the case of the voice, we hope to show how the perfectly tuned instrument and the capable master are a simultaneous result of treating the voice as a stringed instrument. And so we make our application to the voice which nature has not endowed with a perfect balance, as is Galli-Curci's; in other words, to the voice not "tuned" by nature.

Since the "proof of the pudding is in the eating," we want to say right here that this attitude toward the voice as a stringed instrument has nothing to recommend it so much as that any and all voices respond to the treatment.

The first limitation of the voice which is most important is that of power. Power in the stringed instrument is in direct ratio to its capacity for reflection of vibration. It stands to reason, then, that the first point of development necessary in voice building is that of reflection of vibration.

When awakened to its proper relation to the voice, the whole skull, or cranium, is as capable of reflecting vibration as is the pharynx and the surrounding frontal cavities, and immediately results in vocal power which is in direct proportion to the area released. The structural formation of the skull transmits the resonance to the nerve centers at the base of the brain, and thence the sound waves are taken directly down the spinal column, and from the spine flow throughout the whole body. Thus it is the whole body becomes a sounding board for the voice, the spine acting as a conductor or sounding post for the vocal instrument in the same manner that the sounding post acts for the violin. This resonating condition of the whole body adds power and quality to any voice in a seemingly unlimited degree.

We might add in passing that this vocal condition of the entire body accelerates the circulation of the blood and thereby materially aids physical vigor.

Conscious breathing, such as most of us in our study of voice have had forced on us, will surely result in tension, a basic major cause for vocal limitation. The moment any action of the body is taken from the realm of involuntary action and that action made voluntary, that moment nerve and muscular tension become evident and spontaneity ceases. Self-consciousness, the bane of the singer or speaker, is reflected over the whole body.

Dalcroze has proved the efficiency of involuntary action as applied to rhythm throughout the body. He has also proved that involuntary action applied to rhythm results in the development of mental activity in a wonderful degree. Its application to voice development shows the same splendid results. The mental discipline gained through the analysis and understanding of the phenomena of the principle of involuntary action, in its application to voice production, brings to the student that unification of mental and physical activity which we call poise.

An initial sound produced by the slightest touch of air on the vocal chords is called a primary tone or sound. To reduce this touch to the smallest possible amount of pressure is the condition to be sought. For all practical purposes the human voice may be said to possess two qualities, upper and lower. The greater amount of upper quality in a sound the less physical effort is required to produce it.

Working for and with this upper quality

Anna Case

LYRIC SOPRANO
of the Metropolitan Opera Co.
Exclusive Management
Metropolitan Musical Bureau
Aeolian Hall, New York City

SHERWOOD MUSIC SCHOOL
PIANO VOICE VIOLIN ORGAN THEORY DRAMATIC ART DANCING
Twenty-second Year. 300 Teachers. 6,000 Pupils. 400 Branches in 18 States. Plan of study saves much time and money
Main School: Fine Arts Building, Chicago

ELEANOR EASTLAKE — Costume
DUETTISTS
American Conservatory
KATHRYN KEIRNAN — Classic

MABLE CORLEW SMITH
HOTEL ALEXANDRIA — SOPRANO — TEL. SUPERIOR 5544

Florence Macbeth
PRIMA DONNA COLORATURA
Concert Direction, Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall, New York
Helen L. Levy, Associate Manager

HERMAN DEVRIES VOCAL TEACHER
MRS. HERMAN DEVRIES, . . . Associate Vocal Instructor
At Studios, 518-528 Fine Arts Building, Chicago, Ill.
Terms for Mr. Devries — Terms for Mrs. Devries
Ten Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each, $50.00 — Ten Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each, $30.00

in the human voice we find through its use that the voice responds so readily as to render the act of tone production involuntary. We find, too, that this upper quality (head resonance) not only makes possible the freedom necessary for the repeated impulse, but proves itself to be the carrying quality which lends brilliancy to every tone and preserves the voice to an unlimited degree.

As a natural consequence of having established right conditions the voice readily responds with low quality until our goal of a perfect balance of high and low quality has been attained, and we find the true singing voice to be in reality the speaking voice amplified and sustained by the development of resonance capacity alone.

The phychology of singing has always been handled in rather a vague way, making the mental side not directly appreciable and practical to the everyday student. But when we analyze the conditions closely enough to know that what makes the "great voice" great is that a certain condition of balance has been given by nature, and retained in development, then we feel justified in our consideration of the human voice as a stringed instrument. Galli-Curci is perhaps the greatest living example of the naturally balanced voice, so perfectly tuned (like a perfectly tuned violin) that the physical seems to be entirely in the background, and the thoughts of the singer are mirrored into the tones like as a clear stream will mirror the trees and flowers along its bank.

We cannot expect beautiful tones, soulful music from a keyboard not properly tuned. So with the singer. No matter how true his conception of the song, how perfect his phrasing, how deep his feeling, if, by nature or right development he has not a perfectly tuned instrument, he is not to be blamed, for the fault lies so deep that many never find it.

Before a singer may find true expression his poise of voice and thought must be so perfected that mental direction is instantaneous. We must adjust the many elements that the voice may respond to our slightest wish; we must be able to sing as spontaneously as we laugh. Singing, to be artistic, must mirror our every thought. To reach these results it is necessary to place the act of singing under the laws of "involuntary action."

When the true psychology of singing is understood we will know how to analyze the fundamental conditions of the voice that is less than great, and even that voice which seems to be wholly lacking in beauty, and through the proper understanding of the mental power, and its ascendancy over the physical, we can find the source of the voice to be entirely vibration and its reflection, which is resonance. And during this development may find the way to use each act of vocal production not voluntarily but involuntarily, which at once gives any and all voices their natural heritage of freedom and spontaneity and fosters true growth.

This proves that when made practical, there is a psychology of singing, and that after all it is and can be the soul that sings.

(Nov., 1918) MARIE GLENN ESTILL,
Associate Teacher of the Barbereaux System.

———♯♯♯———

Michaelis—Ralph Michaelis, violinist, played for the West End Catholic Woman's Club last week.

SINGERS RETURN FROM WEST, ESCAPING INFLUENZA AND FOREST FIRES

Florence Easton, the charming leading soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Francis Maclennan, the American operatic tenor, returned to New York from a western concert tour just in time to read in the papers the next day that some of the towns they had visited were practically wiped out by forest fires and others were quarantined by the influenza epidemic. The singers luckily escaped both of these calamities, though they did kindle a little conflagration of their own at their recitals. In one or two of the towns no one of the species "opry" star had ever before visited there and consequently the Maclennans were looked upon with a naive mixture of curiosity and awe that was most amusing to them. When they sang some of their operatic selections in foreign languages part of the audience thought it was the thing to laugh, while others thought it was not, but as all seemed to enjoy themselves the singers did not mind. In the "regular" cities of their tour, Duluth, for instance, they not only delighted their audience but the critics as well, as the following, quoted from the News-Tribune, will testify: "Duet recital of artists is great success. Remarkable poise and ease of manner, charm of singing and acting and good judgment in the choice of songs made their performance thoroughly enjoyable."

———♯♯♯———

Ricker—Bessie Bown Ricker, reader, and P. H. Anton, cellist, gave a program at Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, last Sunday.

VAN YORX
THEO.——Tenor
Studio: 22 West 39th Street New York

Fernando Carpi
Tenor
Metropolitan Opera House
Available for Concerts, Recitals and Festivals
Address Metropolitan Opera House

GALLI-CURCI SOPRANO
STEINWAY PIANO
HOMER SAMUELS, Accompanist MANUEL BERENGUER, Flutist
Management Chas. L. Wagner. D. F. McSweeney, Associate Manager. 511 Fifth Avenue, N. Y

SCHUMANN-HEINK
3672 Michigan Ave.
CHICAGO
Steinway Piano MANAGEMENT HAENSEL & JONES, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK

CONTRALTO
Pupil of Pauline Viardot Garcia
and Mathilde Marchesi
Mrs. W. S. BRACKEN
Teaching at
Cosmopolitan School
16th Floor
New Kimball Bldg.

ILLINOIS COUNCIL MEETING NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF ORGANISTS

The first meeting of the season was held at State Headquarters, Epiphany Parish House, 201 South Ashland boulevard, Chicago, last Sunday afternoon, November 17. Dr. Francis Hemington, the state president, took the chair and after outlining plans for this season's meetings gave an address on "New and Notable Compositions for the Organ and Church Choir." Several works of unusual beauty were analyzed and afterwards played on the Epiphany organ. The opportunity of hearing these new compositions was much appreciated by the members present, and a general desire was expressed that another meeting of a similar character be held in the near future. At the conclusion of the address light refreshments were served and a delightful social hour was enjoyed.

———♯♯♯———

ALMA HAYS REED

Alma Hays Reed, the attractive soprano who has just recovered from a long illness, is now busy again in her professional work and is filling many engagements. Among them may be mentioned: Nov. 3, a recital for the 149th Field Artillery Club; Nov. 5, Mu Phi Epsilom, Iota Alpha Alumnae; Nov. 10, Second Congregational Church, Oak Park; Nov. 12, Men's Club, St. Paul's Church; Nov. 14, Birchwood Morning Musicale; Nov. 24, Englewood Sunday Evening Club.

On Dec. 9 she will appear in joint recital with Mae Doelling at the Florentine Room, Congress Hotel, and on Dec. 22 in "The Messiah" at Second Congregational Church in Oak Park. Mrs. Reed is also now teaching a large class of vocal pupils at her studio at 829 Kimball Hall.

———♯♯♯———

THE DEARBORN SCHOOL OF LYCEUM ARTS

Miss Mildred Rodiger and Mrs. Esther Gielow appeared most successfully in a number of duos before the Hamilton Club at their dinner dance last Saturday evening. Mrs. Lillian Barr-Johnson furnished excellent accompaniments, and the club gave them a hearty welcome.

L. V.

———♯♯♯———

Delayed Reports—Because of a rush of copy for this issue at the last moment, we are compelled to hold our reviews of the Victory Service at St. James' and the studio recital of Mary Peck Thomson, as well as some studio notes and an interesting article by Palmer Christian. These will appear next week.

COMMUNITY HALL
118 MARION ST., OAK PARK
Beautiful new recital hall. Seats 200. Acoustics perfect. New Mason Hamlin Grand. For terms and bookings address
GEO. R. HEMINGWAY 121 Marion St., Oak Park

OLD & NEW VIOLINS
BEST STRINGS
GRAND PRIZES CHICAGO 1893 - ST LOUIS 1904
JOHN FRIEDRICH & BRO.
SEND FOR OUR CATALOGUES
279 FIFTH AVE. NEW YORK EST. 1863

RUDOLPH REUTER RECITAL

This Sunday at 3:30 p. m., at the Playhouse, Rudolph Reuter, pianist, assisted by Mrs. William Mack Baxter, soprano, will give a recital under the auspices of the War Relief Club for the benefit of the French Red Cross Military Hospital. The complete program follows:

Symphonic Etudes, Op. 13.....Schumann
Aria—Cavatina (La Reine de Saba).....Gounod
Nocturne, Op. 62, No. 1.....Chopin
Berceuse.....Chopin
Barcarole.....Chopin
Ballade, Op. 18, No. 1.....Saar
Nuit de Noel.....Busoni
Alborada del Graciosos (Miroirs).....Ravel
Quejas, o la maja y el ruisenor (Goyescas)...Granados
Fantasy Piece.....Charles T. Griffes
(From the Palace of Enchantment there issued into the night sounds of unearthly revelry)
The Lark Now Leaves His Wat'ry Nest.....
.....Horatio Parker
Indian Summer (Edith Fargo Andrews).....Ilgenfritz
June (Edith Fargo Andrews).....Ilgenfritz
Song of Roses.....Freer
Waldesrauschen.....Liszt
Eclogue.....Liszt
Carnaval de Pesth.....Liszt

———♯♯♯———

FRANCES PAPERT WILL SING A NEW COMPOSITION OF HERBERT WRIGHTSON

A new setting of "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes" has been composed for Miss Frances Papert, contralto, by Herbert Wrightson. She will sing it before the Lake View Musical Club in her recital November 28.

———♯♯♯———

MR. DE VALDOR IN CHICAGO

Joseph De Valdor, our New York representative, will be in Chicago for one week beginning next Monday.

———♯♯♯———

Krum—The Townsend Sisters, duet singers, pupils of Mrs. Charles Krum, have gone to France to help entertain in the camps.

WANT ADVERTISEMENTS

(Advertisements under this head will hereafter be accepted at 20 cents a line.)

WANTED—Music teachers and supervisors of public school music; city, county, state. Federated chain plan (co-operative). Information free. Results assured. Write P. H. Thomas, 109-W-45-N. Y. C.

DIRECTORY

Addresses are Chicago unless otherwise stated

ACCOMPANISTS

Bodholdt Agnes (Pianist) 6722 Chappel Av. (Hyde Park 1485)
Borncamp Ida May (Phone Evanston 4723 418 Hamilton St., Evanston, Ill.
Boyd Jeanne (Midway 763) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Harrison 2074)
Bradley Ruth (Graceland 5697) 859 Cornelia Avenue
Browne Helen M. (Graceland 7714) 4308 Greenview Av.
Campbell Gordon (Rogers Park 4072) Cosmopolitan School of Music
Campbell Helen (Oak Park 3747-J) 604 Lyman Av., Oak Park
Cartwright Harriet (Res. Phone Drexel 697) 1204 E. 47th and 612 Fine Arts Bldg
Coleman Carlton E. (Superior 8669) Bush Conservatory
Coryell Marion (New York) 72 W. 68th St
Chute Delbert (Midway 5288) 419 Fine Arts Bldg.
Fricke-Green Esther (Haymarket 1888) 625 Lyon & Healy Building
Gilbert Harry M. (New York) 61 W. 50th St.
Grandland Florence M. (Maywood 320) 217 N. 3rd Av., Maywood, Ill.
Grove Grace (Wabash 8324) 400 Fine Arts Bldg.
Henry Edith (Graceland 9601) 7213/4 Barry Av.
Kittilsby Katharine (Rogers Park 2551) 1533 Sherwin St.
Kurtz George Ralf (Organist) 4609 Dover st. (Edgewater 2959)
Lester William (Midway 8888) 419 Fine Arts Bldg.
Lewis Pauline (Home Ph., Blackstone 1883) 5558 Ellis Av.
Link Violet Martens (Graceland 4816) 846 Oakdale Av.
Lychenheim Marion (Rogers Park 1207) (Ensemble) 2030 Kenilworth
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Lakeview 528) 3623 Pine Grove Av.
McAllister Bessie (Chicago Piano College) 4308 Greenview Av. (Graceland 7714)
McShane Eugenia (Sunnyside 3966) (Organist) 4609 Dover St.
Meagley Mary Willing (Toledo, Ohio) 2307 Monroe St.
Nelson Edgar A. (Edgewater 9332) Bush Conservatory
Olson Mabel W. (512 Fine Arts Bldg.) Summer Address: Galva, Ill
Orchard Mrs. Charles (Blackstone 1789) 1535 Hyde Park Av.
Porter Beulah Taylor (Rogers Park 1679) 429 Fine Arts Bldg.
Pullis Mabel A. (Drexel 1985) 4312 Lake Park Av.
Ryan Helen Victoria (Oak Park 1201) 330 Washington Blvd., Oak Park, Ill.
Scheib Eleanor (Care Wolfsohn Bureau) 1 West 34th St., New York
Shaw Mrs. George L. (Sunnyside 9828) 4600 Dover St.
Simpson Corinne (Pianist and Reader) with Radcliffe Chautauqua Co.
Stewart Marchia Kelley (Pianist) 7025 Merrill Av. (Midway 722)
Stout Alice Brown (Tel. R. F. 8450) (Soprano) 266 Park av., River Forest, Ill.
Stumpf Aimee C. (Wellington 1855) (Pianist) 3608 Maple Square Av.
Van Grove Isaac (8793 Wabash) 630 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wallace Alma (Organist) (New York) Chg. Music News, 1 W. 34th St.
Williamson Gavin (Home Tel., S. Chgo. 2585) 523 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har.3766)

CHOIR BOY TRAINING.

Thompson Nance D. (Hm. ph., Edgewater 6296) Ly. Arts Cons., Lyon & Healy Bldg.

CLUBS

Mendelssohn Mgt. Harriet M. Snow 64 E. Van Buren St. (Wab. 8740)

COMMUNITY SINGING AND PAGEANTRY

Smith Mr. & Mrs. H. Augustine, Boston Univ. or 37 Claflin Rd., Brookline, Mass.

COMPOSERS

Gilberte Hallette (New York) 135 W. 47th St.
White Lida Browning 818 Monroe St., Gary, Ind.

COMPOSERS RECITALS

Hemingway Clara Edmunds (Gary, Ind.) 568 Madison St. (Gary 1224)
MacDowell Mrs. Edward (New York) Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway

CONDUCTORS

Ballmann M. (Orchestra and Band) 1257 Foster Ave.
Conti Arnoldo (Chicago Opera Association) Opera Coach, 1528 Kimball Hall
Erb J. Warren, Conductor—Song Coach Accompanist, 220 Madison Av. (New York)
Gennaro Giovanni 1103 Kimball Hall
Gingrich Irving. 614 Fine Arts Bldg. 646 Belden Av. (Lincoln 1290)

DANCING

Walker Virna Harman (Haymarket 4347) 206 S. Wabash Av., Suite 200 (Wab. 2460)
Yung Marie (Wabash 7342) 400 Fine Arts Bldg.

DRAMATIC ART

Barnum Letitia V. Fine Arts Bldg.
Cornick Frances E. (Reader) Ballantine-Rice Mgt., Kimball Hall
Liten Carlo (New York) Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall
Ricker Bessie Bown (St. Louis) Artists' Guild, Union Av.
Stein Mrs. Karl Buren (Wabash 9070) 55 Auditorium Bldg.

DUET PROGRAMS

Eastlake-Kerinan Eleanor and Kathryn
Sullivan Josephine & Eugene (Milwaukee) 233 Mason st.

ENSEMBLES

Chicago Chamber Music Trio 522 Fine Arts Bldg. (Edgewater 8361)
Murdock Trio (Rogers Park 6286) 1316 Albion Av.
Russian Symphony Orchestra, Dan'l Mayer Aeolian Hall, New York
Tollefsen Trio 946 President St. Brooklyn, New York

HARP

Conti Mme. Amelia (Calumet 2710) (Instruction) New Southern Hotel
De Lone Loretta (Sym., Orch., Recital) 308 Lyric Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

LANGUAGES

Berlitz School of Languages Auditorium Building

MANAGERS

Ballantine Bureau (Wabash 8538) 1528 Kimball Hall
Bazarozy Anthony (New York) 1495 Broadway
Choir Bureau. (Harriet Martin Snow, Dir.) 64 E. Van Buren St. (Wabash 8740)
Haensel & Jones New York Aeolian Hall
Hall Jessie B. (Bureau of Fine Arts) 425 Fine Arts Bldg. (Harrison 228)
Hanson M. H. (New York) 437 Fifth Ave.
Hawley James, Concert Director Cable Bldg. (Wabash 1853)
Mayer Daniel. New York Aeolian Hall
Music League OF AMERICA. 1 W. 34th St., New York
Rice Ethel M. (Wabash 1260) 1536 Kimball Hall
Shipman Vera Brady (Salina, Kan.) Care of Daily Union
Wagner Charles (New York) 511 Fifth Ave.
Wolfsohn Musical Bureau 1 W. 34th St., New York

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS

Baldwin Piano Co. (Wabash 4884) 323 S. Wabash Av.
Cable Piano Co. (Mason & Hamlin Pianos) Wabash Av. and Jackson Blvd.
Friedrich John & Bro (Violins) 279 Fifth Av., New York

ORGAN

Barnes George W. (Salina, Kan.) Christ Cathedral
Birch Robert R. (Oak Park 6846) Church of Redeemer.
Bogen Allen W. (Blackstone 1913) 5429 Harper Av.
Browne J. Lewis (Monroe 5550) St. Patrick's Church, 130 S. Desplaines
Christian Palmer (Kenwood 7509) Kenwood Evangelical Church
Conger Sylvia (La Grange 995-W) 29 S. Sixth Av., La Grange, Ill.
Cook Frances Anne (Douglas 3908) 644 Woodland Park (6th Pres. Church)
Cotsworth Albert (Main 2611) South Cong' Church
Courboin Chas. M. (Organist, Sp'field, Mass.) Syr. Musical Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Deal Alice R. 4359 West End Av. (Garfield 2856) New First Congegational Church
Eddy Clarence (Concert Organist) 2021 California St., San Francisco
Edwards Marie (Kedzie 228) Congregational Church, Wilmette, Ill.
Fickett Elizabeth Dean (Edgewater 3459) (Accompanist) Edgewater Pres. Church
Francis J. Henry (Choral Conductor, Composer) St. John's, Charleston, W. Va.
Fraser Arthur Randolph (Oak Park 5749) Grace Church, Oak Park, Ill.
Gallup Emory L., 828 Kimball Hall St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church
Goodwin Hugo (Superior 7283) St. James Episcopal Church
Groom Lester W. (1916 Lincoln Av.) Church of the Ascension
Haines Tina Mae (Kenwood 5003) Organist St. James M. E. Church
Hancock Irving (Drexel 6903) Trinity Episcopal Church
Hemington Francis (Home Ph. Oak Park 2464) Church of the Epiphany
Hodge Florence (Christ Reformed Episcopal) 4717 Sheridan Road (Edgewater 106)
Holmes A. Alfred McClurg Bldg.
Holzworth Alfred (Lincoln 4395) 2594 Orchard St.
Hyde Herbert E. (637 Fine Arts Bldg.) St. Peter's Ch., Dir. Musical Art Society
Ickes Clara M. (accompanist) (Diversey 2510) 2727 Mildred Av. (Ravenswood Baptist)
Keller Walter (300 Fine Arts Bldg.) Sherwood Music School
Knight Florence (Wabash 7217) Kimball Hall
Knodle Walter St. Clare Philadelphia, Pa.
Mattison Myrtle E. California Av. Congregational Church
Miranda Max (Organ, Piano) South Bend, Ind. Director South Bend Conservatory
Moline Lily Wadhams (Diversey 8470) 1st Church of Christ, Scientist, Oak Park
Norton John W. (Superior 7283) St. James Episcopal Church
Polk Harry T. Valparaiso, Ind.
Porter 1st Pres. Ch. and Schelling Theater Hugh (Hyde Park 2461) Hyde Park Presbyterian Church
Pruyn-Hall Edythe (Drexel 4763) 4326 Greenwood Av.
Ross Helen Worswick (Home Tel. Oak Park 4405) Chicago Musical College.
Scheve Edward B. (Grinnell, Ia.) Iowa College School of Music
Slade Mason (Christ Episcopal) 65th and Woodlawn Av.
Thompson John Winter (Galesburg, Ill.) Central Congregational Church
Van Dusen Frank W. American Conservatory
Wedertz C. Gordon Chicago Musical College
Wild Harrison M. 1203 Kimball Hall
Zaring Irene Belden (New Eng. Cong'l Church) 4451 Winchester Av. (Ravenswood 1418)

PIANO

Abernethy Patricia (Manhattan, Kan.) State Agricultural College
Adler Lois (Drexel 396) 1364 47th Place
Ammalee Lillian Care of Music News
Amsbury Theo (Piano-Theory) Douglas 2723 American Conservatory
Anderson Cora American Conservatory
Austin Electa (Sunnyside 9555) (Northwestern Univ.) Evanston
Barber Lyell Bush Conservatory
Birdsall Edna J. (Lincoln 4635) 2315 Seminary Av.
Blood Blanche (Piano and Violin) 9th Floor, Auditorium Bldg.
Bohnet Cleveland (Home Tel., Oakland 5240) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Bower Mary (Ravenswood 6287) 1953 Sunnyside Av.
Brillhart G. Davis (Gunnison, Colo.) Colorado State Normal School
Briscoe Addison (Home Phone Midway 188) 128 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Brown Roy David (Wabash 1761) 905-906 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Brumbaugh Frances Pierson (Home, Oak.2470) 707 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8151)
Clark Helen Drummond (Midway 9608) Studio 6239 Ellis Ave.
Cleophas Mrs. Kirsti (Piano and Voice) Kensett, Iowa
Cleophas Gertrude, care Music News
Cleveland Wyoneta (Chicago Musical College) Y. W. C. A., 830 S. Michigan Av.
Clough Vierlyn (Lakeview 4515) 4144 Clarendon Av.
Detweiler Harry Chicago Musical College
Doelling Mae (Concert Pianist) 2912 Burling St.
Durno Jeannette (Oakland 4638) 907 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Ehrhardt Edward V. (Graceland 5717) 523 Oakdale Av. (721 Fine Arts Bldg.)
Eidam Clarence 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Fox Albert E. (Garfield 8277) Residence 4208 Wilcox Av.
Francis-Du Val Irene (Beverly 931) (Organ) 2140 W. 103d St.
Frazer Arthur (Superior 8414) 116 E. Oak St.
Ganz Rudolph (Mgt. Charles L. Wagner) 511 Fifth Av., New York
Garwood Victor (Wabash 5388) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Gemmer Edwin J. (814 Kimball Hall) 6109 Evans Av. (Normal 3997)
George Anna E. (867 N. Dearborn St.) Bush Conservatory
Godfrey Eleanor F. (Kimball Hall) Chicago Piano College
Godowsky Leopold (New York) Haensel & Jones, Aeolian Hall.
Granquist Arthur Columbia School of Music
Haake Charles J. (Northwestern Univ., Evanston) Fine Arts Bldg., Chicago
Haake Gail Martin (Northwest'n Univ., Evanston) North Shore School of Music, Chicago
Hanapel Rose (Kenwood 523) 4740 Prairie Av.
Howland Betsy M. (Chicago Piano College) 927 Kimball Hall (Wabash 4805)
Howland Betsy M. (Home Tel. Rav. 951) Chicago Piano College (Wabash 4805)
Irons Myrtle Tyler (822 Kimball Hall) 6034 Stony Island Av. (Hyde Park 9942)
Jache Else (Studio Bldg.) Minneapolis, Minn.
Kelly Elizabeth Lee (Wellington 7383) 4028 Sheridan Road
Kelpsch Marguerite (Tel. Harrison 2074) Lyceum Arts Conservatory
Kenney Cady (Laramie) University Wyoming
Kimball (Pianist and Teacher), De Pauw Uv'sty. Minnie Murdoff (Greencastle, Ind.)
Kober Georgia (Sherwood Music School) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
La Roche Pearle (Wentworth 2630) 5528 Indiana Av.
Le Claire Florence (Diversey 1603) 2021 Bissell St.
Levitzki Mischa (Management Daniel Mayer) Aeolian Hall, New York
Levy Heniot (Kimball Hall) American Conservatory
Lewis George G. (Teacher) (Harrison 4868) Cosmopolitan School
Lhevinne Mischa (On Tour) Management Redpath
Lobel Sophine (Lawndale 8538) 1543 S. Clifton Park Av.
Loomis Clarence (Pianist-Composer) American Conservatory (Oak Park 7727)
Lyon Rose (Belmont 7247) 922 Kimball Hall
Magnuson Lillian Cosmopolitan School of Music
Marshall Caroline E. (Garfield 9470) 417 S. Central Park Av.
Paine Sarah E. (Piano and Flute) 1226 Kimball Hall (Kenwood 8021)
Park Ralph Munroe (Wabash 1761) 905-6 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Pendry Charlotte S. Centralizing School of Music
Persson Frederick (Superior 1074) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Peterson Agnes (Kedzie 9035) 411 S. Homan Av.
Peterson Edna Gunnar (La Crosse, Wis.) 325 S. Seventeenth St.
Prahl Earl Victor (Superior 8700) Bush Conservatory
Prindiville Helen (Wentworth 6547) 5934 Calumet Av.
Raab Alexander 624 S. Michigan Av.
Reckzeh Karl (Res. 2042 Bradley Pl.) Chicago Musical College
Redding Edwyl (Gunnison, Colo.) Colorado State Normal School
Reuter Rudolph 624 S. Michigan Av.
Robinson Carol (Wabash 5883) 1328 Kimball Building
Ryder Mme. Sturkow (Drexel 3300) 4715 Lake Park Av.
Scionti Silvio Kimball Hall
Seifert Myra C. (Lakeview 29) 585 Hawthorne Place
Shattuck Arthur (Milwaukee, Wis.) 325 Oakland Av.
Smith Lura Schuler (Lincoln, Neb.) University School of Music
Spencer Allen (Pianist-Teacher) American Conservatory
Spry Walter (Chicago) Columbia School of Music
Stead Mabel Riggs Peoria, Ill.
Stephen Daisy Waller (Pullman 244) Cosmopolitan School of Music
Stephens Clyde (Coe College) Cedar Rapids, Iowa
Stumpf Mrs. L. C. (Wellington 1855) 8608 Maple Sq. Av.
Thompson Frank Olin Wisconsin Conservatory, Milwaukee
Tomlinson Anna (Harrison 6267) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wagner Oscar (Kimball Hall) Oscar (Harrison 4868)
Wanieck Kurt (Graceland 831) American Conservatory
Warren Minnette (St. Paul) Schiffmann Bldg.
Watt Harmon H. (Kimball Hall) Chicago Piano College
Weed Myrtle (St. Paul, Minn.) 802 Pittsburgh Bldg.
Wells Howard (Kenwood 651) 4958 Blackstone Av.
Willard Carolyn Louise 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Williams Anne (Columbus 1760) 28 Latrobe Av.
Wilson Raymond (Syracuse University) Syr. Mus. Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Zygman Flora G. (Concert Pianist) 825-7 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5013)

PIPE ORGANS

Casavant Bros. Organ Builders South Haven, Mich.

PUBLISHERS

Bingham Helena (Illinois Music Co.) 2622 Marino St., Los Angeles, Cal.
Bond Carrie Jacobs & Son 744 S. Michigan Av.
Fearis (J. S.) & Bro., Chicago 4547 N. St. Louis Av.
Fischer (J.) & Bro., New York 7 and 11 Bible House
Gamble Hinged Music Co. 57 E. Van Buren St.
Gilbert Music Co. (Irving 359) 3924 Irving Pk. Blvd.
MacDermid James G. Fine Arts Bldg.
Summy Clayton F. (Co.) 64 E. Van Buren St.
Witmark M. & Sons (New York) 144 W. 37th St.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC

McConathy Osbourne (Theory, Conducting) Northwestern Univ. Sch'l of Music
Robinson O. E., American Conservatory 6518 Kenwood Av. (Hyde Pk. 3377)
Votaw Lyravine, 10th flr. Audit. Bldg.(Wab.8238) 6026 Kenwood av. (Hyde Park 6738)

SCHOOLS

American Consevatory (Wabash 5388) Kimball Hall
Auditorium Conservatory. Mus. & Dr'm'tic Art 55 Auditor'm Bldg. (Wabash 9070)
Balatka Acad. Musical Art (Anna Balatka, Dir.) 819 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 612)
Bintliff Mrs. Elizabeth Battie School of Music, Ripon, Wis.
Brail School of Music (Florence Brail) 812 Kimball Hall and 403 E. 61st St.
Centralizing School of Music (Wabash 6349) 20 E. Jackson Blvd.
Chapek Music School. 3452 Broadway J. H. Chapek, Dir. (Graceland 2621)
Chicago Kindergarten Inst. C. C. Cronise, Sec. 701 Rush St.
Chicago Musical College (Harrison 6830) 624 S. Michigan Blvd.
Chicago Piano College 910 Kimball Hall (Wabash 4805)
Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art Fine Arts Bldg. (Harrison 5965)
Columbia School of Music. 509 S. Wabash Av. (Clare Osborne Reed, Dir.)
Cosmopolitan Sch'l of Music (Harrison 4868) 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Dearborn School of Lyceum Arts Auditorium Bldg. (Wabash 6867)
Doney A. M. Musical College 2820 W. 36th St.
Grinnell College (George L. Pierce, Dir.) Grinnell, Iowa.
Heizer Music Sch.(1215 Douglas St., Sioux City, Ia.) Dir. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Heizer
Hinshaw Conservatory of Music 1110 Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 8335)
Knox Conservatory of Music (Wm. F. Bentley, Dir.) Galesburg, Ill.
Knupfer Walter R. (School of Fine Arts) Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8793)
Loudon The Jennette (Studios) 614 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8806)
Lyceum Arts Conservatory (Harrison 2074) 600-10 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Mandy School of Music (Wabash 8173) 817-19 Kimball Hall
M. A. Monzel Musical College 911 Kimball Hall
Moody Bible Institute of Chicago 153 Institute Pl.
Musin Virtuoso School for Violin 51 W. 75th St., New York
New England Conservatory of Music Boston, Mass.
Northwestern University School of Music Evanston, Ill.
Orchard School of Music and Expression 1537 Hyde Park Blvd.(Blackstone 1789)
Preiser School of Music (Austin 2541) (Fannie B. Preiser, Dir.) 530 Pine Av.
Sherwood Music School (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg.
Saint Cecilia Conservatory Winona, Minn.
Tone-Color Studios, Music, etc. (E. Larrabee, Dir.)Aud.Bldg.& 602 Arlington Pl.
Valparaiso University School of Music Valparaiso, Indiana
Virgil Piano Conservatory 11 W. 68th St., New York
Western Conservatory. (E. H. Scott, Pres.) Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 3506)

SOLFEGE, HARMONY, COMPOSITION

Lagourgue Charles, 616 S. Michigan Ave. (Harrison 1719)

TEACHERS' AGENCIES

Albert Teachers' Agency 623 S. Wabash Av.
Allen J. E. (Musical Artist Teachers' Agency) 101 Park Av., New York.
Clark Teachers' Agency (Steinway Hall) E. Van Buren St.
Fisk Teachers' Agency 28 E. Jackson Blvd.

THEORY

Andersen Arthur Olaf (Home Phone H. P. 5783) American Conservatory
Butler Lester S. Worcester, Mass.
Cole Rossetter (Res. Phone Midway 118) 719 Fine Arts Bldg.
Frothingham Frances (Piano) 605 Kimball Bldg.
Graham A. Cyril (Harrison 2580) 509 Wabash Av.
Lutkin Peter C. Evanston, Ill.
Watt Harmon H. Kimball Hall
Wrightson Herbert J. (Piano, Organ) 610 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 2583)

TEACHERS' CLASSES

Mr. & Mrs. Crosby Adams Montreat,N.C.
Dunning Carrie Louise 8 W. 40th St., New York City
Long Carrie Munger (Dunning System) Congress Hotel
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Dunning System) 3623 Pine Grove Av. (L.V. 528)
Perfield Effa Ellis (950 McClurg Bldg.) National Conservatory of Music

VIOLIN

Barker John (Austin 2541; Home, Elmhurst 43-R) Preiser School of Music, Austin
Barron Robert Louis (Eugene, Ore.) University School of Music
Brambach John M. (Irving 5717) 4045 N. St. Louis Ave.
Breeskin Elias (New York) Aeolian Hall, care D. Mayer
Breytspraak Ruth (West 738) Knupfer Studio, 630 Fine Arts Bldg
Brokaw Ralph Wichita, Kan.
Brown Milder (Ravenswood 8448) 2120 Wilson Av.
De Vore Jessie (Blackstone 1789; Drexel 6071) Orchard School, 1535 Hyde Park Blvd.
Durkee Corrol B. (Home Tel. Garfield 2149) 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Western Cons.)
Dyson Lois F. (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg. (Sherwood School)
Fischel Max I. Chicago Musical College
Frederiksen Frederik (Hm. Ph. Graceland 9166) Studio 600, Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Garagusi Nicholas (New York) M'gt Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St.
Ginsburg Ralph (Wabash 8335) Hinshaw Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Given Thelma (New York) Metropolitan Musical Bureau
Goldblatt Maurice H. Chicago Musical College
Harris Graham (New York) 240 E. Tremont Av.
Heymar Wally (Sunnyside 1995) 5683 Ridge Av.
Konecny Josef Care of Music News
Kortschak Hugo (New York) 850 Park av.
Kribben Bertha (St. Louis, Mo.) 1050 Thornby St.
Leach Rowland Wabash Conservatory
Lipschultz George Milton (Lawndale 5402) 212 Grand Av., Milwaukee, Wis.
Lowe-Pierson Lela (Rogers Park 4701) 5807 Wayne Av.
Lynch Rhea Dorothy (Columbus 2452) 242 N. Mason St.
Michaelis Ralph (Hyde Park 966) 914 Kimball Hall
Mixer Chas. Mitchell (Home Ph. Rogers Pk. 9543) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Neill Amy Emerson (Hyde Park 6322) 1446 E. Marquette Road
Welge Gladys (Home Ph., Austin 3417) Preiser Sch. Music, 530 N. Pine av.
Yost Gaylord, 824 N. Pennsylvania St. Indianapolis, Ind.
Zebrowska-Perlowska Antoinette 7812 S. Shore Dr.

VIOLONCELLO

Casals Pablo (Usera & Co.) 10 E. 43d, New York
Gegna Max (Julius Daiber) Aeolian Hall, New York
Hess Hans (Edgewater 8361) Fine Arts Bldg.
Slack Anne (Home Ph. Lawndale 3668) American Conservatory

VOICE

Aaron Miriam (Los Angeles, Cal.) 155 S. Kingsley Drive
Annette-Gifford Ethel (Tel. Wentworth 5892) 6237 South Park Av.
Arden Cecil (Metropolitan Opera Co.) Mgt. Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St., New York
Arendt Else Harthan (Graceland 4997) 819 Sheridan Rd.
Arnd Margaret Louise (Lake View 1657) 3814 Sheffield Av.
Bailey Mr. and Mrs. Herbert (Huron, S. D.) Dir. of Music, Huron College
Baldwin Jessie Nichols(Home Ph. Oakland 8585) Orchard School, 1535 Hyde Park Blvd.
Balfour Constance (New York) Mgt. Daniel Mayer
Barradell Kennard 624 S. Michigan Av.
Bastedo Orrin (New York) 257 W. 86th St.
Beatty Wilbur (Columbus 5032) (Baritone), 331 N. Central Av.
Bender Celia (Piano) (Armitage 4397) Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Berger Emily E. (Contralto)(Oak Park 5163) 418 W. Lake St., Oak Park
Bibb Kathleen Hart (Minneapolis, Minn.) Metropolitan Music Bldg.
Boardman Arthur (Hyde Park 6137) (Tenor) 1536 E. 65th Place
Bowman Mrs. Hatswell (Evanston, Ill.) Northwestern Univ. School of Music
Brashear Roberta (Kedzie 2167) (Soprano) 139 N. Homan Av.
Braslau Sophie (New York) Wolfsohn Musical Bureau
Braun Anna C. (Monticello 5050) 4937 N. Drake Av.
Breed Liela A. 523 Fine Arts Bldg.
Brenk Ethel (Milwaukee, Wis.) 137—20th St.
Brittan Louise (Harrison 6267) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
Browne Kathryn E. (Soprano) 6945 Stewart Av. (Normal 3162)
Burmeister Anna (Soprano) (Ravenswood 4527) 4527 Greenview Av.
Burton Arthur (Harrison 5802) 618 Fine Arts Bldg.
Burton Louise (Wabash 8703) 800 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Butler Hanna (Wabash 4870) 512 Fine Arts Bldg. (Soprano)
Calkins Elton (Summerdale Cons.) 1209 Morse Av. (Rogers Park 2928)
Campbell Sara Irene (Austin 6201) Chicago Musical College
Carpenter Allen Ray (Hyde Park 7604) 810 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8700)
Carpi Fernando (New York) Metropolitan Opera Co.
Case Anna (New York) Aeolian Hall, Met. Musical Bureau
Caspers Bertha (Soprano) (Kenwood 870) 4748 Champlain Av.
Castle Lester Hugo (Blackstone 1359) (Basso) 6434 Ellis Av.
Caton Louis (Calumet 459) 728 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har. 6528)
Chaiser Florence (Rogers Park 2034)
Clark Charles W. (Superior 8700) 839 N. Dearborn St.
Clarke Edward (Res. Ph. Edgewater 9133) (Baritone) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Clippinger D. A. 617-18 Kimball Hall
Clissold Edward T., 327 S. La Salle St.(Baritone) Con. Men's Fall Festival since 1908
Cook Dwight Edrus (Grinnell, Ia.) (Tenor) Grinnell College
Cook John Loring (Tenor) 817 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8173)
Comer Sybil (Harrison 2074) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Conrad Henrietta (Soprano) 608 W. 189th St., New York
Craven Carl E. (Tenor), 422 Fine Arts Bldg. 305 E. 54th St. (Oakland 6451)
Dahlstrom Margaret (Western Conservatory) 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Irving 5613)
Dickey Annabelle MacIntyre (Res., Hyde Pk. 7397) (Contralto) 422 Fine Arts Bldg.
De Lima Edna (New York) 158 Madison Av.
De Luca Giuseppe (Metropolitan Bureau) Aeolian Hall, New York
Devries Herman 518-528 Fine Arts Bldg.
Denton Daniel (904 Kimball Bldg.)(Mon. & Thur.) (Wabash 5188; Lincoln 3944)
De Young Richard (Wabash 8238) Dearborn School of Lyceum Arts
Diederich Walter (Austin 2111) (Tenor) 5526 W. Monroe St.
Doak Saba (Superior 2680) Plaza Hotel
Donath Kurt (Tenor) 613-614 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Donaldson Ruby 721 Fine Arts Building
Downing Frederica Gerhardt (Oak Park 1478) 209 S. Harvey Av., Oak Park, Ill.
Dressler Eugene (Ravenswood 3661) 4436 N. Ashland Av.
Dufresne Edouard 823 Lyon & Healy Bldg.

AMERICA FIRST

NOTICE TO READER
When you finish reading this magazine, place a 1-cent stamp on this notice, mail the magazine, and it will be placed in the hands of our soldiers or sailors destined to proceed overseas.
No wrapping—no address.

CHICAGO, AMERICA
NOVEMBER 29, 1918

Music News

15 CENTS A COPY
BY THE YEAR $2.50

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY
NOV 29 1918

AMELITA GALLI-CURCI

IN "RIGOLETTO"

THE PART IN WHICH SHE MADE HER FIRST CHICAGO APPEARANCE

Valparaiso University School of Music

(Accredited)

VALPARAISO, INDIANA

The University School of Music offers courses in Piano, Voice, Violin, Organ, Theory, and Public School Music.

Students may attend the Music School and also take the regular work at the University.

The Expenses are the Lowest

Tuition, $36.00 per quarter of twelve weeks. Board with Furnished Room, $39.00 to $51.00 per quarter. Catalog will be mailed free. Address

HENRY B. BROWN, President
or OLIVER P. KINSEY, Vice President

45th YEAR

Dearborn School of Lyceum Arts
All Branches of Music and Dramatic Arts
Lyceum and Chautauqua Preparation
Tenth Floor, Auditorium Bldg.
Wabash 8238

LYRAVINE VOTAW

CONTRALTO
Theory for Singers
PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC
6026 Kenwood Ave.
Phone Hyde Park 6738

Silas Wright Mountz

Vocal Culture and Art of Singing
Lecture Song Recitals
CONCERT and ORATORIO BASSO CANTANTE
Hotel Sherman, Los Angeles, Calif.

For Concert Engagements Address

MURDOCK TRIO

1316 ALBION AV. CHICAGO

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

ADAMS AND DESPLAINES STS.
FIVE MINUTES FROM THE LOOP
High Mass 10:45—Choir of 100 Voices
STRICTLY LITURGICAL SERVICE
CLASSICAL REPERTOIRE
J. Lewis Browne, Organist and Choirmaster

DONALD CAMERON BEIDLER
PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITURE
LYON & HEALY BUILDING
CHICAGO
HARRISON 1237

KENNARD BARRADELL

TENOR, 624 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago

VITTORIO SARITONE TREVISAN Chicago Opera Association
Teacher of Singing
904 Kimball Hall Harrison 4480

MAESTRO ARNOLDO CONTI
Assistant Director to Sig. Campanini
Chicago Opera Association
OPERA COACH—Studio, 1528 Kimball Hall
Phone Wabash 8538

Music News

Vol. 10 No. 48

CHARLES E. WATT, Editor and Publisher

Published Every Friday at 850 McClurg Bldg., 218 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.
Tel. Wabash 5595

Entered as Second Class Matter November 24, 1908, at the Postoffice at Chicago, Illinois, under the Act of March 3, 1879

CHICAGO, NOVEMBER 29, 1918

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTIONS
United States, per year, postpaid.....$2.50
Foreign, per year, postpaid..... 3.50
Single Copies, 15 Cents

Every authorized representative of Music News has a properly signed representative card.

On failure to receive The Music News regularly, subscribers should notify the office promptly.

Copies of the paper for sale at the news counter of Lyon & Healy, Gamble Hinged Company, Summy's music stores, McClurg's book store and at The Fair; or may be ordered through any of our correspondents in other cities.

In New York at Brentano's, Fifth avenue and Twenty-seventh street.

Advertising rate card will be sent on application.

Changes in advertisements must be ordered one week in advance.

All cuts made for advertisers are charged to their accounts.

BUSINESS REPRESENTATIVES
Thomas A. Fannell, Eleanore Capps Hostler, Lester Hugo Castle, Mary Carver Williams

SPECIAL WRITERS
Albert Cotsworth, Lyravine Votaw, Herbert J. Wrightson

List of Correspondents

New York
Joseph De Valdor
Foreign Editor
1 W. Thirty-fourth St.

Boston
Lester S. Butler
Steinert Hall

St. Louis, Mo.
May Birdie Ditzler
4861 Fountain Ave.

Cleveland
Louise Morris
Idlewood Av.

Indianapolis
Gaylord Yost
824 N. Pennsylvania St

Pittsburgh
Mr. and Mrs. R. Knotts
Cameraphone Building

Denver
Mrs. James M. Tracy
Liszt School of Music
905 Downing St.

St. Paul, Minn.
Myrtle Weed
802 Pittsburgh Bldg.

Wichita, Kan.
Ralph Brokaw

Worcester, Mass.
Lester S. Butler
441 Day Bldg.
For Sale at
Bernard and Sumner's

Milwaukee
Iva Bigelow Weaver
Mack Block

Philadelphia
Charles W. H. Bancroft
4042 N. Darion St.

New Haven, Conn.
Arthur Troostwyk
849 Chapel

Los Angeles, Cal.
S. W. Mountz
Hotel Sherman

Erie, Pa.
Albert H. Dowling, Jr.
456 E. Seventh St.

Charleston, W. Va.
J. Henry Francis
St. John's Church

Minneapolis
Kate Mork Twitchell
3244 2nd Ave. S.
Minneapolis, Minn.

Winnipeg, Canada
Charlotte Ellen Powers
317 Birk Bldg.

KURT DONATH

LEADING TENOR IN GRAND OPERA—EUROPE AND AMERICA

Director of Vocal and Operatic Department BALATKA ACADEMY OF MUSICAL ART, Chicago, Lyon & Healy Bldg.

Artists—

We have to rent the most desirable studios in the loop—large, light and airy.
Act now; reasonable rents.

McClurg Building

218 S. Wabash Ave.

Apply to

Willoughby & Co.

7 W. Madison St., Chicago Savings Bank Bldg.
or
Chief Janitor on Premises

Telephone Central 418

CENTRAL MUSIC HALL

64-66 East Van Buren St., Chicago

Chicago's most attractive hall, devoted exclusively to concerts, recitals and other high-class entertainments
Seating Capacity 700 Rent Reasonable
For Terms and Dates, Address.

HARRIET MARTIN SNOW, Mgr
64 East Van Buren Street, Chicago
(In Summy's Music Store) TELEPHONE WABASH 6760

GRINNELL COLLEGE
Grinnell School of Music

Courses leading to
Bachelor of Music—Bachelor of Arts—Diploma
George L. Pierce, Director, Grinnell, Ia.

M. BARBEREUX-PARRY

ORIGINATOR AND FOUNDER OF THE BARBEREUX SYSTEM OF CONSTRUCTIVE VOICE PRODUCTION AND UNIFIED DICTION, director of the Vocal Department of the National Conservatory of Music, will conduct Summer Normal Classes in New York City June 17th to July 6th, in Chicago July 8th to 31st, in Asheville, North Carolina, August 15th to 31st.

A course of written lessons is arranged to assist the student and teacher. This course can be used either for preparatory or supplementary study, and can be obtained by mail for a minimum sum.

Teachers are wanted to teach this system in every locality. On application addresses will be given of teachers in all parts of the United States who are using this system with great success.

EDOUARD DUFRESNE

FRENCH BARITONE
823-24 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 6743)

FREDERICK VANCE EVANS

BASSO CANTANTE
Dean Lawrence Conservatory
APPLETON WISCONSIN

Music News

Vol. 10 Chicago, November 29, 1918 No. 48

Nothing for Nothing

Now that the great war has ceased and, after a few weeks, we shall be at normal conditions in many lines of work and endeavor, it is high time for musicians to consider the future and to make such changes and plans as will ensure solid building.

No one has, for a moment, questioned the fact that musicians ought to have given of their time and talents during the war period for the entertainment of the boys in camps and, under proper conditions, for such benefit drives as the war made necessary.

But musicians have come perilously near giving their all in these ways and it is time now to call a halt in many directions.

Musical America had a leading article last week in which, tacitly, the entire "Nothing for Nothing" propaganda as launched by the Editor of Music News in his speech at Lockport, N. Y., in September, was endorsed. Indeed, much of that speech was practically quoted in the Musical America article.

For instance, the following:

"Now that the cessation of hostilities is a reality, have musicians a right to expect that the burden of war relief concerts be taken from their shoulders? Ought they to continue to give their services without compensation? Their art is their means of livelihood. It is conceivable that constant appearances without compensation have tended to cheapen their commodity in the public's eye. At many war-relief concerts the halls have been paid for, the programs also, and the ushers and other aids receive compensation; only the musician has been expected to sacrifice emolument. Is it, therefore, at this juncture, time to take a firm stand against the continuance of the practice? Such were the questions the musicians consulted were asked to answer in some sort."

Many artists were asked by Musical America to express their opinions of conditions and in their answers several of them also endorsed, by implication, the "Commercialism" (Nothing for Nothing) speech. Says Arthur Middleton:

"After all, music is our livelihood. There is probably not one artist who is near the top who has not struggled and endured many hardships to get there, and it hardly seems fair that our means of livelihood should be used as a free entertainment. The owners of the halls where many of these benefit concerts are given are paid for the use of the halls. Why should not the artists be paid for the use of their art?"

* * * * * *

On the other hand, Mme. Schumann-Heink says in her reply to Musical America that the really "big artists" can afford to give a great deal for charity (which may possibly be true) and that the young artists have been benefited by their appearances in charity concerts through the fact that it "advertises" them and that it "will lead to other engagements."

This statement is not believed to be correct by Music News. We think that the free appearance of any young artist leads to NOTHING but OTHER FREE APPEARANCES, and that the surest way for a young professional to kill all his chances of making money out of music is to get the reputation of being willing to appear "for nothing."

We repeat again our statement that so long as "the boys" need entertainment, all musicians, established and beginners, should give their services to them.

And we (emphatically) say again also that the time has come when all other classes of free appearances should become absolutely taboo with all professionals.

Let the amateurs sing and play for nothing if they like and let the clubs, churches and various societies use them if they have no money to pay for the services of professionals.

But, if the latter appear at all, it should be for money and never for any possible glory or honor or "prospect," which may be held out as the inducement.

There is but one possible means through which musicians can establish their profession on a positively paying basis, and that is the universal adoption of the slogan—

NOTHING FOR NOTHING.

Charles E. Watt

Editorial

PASSING COMMENT

At the great Peace Concert held at the Coliseum on last Friday evening, when a chorus of 1,000 voices was led to resounding eloquence by Herbert Gould, navy song leader at Great Lakes, the one composition which scored the biggest success—the one which made its instantaneous appeal to every listener—was James MacDermid's splendid "Land of Mine." Other patriotic songs may come and go, many have already gone since the end of hostilities has made them passe as to sentiment, but "Land of Mine" is a patriotic classic and it will endure for a very long time.

It ought to endure as long as the United States endures, and it probably will.

* * *

Many friends of Helen Bright Bengel, Chicago contralto, were grieved to hear of her death (from pneumonia) last week.

Mrs. Bengel was the possessor of a fine voice and a lovely personality, and although she had not appeared in public a great deal the past few years, her work of the years previous to that will long be remembered for its intelligence and beauty.

* * *

The violin used by Thelma Given in her successful New York recital of two weeks ago is a genuine Joseph Guarneris del Gesu and is an exceptionally fine instrument. It is known as the "Fountaine" Guarneris, having been in the collection of Andrew Fountaine. This violin was purchased by Miss Given from John Friedrich & Bro. of New York.

* * *

A MESSAGE FROM GOVERNOR LOWDEN

Springfield, Ill., November 21, 1918.—The following proclamation has been issued by Governor Lowden:

"Citizens of Illinois: I wish again to call your attention to the War Savings Stamps. A drive for meeting the quota of Illinois will begin on November 28 and continue to the end of the year. As an investment the War Savings Stamps are superior to the Liberty Bonds. They are issued in such amounts as to bring them within the reach of all. Through their purchase there isn't a man, or woman, or child in Illinois who may not become a participant in the great war. So long as we shall live our finest memory will be that we have done what we could toward the winning of this war. The little child of today will be happy in his old age if he can recall that he spent his childish savings for War Savings Stamps.

"Our conquering soldiers will soon be coming home. How can we welcome them fittingly if we have not done our utmost to help support them in the field? How can we feel a sense of comradeship with them if we, safe at home, have not met gladly every war call made upon us?

"Now is an opportunity for forming habits of thrift which will better our condition all our lives. Thousands of our people a few years hence will have a competency which they can trace to the War Savings Stamps they purchase now. Will you be among this number?

"Illinois has met uncomplainingly so far every draft made upon her, whether for money or men. Surely now, while we are rejoicing over the victories won on the battle fronts, we shall not fail to 'go over the top' at this late day and oversubscribe our quota of the War Savings Stamps."

(Signed) FRANK O. LOWDEN.

* * *

The following communication from Charles D. Isaacson of New York is given place at its face value.

Our New York correspondent, Mr. De Valdor, in the article referred to, criticized the Globe concerts because they do not offer payment to young artists, but expect services for nothing.

Music News does not believe in this plan at any time and Mr. De Valdor was only following out our editorial policy in calling attention to the fact that no money is paid to those who participate in these concerts.

There may be, as Mr. Isaacson claims, a definite value to the young artist in appearing in these concerts. Not being in New York this writer cannot judge the point, but the basic principle still remains that, as a broad rule, it does not pay any artist, young or old, to appear anywhere except for money.

MAN

Is not a steam yacht nor an electric launch,

But a sailing vessel unable to progress during calm.

—ARTHUR B. ENGLISH

The Letter

Mr. De Valdor, in a criticism of Charles D. Isaacson's book, "Face to Face With Great Musicians" (Boni & Liveright, Inc., Introduction by Leopold Godowsky), included a statement about Mr. Isaacson's free "Globe" concerts for the people. As he was slightly misinformed, we have pleasure in correcting some points he made.

He said that no artist ever received any good from the work. The younger artists have gone on record as declaring these concerts actually brought them engagements they wouldn't have had otherwise; also prestige, publicity, experience, encouragement and a new following: Cecil Arden, Sue Harvard, Hans Kronold, Robert Maitland, Mery Zentay, Israel Joseph, Aurelio Giorni, Claire L. Peteler, Gladys Axman, John Corigliano, Minnie Carey Stine, Beth Tischler, Misses Love and Lea, Max Jacobs, Edward Potjes, Daisy Allen, Caryl Bensel, Percy Richards, Augette Forst, Sittig Trio, Ruth Dwinn, George Dostal, Lester Bingley, Schima Kaufman, Raymond Ellis, Josef Adler, Florence Otis, Harold Morris, Julius Koehl, Edythe Jeanne, Harriet McConnell, Antonia Griffin, Gordon Hampson, May Fine, Paula Pardes, Leonard Lonquist, Earle Tuckerman, Martin Richardson, Meta Schuman, Max Rosa, Devora Nadworney, Madeline Giller, Charles Carver, Dorothy Pilzer, Francesca Marni, Ferdinand Himmelreich, Willard Osborne, and many others. Of these names, some are already famous, many will be—and they were helped to their feet.

Here are some big artists who said the Globe concerts of Mr. Isaacson are really educational and should be aided by all for the good of music, declaring the concerts are not a work of charity but necessary foundational work for the future, and showed their good faith by appearing several times: Matzenauer, Ganz, Friedheim, Levitski, Macbeth, Jacobsen, Elman, Rosen, Cadman, Schnitzer, Bouilliez, Schlegel, Raisa, Samaroff, Barstow, Hinkle, Shelley, Botta, Curci, Olive Klein, Althouse, Beddoe, Willeke, Whipp, Harrold, Tsianina, Alcock, Richard Epstein, Letz Quartet, Lois Elwell, Da Costa, May Peterson, Spiering, Werrenrath, Breeskin, Treharne, La Forge, Tollefson Trio, Alexander Bloch, Evelyn Starr, Eleanor Spencer, Namara, Buzzi-Peccia, John Powell, Marie Sundelius, Arthur Shattuck, Emily Gresser, Hageman, Diaz, Pilzer, and many others.

And such as these are definitely scheduled to play soon: Alda, Amato, Hempel, Braslau, Gates, Gentle, Wadler, Samaroff, Gardner, Riegelman, Nicolay, etc.

Mr. Isaacson is giving his time to develop the 98 per cent of the people who never went to concerts, by going out among them and showing them how good good music really is.

As Musical Courier said recently: "There can be no question as to the pronounced value of a movement which makes for a musical public larger in numbers and greater in artistic intelligence and knowledge. It would be idle to expect persons unacquainted with the masterpieces of music to go to hear them simply because they are told they ought to do so. The best way to recruit more concert-goers is to let them listen to concerts which are brought to them on such terms and under such conditions that the occasion invites their co-operation 'Once a concert-goer always a concert-goer,' is not true if the timid firstling gets a Brahms symphony, a Strauss tone poem, a Dvorak overture, and a 'Gotterdammerung' potpourri as his initial dose of 'classical' music. The Isaacson plan of making the Globe concerts a pleasure rather than a penance for the listeners has been vindicated by its success, as hereinafter set forth. The audiences were being edified while they were being educated at the same time.

"To the old-fashioned and conservative music circles the new methods of making good music popular, smack of irreverence, charlatanism, and a bit of the circus. If those worthy folk had been allowed their own way, good music would continue to be performed solely and exclusively for their own little closed corporation of auditors. To them it never occurred to share their precious possession with their benighted brethren and sisters—to take good music to the people instead of waiting for them to find out about good music.

"American ways are peculiar to America, but the ways of the earlier American music lovers were European. Our native sense of appreciation must be stimulated now and them with a bit of spice or sensationalism. Only the other day we reflected upon this point when we took note of the methods used to sell the issue of Third Liberty Loan Bonds. Brass bands, soap box orators, street concerts, parades, blank cartridge firing, elephant herds, open air theaters, story tellers, exhorters, persuaders, abusers, opera singers, actors, statesmen, wounded soldiers, all were mingled in a good natured, earnest, unified whole to bring about the one thing Uncle Sam needed most at the moment. In almost any European country a war loan issue is merely announced and posted publicly, with the result that the population draws forth its savings from solemn faced lines in front of the government stations and buys its bonds as though the thing were a religious sacrifical rite. It is not that we Americans lack patriotism, but we go about its manifestation in our own different way. And so it is with our sense for music. Europe laughed at first at our mechanical pianos and our voice reproducing machines. Now Europe buys them by the million. What these instruments have done to build up the concert attendance in America is apparent even to those observers who do not make a specialized study of such matters.

"We have made detailed investigation of Mr.

Isaacson's concerts for the Globe. He has formed the Globe Music Club. It has a membership of 8,000. It meets every Wednesday to discuss music in a free and easy way, divested of awesome technics and terrifying nomenclature. The club meets to hear a free concert. At these concerts the foremost artists have given their services. The list is 600 in length.

"The Globe Music Club could not accommodate all the would-be hearers, so other centers were started. There now are forty-five such centers, including P. S. 132, Manhattan; P. S. 144, Brooklyn; Emanuel Brotherhood, Manhattan; War Camp Community Service No. 8, Manhattan; six Y. M. C. A.'s in Manhattan, two in Brooklyn, one in West New York, N. J.; University Settlement, Manhattan; Montefiore Home, Bronx; Copstone Craftsmen's Club, Kearney, N. J.; New Era Club, Manhattan; St. James' Church, Manhattan; De Witt Clinton High School, Manhattan; Home for the Aged and Infirm Hebrews, Manhattan; Woman's Club, Ridgewood, N. J.; Intermediate School No. 55, Wanamaker Auditorium, Manhattan; Mutual Welfare League of Sing Sing, New York; Home for the Aged, Blackwell's Island; about fifteen additional public schools; Camp Dix, Camp Upton, Camp Mills, etc. Each center is over 500 in membership. These centers have their concerts, including the best known as well as rising artists; in other words, young singers, instrumentalists, composers, are getting additional chance for public work."

♮ ♮ ♮

A LETTER

Dear Fellow Citizens:

Patriotism has reached its high mark in our country. It lay dormant in the soul of the American people with great potentialities, but we are not always aware of the depths of certain emotions until we need to use them.

The National Patriotic Song Committee was organized at the beginning of our part in the great war to bring the organized effort of music to bear on fanning into flame the great emotion of patriotism. The need was felt of a co-ordinating influence that would bind together all types and classes of citizens in every state in the Union. What the "Marseillaise" is to the Frenchman and all the national hymns to the other allies, so should be the "Star Spangled Banner" in the hearts of the American people.

The majestic and dignified air of our national anthem is already a great and abiding part of our national life, and our men in khaki and our boys in blue are teaching us the much-needed reverence for it as they stand rigidly at attention while it is being played. But the people generally DO NOT KNOW THE WORDS.

The National Patriotic Song Committee is bending its energy to impress every citizen with the fact that to know the words of our glorious anthem is a patriotic duty that he must add to the many others he so willingly and eagerly performs. In this matter the singing teachers of America especially can play an important role, and they should see to it that their pupils study to interpret this song with all the sincerity and earnestness of purpose that they bring to other compositions, so that when they sing it their lips may be as though touched with "a live coal from off the altar."

Branches of the committee are being formed in many cities and towns to nationalize this idea, and the collection of national songs which has been published in a pocket edition with words and music under the title of "Songs of Our Country and of Our Allies" not only is at great help in furthering this work, but the distribution of free copies to soldiers, sailors, and trained nurses going overseas from the proceeds of their sale, has given great pleasure and has been a notable stimulus to the music in camps, on ships, and among convalescents in the hospital. The letters received by the committee thanking it for the great number of books already distributed testify to this fact.

The signing of the armistice with Germany does not end our responsibilities in the herculean task ahead of us, and we need members and supporters to help us "carry on." Our artist members are preparing themselves to meet the requests that are surely coming, to sing in the hospital wards unaccompanied, as the voice alone has a soothing and recuperative power unequaled by its combination with any musical instrument. The men in service, whether in camps or communities, must still be cheered and encouraged in their continued work.

Those in sympathy with the idea of the committee may become members upon the payment of 25 cents, or more, which entitles them to a copy of the song book, and the artists, both singers and instrumentalists, are urged to become active members who also volunteer their musical services for patriotic purposes. All members are urged to assist in selling the song book.

Further information may be had from the chairman, Emily Nichols Hatch, at National Headquarters, 62 Washington Square, South, New York City. Make checks payable to Dr. H. Holbrook Curtis, treasurer.

(Signed) DAVID BISPHAM,
Chairman of Committee on Studios and Conservatories, National Patriotic Song Committee.

♮ ♮ ♮

ANOTHER LETTER

With regard to the article in your last issue of Music News on "How to Sing" by Francis Fischer Powers, wish to state that it is truly the best I have ever read, of its kind.

Autobiographies of singers have often very much interested me, but never has anything appealed to me quite as this article. It is written in such a way that any beginner in this art can easily comprehend its full meaning and derive a great deal of good therefrom. And again, anyone who just ties to sing could certainly put "soul" innto his efforts after reading this. There are for too few who realize that it took longer than a day to build Rome, and for that reason so many beginners never even reach the first round of the ladder.

(Signed) ESTHER J. MALMROSE,
Rock Island.

♮ ♮ ♮

The following verses are from Canon Knowles' "Love Triumphant":

When navies are forgotton
And fleets are useless things,
When the dove shall warm her bosom
Beneath the eagle's wings;

When memory of battles
At last is strange and old;
When nations have one banner,
And creeds have found one fold;

When the hand that sprinkles midnight
With its powdered drift of suns,
Has hushed this tiny tumult
Of sects and words and guns;

When hate's last note of discord
In all God's world shall cease,
In the conquest which is service,
In the victory which is peace.

---

Landwer-Remington — Lillian Landwer, soprano; Thomas Remington, baritone, and Robert Grace, tenor (pupil of Mr. Remington), appeared in the Artist Course at Naperville, Ill., on Saturday evening.

THE JEANNETTE LOUDON STUDIOS

A delightful little party in honor of Miss Ruby Evans of the Chicago Opera Association was given in the Loudon Studios in Fine Arts Building last Sunday afternoon. The studios were attractively decorated with autumn leaves and flowers, and an informal program was given.

Mr. Michaelis, violinist of the Beethoven Trio, played with clean-cut technic and good tone a sonata by Leclair. He was ably supported by the sympathetic work of Miss Margaret Weiland at the piano, producing that perfect ensemble for which the Loudon school is noted.

Miss Evans, following, delighted her audience with "In a Garden," by Mary Turner Salter, and "Vissi d'Arte," from Puccini's "Tosca." Miss Evans' voice grows stronger and truer, and her charming personality increases her popularity.

Three numbers by Miss Weiland were next heard, Leschetizky's Intermezzo, Chopin's Nocturne in F minor and Liszt's "Gnomenreigen." While Miss Weiland has a nice singing tone, she is especially at home in the light, scintillating passages. For this reason her Liszt number was particularly pleasing.

Miss Evans closed the program with the Swedish poem "Flickan kom ifnan sin alsklings mote," which has been so well set to music by Sibelius, and the familiar Micaele air from Bizet's "Carmen." While Miss Evans' work in opera is well known and approved, she must also be classed as a happy story teller, and her interpretation of the Swedish number was especially effective.

Light refreshments and social chat brought to a successful close a very pleasant afternoon.

W. A. H.

CENTRALIZING SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Mrs. Martha Williams and Miss Elizabeth Metcalf, pupils respectively of Gertrude Ogden Fleming and William Owen, will be heard in a joint recital of costumed numbers on Friday evening, November 29, at 8:15, in the school theater.

Mrs. Williams' numbers comprise three groups of old English, Scotch and Irish songs. Each group will be given in the national costume.

Among her numbers Miss Metcalf will give two one-act plays, in one of which she will appear in a costume appropriate to the minuet.

Mrs. Williams is especially happy in the singing of Folk songs and has appeared in several professional programs with great success. Miss Metcalf has been in demand at Great Lakes and other places, where her appearances are always enthusiastically received.

THE ILLINOIS CHAPTER OF THE AMERICAN GUILD OF ORGANISTS

The next dinner of the Illinois Chapter will be given Monday evening, December 2, at 6:15 o'clock sharp at Kuntz-Remmlers, 424 South Wabash avenue; plates $1.25.

An interesting program of compositions by Herbert E. Hyde, Walter Keller, William Lester and Lloyd Morey, members of the chapter, has been arranged.

Soloists—Marie Sidenius Zendt, Margaret S. Lester, Mrs. Lloyd Morey and Robert Stewart Keller.

Buy YOUR Piano at Piano Headquarters

We wish that you might visit our piano sales rooms for an entire day merely as a spectator.

Here, when in need of a Mason & Hamlin for concert or studio use, come many of the greatest musicians of our time—Bauer, Gabrilowitsch, Melba, Kubelik, Muratore or their personal representatives.

You will see in one room the largest showing of grand pianos in America. And in others, more moderately priced Conover, Cable, Kingsbury and Wellington Pianos. Choose YOUR piano here and take advantage of our Easy Payment Plan.

Cable Piano Company

Cable Corner, Wabash and Jackson

ALICE BROWN STOUT

Alice Brown Stout, the well-known soprano and pianist, has been enjoying an unusually busy season.

Monday, November 11, during the peace celebration, she gave a program of patriotic songs at the Hamilton Club and was most enthusiastically received.

Wednesday, November 13, Wally Heymar, violinist; Leonora Wright, soprano, and Mrs. Stout, pianist, gave a program at the Parkside Hotel, Chicago.

Tuesday Mrs. Stout and Leonora Wright gave a program before the Chicago Chapter of the D. A. R. in the Florentine Room of the Congress Hotel.

———♯♯♯———

Holstman—Last Sunday evening Orpha Kendall Holstman sang the soprano solos in Maunder's "Song of Thanksgiving" at the Second Presbyterian Church. On Tuesday afternoon, November 26, Mrs. Holstman, with Mr. Gordon Campbell as accompanist, gave a song recital at the Woman's Club in Rockford, Ill.

Arthur B. English

TEACHER OF SINGING

905 Kimball Hall Phone Kenwood 6432

Music in Chicago

LYCEUM ARTS CONSERVATORY

At the Lyceum Arts Conservatory on last Tuesday evening a very unusual as well as completely charming program was given by Clara Louise Thurston, harp, and Sam Thompson, boy soprano, each appearing in three groups, Miss Thurston playing a number of works of the regular harp repertoire as well as some pieces which were distinctly novel.

Sam Thompson is the possessor of a very beautiful voice and he has gained a fine reputation in Chicago for his church singing, being soloist at present at Trinity Church, and he has also become widely known as a concert singer.

This grows out of the fact that he has much more to offer an audience than merely nice singing.

Backed up by Mrs. Nance D. Thompson, who is his coach and accompanist, he has acquired a definite musicianship and an intelligence in interpretation which make his work very much beyond the average.

Not only does he sing correctly, but also his every number is full of meaning, and he is able to inject humor or pathos just as the text suggests, and always to the great pleasure of those who hear him.

And, be it said in passing, the accompaniments given him by Mrs. Thompson are not only good theoretically, but they also have real sympathy and very definite musical feeling to recommend them.

On last Tuesday, besides three encores—a Love Song, a Patriotic Song, and a Humorous Song, all definitely characteristic—he sang with suavity the "Ave Maira" (Bach-Gounod) ,and with luscious tonal quality "Believe me if all those endearing young charms" for his first group, and for his second gave facile and, at times, gay interpretation to "The Swallows" (Cowen), while "Jean" (Spross) was pure vocal delight, and "Little Mother of Mine" (Tours) was sung with real musical and emotional values.

Del Riego's "Shadow Song" is one of Sam's choicest pieces and he gives it with a touch that no one else has approximated and which indeed is so original that no one else could be expected to do in the same way.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

MUSICIANS' CLUB OF WOMEN

Program for December 2, 1918, in Recital Hall, Fine Arts Building, at 2:30 p. m.; accompanists, Tina Mae Haines and Esther Hirschberg:

The Song of a Persian Captive.....Mabel Daniels
September .....Lucina Jewell
One Golden Day.....Fay Foster
Florence Hallberg
Eleven Variations on an Air by Scarlatti..Helen Sears
Alma Birmingham
Her Love Song.....Mary Turner Salter
The Dawn .....Pearl Curran
Joy.....Beatrice MacGowan Scott
Marie Sidenius Zendt
The Night Sea.....Mrs. H. H. A. Beach
Laughter Wears a Lily's Gown.....Gena Branscombe
Mrs. Zendt and Miss Hallberg
Quartet.....Amy Emerson Neill
Allegro con brio; scherzo
Amy Nertl, first violin; Ruth Miller, second violin; Wally Heyman, viola; Vera Poppe, cello
Mrs. John F. Smulski, president; Mrs. Charles F. Everett, secretary.

MUSIC TO COME

Friday, November 29

Orchestra Hall, 2:30—Chicago Symphony Orchestra; Raoul Vidas, soloist.

Lenox Studios, Fine Arts Building, 8:15—Pupils' recital.

Auditorium, 8:00—"Tosca."

Saturday, November 30

Ziegfeld Theater, 11:00—Chicago Musical College Concert.

Kimball Hall, 3:00—American Conservatory Concert.

Auditorium, 2:30—"Romeo and Juliet."

Auditorium, 8:00—"Madame Butterfly."

Orchestra Hall, 8:15—Symphony Orchestra.

Sunday, December 1

Orchestra Hall, 3:30 — Piano recital, Levitzki.

Kimball Hall, 3:30—Violin recital, Max Rosen.

Second Presbyterian Church, 4:00—Irving Hancock in Organ Recital.

Edgewater Beach Hotel, 4:00—Twilight Musicale.

Monday, December 2

Auditorium, 8:00—Opera.

Tuesday, December 3

Kimball Hall, 9:15—Piano Recital, Caroline Willard.

Auditorium, 8:00—Opera.

Wednesday, December 4

Auditorium, 8:00—Opera.

Thursday, December 5

Fourth Presbyterian Church, 7:30—Organ Recital, E. S. Seder.

Friday, December 6

Orchestra Hall, 2:30—Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

———♯♯♯———

Aaron—Miriam Aaron, Chicago soprano, is making an extended stay in California and has been appearing in many concerts. Comment on one of these will be found in our Press at Large section today.

JOHN

McCormack

In America Entire Season 1918-19

EDWIN SCHNEIDER, Accompanist

CHARLES L. WAGNER, Mgr.

D. F. McSWEENEY, Associate Manager

511 Fifth Avenue (Postal Life Building)
New York

STEINWAY PIANO USED

GEORGE L. TENNEY

TENOR

Teacher of Voice Studio Room 30, Lewis Institute. Phone West 793

ESTELLE L. RUSSELL

The Art of Singing

807-808 Lyon and Healy Bldg
Telephone Oak Park 3506-W.

RUDOLPH REUTER IN PIANO RECITAL

At the Playhouse on last Sunday afternoon a piano recital was given by Rudolph Reuter, when he had the assistance of Mrs. William Mack Baxter, who sang an aria from "The Queen of Sheba" (Gounod) with great skill and a group of shorter songs very attractively.

Mrs. Baxter, who was formerly a very well known Chicago singer as Virginia Listemann, seems to have added breadth to the always beautiful quality of her voice and both in vocal art and personality she proved thoroughly attractive. Two of her songs were by her accompanist, McNair Ilgenfritz, and another was by Eleanor Everest Freer.

This latter was titled, "Song of Roses," and being in the well known Freer style, i. e., full of intelligence, both of musical manipulation and verse conservation, it proved to be one of the gems of the whole program and was so endorsed by the large and enthusiastic audience.

Mr. Reuter opened with a splendidly virile as well as technically clean reading of the Schumann "Etudes Symphoniques" and thereafter he played a Liszt group, in which he sparkled, a Chopin group, in which he disclosed countless musical qualities, and a group of novelties in which he showed his acumen and style, as well as independence of thought.

The Chopin numbers included the Nocturne, Opus 52, No. 1, rarely played but rich in pianistic lore; the "Berceuse," than which nothing finer was ever written for piano and which he manipulated beautifully, and the showy Barcarole, not the least like anything else of Chopin, but effective nevertheless when played so well as at this time.

In the novelty group there was a well knit, well colored and altogether attractive Ballade by Louis Victor Saar, a colleague of Mr. Reuter at the Chicago Musical College; "Nuit de Noel," one of the difficult things by Busoni, a genre study by Ravel, played with great style and finish, and a "Fantasy Piece" by Charles T. Griffes, this being the unique number of the list and proving interesting even if difficult to fathom.

RUDOLPH REUTER

Mr. Reuter has now thoroughly established his place as one of the accepted best pianists in Chicago and his work was received throughout with great acclaim.

C. E. W.

ANOTHER WESTERVELT PUPIL

Miss Grace Wynn, whom many may remember having heard at Orchestra Hall during the past summer, is now at the head of the vocal department at the South Dakota State College. She not only has a large class of pupils, but is directing an important girls' chorus every week, as well as having entire charge of the men's singing in connection with S. A. T. C. work.

Besides this she is conducting big community sings outside the college circle and holds the position of soprano soloist at the largest Methodist church in Brookings, where she is situated. Early in November she was sent to Minneapolis as a delegate to a meeting of the student S. A. T. C. musical directors, under the leadership of Professor Dykema.

MISS CASE ON TOUR

Anna Case, the popular American soprano, recently filled concert engagements in Rochester, Syracuse, Ann Arbor and Detroit.

THIRTY-THIRD SEASON
AMERICAN CONSERVATORY
JOHN J. HATTSTAEDT, President
CHICAGO'S FOREMOST SCHOOL OF MUSIC
Offers modern courses in Piano, Voice, Violin, Organ, Public School Music, Harmony, Composition, Orchestral Instruments, School of Opera, etc. 90 eminent artists. Superior Normal Training School supplies teachers for Colleges. Teachers' Certificates, Diplomas and Degrees. Dormitory accommodations. Unrivaled free advantages.
SCHOOL OF ACTING AND EXPRESSION
Walton Pyre, Director. Stage Training, Public Reading. Students may enter at any time. New Catalog mailed free.
500 KIMBALL HALL Chicago, Illinois

MAX GEGNA
THE BRILLIANT CELLIST
Season 1918-19 Booking Now
Management
JULIUS DAIBER
Aeolian Hall New York
Kranich & Bach Piano Used

Else Harthan Arendt
Dramatic Soprano
300 Fine Arts Building Wabash 6267

MINNETTE WARREN
COMPOSER-PIANIST
Mgt. Warren Concert Bureau
305 SCHIFFMANN BLDG. ST. PAUL, MINN

WILHELMINE LANG
DRAMATIC SOPRANO
Concert - Oratorio - Recital Pupils
2054 W. Chicago Avenue Phone Humboldt 24

MME. BRUNE-MARCUSSON
SOPRANO Concert—Oratorio—Pupils
400 Fine Arts Bldg. Phone West 611

LESTER MARGARET Soprano WILLIAM Composer-Accompanist
5211 BLACKSTONE AV. PHONE MIDWAY 8888

Melba Mae French-Barr
LYRIC SOPRANO
Studio 1530 Kimball Building Phone Edgewater 8322

MAE Doelling Pianist Teacher
2912 Burling Street

Eugene F. Dressler
NAVY

Hazel Dell Neff
Coloratura Soprano 4263 5th Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ruth Lowenberg
SOPRANO
4236 Grand Boulevard Drexel 1863

GEORGE RALF KURTZ
Organ Piano Accompanying
Sherwood Music School Fine Arts Bldg. Annex

ROLLIN PEASE
Bass-Baritone
910 Colfax St., Evanston, Ill. Phone Evanston 6522

Orchard School Music and Expression
Piano, Voice, Violin, Cello, Theory, Dancing
1537 Hyde Park Boulevard. Phone Blackstone 1789

LYELL BARBER
PIANIST
Bush Conservatory Superior 8700

GERTRUDE OGDEN FLEMING
DRAMATIC SOPRANO
Centralizing School of Music Tel. Wabash 6349

ETHEL BRENK
137 20th Street SOPRANO Milwaukee, Wis.

Anne Williams Teacher of Piano and Harmony
STUDIO: 28 Latrobe Avenue
PHONE: Columbus 1760

Tollefsen Trio
CONCERTS - MUSICALES
MGT. WINTON & LIVINGSTON, NEW YORK

Marian Coryell Accompanist Composer Pupils
STUDIO: 72 West 68th St., New York

FIRST WEEK OF OPERA

Mme. Butterfly

For a second night—with its danger of "let down" and the consequent necessity of presenting something at once novel and vital, no better choice could have been made than "Mme. Butterfly," especially when

ROSA RAISA

Miura was cast for the dainty Madame and the balance of the cast was so altogether admirable as was the case at this time.

The small Japanese woman who had created such a furore on the opening night with her precise and charming presentation of the Japanese National Hymn, again proved herself ideal as the interpreter of the title role in the Japanese tragedy, with American trimmings.

It is taken for granted by everyone that Tamaki Miura will naturally be the ideal Japanese bride to the life and so indeed she is in so far as stature, appearance and dress are concerned.

She knows, too, authentically, the proper pose and walk, but doing of all these things correctly and naturally would not constitute a good operatic performance were they not backed up by fine knowledge and experience in stagecraft as well as a voice able to cope with the Puccini score.

Miura has the necessary knowledge and routine of the stage to present the pictures convincingly and she has a voice which, while not large, is admirably produced and managed and which has back of it musicianship and a fine sense of musical style.

She remains therefore a fine exponent of the part and her fame will grow with every presentation of the beautiful opera.

Irene Pavloska, who has already shown Chicagoans that she can sing and act the part of Suzuki, at this time emphasized the good impression she had previously made and proved that both in voice and histrionism she has grown greatly during the year of her absence from the Chicago company. Many good things may be expected of her during the season.

Forrest Lamont, who has splendid presence as well as beautiful voice, was again the Pinkerton and again did he prove that no better exponent of the part has walked the Auditorium stage.

His singing art has grown even more beautiful than last year, if possible, and his finesse of acting and his splendid sense of stage proportions remain at the same unqualifiedly standard proportions.

Auguste Bouilliez, who was first heard by the Chicago public briefly on Monday evening (in the Belgian National Anthem), came on at this performance as Sharpless and again won admiration for his smooth, sonorous voice and distinguished style.

GIOCOMO RIMINI
In "Aida"

The Sharpless music is very much in his meitier and he did such fine work with it as to prove conclusively that the season will be much enriched because of his presence.

Alma Peterson, who has proven again and again that she can sing a great variety as well as a great number of parts, and who is good invariably in all of them, sang once more the part of Kate Pinkerton and in so doing raised it to the highest possible point of beauty and effectiveness.

Vittorio Trevisan played the part of Prince Yamadori much better than it is usually played and Daddi was, as he has been in many performances, the effective Marriage Broker.

Nicolay made an impressive and vocally fine Commissioner and the striking part of The Bonze was well played by Defrere.

All this combined to make the cast one of unusual evenness and excellence and the beauty of the solo singing was much enhanced by the chorus and orchestra manipulation under the colorful and wholly authoritative baton of Polacco.

The opera has always been beautifully staged and presented at the Auditorium and at this time it reached a point of delight some degrees in advance of any remembered presentation.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

Il Trovatore

There is a tradition extant that even Verdi and Cammarano did not know what the opera of "Il Trovatore" was about. Certainly there is not much concerning a troubadour save Manrico's serenade in the first act. The work includes a spice of all the ingredients of the drama. A stolen child, a titled lady and a humble lover, a gipsy's oath of vengeance, a deep-dyed villian determined to marry the heroine, castles and prisons, duels and oaths, the cup of cold poison and the strident laugh of revenge, aha!

On Wednesday evening these shopworn incidents were just as sure fire as ever and the opera went "over the top" with the old whirlwinds of approval. But old timers were aghast at one failure. The "Anvil Chorus" didn't win a single clap of applause. The old guard, whose loyal spirits seek former pleasure grounds, must have wept at the sight. It used to count big and gain a repetition . But the other things

ALMA PETERSON

—"Stride la Vampa," "Di Quella," "Miserere," "Back to Our Mountains," "Il Balen" and the big quintet—ah! There wasn't any failure there. And the ensemble of the "Miserere" is still powerfully effective stuff by all standards. The melodiousness of the opera is the secret of its vitality. A large tithe of the familiar things floating about, musically, find their lodging place in its score. One does not realize how much of this there is until he makes mental tally at each rehearsal.

Three impressive reasons for keeping "Trovatore" in the Chicago repertoire are Rosa Raisa, Allessandro Dorci and Cyrena Van Gordon. By all measurements they are superior. Miss Raisa's merits and talents are of the super-quality. To possess the diverse means of voicing such opposites as the almost recital-like delivery of the aria opening the fourth act and follow it with such overwhelming volume and intensity of tone in the succeeding one is little short of monumental. The contrast was beyond praise. It reached far into the depths of great artistry. Dorci made his debut unobtrusively, singing the early music neatly but without winning other than a hearty interest. But when he reached his tour de force, the "Di Quella," he unleashed his powers and announced in no uncertain terms his rigth to be reckoned with. The presentation bristled with true Italian verve. The voice responded with stunning golden notes and the high C at the end brought him the ovation which is the right of tenors who can see and grasp opportunity. He is a find.

Miss Van Gordon, the third of the great triumvirate, demonstrated her continual expansion and upward flight. The voice is of singular loveliness, warm and brilliant by turns, and her dramatic sense is well in hand. She held her own throughout and the good old "Back to Our Mountains," as she and Dolci did it, was memorable.

Rimini made his re-entry after his admirable record of last season. He found a hearty welcome and proved his artistry anew. Virgillo Lazzari is a new bass in these parts. His is a big resounding tone and resourcefulness in using it. Without question he will be a valuable adjunct as a routined artist. Emma Noe will be another admired singer, among us for the first time. The voice is of penetratingly beautiful quality and she is more than fair to look upon. "Ruis" was done with his usual competency by Octave Dua, who was welcomed as an old and valued friend.

FORREST LAMONT

Sturani found himself again at home and proved himself the same sterling, forceful conductor. The orchestra was in fine fettle, too, and gave him all that he asked for and the chorus rounded out matters completely.

See "Trovatore" when they put it on again —it's well worth while.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

♮ ♮ ♮

THAIS

"Thais" on Friday night was the occasion of two important debuts from the well-chosen ranks of the Opera Company this year. Those two were Yvonne Gall, a young French soprano in the name role, and

AMELITA GALLI-CURCI
As Lucia

Louis Hasselmans "at the helm." It took the latter but a few moments to establish himself in the opinion of all as a conductor of great skill and magnetism. One feels that he is a clear thinker in every sense of the word, that he knows just what he wants done from start to finish, and that he does it with perfect assurance and command. Such full credit was done the music of the score that the dramatic aspect, though good, was left far in the background. This was no doubt due in part to Mme. Gall, whose histrionic interpretation of the part was more reservedly historical and lass passionate than that by her predecessors. Her voice is solid gold, however, and has a pure, ringing quality which is eminently satisfying. Though the first scene portended that there would be a metallic edge to it, this very soon disappeared entirely and warmth and color suffused her singing steadily to the end. Mme. Gall is beautiful to look upon—a veritable Helen in grace and dignity and certainly deserving of the enthusiastic reception bestowed upon her. She comes to us from the Paris Opera and the Teatro Colon of Buenos Aires, where she has been singing during the past summer. She will prove a notable asset to the company.

Marcel Journet appeared as Athanael for the first time after an absence of two years and was again warmly welcomed. The role is a very difficult one for bass, as it runs up into the high baritone register, but M. Journet managed it admirably and his voice was splendidly rejuvenated. Histrionically his interpretation was sympathetic and well studied.

ANNA FITZIU

Two of the smaller parts which were exceedingly well done were those of Palemon, done by Gustave Huberdeau, and Albine, done by Louise Berat. Both singers possess rich, deep voices and aided signally toward the success of the whole.

Pavloska and Peterson as Myrtale and Crobyle were adept and winning, both as tc voice and action, and Nicolay as a slave did his small part with conviction. We shall hope to hear him soon in something larger.

Forrest Lamont, who made three first rank appearances in the first week, was again a pleasure, and proved particularly valuable in the quartet number.

A word in conclusion should not be omitted in regard to Mme. Gall's costuming, which was very well planned and exceedingly becoming. The Grecian robe of the courtesan was admirable, both in contour and historic value, and it was at once a pleasure and a relief to have it not disgusting, while the simple, deep velvet purple of the men's costumes, set off with the ample folds of the gray veil, gave the wearers unusual piety and charms.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

♮ ♮ ♮

LUCIA

"Lucia" was presented, as on many other Saturday afternoons in the history of operatic things at the Auditorium, last week, to a sold-out house and to the greatest of enthusiasm.

Mme. Galli-Curci is so absolutely well known in the part of Lucy Ashton as to make it almost impossible to say anything further about her singing and her acting in this popular role, and on Saturday she was in superb condition and did her work as well, if not better, than ever before.

(Continued on page 10)

ETHEL M. RICE RECITES AT THE LA SALLE HOTEL

On last Wednesday afternoon Ethel M. Rice appeared as the chief entertainer before the Allied Drug Club at the La Salle Hotel and completely charmed her audience with a program which had for its chief item "Robert of Sicily," with the Rossetter G. Cole accompaniment, and included further "The Naughty French Clock" (also a cantillation), a list of completely engaging pianologues and a group of the famous Robert W. Service poems, all these being done with distinction and style and the entire program serving to prove that Mrs. Rice is an interpretative reader of great versatility as well as much personal magnetism.

Her voice is distinctly pleasing, though light, and her appearance is fine, and these assets, coupled with the rarest sort of intelligence in reading, made her work glow with interest.

"Robert of Sicily," her longest number, seemed peculiarly apropos of the times, for its reiteration of "He shall put down the mighty from their seat" seemed to fit a certain famous case of the moment so aptly, and there were other touches in the poem so altogether appropriate that its reading (especially when done so well as by Mrs. Rice) could not fail to fascinate the audience.

The Cole music is beautiful also, but, unfortunately, the piano in use was far from being agreeable in tone, although Marion Beyman, who played the music easily, proved herself adept technically and showed also that she understands the art of accompanying even unto the degree that she is able to make a complete success of such a difficult task as the one she had on hand at this time.

She appeared also in piano solos, affording much pleasure in "The Witch's Dance" (MacDowell) and a "Romance" (La Forge).

The program, in charge of Mrs. Dora Earle, was opened with a full ensemble of "Star Spangled Banner," led by Anneta Bowman, who later sung also "When the Boys Come Home," in which she proved the fact that she has an unusually fine voice, but showed, too, that her musicianship is still in the making and that she has not yet acquired an impressive stage presence.

C. E. W.

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

The regular Saturday afternoon recital of the American Conservatory on November 16 included artist pupils of Heniot Levy and E. Warren K. Howe. The following program was given:

Barcarolle ..... Moszkowski
Miss Winifred Smith
Capriccios, Op. 76, F sharp minor, B minor ..... Brahms
Miss Hilda Edwards
The Robin Sings in the Apple Tree ..... MacDowell
In the Woods ..... MacDowell
Miss Helen Roberts
Hark, Hark the Lark ..... Schubert-Liszt
Concert Etude, E flat major ..... Schloezer
Miss Etta Blonstein
Sacrament ..... MacDermid
The Americans Come ..... Foster
Mrs. Anna B. Rouse
Ballade, G minor ..... Chopin
Miss Myrtle Franche
Japanese Death Song ..... Sharp
Japanese Lullaby ..... Foster
The Cruel Mother-in-Law ..... Foster
Miss Verna I. McCombs
Ballade, B minor ..... Liszt
Miss Theo Amsbury
Open Thy Blue Eyes ..... Massenet
Nymphs and Fauns ..... Bemberg
Miss Anna Ellis
Concerto, First Movement ..... Moszkowski
Miss Virginia Cohen
Orchestral parts played on second piano by Heniot Levy
Mrs. Cora Lint at the piano

One of the most original and interesting groups was one of three Japanese songs done in costume by Miss Verna I. McCombs. It must be said that the music was almost too peculiar and oriental to be appreciated, but Miss McCombs in a mellow, if not very resonant voice, managed with energy and personality to convey their meaning to the audience and looked and acted very charming in so doing.

Following her Miss Theo Amsbury played the Liszt B minor Ballade. One might accuse the writer of being in an exceedingly bad humor on this Saturday afternoon, but she will have to admit that she has always believed this ballade to be the most intensely dry and boring composition ever written. If it ever could be made interesting Theo Amsbury made the most successful attempt in many a day. And if it in any way fell short of appeal it is no reflection whatever on her playing, which is artistic to a degree. She is a young woman of winning personality and great talents deserving of a brilliant future, and she and her teacher, Mr. Levy, are mutually to be congratulated.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

BLANCHE SLOCUM

Blanche Slocum, mezzo-contralto, has been filling many engagements the past few weeks.

She has been singing extensively at cantonments, and in almost every instance, by special request, she has delivered an address on her experiences in Germany during the war period from the beginning up to last January, when she was allowed to leave that country.

She has sung for many patriotic gatherings, both in Indiana and Michigan, besides making numerous appearances at Fort Sheridan and Great Lakes.

Durno—Jeannette Durno's pupil, Shirley Taggart, will give a piano recital in the Durno studios on Sunday afternoon, December 1 at 3:30 o'clock. Miss Taggart's program includes a Chopin group, a modern group and the Grieg concerto. She will be assisted by Ruth Brasher, soprano, who will sing Puccini's "One Fine Day" and a group of American songs. She is a pupil of Frederica Gerhardt Downing.

KATHRYN LEE
Lyric-Coloratura Soprano
Principal Soprano Creatore Opera Company
CONCERTS-RECITALS-OPERAS
Season 1918-19. Management Raoul Basil
1425 Broadway, Room 73, New York

ADDISON BRISCOE
Teacher Artistic Piano Playing
Home Tel. Midway 188

Metropolitan Conservatory
1328 Kimball Hall
Tel. Wabash 5883

LILLIAN THOMAS JOHNSTON
Voice Building—Coaching
Home Tel. Garfield 7672

HERBERT J. WRIGHTSON
PIANO THEORY ORGAN
610 FINE ARTS BLDG.
WABASH 2583
Residence Phone,
Wilmette 2082

LEOPOLD GODOWSKY
World-Famed Pianist Season 1918-19
KNABE PIANO USED
HAENSEL & JONES
Aeolian Hall
New York

Iva Bigelow Weaver
SOPRANO Oratorio & Recitals
MARY WOOD CHASE SCHOOL,
Fine Arts Building, Chicago
Mack Block, MILWAUKEE, WIS.

LENORA SPARKES
Lyric Soprano of the Metropolitan Opera House
Concerts, Oratorio, Festivals, Recitals
DANIEL MAYER, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK CITY
HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager

Yeatman Griffith
Teacher of FLORENCE MACBETH, Prima Donna Coloratura, and many other Artists and Teachers
318 W. 82nd St., New York. Tel. Schuyler 8537

HUGO GOODWIN
CONCERT ORGANIST
Pupils Accepted
19 W. Delaware Pl., Tel. Superior 1558

THOMAS NOBLE MACBURNEY
609 Fine Arts Building BARITONE Phone Wabash 8988

Centralizing School of Music
GERTRUDE RADLE-PARADIS, President
Centralizing School of Acting
WILLIAM OWEN, Director
Departments: Piano, Theory, Voice, Violin, Violoncello, Expression.
SEND FOR BOOKLET
Box 27, 20 East Jackson Blvd., CHICAGO, ILL.

F. WIGHT NEUMANN ANNOUNCEMENTS

Max Rosen, the young Russian violinist, will be heard in recital next Sunday afternoon, December 1, at 3:30 under the direction of F. Wight Neumann at Kimball Hall. Mr. Rosen will play the following program:

Concerto ..... Nardini
Concerto, D major ..... Paganini
Summer Idyll ..... C. Burleigh
Slavonic Dance ..... Dvorak-Kreisler
La Capriceuse ..... E. Elgar
Perpetual Mobil ..... C. Burleigh
Legende ..... Godowsky
Tarantella du Concert ..... L. Auer

Carolyn Willard, pianist, will be heard in recital Tuesday evening, December 3, at 8:15 at Kimball Hall under the direction of F. Wight Neumann. Miss Willard's program will contain compositions by Brahms, Chopin, Schumann, Percy Grainger, Liszt, and MacDowell.

Ethel Leginska will give a piano recital Sunday afternoon, December 8, at 3:30 at Kimball Hall under the direction of F. Wight Neumann.

Flora Guenzburg-Zygman will be heard in piano recital at Kimball Hall Sunday afternoon, December 15, at 3:30, under the direction of F. Wight Neumann.

Sibyl Sammis MacDermid, soprano, and Glenn Dillard Gunn, pianist, will be heard in a joint recital Thursday evening, December 12, at 8:15 at Kimball Hall under the direction of F. Wight Neumann.

———♯♯♯———

STURKOW-RYDER STUDIO NOTES

Mme. Sturkow-Ryder left for the South last week, opening the "master pianists'" course of Mrs. Jason Walker in Memphis, Tenn., November 23.

♮ ♮ ♮

Mme. Sturkow-Ryder recently played in music to an exquisite English lyric, "The fairies have never a penny to spend," and dedicated it to the popular coloratura soprano—Mme. Jane English.

♮ ♮ ♮

Mme. Sturkow-Ryder recently played in Bloomington, Ill., her fourth appearance there in two years.

TWO
SPLENDID ORGAN COMPOSITIONS
By
NEVIN
TOCCATA IN D MINOR
"Brought the audience to its feet, and was insistently redemanded."—Edwin Arthur Kraft.
IN SOLITUDE
"One of the best examples of serious organ writing that any American has given us in many a day."—A. Walter Kramer, in Musical America.
Published by
GAMBLE HINGED MUSIC CO.
67 E. VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

"The Devil's Love Song"
By HALLETT GILBERTE
is successfully sung by Charles W. Clark, Louis Graveure, Hartridge Whipp, and others.
Address HOTEL FLANDERS, 133 W. 47th St., New York

ARTHUR RANDOLPH FRASER
Choirmaster and Organist. Grace Church, Oak Park
PUPILS—PIANO and ORGAN
TELEPHONE OAK PARK 5749

KNUPFER STUDIOS

At the Knupfer Studios on Saturday afternoon a recital was given by pupils of the children's department. Because everybody was given a "chance," the program was divided into three parts, the primary grades appearing at 2 o'clock, the intermediate grades at 3 and the advanced pupils at 4. Friends passed in and out as each group had its turn, but the capacious studio was at all times filled with interested parents and friends. The children were dressed in their "Sunday best" for the great event. Little boys played their assigned numbers with courage and self-assurance; little girls modestly and shyly took their places at the piano in turn. It was indeed refreshing to see so many children at the performing stage and all so equally well prepared. It evidences the utmost system and care on the part of the teachers represented and reflects great credit upon the school.

As it is impossible to quote the whole program, suffice it to say that the numbers were representative and chosen from such composers as Hummel, Schumann, Dennee and Hiller in the primary group, and Schutt, Lack, Tschaikowsky, Beethoven and Grant-Schaefer for the intermediates. The more advanced program contained such compositions as the Lavallee "Papillon," well played by Esther Anker; "Valse Brilliante" (Moszkowski), given a brilliant reading by Myrtle Shwager; a group of Grieg numbers; MacDowell's "Bre'r Rabbit," and, in conclusion, Mendelssohn's "Rondo Capriccioso," in which Bertha Garland displayed splendid technic.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

———♯♯♯———

WELGE PUPILS' RECITAL

One of the week's most successful events in pupils' recitals was the violin recital given by the pupils of Gladys Louise Welge, Austin violinist and teacher, at her home studio, 5819 West Erie street. The pupils of Vernon L. Welge assisted at the piano. Miss Welge, who is but 16 years old, enjoys the distinction of being probably the youngest teacher in Chicago, and her success, both as teacher and performer, has been most marked, her work having gained for her the commendation of many leaders in the music world. All pupils displayed excellent training.

Lucille Rouse, Theodore Gabriel, and Minnie Usvolk gave a fine account of themselves in their numbers.

Lenora Wilke played three short numbers by Krogman with clear technic which was remarkable for one studying only a short time.

Virginia Hall gave a very musical reading of her two numbers.

Dorothy Nelson and Henrietta Hulseberg played their respective solos with fine tone and style.

Merle Whitted played her two numbers—Minuet in G (Beethoven) and "La Brunette" (Harris)—with a purity of tone, neatness of execution, and a self-assurance which would have done credit to a matured artist.

Marjorie Grantredt gave a very musical reading of the National Fantasie (Harris). She has good technic and draws a pure tone from her violin.

All piano pupils displayed clean technic and very good musicianship. About one hundred and twenty-five attended the recital.

DALINGHOUS.

Alexander RAAB
PIANIST
CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

Nicholas Garagusi
THE AMERICAN VIOLINIST For Concerts and Recitals.
Management EMIL REICH, 1 W. 34th St., New York

Clyde Stephens
PIANIST
Faculty Appointment, Coe College Cedar Rapids, Ia.

MASON SLADE
Organ Lawrence Conservatory, Appleton, Wis.
Christ Episcopal Church, Chicago
Phone Midway 930

JENNIE F. W. JOHNSON
CONTRALTO
American Conservatory. 700 Oakwood Blvd., Chicago

SABA DOAK CONCERTS ORATORIO RECITALS
SOPRANO Plaza Hotel, Chicago Tel. Superior 2680
Mgt. Alma Voedisch 1425 Broadway, N. Y.

Edgar Nelson
BUSH CONSERVATORY

Chant Sans Paroles
A New Composition for Piano and Violin by BENIOT LEVY
Published by - - The Clayton F. Summy Co.

Hertha E. Johnson
PUPILS SOPRANO CONCERTS
1207 Kimball Hall Phone Harrison 7949

DR. FRANCIS HEMINGTON
Concert Organist Pupils Received
Phone Oak Park 2464

CARL J. WATERMAN
TENOR
Teacher of Singing and Public School Music
Lawrence Conservatory Appleton, Wisconsin

HARRY DETWEILER PIANIST
TEACHING
Chicago Musical College
Pres. Columbia Conservatory, Aurora, Ill.

HAZEL SILVER Lyric Soprano
Bush Conservatory Tel. Superior 8700

Cleveland Bohnet
PIANIST, AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

REGINA HASSLER-FOX
AMERICAN MEZZO-CONTRALTO
Personal Representative, L. S. FOX, 133 Fifth Ave., N.Y

GRANT HADLEY
BARITONE
KIMBALL BLDG.

MONICA GRAHAM Mary Wood Chase School
STULTS SOPRANO BASS
WALTER ALLEN -- 1306 KIMBALL HALL

THE BURNS SCHOOL OF MUSIC
PHYSICAL EXPRESSION AND ETIQUETTE
M. Rose Burns, President
725 Lyon & Healy Bldg. and 401 W. 63d St.

FIRST WEEK OF OPERA

(Continued from page 7)

This, of course, made for positive delight on the part of the audience, and her handling of the "Mad Scene" especially brought the wildest of enthusiasm, while her participation in the famous Sextet again made of that number something to remember always for everyone who was present.

The Opera was put on beautifully and it was conducted by Campanini himself, who had not appeared for many months in a like capacity and who, at this time, scored a tremendous personal as well as managerial success.

WARREN PROCTOR
American Tenor

Stracciari, who is as dependable as he is versatile, made good work of Lord Henry Ashton, and Dolci, opposite Lucy as her lover, Edgar of Ravenswood, proved again that he is the possessor of a beautiful voice and a good stage routine as well.

Octave Dua, Vittorio Arimondi and Minerva did their accustomed parts in this opera, and Alma Peterson was again Alice, a part which she plays for every iota of its worth and in which she is so dependable and helpful that it would be difficult to imagine it in the hands of anyone else.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

THE COMPANY RICH IN TENORS THIS YEAR

Not to list all the tenors we have been promised (including John McCormack), it is yet quite in place to felicitate ourselves heartily on those we have already heard.

Ciccolini proved himself in "Traviata" to be not only good looking but also agreeable in voice and distinctly superior in dramatic style.

Dolci, in "Trovatore" and "Lucia," easily proved that he will grow to be a great favorite, while Forrest Lamont (American) gave proof in "Madame Butterfly," "Thais" and "Isabeau" that he will not need to be considered as anything but in the very front rank of the Company's full roster.

Then—on Sunday, Warren Proctor, a young Chicagoan, did such beautiful singing and created such a fine impression with the entire audience, both for his voice and his charm of bearing and manner, that he, too, has stepped very emphatically into a place of great public regard and has shown that his appearances in opera this year will—each one, be extremely successful.

This unaccountable richness in the line of Tenors is all the more notable in view of the fact of the suffering which was inflicted throughout last season by the continual placing of Nadal vis-a-vis with Galli-Curci, and there is great rejoicing that we shall now have suitable and "singing" Edgars, Dukes and Alfreds instead of the "bleating" we were compelled to endure last season.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

ISABEAU

Last season the opening bill was a gorgeous production of Mascagni's "Isabeau," which had also several very successful repetitions during the season.

The fact that this splendid bill was given on the first Saturday night of the current season, with a genuinely gala cast, is proof sufficient that the old-time policy of "anything will do on Saturday night" has been abandoned and that we shall, this year, have worth-while bills at the end of the week.

True—in the past, there have been many fine Saturday performances in so far as individual singers at least are concerned, but the general trend of the productions has not been as good as on other nights, and too many "experiments" have then been tried out.

On last Saturday night, however, the entire production — cast and all, was on a plane of excellence which might well have served for the premiere night itself.

The same beautiful scenery and settings, the same gorgeous torsorial display and the same careful reading of both the Orchestra and Chorus scores which marked the opening night of the season of last year were in evidence on Saturday evening last, and the audience responded to the treat in a rarely enthusiastic manner.

"Isabeau" is an opera in which the "set" songs are few and far between and where the Orchestral score is ofttimes harsh and unmusical (with a purpose, be it said), and therefore one must hear it more than once to sense its full meanings; and to an audience seeing and hearing it for the first time there may be, probably, many moments which do not seem as thrilling as they might.

It is, nevertheless, a wonderfully fine piece of work, and continued study of its score and its possibilities brings the knowledge of its many hidden beauties.

Georges Baklanoff, who did not measure up to his reputation last year in some of the parts presented then, was the King Raimondo of this performance and gave so glorious a picture and sang so altogether wonderfully well as to win a host of new friends for his art.

Anna Fitziu found in the role of Isabeau one which suits her admirably and one in which we shall gladly see her many times.

Her personal beauty fits the role absolutely and her dramatic sense and beautiful voice fill all the score requirements.

Forrest Lamont—singing excellently this year, made a pronounced sensation with his big aria of the second act and throughout the opera showed remarkable beauty of voice no less than an entirely sane and wholly intelligent reading of the histrionism of the part.

Myrna Sharlow and Irene Pavloska were lovely, both in appearance and voice, as Ermyngarde and Ermyntrude, while both Bouilliez and Trevisan made remarkably effective character studies of the parts assigned them, and Nicolay repeated his triumph of a year ago in the Grand Chancellor.

Carolina Lazzari—she of the wonderful voice and the glowing personality, who made so instantaneous and profound an impression in the last season (her first), and who will this year have many big opportunities to show her art, took the part of Giglietta the Grandmother and not only played it with true and convincing histrionism but also sang the score with the same opulent voice and consummate musicianship which have already made her notable.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

THE INTERNATIONAL CONCERT

The success of the International Concert of Sunday afternoon was so great as to suggest irresistibly that the resumption of these functions regularly would be a decidedly popular move.

Not only does a concert of this kind afford a great deal of musical delight, but it is charming also because it gives opportunity to study the personalities and the characteristics of the singers in a peculiarly intimate and interesting way.

There were two mistakes made on Sunday, and the first of these should certainly be rectified another time. The program was at least an hour too long, and this arose, partly, from the endless encores allowed.

Most of these were perfectly spontaneous and were well earned in the case of every artist, but, nevertheless, no one cares to remain at a Sunday afternoon concert from 3:30 to 6:30, and it is decidedly unfair to those on the latter part of the program to allow it to extend over such a length of time.

The other error was more serious, in my opinion, for it betokened a lack of interest in Americanism somewhere, which should not have been allowed.

Four young Americans were on the program and one English singer, and, while the representatives of all other countries sang their own languages, all these sang either Italian or French Arias, although both Mr. Proctor and Miss Parnell added English text encores, and Miss Gibson, for her encore, roused one of the greatest bursts of enthusiasm of the day by singing "Rule Britannia."

There are plenty of good American songs, and the English language has been proven, emphatically, as good as any other in song—therefore, in a concert of this kind, Americans should sing English text songs even though the temptation to present a big French or Italian aria is a strong one.

The immense length of the program made it impossible for this writer to hear every number, but the vast majority were heard and authentic report was given in the other cases.

Desire Defrere, a popular and long-time member of the Company, opened with a Massenet aria and was followed by Irene Pavloska in the "Mignon" aria (Thomas). Mr. Defrere was scheduled as Belgian and Mme. Pavloska as Polish.

The latter, however, has long made Chicago her home and is a popular favorite both in the Opera and on the concert stage.

Gustave Huberdeau, big of voice and style, and Louise Berat, small in voice but excellent in interpretation, were the next two, both being programmed as French and both being much liked.

Constantin Nicolay, the only Greek of the Company and, very likely, the only singer who has a distinct and large repertoire of Greek songs, came next and scored a big success in his specialty, for both voice and interpretations were of the finest.

Vera Amazar (Russian) was characteristic and impressive, and Guido Ciccolini (Italian) repeated in a Donizetti aria the success of the two performances in which he had already been heard.

Evelyn Parnell (American) sang a French aria beautifully, topping her big climax with a splendidly manipulated high note, and for encore gave one of the Lehmann "Bird Songs" charmingly.

Warren Procter (American) followed and made one of the biggest impressions of the afternoon in an aria from Mozart's opera "Don Giovanni" (in Italian), after which he disclosed vocal qualities and emotional powers which will place him in the very top rank of current tenors in "If You Would Love Me," by James MacDermid, Chicago composer, and "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms."

Emma Noe (American) disclosed a wonderfully big and well balanced voice in a Verdi aria (Italian) and an encore which was French. She has beautiful voice and style.

Virgilio Lazzari in his debut before a Chicago audience proved himself the possessor of a splendid bass voice in a Gomez (Italian) aria, and was followed by Marguerite Namara, another American, who sang first a Massenet aria and followed this, first, with a patriotic English text song which I ought to be able to recall, but am not, and for second encore gave, with her own accompaniment, "Annie Laurie" to the vast delight of the audience.

Francesco Daddi, known to everybody, sang four Neapolitan songs, in the first one disclosing more voice than this writer ever gave him credit with possessing and in the last two disclosing those unique clowning powers which have made him a great favorite with the entire public.

Dora Gibson, also in debut, is a charming Englishwoman and at this time made a host of friends, both for her voice and her personality. She gave the familiar "Il est doux" (Massenet) delightfully and, as said before, aroused immense enthusiasm with "Rule Britannia" for her encore.

The program ended (at about 6:30) with the "Rigoletto" Quartet sung excellently by Miss Parnell, Mme. Pavloska, and Messrs. Ciccolini and Defrere.

The accompaniments were provided on the piano by Marcel Charlier (Belgian), suave and sincere; Frank St. Leger (English), straightforward and capable, and Arnaldo Conti (Italian), thoroughly experienced and beautifully sympathetic.

C. E. W.

THE NO ENCORE RULE

The best rule ever made by the opera management is that of "no encores," which was in force throughout the first week and which it is ardently hoped will be maintained to the end of the season. It is inartistic, inappropriate and, to a large part of the audience, an imposition to have numbers repeated, and when the "encore fiends" are once completely squelched everyone will admit that the new order of things is an infinitely better one.

C. E. W.

OTHER OPERAS

The listing of operas for the second week has been notable. "Aida" on Monday night had a fine cast, as also "Carmen" on Tuesday and "William Tell" on Wednesday. These will be reviewed later.

"Linda di Chamonnix" was revived after many years' disuse on Thursday, this affording a new vehicle for Galli-Curci.

This (Friday) evening "Tosca" will be given with Rosa Raisa playing the name part for the first time in Chicago. On Saturday "Romeo and Juliet" will be given in the afternoon (Muratore-Gall), and in the evening Miura will be seen again in "Madame Butterfly."

ROBERT LOUIS BARRON

Robert Louis Barron, the American violinist, will give his first recital in Eugene, Ore., Sunday afternoon, December 8. Following is the program:

Concerto in E minor ..... Nardini
Allegro moderato; andante cantabile; allegretto giacoso
Aria ..... Tenaglia (1600)
Gavotte in G ..... Mozart-Auer
Cradle Song ..... Schubert-Elman
Caprice No. 14 ..... Paganini-Brown
Concerto No. 1 in G minor ..... Max Bruch
Allegro moderato; adagio; allegro energico
Chant Negre ..... A. Walter Kramer
Humoresque ..... Felix Borowski
Melody ..... Charles G. Dawes
Polish Dance ..... Earl R. Drake

KINSOLVING MUSICAL MORNINGS

Jascha Heifetz will be the artist at the second musicale, next Tuesday morning, December 3, at 11 o'clock, in the crystal ballroom of the Blackstone. The program:

Sonata in D major ..... Handel
Concerto ..... Saint-Saens
Nocturne in D ..... Chopin
Hungarian Dance No. 7 ..... Brahms
Prophetic Bird ..... Schumann
Guitarre ..... Moszkowski
Spanish Dances—
Malaguena ..... Sarasate
Habanera ..... Sarasate
Andre Benoist at the piano

Northwestern University—The organ recital by Stanley Martin announced for Fisk Hall on Friday of last week was finally given on Monday of this week, when the popular young organist had the assistance of Rollin M. Pease in a splendidly chosen selection of baritone solos. The School of Music Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Osbourne McConathy, will give a concert at the Gymnasium this (Friday) evening, made up with numbers from Massenet, Wolf-Ferrari, Grieg, Elgar, Gounod and Victor Herbert.

Fairbank—A fine new patriotic song (published in octave form) is "To the Sons of the Blue and the Gray," the text by George Morrow Mayo and the words by the popular Chicago song writer, H. W. Fairbank. Other patriotic songs of Mr. Fairbank, very much in use, are: "The Land Where Every Man's a King," "Old Glory's Call," "The American Marseillaise," "Loyal and True," "Old Glory," "The Old Sword on the Wall," "Loyalty" and "The Soldier Lover."

THOMAS REMINGTON APPEARS AT THE AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

The Saturday afternoon concerts of the American Conservatory provides, always, a program of splendid music, and that of November 23 had for its artistic exponent Thomas Remington, the popular young baritone.

A departure was made from the usual order of things in that Miss A. Louise Suess, a very attractive reader, was presented in alternation with Mr. Remington and made a fine impression in a variety of pieces.

Mr. Remington was in splendid voice and, as usual, gave thoroughly intelligent and altogether pleasing interpretation of his songs.

The "Midsummer Lullaby" (MacDowell) proved to be a piece of suave work very effective and pleasing, while "A Swan" (Grieg) was of irresistible cantabile and beautiful quality. The atmospheric charm of this little piece is beyond telling and when it is given so entirely sympathetically, as was the case on Saturday, it becomes a genuine little gem.

"Uncle Rome" (Homer) enabled Mr. Remington to show that he is the possessor of genuine dramatic talent, while the big aria from "Queen of Sheba" (Gounod) proved conclusively that he is able to cope successfully with works of the greatest technical difficulty as well as interpretative importance.

Mabel Stapleton was the accompanist.

C. E. W.

AMERICAN CONSERVATIORY OF MUSIC NOTES

Advanced piano students of Silvio Scionti, violin pupils of Adolph Weidig and voice pupils of Charles LaBerge will appear in recital at Kimball Hall on Saturday afternoon, November 30.

The American Conservatory has arranged a course of lectures for vocal students to begin immediately after the New Year. These will be given by Karleton Hackett, E. Warren K. Howe, Ragna Linne and Charles LaBerge.

The recital of Allen Spencer, given November 12 at the Playhouse, under the auspices of the American Friends of French Musicians, netted a goodly sum.

The faculty of the North Side Branch of the American Conservatory has issued invitations for a reception Friday evening, November 29, at the quarters of the school, 4611 Kenmore avenue. The director of the school is Miss Olga Kuechler.

ARTHUR MIDDLETON STARTS ON WESTERN TOUR

With the war over and the influenza epidemic subsiding, musical artists are again coming into their own and resuming their interrupted concert tours. For example, Arthur Middleton, the greatest American baritone, started forth this week for a tour of the principal cities of Oklahoma, Nebraska and Colorado, which will keep him occupied until Christmas time. On Mr. Middleton's programs will be many songs by American composers, and fortunate indeed is the composer whose works this great singer interprets. As Pitts Sanborn wrote in the New York Globe, "the singing of Mr. Middleton might serve all singers as a model of English diction. Such pure, clear, manly, unaffected correct English, delivered with the ease of second nature, is a refreshment to tired ears."

FACULTY RECITAL, SHERWOOD SCHOOL

They pretty nearly turned them away from Recital Hall on Thursday evening. And the atmosphere was buoyant with the thrill of returning interest in normal things. The music had a reactionary freshness and one listened to it with a new-time joy, as of something too long denied because of the presence of strain and anxiety. It is easy to predict an immense rebound for the rest of this season. Music was the solace in the hours of disturbance. Now it voices the happiness of restoration.

It was a beautifully proportioned program which Miss Georgia Kober and her associates contributed as a recital by the faculty of the Sherwood Music School. It opened with a ravishing morsel from the slighted school of chamber music—the C Minor Sonata of Grieg for violin and piano, done with most abounding sincerity by Miss Kober and David Rosensweet. The sonata literature is so abundant, its contents so alluring, and its interest so sustained that it is a fret to find it so scarce on programs. Miss Kober brings to such a task the genuine mood, and Mr. Rosensweet had the feeling for it also. He draws a thoroughly masculine quality from the violin, something fervid and forceful, tinged at times with the tenderness which belongs to such a spirit. For solos he used the fine old "Legende" of Wieniawski and gave a brilliant dash to Kreisler's "Caprice Viennoise." Miss Kober had a group of solos, opening with Mr. Sherwood's tonal study of "Autumn." It has a masterly color which recalls the artist who meant so much to his time. It is almost the epic of the passing of a great soul. I did not hear the remainder of the group, which included a Debussy "Sarabande," Borodin's "Convent," and Walter Keller's "Canon." She also gave splendidly the second piano part of a movement from the D Minor Concerto of MacDowell. The solo fell to George Ralf Kurtz and placed him in a strong light of efficiency. There was excellent "team work" to make the ensemble go, and the big, rolling arpeggios were stunningly done. MacDowell uses a lovely theme to center his pianistic demands about, and nothing can be more effective than his use of it in the closing portion of the movement. Mr. Kurtz did it all delightfully, with genuine power and understanding and a broad vision of its poetry. There was a lovely languor in the long trills which sustained the use of the melody in a subsidiary way, and his chords were massive and resounding. But best of all was a certain warm tenderness in the recurring and simple use of the theme in contrast with the embellishment. It was playing of a superior order.

The vocal representative was Else Haathan-Arendt, who has now come fully into her own as one of the best artists in local circles. There is ever an undercurrent of understanding in what she does. She spares no study, no effort, to give worth to all that she uses. The voice is of a lovable warmth and she uses it with enough restraint to allow the song to do its part as well—a much to be admired trait. She programmed three of Bryceson Treharne's songs and convinced that she had gotten out of them all that was to be found therein. It has to be recorded again that this composer, of whom so much is hoped for, does not quite make good. He is prolific, he uses modern idiom, he constructs well, he has knowledge, but so far he wins no serious response from this unprejudiced reviewer. The "Patter of Shoon" was best of those heard, and the merit lies largely in the deft accompaniment. Contrasted with Godard's "Tasse," which Mrs. Arendt used so magnificently, the Treharne songs withered away. Two songs of Protheroe made their unaffected mark easily and surely. Their objective was not so far and Mrs. Arendt, giving of her best always, made them valuable. Tina Mae Haines was at the piano, and as she knows her way capably and always interestingly, the ensemble was of the best sort.

Liszt's Preludes enlisted Miss Kober and Meta Kummer, the latter having served also capitally as accompanist for Mr. Rosensweet's solos.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC CREDITS

Constructive Drill Book No. 1 and 2, one dollar each, over 400 constructive drills in each.

EARN MORE — Teach adults and children partly in classes, one-half hour private lesson, one hour class lesson per week.

HELP YOURSELF — Improvise, Play and Write 95220 Modulations from one given tone. Develop Musical Memory, Intellectual Memory and Fore Feeling. Create Keyboard and Written Harmony. Teach with Scientific Pedagogy. Prices $10.00 to $220.00. Teachers may join a class any time.

Address EFFA ELLIS PERFIELD
Chicago, Ill. 218 S. Wabash Ave.
New York City, 109 W. 45th St.
St. James Hotel

LOUISE ST. JOHN WESTERVELT

Louise St. John Westervelt recently sang the following program for the benefit of the Students from France Fund. Program:

"The Lark Now Leaves His Wat'ry Nest" (Parker), "When I Bring You Colored Toys" (Carpenter), "Time Enough," "Have You Seen but a Whyte Lily Grow" (Old English), "A Widow Bird" (Lidsay), "O, Thou Billowy Harvest Field" (Rachmaninoff), "Romance" (Debussy) and "Le Printemps" (Hahn).

Miss Westervelt's technic is a splendid one. She was in excellent voice, the songs were all admirably suited to her voice and she brought the message to her audience in a very charming and delightful manner.

Marie Shedlock of London, England, told "Stories" of the "Allied Countries." Altogether it was an afternoon full of novelty and interest.

E. C. H.

Wilson—Bertha M. Wilson, pianist, teacher and accompanist, who is a graduate of the Sherwood Music School, Chicago, is located in Hillsboro, Tex., where she is conducting a successful class. During the summer of 1918 Miss Wilson continued her studies in Chicago, under Roy David Brown.

PUPILS' RECITAL OF BALATKA ACADEMY

A very interesting and wholly enjoyable recital was given at Kranich & Bach Hall on Wednesday evening, November 20, by pupils of the Balatka Academy. A very large and enthusiastic audience was there unusually early (for a pupils' recital), which inspired all the partakers of the program to do their best.

Miss Anna H. Balatka, piano teacher and president of the school, presented several of her pupils, Miss Leila Peterson, Miss Florence Grossman, Miss Winnie Mae Hornbeck, and Mr. Erhardt Bergstrasser, all of whom played with feeling and intelligence.

Pupils of Kurt Donath, vocal teacher—namely, Miss Gertrude Foley, Miss Charlotte Krause, and Miss Helen Murray—showed artistry in their singing. Mr. Donath also led the chorus, which sang well under his able baton.

Mr. Donath is a fine artist, and the Balatka Academy is to be congratulated on his presence in the faculty.

Mr. Carl B. Hecker showed, through his pupil, Miss Gladys Leytze, violinist, his good teaching, and he also directed the academy orchestra. Mr. Hecker is a comparatively new teacher at the academy and his work is worthy of much praise.

Miss Constance Schrei and Miss Anna Vogner, pupils of Mr. Adolph Bartky, played with great skill, and Miss Esther Levy, pupil of Miss Jean Gordon, reflected credit on her teacher.

Miss Helen Johnson's pupils gave two little dances. They danced with grace, and in their pretty costumes pleased the audience greatly.

Miss Anna Schneider and Miss Mae Hornbeck were the accompanists for the evening.

The next recital will be given Wednesday evening, December 18, at Kranich & Bach Hall.

H. L. W.

AMY NEILL IN BENEFIT MUSICAL

On Tuesday evening, November 12, Mrs. Morris Rosenwald of 4924 Woodlawn avenue graciously opened her house for a musical given for the benefit of the Stock Yards Day Nursery. The affair was well attended and the entertainment of the highest type. Amy Emerson Neill played two groups of violin solos in her own eminently splendid style. Her selections included two Kreisler arrangements, "Larghetto" by Nardini, Schubert's "Ave Maria" and "Scherzo-Tarantelle" (Wieniawski).

Mrs. Rosetta Samuel French of Danville, Ill., was the piano soloist who played several old favorites with faultless technique and clear appreciation of her task. Though MacDowell's Concert Etude and Liszt's Liebestraum are always a joy, the mere pleasure of these numbers rose to veritable heights of enthusiasm over the beautiful "Blue Danube" which followed. Was anything ever more popular and more deservedly so?

Mrs. Rosenwald herself then added delightfully to the program by singing the aria "Adieu Forets" (Jeanne D'Arc), accompanied by Esther Hirschberg. Her voice is of sweet lyric quality, supported by good judgment and mature musical feeling. She sang as an encore Liza Lehmann's dainty "Thoughts Have Wings."

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

ROBERT LOREN QUAIT, Tenor
7431 KIMBARK AVENUE
Concert, Oratorio Recitals
TELEPHONE MIDWAY 6996

IRVING GINGRICH

Irving Gingrich, who has been a resident of Chicago for several years and who has made a pronounced success as a choir and choral director, was born in South Bend, Ind., educated in South Bend public schools and the Michigan Agricultural College, East Lansing, Mich., pursuing a scientific course and graduating with the B. Sc. degree in 1902. His musical education began in the public schools, supplemented by private instruction. He has been largely self-taught, but has checked up his work occasionally in short courses under competent teachers. He has studied voice under Myron W. Cobb, Mrs. Adele Matthews and Frank B. Webster, piano with Frederic Nelson, organ with Stuart F. Ganung, and theory with Adolf Weidig. Also, he has practically completed a course in public school music supervision in the National Summer School at Lake Forest.

Mr. Gingrich has been a director of volunteer chorus choirs (adult and juvenile) for over twenty-five years. He taught four years in the South Bend Conservatory of Music, was supervisor of music and drawing in Cromwell and Syracuse, Ind.; Price, Utah, and Miami, Fla.

Those who have seen the perfection of Mr. Gingrich's manuscripts are not surprised to be told that he was a teacher of drawing.

An affection of the throat prevents Mr. Gingrich from singing or teaching, and he was obliged to turn his attention to composition, arranging, copying and autographing, in which occupation he has had pronounced success.

Mr. Gingrich has made a fine reputation as a composer also and has achieved success in various forms of writing.

His first publications were supplemental to his work as a teacher in the public schools and included many numbers for grade schools and high schools, which were published by J. S. Fearis & Bro. of Chicago and the Paine Publishing Company of Dayton, Ohio.

These pieces have also appeared in the best educational journals.

A male quartet, "Remember Now Thy Creator," written for and first sung by the Masonic Quartet of Miami, Fla., was subsequently published in the collection of Masonic Odes, issued by authority of the Grand Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Illinois.

Other published compositions are the anthems "O Love Divine" (Clayton F. Summy Company), "Thou Wilt Keep Him in Perfect Peace" (National Music Company) and "If That High World" (John Church Company), for male voices; also the vocal solo for medium voice, "My Old Love," which has just been issued by the National Music Company.

Music News is just in receipt of a copy of "My Old Love" and finds it to be a composition of unique workmanship and great charm.

IRVING GINGRICH

The poem by James Stafford Summer is expressive, and in his melody and harmonization Mr. Gingrich has struck the exactly right note.

It is a song of quiet content but vitally full nevertheless, and its adoption by many concert and salon singers may be confidently expected.

The following compositions are in manuscript and have attracted favorable comment on public performance:

Romance (in D flat) for Piano
Grand Choeur (organ)
Allegretto Moderato (organ)
Scherzo (organ; also being scored for orchestra)
Madrigal for Mixed Voices, "May Carol" (to be published in January)
Hymn-Anthem—Holy Father, Cheer Our Way
Rajani, Four Songs of the Night (medium voice with orchestral accompaniment)
Tara Bindu
Beloved, It Is Night
The Fairies Dance in the Forest of Song
Storm Worship (in preparation)
Three Sacred Songs for Medium Voice:
Now the Day Is Over
Hear Our Prayer
O For a Closer Walk With God

Mr. Gingrich was for five years vice president for St. Joseph county of the Indiana Music Teachers' Association and now is a member of the Chicago Chapter of the Society of American Musicians (Membership Committee) and the Baton Club (New Compositions and Publicity Committee). He is at present consulting editor of the National Music Company.

C. E. W.

COLUMBIA SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Clare Osborne Reed, Director. Students May Enter at Any Time

A school for the serious study of music. Faculty of 75 eminent teachers and artists. Courses in Piano, Theory, Voice, Violin, Public School Music Methods, Teachers' Normal Training. Also many special classes.

This School confers Diplomas and Degrees by authority of the State of Illinois.

Many free advantages. Weekly Orchestra rehearsals conducted by students under observation of Orchestra expert. Weekly Chorus rehearsals. Students assisted to positions through school employment bureau. Year book on request.

COLUMBIA SCHOOL OF MUSIC
Box 74 509 S. Wabash Av. Chicago.

GEORGE W. BARNES
Choirmaster and Organist Christ Cathedral
Director of Music St. John's Military School
SALINA, KANSAS

FLORENCE M. GRANDLAND
Coach—Accompanist PIANIST Pupils
217 N. 3rd Ave., Maywood, Ill. Tel. Maywood 320

SOPHIE MILLER
SOPRANO Teacher of Voice and Harmony
931 Kimball Hall Home Phone Graceland 6296

Harriet C. Cartwright
CONCERT PIANISTE AND TEACHER
OFFICIAL HARMONY, THEORY INSTRUCTOR and ACCOMPANIST of the WHITNEY TEW STUDIOS Telephones Wabash 6940 and Drexel 697

Ethel Edith Jones
MEZZO-SOPRANO
848 Sunnyside Ave. Tel. Sunnyside 3448

NANCE D. THOMPSON
Teacher of Boys' Voices, especially for Choir
LYCEUM ARTS CONSERVATORY
Lyon & Healy Building

JEANNE BOYD
COMPOSER—ACCOMPANIST—PUPILS
600 Lyon & Healy Bldg. Tel. Harrison 2074

JOSEF KONEČNÝ Violinist
WITH THE COLORS
ADDRESS CARE MUSIC NEWS

Helen Grahame Wait
SOPRANO
Lyceum Arts Conservatory, Lyon & Healy Bldg.

MAX I. FISCHEL, Violinist
CONCERTS INSTRUCTION RECITALS
Suite 610 Fine Arts Building

GLADYS WELGE
VIOLINIST TEACHER
5819 West Erie Street

BLOSSOM WILCOX
LYRIC SOPRANO
Address care FLORENCE VAN KIRK 501 Fifth Ave. New York

LOLA PIERSON TILLEMA
SOPRANO
Phone Edgewater 1177 1461 Catalpa Ave.

HELEN CAMPBELL
PIANIST TEACHER
604 Lyman Av., Oak Park Phone O. P. 3747-J

Marie Edwards
PIANIST AND ORGANIST. III College of Music. 2831 Washington Blvd.
907-8 Lyon & Healy Bldg. Phone Wabash 6841

Ethel TAMMINGA
LYRIC SOPRANO
2711 Lincoln Avenue Telephone Lincoln 813

DANIEL BONUS, Psychoanalyst
Specializing in the removal of nervous impediments to health and efficiency in artists, teachers and students.
218 NEW SUFFERN BLDG., DECATUR, ILL.

DUNWELL & FORD
Engravers and Printers
TO THE PROFESSION
114 S. Wabash Avenue

RADANOVITS PUPILS IN RECITAL

Not much of the atmosphere of a pupils' recital was in evidence at 633 Fine Arts building on last Thursday evening, but instead the full evidences of musicianship and fine interpretation of a song program which might naturally be supposed to belong only to the mature artist.

And, in truth, the four who sang may be called, without reserve, artists, although they are yet young in years, and, mostly, in experience.

Mr. William Lester was at the piano and gave a touch of distinction to the whole function (attended by a capacity audience) through his splendid accompanying as well as in his two songs, one of which, "Alone With Night," opened the program beautifully, and the other, "The Trail of Shadow Land," written for Watahwaso, the Indian Princess and sung by her, making a beautiful close to the evening.

Pending the late arrival of Mr. Lester, Beulah Taylor Porter was called to the piano, and without any preparation whatever, gave an exhibition of accompanying skill and art of such degree as to place her unreservedly in the very front rank of such workers.

Wilbur Beatty, a baritone of fine presence and powerful voice, sang (besides the Lester piece) three others which, unfortunately, were too much of a color to make a group of proper contrast. These were "Danny Deever" (Damrosch), "The Pirate Song" (Gilbert), and "On the Road to Mandalay" (Speaks).

They were sung, nevertheless, with very great beauty of vocalization and with a convincing display of musicianship as well as extraordinarily fine interpretation values.

Mr. Beatty has fine enunciation and a very keen sense of dramatic values as well as the aforementioned fine voice.

Helen Boyle Haworth followed in a group which was ideal in formation and contrast and which she sang superbly.

Her numbers were "Morning" (Speaks), "Mifanway" (Foster), "Ah, Love but a Day" (Gilberte) and "Farewell, Ye Hills" from "Joan of Arc" (Tschaikowsky).

Mrs. Haworth is a beautiful woman and she has an unusually good stage presence. She sings with an intensity of feeling which is remarkable and which is fully matched by her musicianship and her beauty as well as nobility of voice.

Few indeed are the young singers who can present a program with such authority, and the audience of last Thursday indorsed her work with such enthusiasm as to presage for her a fine career in Chicago. Mrs. Haworth has but lately come here from the west, but it will certainly not take her long to make a deep impression in the musical life of this city.

The third singer was Luella Feirtag, a soprano of coloratura possibilities and yet with a voice so rich and full in the middle register as to make her work a complete pleasure.

HELEN BOYLE HAWORTH

She has great facility as well as beautifully full and free quality and her singing has all the lilt and flow of the most experienced concert artist, while at the same time it has the youthfulness and life of unspoiled naturalness.

It is easy to predict for her abundant success also. Her numbers were of the rather light order but very well chosen. The best of all was Nevin's "Time Enough," a really beautiful short song.

Watahwaso, dignified as well as beautiful and of great variety and style in her artistic interpretations, sang (besides the Lester dedication) the Troyer "Invocation to the Sun God," "The Moon Drops Low" (Cadman) and "Weeping Waters" (Lieurence), all characteristic as to theme and all more or less of Indian derivation.

Her voice has grown in power and beauty and her interpretation remains original and very effective in this genre of songs.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

Margaret Louise Arnd, Soprano

The fourteen school units working on surgical dressings under the direction of Miss Arnd have turned in during the past six months over 60,000 dressings. In addition to the supervision of these units, Miss Arnd has in the past month filled three engagements in Camp Dewey, one in Camp Paul Jones, one in Camp Luce and one in Camp Boon.

———♯♯♯———

Muratore—Lucien Muratore of the Chicago Opera Company opened the season of musicales at the Bellvue-Stratford in Philadelphia in November.

WESTERN CONSERVATORY

The opening of the winter term this week brought several new enrollments and some readjustment of class and lesson schedules. A "Review Theory Class" has been formed which is open to pupils of all departments, teachers and grades, for acquiring a more thorough "working knowledge" of fundamental musical theory, without which the study of music in any of its branches must be more or less superficial.

In the vocal department much interest now centers in rehearsal and preparation for presentation of the oratorio "Elijah" by the Haydn Choral Society, December 10, under direction of Mr. H. W. Owens in Central Music Hall. Indications are that it will be a grand success.

An additional piano has been placed in the ensemble room, making five in all. This permits the sight reading and practice of compositions with twenty hands instead of sixteen as before. The unusual enrollment in the piano department rendered it necessary to thus provide facilities for larger classes in sight reading and ensemble playing.

Miss Olive Scott, in charge of the Rolla, Mo., inter-state branch of the Western Conservatory, presented piano pupils in special recitals last week. The programs were of a high order and included some selections for four performers upon two pianos. Miss Scott is the daughter of Mr. John W. Scott, secretary of the conservatory corporation. She is accepted as one of the foremost piano teachers of South Missouri and has built up a strong branch at Rolla.

Several pupils of the vocal department sang in the "Carmen" Grand Opera chorus at the Auditorium this week. They will also participate similarly in five other grand operas of this season in the Auditorium. Advanced artist pupils of the conservatory will respond to many outside professional and semi-professional calls during the present school year, both vocal and instrumental.

———♯♯♯———

LAKE VIEW MUSICAL SOCIETY

On Monday, November 11, the Lake View Musical Society presented Graham Marr, baritone, in recital for the president's reception at the Parkway Hotel.

Mr. Marr's program covered a wide range of Italian, French, Russian and English songs.

Ella Dahl Rich gave excellent support at the piano throughout the entire program.

The president said, "Music is very essential in sustaining the morale of those at home as well as those in the service." She suggested a "Music Shower" of instruments of all kinds for the boys in the service. She also suggested that one way to "Keep the Home Fires Burning" was to keep up "Community Singing."

Howard Wells was called upon to make a few remarks about the value of contests. He said it was a good thing to have a healthy competition, that it was a good thing for teachers to realize there are other teachers, that these contests advertise the high standard of teaching in Chicago, and that the contests cause pupils to make the very most of themselves; also that the standard of teaching in Chicago is higher than it is in Europe.

E. C. H.

EDISON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
MORGAN L. EASTMAN, CONDUCTOR
Popular Concerts—Orchestra Hall
FIRST THURSDAY OF EACH MONTH
NOVEMBER TO MAY

Edwin Stanley SEDER F. A. G. O.
Organ—Piano—Pupils. 126 E. Chestnut St.

HELEN BOYLE HAWORTH
Concert Contralto Oratorio
9 W. GOETHE STREET

Barbara Wait Contralto
632 Fine Arts Bldg. Tel. Wabash 8795

CHICAGO WOMAN'S MUSICAL CLUB

The November concert of the Chicago Woman's Musical Club was held in Recital Hall, Fine Arts Building, on Thursday, November 7.

The concert was preceded by a very interesting lecture on the "Oratorio," by Harrison M. Wild, than whom no better narrator of the subject could be found. His knowledge is founded on experience and intimate relation to the Oratorio as gained by being conductor of the Apollo Musical Club for so many years, and which has so eminently fitted him to speak on the subject. His was a very lucid and comprehensive description of "Oratorio" from its incipiency up to the present time.

This is an especially interesting feature of the Club's activities, and one of which every member of the Club and every musician should avail themselves. Other lecturers scheduled this year are: Edoardo Sacerdote on the "Opera," Karleton Hackett on "Music and the War," D. A. Clippinger "The Making of a Song," and Glenn Dillard Gunn on "American Music."

The concert which followed the lecture was also very interesting, and both were much better attended than the affairs of like character which were scheduled for Thursday, November 7, and Monday, November 11, the days when it was reported that the Germans had signed the armistice.

The Chicago Ladies' Quartet, composed of Alice Bell Watts, Nina Maude Rea, Frances Carey Libbe, and Byrde Kitson Schwarz, opened the program with a group composed of "Rose in the Bud" (Dorothy Forster), "The Rosary" (Nevin), and "Song of the Hills" (Carrie Jacobs Bond). The personnel of the Quartet is sufficient to speak for the high character of the work which they accomplished. The writer speaks from many years' experience in quartet work—that a good quartet is not born in a day; that it takes months of very persistent, earnest, and careful practice, and that each singer must forget that she is a soloist in order to obtain the best results. The Chicago Ladies' Quartet has accomplished much, and with more of the same kind of work which is in evidence should make for a very fine ensemble. They sang for closing number "Bridal Chorus" from the "Rose Maiden" (Cowen-Spicker).

Beatrice Dorion, an accomplished young pianist of the Club, played "Consolation" and Rhapsodie Hongroise No. 6 (Liszt). Miss Dorion has splendid technic for one so young, and she plays with much sparkle and brilliance, with also good interpretative values.

Cora McAllister Knapp chose for her group "In Flanders Fields" (Bergen), "Sylvelin," "Love Is the Wind" (MacFayden), "Darkness" (Hurlstone), and "Wake Up" (Phillips). This was not a widely contrasted group, but one, nevertheless, which was particularly well suited to her voice.

Mignonette Schruta played "Ave Maria" (Schubert-Wilhelm), "Venetian Serenade" (Weidig), "Idylle" (Mignonette Schruta), and "Mazurka" (Colpe) for violin. Miss Schruta is endowed with a good musicianship and fine stage presence. In addition to many years of work with splendid results, she is one of those fortunate enough to have been under the tutelage of the eminent Professor Auer. She has a broad, virile tone, and she plays also with a great deal of dash and brilliance.

The Student Department is making a special study of "American Musicians and Their Music." It met at the residence of Mrs. Hattie J. Atkinson, 5618 Indiana avenue, on Sunday, November 24, at which time papers on the "Growth of American Music," by Libby Studabaker; "Indiana Music," by Libby Brasnick, and "Charles Wakefield Cadman," by Bertha Caspers, were read. Other members appearing on the program were Bertha Caspers, soprano; Dorothy Mendelsohn and Mildred Studabaker, pianists; Gladys Welge, violinist; Elsie Schoenherr, accompanist, and Dora Owens, reader.

E. C. H.

CENTRALIZING SCHOOL

At the Centralizing School during the past week four performances of four modern plays were given at Centralizing Hall under the direction of William Owen, director of the Centralizing School of Acting. These plays were given under the auspices of the Picture Book Fund Committee in cooperation with the War Service Committee of the Chicago Kindergarten Club, and the proceeds are to be used for the purchase of picture books for the French Refugee Children, to be in the hands of the American Kindergarten Unit which is now being sent to France.

The performances were all a great success and the hall was at all times filled with an enthusiastic audience. The selections were particularly wise and interestingly varied. They included "The Maker of Dreams," a fantasy in one act by Oliphant Down; "Overtones," a short play by Alice Gerstenberg; "Suppressed Desires," a Freudian comedy by George Cram Cook and Susan Glaspell, and Barrie's "The Twelve-Pound Look."

M. W.

RUTH PRYOR

A young dancer, Miss Ruth Pryor, whose likeness is shown herewith, is a Chicago girl so distinctly of the Gennee type that the resemblance in mode and style is remarked by every one who sees her.

Little Miss Pryor, over whose fair head there has passed only a very few summers, has scored success wherever she has appeared and much interest has been aroused in her future appearances and her growth. She has danced at the Elks 'Club Children's party, at the Allied Bazaar, at the Coliseum and for the Druggists' Club, in each case scoring a distinct sensation.

BEATRICE MacGOWAN-SCOTT'S "JOY"

The most enthusiastic moment of the Garrison recital on Sunday afternoon followed the closing number of the group of American songs. This number was called "Joy" and was written by Beatrice MacGowan-Scott of Chicago. It came to its first hearing to most of us. It is a well-made little song, compact and direct, with nothing permitted to interfere with its running over melodiousness and bubbling happiness. It permits of the use of brilliant devices to enhance its charm, the top notes and trills and staccati of the coloratura. It has a wonderfully soaring spirit and has caught the mood of Sara Teasdale's verses with marked fidelity. It's the first use of Teasdale poetry encountered on programs. Composers will find a mine of texts in her "Love Songs."

The audience was insistent upon repetition. The song will win its cheerful way and find frequent appearance on programs of importance as well as that valuable service in studios where wearing qualities are fully tested.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

THE MAGIC OF YOUR EYES

The attractive song by Albert Penn, "The Magic of Your Eyes" (published by Witmark), which has had so fine a list of public performances, having been used extensively by Charles W. Clark, Mable Corlew Smith and others and which has also found a definite and abiding place in the studio repertoire of such teachers as Mr. Clark, Karl Buren Stein and Frank Parker, is growing steadily in favor and may be noted as one of the numbers on a great many of the programs which come to Music News office.

It is an unusual song and just as charming as usual, and a single reading of it is quite enough to show the reason for its great popularity.

CHARLES LINK
Tenor Violinist
800 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
VIOLET MARTINS
Accompanist-Coach

CARLO LITEN
FAMOUS BELGIAN TRAGEDIAN
NOW IN AMERICA
Dramatic Recitals and Recitations
Exclusive Management
DANIEL MAYER Aeolian Hall, New York

The Jennette Loudon Studios
PIANO :: THEORY :: ENSEMBLE
614 FINE ARTS BUILDING

WESTERN Conservatory
E. H. SCOTT Pres.
KIMBALL HALL . . . CHICAGO

GEORGE R. GARNER
Celebrated Colored American Tenor
4405 CHAMPLAIN AVENUE

MARIE KERN-MULLEN
CONTRALTO
CLUBS—CONCERT—ORATORIO—RECITALS
International College of Music
63 Auditorium Bldg. Res. Tel., Edgewater 438

THIRZA MOSER PARMENTER
SOPRANO—TEACHER OF VOICE
Lyceum Arts Conservatory, Lyon & Healy Building

MARY PECK THOMSON STUDIO

Last Saturday afternoon at the Mary Peck Thomson studio a delightful musicale was held to present the compositions of Miss Phyllis Fergus, with the composer at the piano. The songs were presented by Miss Anna Burmeister, one of Miss Thomson's most talented artist pupils. No one could have been better chosen to interpret these lovely compositions, for they were all most original and beautiful in structure.

One cannot fail to see a great future before so imaginative and thoroughly musical a writer, but we must also hope that they will always be sung by as sympathetic and appreciative a singer as Miss Burmeister.

Following is a list of the songs presented. The composer did the story poems herself with admirable insight and especial magnetism:

Songs—
- The Heart of Me
- Night Fall
- Sing to Me

Story Poems—
- The Dark:
  - Little Girl
  - Little Boy
- Four Child Fancies:
  - Spring
  - Summer
  - Autumn
  - Winter

Songs—
- Armenian Lullaby
- The Light in Your Eyes
- Japan
- Trees

Story Poems—
- Jess Yo' Be
- Mistah Sun am Blazin'
- When I Ain't Got You

Songs—
- Yesterday
- Serenade
- The Song in My Heart

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

MU PHI EPSILON SORORITY

Iota Alpha Chapter

At Ziegfeld Theatre Tuesday, Nov. 19, an American program arranged by Mrs. Juliette P. Geringer and Miss Dorothy Lynch was given as follows:

Krancis Key ..... Star Spangled Banner
Audience

Vocal Trio—
Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Had .....
..... H. J. Burleigh
Go Down, Moses ..... H. J. Burleigh
Florence Stephenson Gahlbeck, Harriet M. Smulski, Frederica G. Downing

Songs—
Before the Crucifix ..... Frank La Forge
Bells of Youth ..... Oley Speaks
Mary White

Suite for Two Violins and Piano.....Edmund Severn
Wally Heymar George, Dorothy Lynch, Alice Brown Stout

Songs—
Triumphant Morning.....Louis Victor Saar
Olive June Lacey

Piano—
Polonaise Americaine.....John Alden Carpenter
Impromptu .....John Alden Carpenter
Concert Etude ..... MacDowell
Effie H. Compton

Vocal Trios—
Morning in Spring .....Mathews
Song of a Shepherd .....J. Bertram Fox
Olive June Lacey, Juliette P. Geringer, Mary White

Trio for String and Piano—
Prelude ..... Horatio Parker
Tempo de Minuetto.....Horatio Parker
Finale Allegro .....Horatio Parker
Wally Heymar George, Elizabeth Olk Roehlk, Sylvia Bargman
Alice Brown Stout and Beulah Taylor Porter, accompanists.

———♯♯♯———

Balfour—Constance Balfour, after having recovered from her recent serious illness, is beginning her season's activities, and during the present month she will appear in joint recitals with Elias Breeskin, violinist, at Ithaca, Potsdam, and Ogdensburg.

STUDIO NOTES

FRANK VAN DUSEN

Miss Emily Roberts, piano and organ pupil of Frank Van Dusen, has recently been appointed organist of the First United Presbyterian Church, Chicago.

One feature of Mr. Van Dusen's studio activities is the bi-weekly class meeting and recital of his piano pupils at his piano studio at Kimball Hall. Another feature is the bi-weekly lecture and pupils' organ recital in Mr. Van Dusen's organ studio.

On November 3 the following program was presented by the piano pupils:

Album Leaf ..... Grieg
Master Lawrence Geib
Mazurka ..... Moszkowski
Valse ..... Chopin
Master Whitmer Byrne
Rhapsodie—C Major ..... Dohnayni
Miss Idorna Newmark
Etude, E Minor .....Chopin
Etude, C Minor .....Chopin
Miss Marguerite McCellen
Etude, Hungarian ..... MacDowell
Reverie .....Hinton
Miss Emily Roberts
Butterfly ..... Lavallee
Miss Ruth Rezanka
Scotch Poem ..... MacDowell
Miss Magdalene Peters
Concerto, G Minor (First Movement).....Saint-Saens
Miss Margaret Hughes
Mr. Van Dusen at Second Piano

On November 10 the following organ recital was given by pupils of Mr. Van Dusen:

Hosanna ..... Wachs
Miss Radie Brittan
Intermezzo, Toccato—First Suite .....Rogers
Miss Hanna Johnson
Berceuse ..... Guilmant
Miss Susan Bell
Cantilene Nuptiale ..... Dubois
Miss Dora Andrews
Elisabethan Idyl ..... Noble
Miss Lauretta Lindefeld
Melody in C ..... Hanforth
Miss Paula Janton
Allegro, Scherzo—Sonata, E Minor.....Rogers
Miss Emily Roberts

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Dusen gave a reception and musicale for Mr. Van Dusen's pupils at their home, 6205 Langley avenue, Saturday afternoon, November 16.

———♯♯♯———

LOUISE ST. JOHN WESTERVELT PUPILS

The regular class meeting of the Westervelt pupils was held on Friday, November 22, in Miss Westervelt's studio, with singing by Miss Fletcher, Miss Cook and Miss Rhoads.

Miss Georgie Nettles, another pupil of Miss Westervelt, has secured the position of soprano soloist and director of the music at the Western Avenue Methodist Church. On November 13 Miss Nettles sang at Great Lakes, under the auspices of the Society of American Musicians.

Miss Martha Cook, from the Westervelt studio, is soprano soloist at the Rogers Park Methodist Church. She recently appeared in concert before the Oak Park Woman's Club.

———♯♯♯———

THE HAYDN CHORAL SOCIETY TO SING "ELIJAH"

The date of "Elijah" by the Haydn Choral Society at Central Music Hall has been changed to December 10 from the 12th, which proved to be a conflict with other choral events.

H. W. Owens will conduct as usual and the soloists will include Thomas Remington, baritone, in the splendid name part, and Mathilde Turnock, soprano; Lucy J. Hartman, contralto, and Harlan Haines, tenor.

A Rendezvous for the Elite—Artists and Musicians

PANCRAZI'S

Genuine Italian Restaurant and Rotisserie

486 COLUMBUS AVENUE
BETWEEN 83RD AND 84TH STREETS
NEW YORK

HUGO GOODWIN
ORGANIST AND CHOIRMASTER, ST. JAMES EPISCOPAL CHURCH
DIRECTOR BACH CHORAL SOCIETY. ORGAN, PIANO, VOCAL COACH
WITH INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE 666 RUSH STREET SUPERIOR 7283

ALLEN RAY CARPENTER TENOR
Kimball Hall

CHARLES W. CLARK "Master of the Song World"
BARITONE
J.C. Barker, 893 N. Dearborn St
CHICAGO

H. W. OWENS VOCAL DIRECTOR
WESTERN CONSERVATORY
Voice Teacher Coaching
PHONE WABASH 3506

Morgan KINGSTON LEADING TENOR
METROPOLITAN OPERA CO., New York
Concert Direction
Metropolitan Musical Bureau
AEOLIAN HALL NEW YORK

A TRIBUTE TO

THE MAGIC OF YOUR EYES

By
ARTHUR A. PENN

ALBERT EDMUND BROWN
BARITONE

Boston Massachusetts,
Oct 21 - 1910.

M. Witmark & Sons
New York

Gentlemen:

Because of the wonderful beauty of Mr Penn's song — "The Magic of Your Eyes" you may be interested to know that I shall retain it in my repertoire - I wish that every singer and teacher might sell and hear it — such songs are rare and you are to be congratulated on publishing it -

Sincerely Yours
Albert Edmund Brown

Send for Artist's Copy
PUBLISHED IN FIVE KEYS
Eb (Bb to D) F, G, Ab, Bb

M. WITMARK & SONS
55 WITMARK BUILDING Dep't C NEW YORK CITY

THE PRESS AT LARGE

In this division of Music News there will be printed, week by week, comments on various concerts and artists which have appeared in the daily and weekly press of the country. This is done in the belief that this matter will be found to be of great interest to a large number of people. This is in no sense an advertising department, and no items will be accepted for pay

Yankee Ingenuity

The extraordinary story of how a Los Angeles soldier and a fellow-engineer repaid the eager and unselfish hospitality of a French cathedral town in the war zone by working a modern miracle to restore the cathedral's long-silent organ has just reached this city. It is told in the columns of The Stars and Stripes, the official newspaper of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, and somewhat less adequately in letters from the young Los Angeles wonderworker himself.

He is Corp. Gerald M. Best, Co. A, Three Hundred and Nineteenth Field Signal Battalion, and brother of Mrs. James B. Hague, art instructor at the Los Angeles High School and residing at 667 South Kingsley drive.

The name of the cathedral town where the miracle was worked cannot, by decree of the censor, be printed—a significant fact in itself. Even on the photograph of the great church, sent to his sister here by Corporal Best, the printed matter of the photographer has been scratched out by the censor. The Stars and Stripes observes a like silence, avoiding the use of any names at all.

From the account of the remarkable affair written by Corporal Best it appears that his battalion was billeted in the cathedral city. The Yanks were made welcome in the true French way. The best the town affords was theirs, and the people went without that their guests of honor might not want for anything. The best of the poor accommodations available was tendered them, and the prettiest demoiselles served them delicacies that meant privation to themselves.

Despite the determined courage and outward cheerfulness of the townsfolk, the Yanks were not long in discovering that their hosts bore secretly a sorrowful heaviness of heart that no Germans have ever been able to inflict upon the dauntless French by any amount of pillage and horror.

Corporal Best was puzzled. He made inquiries in somewhat halting French, to no avail. Finally he sought the genial cure of the parish, once a plump and jolly personage, now a bit worn and lean and anxious by the heavy burdens which for four years of war his sturdy shoulders had borne.

"Helas, mon fils," he sighed. "It is the great organ of the cathedral. For fifteen years the organ has been silent. No one can play upon it. We cannot find anyone who can give to it its great and golden voice again—it is gone, I fear, forever. The simple among mes pauvres—they believe an evil spirit has taken up its abode in the organ and has throttled it. I—I do not know."

Corporal Best is a Yankee and an expert organist as well. He can play nearly every musical instrument and has made a special study of the organ. He hunted up his bunkie, who happens also to be a musician of considerable skill, and related the story.

"Come on," said he, "and if we can't scare the devil out of those organ pipes then may I never see Berlin!"

From here on may be quoted verbatim the account of the matter given in The Stars and Stripes.

"This is the story," its article reads, "of how two American privates lifted the morale of an entire French village without firing a shot.

"The story developed when two American officers passed through the town in question. They dropped in to see the cathedral, one of the oldest and most beautiful in France. Much to their surprise, they heard the strains of an American love song filling the cathedral as they stepped inside. And the next thing they saw was a Yankee private at the organ playing for all he was worth.

"When he and a friend, another engineer private, came to the town, they found the cathedral and the unused organ, over 100 years old, but out of repair for fifteen years, much to the sorrow of the cure and the townfolk who had once known the beauty and inspiring effects of the instrument.

"The two Yank engineers at once secured permission to try to re-establish the ancient instrument and when it was gladly given they went to work. In starting their enterprise they found over 3,000 pipes, some of them twenty feet high and a foot in diameter, that required cleaning and other adjusting, a job for a platoon. Their only opportunity for work on the big organ was after 5 p. m., at the end of a hard day's engineering grind, but they stuck to the job.

"Before they had finished they removed from the different pipes a dozen ancient birds' nests, vast quantities of plaster and other debris and all the known varieties of dirt. By employing a sulphuric acid process, equally applied to each of the 3,000 pipes, they got the organ completely ready for use.

"No one in town had believed there was even the remotest chance that the organ would ever play again."—Los Angeles Times.

♮ ♮ ♮

Philadelphia Orchestra

The program for the Philadelphia Orchestra's second concert of the season—in reality the fourth, had not the first two been postponed—begins and ends with considerable spirit, the first number being the overture to Chabrier's opera, "Gwendoline," which was played at the Academy of Music yesterday afternoon with a fine, full tone and much dramatic intensity, and the last the colorful "Capriccio Espagnol" of Rimsky-Korsakow, with its captivating dash of the Spanish Dance.

The soloist of the week is Margarete Matzenauer, contralto—or perhaps more correctly called a dramatic mezzo-soprano—of the Metropolitan Opera Company. This gifted singer deservedly is a favorite here, where her operatic triumphs have been numerous, and quite naturally there was a marked degree of appreciation for all that she did yesterday. Being first of all a dramatic singer, Mme. Matzenauer is not always heard to the best advantage in songs, beautifully as she sings them. Her first number, the "Poeme de l'Amour et de la mer," by Chausson, for the most part lies too high to disclose the volume and richness of her voice, and while distinctly melodious and not without dramatic significance, the composition proved a bit dreary, even artistically delivered as it was. Three songs by Tschaikowsky—"At the Ball," "Berceuse" and "He Loved Me So"—as the singer's second number, did not serve to give a much better chance to show her powers. But these songs, orchestrated by Mr. Stokowski, are exceptional in their melodious beauty, and were charmingly sung, the Berceuse—a tender cradle song—being particularly well done.

While an operatic aria as one of her selections probably would have been more acceptable, there was all the applause that Mme. Matzenauer possibly could have desired. This demonstration of appreciation she appeared anxious to share with Mr. Stokowski, repeatedly insisting upon holding his hand for the acknowledgment—after the manner of opera stars receiving a curtain call—the conductor, however, showing considerable reluctance and some evidence of embarrassment in accepting the honor; also, it may be said, considerably to the amusement of the audience.

The orchestra, in addition to the numbers mentioned, was heard in "Two Indian Dances," by Charles Sanford Skilton, a professor of the University of Kansas. These compositions, called respectively "Deer Dance" and "War Dance," have a sufficiency of "local color," and perhaps are justified in being placed on the program as an example of purely "American music." They at least have the merit of being brief and the advantage of being very well played. The program, which will be repeated this evening, as usual was opened yesterday with "The Star Spangled Banner," but with Mme. Matzenauer as soloist, her delivery of the first stanza of the anthem, with the splendid support of the orchestra, arousing no little enthusiasm.—Philadelphia Press.

♮ ♮ ♮

Echoes from Max Rosen's Tour With New York Philharmonic Orchestra

Max Rosen played the Saint-Saens Concerto on his recent tour of New England with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra and received remarkable ovations in every city. In Worcester and Springfield, Mass., and Providence, R. I., he was recalled no less than ten times to bow his acknowledgments to the applause of the audience. That he created no less a sensation with the critics may be seen by these few sentences culled at random from his notices:

"Rosen draws a tone from his instrument that for sheer beauty has scarcely been equaled by any violinist ever heard here. It is of ravishing sweetness and pure as sunlight."—Providence Journal.

"Mr. Rosen has a breadth of style which reminds one of Kreisler, but has an individuality very much his own."—Worcester Evening Post.

"Max Rosen certainly has a superb technic, yet what one thinks of is never the perfection of his playing, but its charm. His tone is deliciously sweet and pure."—Springfield Republican.

♮ ♮ ♮

"Matzenauer's Beautiful Singing Feature of Philadelphia Concert"

Said the Philadelphia Inquirer in reference to Margaret Matzenauer's appearance with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra in that city: "The feature of the performance was the appearance of Mme. Margaret Matzenauer and her delivery of her numbers. In the Poeme by Chausson, given for the first time, the reviewer said that to 'communicate its full significance its interpreter must be endowed with un-

MARIE SUNDELIUS

SOPRANO

Metropolitan Opera Company

"Mme. Sundelius gave as perfect an exhibition of song singing as has been heard in New York this season. A beautiful art, coupled with a beautiful voice is hers." H. E. Krehbiel, New York Tribune.

Available for recital appearances following the Metropolitan season

Exclusive Management, GERTRUDE F. COWEN
1451 Broadway, New York

usual gifts of voice, of sympathy, of method and of appreciative intelligence,' and Mme. Matzenauer is possessed of full measure of these. She is not less worthy of praise for the beauty of voice and refinement of style with which she sang three Tschaikowsky songs. No finer or more satisfying exemplification of the vocal art than Mme. Matzenauer provided is readily imaginable."

Of the same performance the Philadelphai Press said: "It is stale news that Margaret Matzenauer is one of the few most accomplished artists on our stage—concert or operatic. But to have heard the simplicity and distinction with which she sang those little Tschaikowsky songs was to have had an illustration of the heart-reaching fundamentals on which a great art is based. Only the real artist can do the simplest things supremely well."

♮ ♮ ♮

Miss Aaron Delights Music and Art Section

Despite the rainy weather, there was an unusually large number of members present at yesterday's meeting of the Ebell Music and Art Section. An especially interesting program was presented, quite the most delightful feature being the vocal numbers contributed by Miss Miriam Aaron of Chicago. Miss Aaron possesses a charming personality in addition to her well trained voice, and was very gracious in responding to encores. She is a well known vocalist of Chicago. Her selections, all of which called forth enthusiastic praise, were as follows: "In Italy" (Jeanne Boyd), "Twilight" (Katherine Glenn), "I Hear a Thrush at Eve" (Charles Wakefield Cadman), "Vissi D'Arte, Vissi D'Amore" (Puccini), "By the Waters of Minnetonka" (Thurlow Lieurance), "Irish Love Song" (Lang). Miss Artelia Bell of Chino, an accomplished pianist, accompanied her friend, Miss Aaron.—The Bulletin, Pomona, Cal.

♮ ♮ ♮

Orpha Kendall Holtsman

A crowded house greeted Orpha Kendall Holtsman when she appeared at the Congregational Church on Tuesday evening, November 12. Miss Ozella Seward presented Mrs. Holtsman in a program of Illinois composers. Possessed of a splendid voice and a wonderful personality, Mrs. Holtsman's program was a delight from beginning to end. Twelve different composers were represented and Mrs. Holtsman, who is personally acquainted with most of them, introduced each number with some interesting story relative to the composer. The songs, "My Star" (Lauden) and "Sacrament" (MacDermid), were among the favorites, but the decided hit of the evening was Fay Foster's "The Americans Come." In this number all of Mrs. Holtsman's dramatic ability and fine voice were brought into play. Mr. Marx Obendorfer of the Chicago Grand Opera Company was Mrs. Holtsman's accompanist, and the perfect understanding of these artists was a combination rarely heard in Princeton.—Bureau County Republican.

♮ ♮ ♮

Patricia Abernethy in Kansas

A clear cut technic, a beautiful poetic tone coloring in the Chopin Etudes, and distinctive excellence of rhythm in the Russian Suite were noticeable features of the piano recital given by Miss Patricia Abernethy in the College Auditorium to an unusually large audience yesterday afternoon. Mr. Westbrook, who assisted her, possesses a voice that displayed a remarkable smoothness and richness of tone quality. Miss Smith of the Department of Music accompanied Mr. Westbrook.

Moussorgsky's "Trip Through an Art Gallery" was one of the most interesting numbers given and was received with marked appreciation by the audience. It is a modern, impressionistic composition inspired by the pictures of the composer's artist friend, Hartman. Each number is preceded by a Promenade which reflects the mood of the composer as he wanders about the gallery, passing from one picture to another. Miss Abernethy produced in her audience a sympathetic response to the various colorings of these musical moods, from the dull, leaden, earth-sodden hopelessness of "Bydlo," an Oxen Cart, to the delicately brilliant miniature "Birds, Chickens and Egg Shells," and the brilliantly humorous quarrel of the Polish Jews, Samuel Goldenberg and Schmuyle. The octave work in the last two numbers was brilliantly executed.—Manhattan (Kan.) Press.

♯♯♯

Sapolski—St. Cassimer's Singing Society gave a concert for the benefit of the Polish Army in Poland last Sunday evening. Miss Cora Sapolski was one of the bright particular stars of the occasion.

♯♯♯

Orchard—Mrs. Charles Orchard was the accompanist for Helen Buckley-Lee, soprano, at the Playgoers' Club on Sunday, November 24.

CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE NOTES

The program that will be presented by the Chicago Musical College at its concert tomorrow (Saturday) morning in Ziegfeld Theater will be given by students in the piano, violin and vocal departments. The following will take part: Florence Welch, Chicago, student of Harry R. Detweiler; Lygia Zabrocki, Chicago; Beatrice Hellebrandt, Chicago, student of Alexander Raab; Ben Zimberhoff, Chicago, student of Max Fischel; Vera Bowen, Chicago, student of Rudolph Reuter; Gladys Farasda Banfield, Ironwood, Mich., and Era Lightner, Columbus, Mo., students of Mme. Genevra Johnstone Bishop; Lorraine Earnest, Trenton, Mo.; Irene Dunn, Madison, Ind.; Mae Gilbert, Hurley, S. D.

♯♯♯

Stein—Miss Florence Farrar, contralto, pupil of Karl Buren Stein, will sing the offertory number at the Zion City Tabernacle next Sunday. Della Gordon, soprano, also a pupil of Dr. Stein, will be the soloist at the Waukegan Commercial Club's Thanksgiving reception.

♯♯♯

McAllister—Bessie M. McAllister was accompanist for Blanche Slocum in her program at Fort Sheridan on Monday, November 18; also for the Community Chorus at the Calvary Presbyterian Church on Tuesday, November 19.

♯♯♯

Orchard—The Orchard School of Music will give a junior pupils' recital Saturday, November 30. Students of Lavinia Bohrer, piano; Olene Wallis Lorish, piano, and Jessie De Vore, violin, will take part.

Robert Couzinou

Baritone of the Metropolitan Opera House

A true representative of the French Operatic Stage

The Following are three comments—among many other similar tributes from the New York press:

"As Escamillo in Carmen, M. Couzinou is an artist of fine fibre, plastic in pose and gesture, resourceful in musical as well as dramatic expression, a man with a penetrating and poetical mind, an actor of admirable ideas as well as instincts, who enlists sympathetic interest at once and holds it in ever increasing degree by his intelligent and imaginative development of the character which he embodies."

(H. E. Krehbiel in the New York Tribune, Nov. 22, 1918.)

"Mr. Couzinou presented the finest figure of a toreador the Metropolitan stage has offered in some time."

(Pitts Sanborn in the New York Globe, Nov. 22, 1918.)

"The new French baritone, Robert Couzinou, proved to be in appearance and action as well as in song, the most satisfactory Escamillo heard here in years."

(Henry T. Finck in the N. Y. Evening Post, Nov. 22, 1918.)

SUPPLEMENTARY NOTES

Mr. Robert Couzinou made his American debut at the Metropolitan Opera House on November 11, as the "Grand Pretre" in a performance of Samson and Delila (the opening night). On Nov. 16, he interpreted the capital role of Athanael in "Thais," and on November 20 he sang Escamillo in a performance of "Carmen." Only 30 years old, he is an admirable artist and possesses a voice well sustained in all the registers. His baritone voice is warm and of powerful range. His style of singing is impeccable and his schooling is from the best of French traditions. His interpretations are intelligently conceived. He reminds one of Maurice Renaud, with the advantage of youth. His stage presence is a rare asset. His diction is supreme. The Metropolitan Opera House for once is to be congratulated for having entrusted the French repertoire to one of France's true representatives of its operatic arts. The New York Press expresses this view. Upon request the original criticism will be submitted.

Myrtle Thornburgh

SOPRANO

After a successful tour of sixteen weeks through the Western and Southern States, is available for Concerts, Oratorio and Recitals

PERSONAL ADDRESS

72 West 68th St., New York

RICHARD HAGEMAN

Conductor Metropolitan Opera House Tenth Consecutive Season

VOCAL COACH—ACCOMPANIST

CONCERT OPERA ORATORIO

In All the Modern Languages

Some of those who have been and are now with Mr. Hageman are:

ALDA, BORI, BRASLAU, CASE, DESTINN, FARRAR, HEMPEL, HOMER, MATZENAUER, MELBA, MASON, RAPPOLD, AMATO, BOTTA, HINSHAW, MARTINELLI, MARTIN, RUYSDAEL, SCOTTI

Mr. Hageman will also accept a limited number of pupils for the study of accompanying.

STUDIO: 304 West 71st St., New York

Constance Balfour

AMERICAN SOPRANO

Season of 1918-1919 Booking Now

MANAGEMENT

DANIEL MAYER, Aeolian Hall, New York

HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager.

LAZAR S. SAMOILOFF

Baritone

Director of the Bel Canto School

The Art of Singing

Indorsed by Chaliapiu, Brogi, Sammarco, Ruffo, Didur, Zerola and Others

STUDIO: CARNEGIE HALL, NEW YORK CITY

Russian Symphony Orchestra

MODEST ALTSCHULER, Conductor

Season of 1918-19 is Booking Now

Management

DANIEL MAYER - Aeolian Hall, New York

HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager.

THE STIEFF PIANO USED

RALPH MUNROE PARK Pianist

WABASH 1761 905-6 LYON & HEALY BLDG

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

Miss Marion Andrews as manager of the Moeller-Andrews Concert Bureau is to be congratulated at the splendid audience present at the first real concert of the season after all plans have been so disturbed by the recent epidemic. Jascha Heifetz in one short year before the American public has been so well managed and his message so impressive that the "layman" as well as the musician know him and are enthusiastic for his art.

The first concert of the Twilight Musical Series, under the management of Margaret Rice, consisted of a song recital by Arthur Alexander, tenor, who also acted as his own accompanist. The program consisted of a group of early Italian compositions, followed largely by Duparc and Debussy. It is in these French songs he showed his most marked ability. Mr. Alexander's voice is of pleasing quality, though not of great proportions, but so skillfully handled, backed by such wonderful accompaniments and general musicianship, that to a musician he gives rare pleasure. We think from the standpoint of accompanying alone there is no one who can give more, and when one realizes the difficulty of Debussy, both singing and playing at the same time, one must be enthusiastic.

The Great Lakes Revue has been with us a week, and the musicians accompanying have been in demand for other musical attractions. The orchestra appeared at the M. A. C. Sunday afternoon, with Miss Ethel Brenk, local soprano, as soloist. The "boys" are so enthusiastic over her work she is to be with them in other concerts in the near future.

On this occasion Miss Brenk sang an aria from "La Boheme." It was especially suited to her voice, which is unusually velvety and smooth. Miss Brenk will also be soloist at the next MacDowell Club concert, singing two new songs just off the press by Seneca Pierce, a former Milwaukee boy —"The Little Town" and "Good Morn." Another number will be "Ave Maria" (Massenet).

Other new songs by Mr. Pierce just being published are "The Eagle," now being used by Hartridge Whipp; "Exaltation," dedicated to and used by Julia Claussen; "The Lamp," dedicated to and programmed by Charlotte Peige, Boston contralto; "The Little House," in like capacity by Anna Case, as well as several others. While Mr. Pierce is very young, Frank La Forge and many others think him one of the most talented composers in the field.

Mr. Eugene and Miss Josephine Sullivan, the talented brother and sister who are being heard together so successfully both locally and in the Middle West, were heard at the West Side Turner Hall Orchestra concert recently. These young people are both given fine voices and of so sincere an attitude that their advancement is noticeable at each appearance.

###

Breil—On December 1 there will be produced at the Blackstone Theater in Chicago a new million-dollar film, "Brotherhood," which will be the first peace play to be brought out. Mr. Joseph C. Breil, whose opera, "The Legend," will be heard at the Metropolitan Opera House this season, has written an entirely original musical score for this film, and it will be presented with a large orchestra. Later in the season it will be presented in New York.

IS YOUR COMPLEXION GENUINE?

BY PALMER CHRISTIAN

Your professional one is meant.

A fine complexion in real life is "a thing of beauty and a joy forever." Its possessor has nothing to fear from close inspection in a full flood of daylight. Upon the avenue on a beautiful day, or at the theater, opera or concert we behold many attractive complexions—attractive, at least, to the casual or distant glance. But, alas! how many there are that would not bear close inspection from the angle of genuineness! How many we would discover to be wholly or in part made up of paste, paint and powder!

Feminine fashion seems to condone such camouflage, and it is here not the intention to appear as critic of the wishes of the fair sex.

But how about professional complexions? Surveying any given list of professional musicians we unfortunately would find some —perhaps not many—who have resorted to the "paste, paint and powder" method of covering up their blemishes. In fact, some of this list, at merely a casual or distant glance, might appear to be the acme of genuineness.

As to the necessity or the ethics of this "covering method" there is no desire now to comment, except to say that the imitation cannot inspire the same confidence as the genuine in any line—at least for any considerable length of time.

Some of the profession in the past (and probably many are doing it now) began this imitation method in early training by preparing lessons just well enough to "get by" the teacher. Then, older in years, perhaps have gone to Europe, enrolled with a world-famous teacher with whom they had three or four lessons—and spent all their time absorbing "atmosphere" (day, night and liquid varieties).

(The case of one person comes to mind who claims to be a pupil (?) of ——— in Paris. He was in Paris three months, had four lessons and practiced not at all except to practice the art of staying out late every night. These items were related by the teacher himself).

These slipshod students locate themselves in the "big city," issue a circular announcing that they are pupils of so-and-so and the damage begins. For being "four-flushers," they cannot or do not detect the similar traits in some of their pupils. Unless they experience a great awakening they go on from year to year wondering why pupils do not seek them, or why such pupils as are found do not win high marks or why they themselves seldom obtain and cannot hold a position of importance. I venture to say some of them know why, and that what work they do get is very close to taking money under false pretenses.

In almost any journal devoted to the interests of women you're apt to find an advertisement bearing a "before using and after using" picture, together with the picture of a jar of "New Complexion" or something of a similar nature. Some of our profession might provide two photos of themselves in connection with one of their most prominent instructors labeled thus: "Before studying with ———" and "after studying with ———." Such an advertisement would surely prove as much as the claims of many that they have "studied with so-and-so." There is no objection to such statements provided the studying was real; that is, that it amounted to something more than merely taking lessons.

No lady who really wants to appear well will rely only on face lotions. She will also keep her digestion in good order (which fact was ascertained by a diligent perusal of "Beauty Hints" in our daily papers). Give your professional digestion a good, plain, wholesome diet, and you'll have less trouble with the complexion. Don't crowd it with nonessentials and absurdities, for a long-continued, successful professional life cannot result from a they'll-never-know-the-difference menu.

The ambition of some of these poorly prepared musicians causes them to rush into print with such advertising matter as "a large and growing class of exceptionally talented pupils"; or as "the popular teacher of the ——— Conservatory"; or as having appeared "with tremendous success." The furnace of ambition, if fed with the imitation coal of bluff, will not long give out the heat of genuine results.

Of course even the best of physical complexions may suffer from a slight blemish, and by the same token it may be perfectly legitimate for some professional complexions to be doctored up a bit. Likewise we must, I presume, show a spirit of sympathy to a hopeless professional complexion as to such a one in "real life." But what is peculiarly obnoxious is for the possessor of an imitation to insist that it is genuine.

There would be no point to this little gospel if it did not bear a warning to the younger professionals and students to take an inventory of their equipment and discover how much they have of the genuine and how much they have of the imitation. Do it now. The longer you put it off the greater the struggle.

———♯♯♯———

Comer—Miss Sybil Comer is sending out a card announcing her association with the voice faculty of the Lyceum Arts Conservatory in Lyon & Healy Building.

MUSIC IN PITTSBURGH

First Heyn Recital a Brilliant Success

A large and enthusiastic audience turned out for the first concert of the Heyn series in Pittsburgh Friday night, November 15. The program was presented by Mabel Garrison, soprano, and Hipolito Lazaro, tenor, both of whom are members of the Metropolitan Opera Company. Miss Garrison has a beautiful light soprano voice of good compass and she sings with marked intelligence and wonderful flexibility. Her first number, "Je suis Titania" from "Mignon," by Thomas, and her last number "Voici di Primavera," by Strauss, were extremely interesting. Her group of English songs included a selection composed by her accompanist, Mr. Siemonn, entitled "Baby," which was a very tasty composition and was well received by the audience. As one of her encore numbers Miss Garrison used the "Norwegian Echo Song."

Mr. Lazaro, who was a newcomer to Pittsburgh, proved himself an artist of sterling qualities and capable of all the requirements of the opera and concert tenor. His voice is rich in resonance and he handles it with marked skill. He displayed much intelligence as to change of mood, and his personality and stage presence seemed to please as much as his singing. His selections were mostly operatic, giving but one number in English, which was Ronald's "I Have Won You," after which he sang Cadman's "At Dawning." Both of these numbers amused the audience on account of his struggle with the English words. The two soloists sang a duet from "Rigoletto," "E il dell'anima," at the end of the first half of the program, which they had to repeat. Mr. George Siemonn accompanied Miss Garrison and Mr. Alberto Bimbone accompanied Mr. Lazaro.

RICHARD KNOTTS.

———♯♯♯———

HARRY T. POLK

Harry T. Polk, well known organist, pianist and teacher of Valparaiso, Ind., enlisted October 29 in the Valparaiso University S. A. T. C., Radio Company. Mr. Polk's manager, E. J. Salisbury of the Schelling Theater, refused to accept his resignation as organist, which position he has held four years, and merely gave him leave of absence, his work at this theater to be resumed immediately on his release from the army. Through the courtesy of Major Scheirloch, Mr. Polk is permitted to continue as organist at the Presbyterian Church, where his brilliant playing has been a feature of the services for seven years.

THELMA GIVEN

Violinist

Management:
Metropolitan Musical Bureau
35 West 42nd Street, New York, N. Y.

TEW

WORLD'S GREATEST VOCAL TEACHER

Engages to equip every pupil with an understanding of the Art of Singing, which insures a natural, unforced compass of from three octaves upwards of PURE, BEAUTIFUL, FLEXIBLE, and POWERFUL tone. (a) Principle of Co-ordination Applied to Vocal Mechanism, possible only through reversal of all modern Vocal Orthodox Methods. (b) Understanding of Principle (Logos), the Only Teacher.

SUITE 612 AND 613, FINE ARTS BUILDING, CHICAGO
TELEPHONE—WABASH 6990

Music in New York

1 W. Thirty-fourth St.

By JOSEPH DE VALDOR

The Newman Travel Talks

After listening to six weeks of music one found a relief in a distraction of different character. What is most admirable in Mr. Newman is his clear way of explaining what he has seen. "Paris in 1918" was his subject, and notwithstanding that all his data were known to us through newspaper accounts, he revived them with interesting details. The conclusion drawn after this view of Paris in war time, for those who saw the City of Lights either before or during the troublesome days, was one of keen interest, and as to the mortals who have not yet had a glimpse of Paris, desire to see it at least once was developed by Mr. Newman's talk. The motion pictures were good and correct, but the photo-colors revealed only amateurish work. There was a large audience at Carnegie Hall on Sunday evening, November 17, and naturally the applause was warmer than usual.

♮ ♮ ♮

The Philharmonic Society

Raoul Vidas, Soloist

We don't know whether the orchestra or the youthful violinist was responsible for the capacity house of November 21. Perhaps lovers of Beethoven's Fifth Symphony hated to miss it. In any case, there were enough reasons to draw a very large audience.

Some concerts are half dull and the rest more or less interesting, but Mr. Stransky may be commended for arranging a program which was entirely pleasurable—not one minute was uninteresting. Beginning with Mozart's Overture to "The Magic Flute," we had a spirited performance of this charming Mozart music, then the orchestra played that very beautiful Fifth Symphony of Beethoven with fine effect. The novelty presented on this occasion was Sibelius' Suite, King Kristian. This Finn is absolutely un-Russian in his music—at least in this composition—and far from Teutonic—in spirit. It is to be noted that both countries are closely related to Finland both politically and economically. In this Suite Sibelius has written not only original music, but beautiful melodies, with characteristic geniality. The first movement, "Nocturne," is on a tempo di waltz. Half Viennese and the rest Oriental, the "Musette" movement is individual and capricious. It is a work justified for the classic concerts. Very effective was the Hungarian March by Berlioz. In the Sibelius work and Berlioz Mr. Stransky proved at home, and the effects he drew from the musicians was most enjoyable. A violinist's reputation cannot be established through Saint-Saens' Concerto No. 3, in B minor. The first movement is dull and ineffective, but it gives a chance to the player to prepare for the next two movements. A violinist of lesser ability would make Saint-Saens pall, but Raoul Vidas was first in honors and Saint-Saens secondary. In the second movement this brilliant young violinist again disclosed his pure tone, his large intonation, while in the last movement his technic was superb. Raoul Vidas' emotional powers are transferred to the listeners—his touch is fine and facile, he handles his violin as does the skilled mechanic his tools. He sentimentalizes little, but he plays with heart and soul. Remarkable is his poise, his attack, his surety, and his musicianship. The public, in spite of the thunderous applause, received no encore, though some eight recalls were bestowed upon this youthful genius—the law of no encores with orchestra was not broken.

♮ ♮ ♮

Aurore La Croix Plays Again

Encouraged by her recent successful debut, the Massachusetts pianist reappeared on the afternoon of November 17 at Acolian Hall. I heard her in the Chopin group only and must perforce make special mention of the Fantasie Impromptu, Opus 66, played accurately and with the clearest tone possible. Full of temperament, she extracted beautiful tones from a Steinway—which piano would have been a failure—as an instrument—in the hands of another pianist. Great vitality was disclosed in the Preludes—vitality combined with a clear and correct tone. She certainly gave proof of supreme technic. The program enlisted Bach, Beethoven, Lendvai, Debussy, and Royce by request. There was a large and enthusiastic audience.

AURORE LA CROIX

♮ ♮ ♮

Sunday's Brief Notes

At the Hippodrome joint recital by Ysaye and Mischa Elman, violinists, in the evening.

Yvette Guilbert at the Maxine Elliott Theater in the evening, with Emily Gresser, violinist, as assistant artist.

The Society of the Friends of Music gave its first afternoon performance at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. Sophie Braslau was the soloist. Arthur Bodanzky conducted the small orchestra formed from members of the Metropolitan. "Rosamunde," by Schubert, was given.

At the Aeolian Hall the Symphony Society of New York, Walter Damrosch conductor, gave another afternoon concert, with Willeke, cellist, as the soloist.

♮ ♮ ♮

Tollefsen Trio Play Under the Auspices of the American-Swedish Society

Another recital of Scandinavian music took place at Aeolian Hall on Tuesday evening, November 19, this time enlisting the Tollefsen Trio—as interpreters. The event was a pleasure; in fact, a treat, and the good qualities of the organization proved to be numerous. The Tollefsen Trio each season brings to us the importance of chamber music, and the impression they leave is leading us to hope that their appearances will be more numerous. In the Lange-Muller Trio in F Minor, Opus 53, Mme. Schnabel Tollefsen, Carl H. Tollefsen, and Michel Meuha effected beautiful results. In Gade's Trio, "Novelletten," the results were not quite so good. The organization displayed good technic—clear intonation in the Sonata for piano and violin by Sjorm. The Tollefsens, in this composition, proved their highest ability. Mme. Schnabel Tollefsen played Ballade for piano in G Minor, Opus 24, by Grieg, followed by cello renditions of Michel Penha. They consisted of "Ritornello" (Sinding), "Chant de Veslemoy" (Halvorsen), and Serenade (Borresen). There was a large and enthusiastic audience.

♮ ♮ ♮

Nicholas Garagusi Plays at the Plaza Musicale

On November 19 the second Plaza Musicale at 11:30 enlisted as soloist, among others, Nicholas Garagusi, violinist, formerly concert master of the Russian Symphony Orchestra. The young violinist played excerpts from Concerto D Minor, by Wieniawsky, Nocturne in E Flat (Chopin-Sarasate), "Maiden's Wish" (Chopin-Mac-Millen), and "Caprice-Saltarella" (Wieniawski). Francesco Longo accompanied at the piano. The other two soloists were Gladys Axman, soprano, and Victoria Boshko, pianist. Though another soloist was announced in the person of the excellent baritone, Millo Picco, he did not appear, for reasons unknown to the writer.

♮ ♮ ♮

Miniature Philharmonic Managed by Wolfsohn Musical Bureau

Mr. Jacques Grunberg, the young conductor of the Miniature Philharmonic, whose appearances last year created a favorable impression in musical circles, announces that his organization is to be managed by the Wolfsohn Musical Bureau. Owing to the reputation of the management, it is ex-

J. WARREN ERB
CONDUCTOR SONG COACH
ARTISTS ACCOMPANIST
Permanently at
STUDIO HALL, 220 MADISON AVENUE
NEW YORK

pected that the Miniature Philharmonic will make numerous appearances throughout the country.

♮ ♮ ♮

Brief Notes of Concerts and Recitals

Helen Jeffrey gave a violin recital at the Aeolian Hall on Monday evening, November 18. On Tuesday afternoon the Philadelphia Orchestra gave a concert at the Carnegie Hall, with Mme. Matzenauer as soloist. On November 20 debut of the Russian composer-pianist at Aeolian Hall. Walter Greene, baritone, gave a song recital on the afternoon of November 21 at Aeolian Hall. Cornelius Van Vliet, cellist, gave a recital in the evening in the same hall. November 20 at the Carnegie Hall the first concert under the auspices of the Evening Mail. The musical program was given by the Philharmonic Symphony, and the soloist was Florence Easton, soprano of the Metropolitan. At the Booth Theater another dancing seance by Duncan's pupils, with George Copeland as accompanist and soloist-pianist. On the afternoon of November 21 Mme. Yvette Guilbert gave another recital at the Maxine Elliott Theater. On November 22 Betsy Lane Shepherd gave a song recital at Aeolian Hall. At Carnegie Hall on November 22 John Powell gave a piano recital. On November 23 piano recital by Josef Hofmann at the Carnegie Hall. On November 24 Francis Rogers, baritone, gave a song recital at the Carnegie Hall.

♮ ♮ ♮

Second Week of the Metropolitan—Giulio Crimi Scores as Cavaradossi in "Tosca"

On Monday, November 17, "La Tosca," with Geraldine Farrar in the name part, received a presentation before a capacity house. Antonio Scotti was Scarpia. Of the two I already spoke last season, and there is no new sparkle to characterize their interpretations. Scotti is capital as the Roman Chief of Police, while Farrar only at times really justifies Sardou's heroine. The interest was centered on Giulio Crimi's singing. The Sicilian tenor was in his best style, his voice rang true and clear. His beautiful quality was in evidence especially in the rendition of the "E Lucevan Alle Stelle," for which he was cordially applauded. In the recitatives, and especially in the second act, he imbued his acting with fire and temperament. If Mr. Crimi can interpret all the parts which are allotted to him with the same consummate voice and vocalization he is destined to be the Metropolitan's tenor. As with Marie Sundelius as the Priestess in "Aida," which is always a pleasant incident of the opera, so with Cecil Arden in "Tosca" in the short moments of her singing as the Shepherdess. She gives so much color to the third act and so much atmosphere to the breaking of the dawn which must bring death to Cavaradossi! Indeed delightful singing. Mr. Morauzorn conducted effectively. Louis D'Angelo as Sciarone was correct, while Paltrinieri was adequate as Spoletta.

Brief Notes of the Metropolitan Opera

On Wednesday evening "L'Elisire d'Amore" was given, with Enrico Caruso, Scotti, and others. Maestro Papi conducted. On November 21 "Carmen" was given, with Farrar, Cerizinovi, May Peterson, Crimi, Lenora Sparks, and Sophie Braslau. Pierre Monteux conducted. On November 22 "Marouf" was revived, with the same cast as the last season. On November 23 matinee "Le Prophete" was given.

♮ ♮ ♮

Helen Jeffrey in Recital

In the number of appearances the violinists are beginning to outdistance the usual great list of piano recitals. A newcomer to New York made her first bow before a large audience at Aeolian Hall on November 18 and made good from the inception. Miss Helen Jeffrey is the name of the debutante and the violinist. She proved at ease in the handling of the bow. The sounds that surged from her strings certainly were extremely musical. In the "Chaconne" (Bach), without piano, she gave a performance which will carry her far in the estimation of the musical world. Endowed with an excellent technic, she gave Bach the intonation one expects to hear from a master. Her tone is large, her touch is facile, and her interpretations are musical. She played also the Sonata No. 4 by Handel, assisted by Mr. Chotzinoff at the piano. Other numbers delighted the hearers, viz., Concerto by Ambrosio, Romance by Rachmaninoff, and Slovak by Gardner.

♮ ♮ ♮

THEATERS

"Perkins" at Henry Miller

Charming, fascinating, sweet, attractive Ruth Chatterton impersonates the English maid and wins a man of wealth who cares little about the social position of "Perkins." Douglas Murray, the author, had a good conception of a woman's cleverness, who wishes to study a man's character through the eyes of a maid. A little more humor injected in the comedy would make it more interesting. The action takes place in England, but the atmosphere is rather American. Ruth Chatterton must love French songs; those with the sentimental feelings in them, for she sang one and very charmingly too.

♮ ♮ ♮

"Little Simplicity" at the Astor

A flower girl is saved by an American student visiting Algeria; saved from a tyrant sheik; is brought to Paris; in the Latin quarter. The girl loves the student, but she suspects him of insincerity and joins the Red Cross. The end, you might surmise, is the expected marriage. Humor there is none. Charles Brown, the professor from Troy, is more amusing in Y. M. C. A. scene, in the balance of the acts is vulgar. Carolyn Thomson would have been more appreciated if her off pitch singing had not marred her little but charming voice. The music by Augustus Barrat is catchy and lively. The book by Rida Johnson is mediocre. The men in the cast are not to be commended. The most beautiful costumes I ever saw in war times are shown by the Shuberts. The scenery is also picturesque, especially the Latin quarter. The Cameron Sisters dance as Broadway likes it. The last act is the best; it is a war thriller.

♮ ♮ ♮

"Saving Grace" at the Empire

An English comedy without a plot, by C. Haddon Chambers. It treats of an Englishman's ruin trying to save himself by enlisting in the army. Even though this should be in the foreign legion, and then a marriage of convenience of the Englishman's niece with a wealthy young chap, it happens that love is the real microbe, and the rest you may surmise. Cyril Maude as Blinn Corbett is the perfect portrait of the humorous, gentlemanly, good natured Britisher. He is first and the play next. There is that genuine English refined, satirical and sarcastic wit in some scenes, but were it not for Maude even that little would evaporate. The company is very capable.

♮♮♮

A NEW SONG BY H. W. FAIRBANK

"The Soldier Lover" is the title of a new song by H. W. Fairbank, which in text and music sentiment is even more apropos of the times than during the period of the actual fighting of the great war.

The words are by the talented Chicago writer, Elsie Janet French, and they constitute an epitome of the courage and devotion of the women of this country in the unanimity and cheerfulness with which they bid adieu to the departing soldiers and in the joy and tenderness with which they will welcome their return.

Mr. Fairbank, a musician of the finest technical equipment and routine, who has to his credit many fine song successes, has sensed the import of the French words very accurately and in his music has given them a background as well as an intensity of meaning which means life and vitality and which will certainly insure liberal use of the song and long life for it.

The key is for medium voice, the accompaniment is simple but amply effective and the refrain is of a color and flow which will make it easily adaptable for community use as well as for solo number.

In addition to the sheet music edition for solo usage there has been issued also an octavo edition, and in this the refrain has been amplified to a quartette.

This, of course, places the song within the use of mixed quartette and also it can be used in Community Chorus singing, for this refrain is so direct and simple (although in such absolutely good form) that it could easily be assimilated by the usual Community Chorus.

Mr. Fairbank's "Loyal and True" has been used for years in the May Festivals and many others of his songs have been on those programs as well as numberless others, but it is to be questioned whether any one of these popular numbers has ever had such popularity as seems absolutely destined to follow the introduction of "The Soldier Lover."

C. E. W.

♮♮♮

MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK AN ARDENT MOVIE FAN

It may be due to the fact that southern California is her official residence and that the air in that vicinity is laden with movie germs, or it may be something quite different, but whatever the cause, the fact remains that there is no more enthusiastic movie fan than Schumann-Heink. The great singer seems never to tire of them; in fact, we have even heard that once in Atlantic City she attended seven movies in one day and "came out smiling at the end." Madame received quite an unexpected surprise the other day at the Strand Theater in New York, when she beheld herself on the screen in the act of singing "The Star Spangled Banner." This picture was "filmed" at Washington, D. C., where Madame opened the drive of the United War Work campaign.

LELA LOWE-PIERSON
VIOLINIST
Tel. Rogers Pk. 4701. 6807 Wayne Av.

FLORENCE CARO LINDLEY
SOPRANO
Tel. Edgewater 1095. 1216 Rosedale Ave.

Tina Mae Haines
Teacher, Coach
Lectures, Recitals
4452 SIDNEY AVE. Tel. KENWOOD 5003

FRANK W. VanDusen
PIANO ORGAN
American Conservatory
Kimball Hall

ALTA MILLER
CITALS MEZZO-SOPRANO PUPILS
1707 Hinman Av., Evanston Tel. Evanston 318

WALTER WHEATLEY
TENOR
Western Address; Lincoln, Neb.

ROWLAND LEACH
VIOLINIST BUSH CONSERVATORY

Mary Bower, B. M.
With Chicago Musical College
Teacher of Piano, Harmony, Organ and Psychology of Music
1953 Sunnyside Ave. Phone Ravenswood 6287

Virna Harman Walker
STUDIO OF DANCING
Ballroom Ballet Pantomime Phones:
206 S. Wabash Av., Suite 200. Wab. 2460; Hay'k't 4347

MILON R. HARRIS, Tenor
Voice Development and Artistic Singing
STUDIO, 929 KIMBALL HALL CHICAGO

FREDA STARR
AMERICAN LYRIC SOPRANO
Management Lincoln Bureau 1257 So. 27th St., Lincoln, Nebr.

Thomas REMINGTON Basso
ROOM 610 KIMBALL BUILDING

Veada K. Hatfield
SOPRANO CHURCH, CONCERT, TEACHING
361 Forest Ave., River Forest, Ill.

ANNA GROFF-BRYANT
Dean of the School of Three Arts of Lombard College
Galesburg, Ill. Send for latest bulletin.
Chicago Studio. 707 Fine Arts Building.

Adelaide PIERCE
CONTRALTO
Warren Concert Bureau, Schiffmann Bldg. St. Paul, Minn.

Cora ANDERSON
PIANIST Kimball Hall

LILLIAN AMMALE
Pianist Care of MUSIC NEWS

Theaters

AT THE MAJESTIC

The specifically good as also one of the most interesting features at the Majestic last week was the appearance of Grace Nelson, soprano, in a song group.

Miss Nelson has a whole-souled, direct way of singing and her interpretations are hearty as well as full of feeling.

Her singing of the "Bird Song," from "Pagliacci," was at a high point of technical excellence, but her two ballads were marred by the fact that her enunciation is not good.

The singing of "Land of Mine" (MacDermid) was, therefore, the most attractive items of her program, inasmuch as everyone knows the words of that wonderful piece and, equally, everyone loves the song and the sentiment contained therein.

There will be a big "slump" in war songs shortly, for a great many of them will have became passe with the passing of actual warfare, but "Land of Mine" is not of that class.

It is a vital patriotic song and one which expresses the loyal thought of the Nation at any time, not alone when we are at war, and since it has become so very popular recently there is not the slightest danger that it will be shelved for a long time to come.

Miss Nelson sang it superbly and the audience reacted in splendid fashion.

Not much else on the bill was worth the space to list it, but there were a few things worth seeing and some which were not vulgar, although vulgarity has become the trade mark at the Majestic.

Leona La Mar, "the girl with the thousand eyes," is either the most wonderful person alive today or else she is a perfectly tremendous fake. She affects to absolutely read the mind of the audience, and apparently she does it.

It is for a more acute mind than mine to say how she does it at all or whether she merely seems to do it.

Bessie Browning is exceedingly clever in song and story, her imitation of Eddie Foy being especially fine. Her Country Bumpkin sketch was very funny and her child imitations would be fine if she would only remember that children are simple and not, as a rule, vulgar.

She suggests in a way the splendid child imitator, Bessie Bown Ricker, but in saying this we compliment her rather than Mrs. Ricker, for the latter would never, under any circumstance, allow vulgarity to creep into any detail of her work.

We would not take the trouble to say this at all only that Miss Browning seems certainly worth while, and it is just as well for her to know that there are some people left in the world who appreciate absolute fun without suggestiveness, even if this list does not include the managers of vaudeville theaters.

John R. Gordon and his associates were clever in a little sketch; the Primrose Four sang lustily some nondescript vocal numbers; the Littlejohns did some clever gymnastic stunts, but would be just as well off did they not advertise their "half million of diamonds." As far as the public is concerned these may be paste anyway—probably they are.

Horace Goldin, advertised in a way which would be difficult to live up to, made his entrance just after this writer made his exit.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

AT THE WARRINGTON

The bill for last week at the Warrington by the Pyre Popular Players was "Little Peggy O'Moore," and as the entire week was a benefit for the Oak Park Police Force there was a succession of packed houses and by the same token there was great enthusiasm throughout the week.

And this had its good and sufficient reason also in the excellence of the perform-

TWO SPLENDID NEW SONGS

"To the Sons of the Blue and Gray"
Octavo Edition, Price 5 Cents

"Soldier Lover"
Octavo Edition with Chorus, Price 10 Cents
Sheet Music Edition, 20 Cents

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC
Department of Public School Music
Dear Mr. Fairbank:
I recently used your setting of "To the Sons of the Blue and Gray," in the assembly of the Hyde Park High School, with 2,600 pupils singing the song in unison. Led as it was by the school orchestra of forty players, the song made a great "hit." I wish that you might have heard it.
Your "Soldier Lover" is very popular with our high school chorus class. It is very melodic and has a beautiful chorus following the charming solo and duet.
Yours cordially,
O. E. ROBINSON,
In charge of music at the Hyde Park High School.
Oct. 14, 1918.

Address any Music Store or
H. W. FAIRBANK PUB. CO.
AUBURN PARK STA., CHICAGO, ILL.

COSMOPOLITAN SCHOOL OF
Music and Dramatic Art
Dr. Carver Williams, President
Edwin L. Stephen, Manager
16th Floor, Kimball Building, Chicago, Ill.
THE SCHOOL FOR SERIOUS STUDENTS
ASK WHY!

BASSO Dr. Carver Williams
Cosmopolitan School Kimball Hall

ALMA HAYS REED
SOPRANO
6543 GLENWOOD AVENUE

ances for, while the play itself is a slight, conventional vehicle, it yet has a nice plot, a pretty moral and a whole lot of good character parts, as well as numberless rousing lines.

In attendance at the theater the question arises again and again: Why is it that nearly all audiences (including those recherche gatherings peculiar to Oak Park) seem to enjoy so heartily the hearing of profanity on the stage?

For it is a fact, that while there is an amazing amount of needless profanity in "Peggy O'Moore" it is also (and sadly) true that the audience (on last Friday evening, at least) seemed to thoroughly enjoy this feature.

Actors work for "an impression" and nothing gives them so comfortable a feeling as to hear plenty of laughter from the audience and, therefore, when it seems so invariably true that a ripping oath will bring loud applause and hearty laughter, who is to blame for the oath—the actor or the audience?

In honor of the gala week Mr. Pyre had taken unusual pains with the setting, the dressing and the casting of the play and in every respect it was entirely satisfactory.

The story is that of a very sweet Irish girl who comes to America with much unsophistication, but with plenty of native wit and talent and who manages to find her proper lover in spite of a considerable amount of political machination and the interposition of plot and counterplot having to do with labor and financial troubles, as well as a natural diffidence on the part of the logical man who, very nearly, leaves Peggy to do the "proposin'" herself, although at the last moment he does get his eyes opened and comes up to the scratch beautifully.

Peggy was played sweetly and appealingly by Bess Bennett, and Daniel Murphy, the hesitant (in love) one was safely entrusted in the capable hands of Karl L. Way.

Harry Castle, routined, dependable and facile, again played an elderly Irishman and again proved his entire ability to make this sort of character ideally fine.

Jean Cooper was very attractive as the ingenue Doris and had many a pretty tilt with Tom Anderson, her lover, who was well played by Robert Valentine.

Jack Boyle, Kingsley Gordon and Charles L. Jones played respectively the parts of Edward Richmond, an insufferable prig; Jacob Webster, a genuine snake in the grass, and Frank Vernon, a weakling, with proper touches individualistic and with keen sense of ensemble values.

Allen York, one of the most versatile members of the company and by the same token an invaluable one, was cast this time for an old Irish office man and both in makeup and dress he was perfect.

His evolution of the proper brogue was no less remarkable and his ability to cope with each vital moment which came to his part was, as usual, exceedingly striking.

During the past two months Mr. York has played the part of an aristocratic, middle-aged Frenchman, an American Indian, an old English doctor and the old Irishman of last week, to say nothing of two juvenile leads, which is his proper classification, and in all this varied material he has disclosed, always—ability, skill and finish.

Cora King, a thoroughly experienced woman of the stage, has done many parts at the Warrington in which she proved her ability to assume definite character parts, as well as to walk away with the usual stage matron in a convincing manner.

In none of the previous parts, however, had she been so altogether convincing or so consistently fine as in the bill of last week when her Mary Montague proved to be one of the high lights of the bill.

C. E. W.

For Peace Celebrations

Lord of All Majesty .....Ralph Kinder
(With piano, organ or orchestral accompaniment editions)
For Male Voices.....net 20c
For Mixed Voices.....net 20c
America, the Beautiful..R. Nathaniel Dett
For Unison or Mixed Voices.....6c
The Americans Come!.....Fay Foster
A Victory Song
As Vocal Solo.....net 40c
Four Keys—High, B flat; Medium-High, A flat; Medium, G; Low, F.
Part-Song Arrangements—Unison or two parts; Women, Male and Mixed Voices .....12c

The above mentioned publications may be obtained from your regular dealer or from the publishers.

J. FISCHER & BRO.
NEW YORK
Fourth Avenue and Eighth Street (Astor Place)

DUNNING SYSTEM
OF
Improved Music Study
FOR
BEGINNERS
Normal Teachers
HARRIET BACON MacDonald 3623 Pine Grove Ave.
CARRIE MUNGER Long Congress Hotel
Chicago
Mrs. MacDonald's Classes: Dallas, Tex., October 28; Tulsa, Okla., January 6; Chicago, Mrs. Long's Classes: New Orleans, La., January 10, 1919; Birmingham, Ala., March 1; Chicago, Ill., May 1.

ANTOINETTE
ZEBROWSKA-PERLOWSKA Concert Violinist
7812 SOUTH SHORE DRIVE
Tel. So. Chicago 4885

Blanche E. Snider
LYRIC SOPRANO
429 Fine Arts Bldg. On tour with Cathedral Quartette

Letitia V. Barnum, Director
CHICAGO SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION AND DRAMATIC ART
Fine Arts Bldg. 410 Michigan Ave., Chicago

LENOX LUCIE ROBERTS Soprano—Pupils
519 FINE ARTS BUILDING, WED. AND SAT. A. M.
1019 Superior St., OAK PARK. Phone O. P. 3530-F

Hanna Butler
Soprano PUPILS RECITAL ORATORIO
512 Fine Arts Bldg. Tel. Wabash 4870

Arthur Shattuck, Pianist
Management Margaret Rice, Secretary, 325 Oakland Avenue, Milwaukee
The Steinway Piano

READ The Musical Observer
the best music monthly published. Too little space to tell you about the many good things it contains. Send for a copy of current issue free. MUSICAL OBSERVER CO., Cooper Square, NEW YORK.

ANNA E. GEORGE
PIANIST COMPOSER
Teaching at Bush Conservatory

Esther Fricke-Green Accompanist
Organist Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist
625 Lyon & Healy Building

Mrs. Charles L. Krum
SOPRANO
Studio, 621 Fine Arts Bldg. Res. 5000 Harper Av. Tel. Drexel 2986

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Buren Stein
Auditorium Musical-Dramatic Conservatory
AUDITORIUM BLDG. CHICAGO

CLARA EDMUNDS-HEMINGWAY
Contralto-Whistler-Reader-Pianist,
ORIGINAL Composition Recitals. ORATORIO, Concert, Recital
CHURCH. 568 Madison, Gary, Ind. Phone 1224

SILVIO SCIONTI
PIANIST
American Conservatory, Kimball Hall

FREDERICA GERHARDT DOWNING
CONTRALTO
Oratorio - Concert - Recital
709 South Harvey Av., Oak Park, Ill. Phone O. P. 1478

Allen W. Bogen
CONCERT ORGANIST PUPILS
5429 Harper Ave. Tel. Blackstone 1913

MRS. EDWARD MacDOWELL
Programs of MacDowell Music Steinway Piano
Management: Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway, New York
Proceeds of these recitals revert unreservedly to the MacDowell Memorial Association

IRVING C. HANCOCK
Organist and Choirmaster, Trinity Episcopal Church
PUPILS—PIANO AND ORGAN Phone Drexel 6903

Frances Frothingham
PIANO—HARMONY
605 KIMBALL BUILDING

Jessie Nichols Baldwin
Soprano Teacher of Singing Recitals
617 Kimball Hall and Orchard School

Olive Nevin, Soprano
"A Nevin Worthy of the Name"
325 WEST 57th STREET NEW YORK

GRAHAM HARRIS, Violinist
Winner Nat'l Contest N.F.M.C. Biennial Convention
240 E. Tremont Av. NEW YORK

Palmer Christian
Concert Organist

SYMPHONY CONCERT

A Symphony new in these quarters is the Number Two of Henri Rabaud, now chosen to lead the forces of the Boston Symphony, vice the recalcitrant Dr. Muck. It is a sterling work, well made, melodious, compact, with themes of engaging interest and development which seldom lags in sustained interest. Of unusual worth is the chorale-like subject in the Andante. Its frequent recurrence adds a dignified breadth —a sort of dominance of earnestness that is altogether satisfying. There is a Vivace which can become scintillant once its possibilities are unfolded. In itself it would be more than acceptable at a "Pop" concert. The entire work is well made and enjoyably melodious. It is easily more valuable in repertoire than the whole five (or are there nine?) of Brueckner. If given sufficient repetition, so that it becomes familiar, it can replace some of the sacred heirlooms of the past which are not fully inspired—Beethoven's first, for example, and the shrieking Hymn of Joy in the Ninth.

An interesting feature was the presence of a Chicago pianist on the program. The audience was small and apathetic. The "Froissert" of Elgar was dull as ditch water.

Mr. Delamarter has a big, hard job. Every sincere man and woman patron and lover of the Orchestra sends him thought waves and currents of honest, hearty helpfulness. He has absolute good will and a following eager to see him win out in a great undertaking. It should give him courage and develop his powers if he be made of the stuff which evolves leaders. No one could ask for a more gracious opportunity and generous chance to make good. All that the Lord gives any man is opportunity —he must do the rest himself.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

———♯♯♯———

PITTSBURGH

The following program of compositions by Pittsburgh composers was given at the Twentieth Century Club in that city recently:

Piano duets:
Valse Caprice, Country Dance.....Ethelbert Nevin
Country Dance ..... Ethelbert Nevin
Songs for Soprano:
A Lake and a Fairy Boat, At Sunset, The Vine Blossoms ..... Louis Edgar Johns
Songs for Baritone:
When I Get Back to England, Inch Song (Negro Spiritual), Death and the Fairies.....Harvey B. Gaul
Songs for Soprano:
Exaltation, A Baby's Hair Is Built of Sun..... William Wentzell
Moonlight, June .....T. Carl Whitmer
Trio for Piano, Violin and Violoncello:
Serenade Opus 61.....Adolph M. Foerster
Songs for Contralto:
The Sea ..... Gertrude M. Rohrer
A Branch ..... Zoel Parenteau
A Lullaby ..... Walter Wild
For Piano:
Sonata in A Major .....Charles Wakefield Cadman
Songs for Tenor:
I Wait the Sorrows of the Day, Parting, The Glimmer on the Sea, My Love Is Like a Cry in the Night ..... Jacob Kwalwasser
Quartet:
The Lord Is My Shepherd.....Zoel Parenteau

"TRIUMPH OF DAVID" AT TRINITY CHURCH

Mr. Irving Hancock is one of the choir masters who keeps in active service Dudley Buck's "Triumph of David." It is a master work, and it might be added that its lack of popular usage lies in its exactions. It asks for a more than good choral body and more than one or two soloists. It really needs a bass as well as a baritone voice and a group of good soloists to sing the trios for women's voices. Another element for its infrequent use is that it is not written for a well known period in church history and has no special significance thereby to many persons. But it contains some of the very best work of the man who did so much for church music.

Trinity Choir did it with fine verve and spirit. The Militant March had a good swing to it, the many solo bits were well done, the concerted portions had been well prepared, and the climaxes were well delivered. The Trinity organ is a power to reckon with; Mr. Hancock knows its ways and how to make it tell its part of the story.

Sam Thompson is now the leading soloist of the choir, and his lovely voice and its splendid training enabled him to add a distinct importance to the occasion. The beautiful opening solos were his portion, and he had prepared them with a full appreciation of their many beauties. They were excellently done, pure, sincere singing of exalted text, making the moments of most enjoyable passing.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

———♯♯♯———

THE BATON CLUB OF CHICAGO

Service of church music at the Woodlawn Baptist Church, University avenue and Sixty-second street, Thursday, December 5, 1918, at 8:15 p. m.

Organ—Flat Lux, Benediction Nuptial.....Dubois
Mrs. Harold B. Maryott
Song—The Star-Spangled Banner.
Responsive Reading—Selection 18. Led by Rev. William D. Holt, Immanuel Baptist Church.
Prayer—Rev. Charles Sumner Pier, Fullerton Avenue Presbyterian Church.
Cantata—Harvest-Tide ..... Blair
Choir of Woodlawn Baptist Church, Harold B. Maryott, Choirmaster, Directing
Address—Ideal Co-operation Between Pastor and Choir in Church Services, Rev. M. P. Boynton, D. D., Pastor Woodlawn Baptist Church.
Hymn 437, sung to tune 402.
Address—Co-operation from Viewpoint of Choir Director, Mr. George Schuler, President of Baton Club.
Offertory—A Song in the Night.....Woodman
Anthems by United Choirs:
Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem.....Maunder
Christian, The Morn Breaks Sweely O'er Thee..... Shelley
Hallelujah Chorus (from the Messiah).....Handel
Dr. Juan C. Maclean (Chairman Program Committee at Baton Club) Directing.
Benediction—Rev. Dr. Scott Hyde, Woodlawn M. E. Church.
Sevenfold Amen .....Stainer
Organ Postlude: Grand Chorus in D.....Guilmant

The public is invited.

———♯♯♯———

Bohnet—Cleveland Bohnet, pianist, appeared as pianist and accompanist at the Woman's Catholic Club of Wilmette, Ill., on Nov. 22.

EDGEWATER BEACH HOTEL

At the Twilight Musicale of November 24 the following interesting program was given. The artists who performed were Mme. Henriette Pepin, mezzo-soprano, and Miss Rhea Dorothy Lynch, violinist. The numbers were very appropriate, and perhaps the one of most interest to the musical world was Cecil Burleigh's "A Winter Idyl" (first time in Chicago). This suite for violin and piano, in three well-contrasted movements, proved to be a classic of the modern type.

Needless to say, Mme. Pepin sang with her usual purity and richness of tone, and her songs were well chosen. On hearing her one is immediately assured of her artistic ability.

Miss Lynch played with musical feeling, and in the Hubay "Zephyr" showed preciseness of technic.

Miss Burton and Miss Beals were excellent at the piano.

Following is the program:

Snow Bound (A Winter Idyl).....Cecil Burleigh
Miss Lynch
Miss Burton at the piano
Sacrament .....MacDermid
Thou Art Like a Flower.....Chadwick
Morning .....Speaks
Mme. Pepin
Miss Beals at the piano
Arabesque .....Debussy
Zephyr .....Hubay
Miss Lynch
My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice (Samson and Delilah) .....Saint-Saens
Mme. Pepin
Chant Negre .....Walter Kramer
Fairyland .....Cecil Burleigh
Caprice .....Buenta Carter
Miss Lynch
Colin's Kiss .....Maude Haben Luck
Rose Fable .....Hauley
Wake Up .....Phillips
Mme. Pepin

BETSEY WILLIAMS.

———♯♯♯———

CHICAGO PIANO COLLEGE

Recital in the college lecture room, 927 Kimball Building, Saturday afternoon, November 30, at 2:30 o'clock. The program:

Prelude—The Approaching Storm.....Homer Bartlett
Norwegian Peasant Dance.....Haberbier
Miss Lavinia Kent
From the Land of the Skyblue Water.....Cadman
Guitarre .....Moszkowski
Nocturne, B flat major.....Paderewski
Mandolinata .....Leschetizky
Miss Julia Perry
Concert Etude, F sharp major.....MacDowell
Arthur Lang
Concerto, A minor, First Movement.....Grieg
Miss Perry
Orchestral parts to Concerto played on second piano by Mr. Watt

———♯♯♯———

VIDAS WITH THE ORCHESTRA

The program for the Chicago Symphony Orchestra of this week entails the appearance of Raoul Vidas, the newest sensation in the violin world.

———♯♯♯———

Votaw—Lyravine Votaw, contralto, sang "The Marseillaise" before the Kiwanis Club at its annual luncheon at the Morrison Hotel last week, when the French Lieutenant, M. Henri Negre, gave an address, telling of the conditions in France. Miss Votaw also led the 150 men in "The Star Spangled Banner."

———♯♯♯———

Flonzaley—At the first concert of the Flonzaley Quartet (Playhouse, December 1, at 3:30) the numbers will be Quartet in D minor (Schubert), Adagio quasi variazioni (Samuel Gardner) and Three Novelettes (Glazounow).

RAFAELO DIAZ
TENOR
Metropolitan Opera Company
Available for RECITAL, ORATORIO, FESTIVAL
Mgt. Metropolitan Musical Bureau, Acolian Hall, 33 W. 24 St., New York

CECIL ARDEN
METROPOLITAN OPERA COMPANY
MEZZO-CONTRALTO
For Concerts and Recitals
Management
EMIL REICH, 1 W. 34th St., NEW YORK

Churches

COMMUNITY CHURCH, PARK RIDGE

Community Church is a rather small one, but on such occasions as last Sunday night one always finds a large, appreciative audience there.

At this time the choir, under the direction of Elmer J. Crabbs, gave the cantata "Ruth" (Gaul). Although the choir had not had a great deal of drilling, on account of the influenza, the work was very well done. The chorus pianissimos and crescendos were artistically and effectively sung and the body of tone was always full and even, which reflects credit on Mr. Crabbs, who is a fine teacher and of great repute throughout Park Ridge.

The soloists were Doris Crofoot, soprano; Mary Armstrong, soprano; Mrs. Frank Showers, contralto; Mrs. Adelaide Ransom, contralto; Mrs. F. W. Urban, contralto; T. L. Ryerson, baritone, and H. W. Smock, bass.

Miss Crofoot has a very lovely voice and does her work with much feeling and grace.

Miss Armstrong has a very nice voice, although she sang so little that one could hardly judge. But what she did was well done.

Mrs. Showers is the wife of Frank Showers, director of the music school in Park Ridge. She has an exceptionally fine voice and is quite a favorite with the people there. Her solos were very excellently sung.

Mrs. Ransom and Mrs. Urban both have fine voices and presented their solos with splendid effect.

Mr. Ryerson had only one solo, but was very pleasing in it. He has a rich voice, full of good quality.

Mr. Smock seemed rather ill at ease, but his solos passed muster.

The organ and piano together gave an effective touch of ensemble and proved exceedingly satisfactory. Misses Helen and Frances E. Holbrook did some good team work and added greatly to the presentation of the cantata. Miss Helen Holbrook expects to leave for France very soon to do Y. M. C. A. work.

But, after all, it is Mr. Crabbs to whom most of the credit is due. An untiring worker and a thorough musician is he, and, having been in Park Ridge a comparatively short time, he deserves much praise for building the music up as he has done.

H. L. W.

VICTORY SERVICE AT ST. JAMES'

Last Sunday proved a most impressive and patriotic occasion at St. James' Church. A very distinguished procession, headed by the First Regiment Great Lakes Naval Band under John Norton, included consular representatives from England, France, Belgium, Italy, Greece, Japan, Cuba and Brazil, besides many other officers of the United States Army and Navy. The band played Sousa's Processional March, "Semper Fidelis," with inspiring vigor and this was followed by "Onward, Christian Soldiers," sung by the entire audience (more properly called a throng) in an exceedingly whole-hearted manner. Then followed the "National Emblem March" (Bagley), and then the "Star Spangled Banner." All this roused the people to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

The choir, which sang Lutkin's "Te Deum," was in excellent trim, thanks to Mr. Goodwin, to whom is due great credit in carrying through so successful a service. The Recessional Anthem, "God of Our Fathers" (Schnecker), to Kipling's glorious words was sung with wonderful inspiration, and the "Marseillaise" was thrilling beyond measure. It is certain that few churches will ever be able to boast of so wonderful a service in celebration of such a memorable event.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

FOURTH PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Organ recitals by Edwin Stanley Seder, Thursdays at 4:30. December 5 program:

Sonata I in F Minor ..... Mendelssohn
Allegro moderato e secioso, Adiago, Allegro assai vivace

At Twilight ..... Stebbins
Suite in G Minor ..... J. H. Rogers
Prologue, March, Intermezzo, Toccata
Fountain Reverie ..... Fletcher
Cloister Scene ..... Mason
Toccata in F ..... J. S. Bach

DECEMBER 12

Sonata II in C Major ..... Borowski
Allegro, Andante, Allegro Con Spirito
Oriental Intermezzo ..... Wheeldon
Caprice Heroique ..... Bonnet
Minuet and Trio ..... Faulkes
Harmonies du Soir ..... Karg-Elert
Finale in B Flat ..... Franck

HELEN JEFFREY, Violinist

Charms Large Audience at Aeolian Hall

The New York Press of Nov. 19 Comments as Follows:

In the evening Helen Jeffrey, no newcomer here, played a program of violin music beginning with Handel and ending with Samuel Gardner, including the Bach Chaconne, the D'Ambrosio B Minor Concerto, and smaller compositions by Rachmaninoff and Godowsky. Where in the world do all these charming and talented young women come from? A violinist of the "female sect," as Artemas Ward used to say, three decades ago in America was almost a scandal. Dr. Johnson was thrown at her head; even that truly great artist, Camilla Urso, had to play, after a manner, second fiddle to any male mediocrity who fiddled. But we have changed all that sort of thing nowadays. Votes for women! Give them fiddles instead. Then they are sure to be happier; besides, they can't make political addresses.—Huneker in Times.

In interpretation she will no doubt acquire even more breadth. She is a performer whose art already gives much pleasure.—New York Sun.

Last evening at Aeolian Hall Loudon Charlton presented Helen Jeffrey, a youthful violiniste of extraordinary attainments and of most captivating personal charms, in an interesting program before a considerable audience, which manifested great delight with her playing. D'Ambrosio's Concerto in B minor was chosen for her "great adventure," and she encompassed it with serene and well-justified confidence in herself and thorough familiarity with its three difficult and markedly contrasted movements. The Handel Fourth Sonata, which opened the program, was played with less show of authority, but in Bach's Chaconne for violin alone the brilliant bowing and vivid phrasing of the young violiniste shone gloriously. Rachmaninoff's Romance, Godowski's "Perpetuum Mobeile" and "Slovak" (in manuscript), by Sam Gardner, completed the program. Samuel Chotzinoff was at the piano.—Telegraph.

Miss Helen Jeffrey, a young violinist, gave a recital in Aeolian Hall last night, playing Handel's Sonata No. 4, the Chaconne for violin alone and D'Ambrosio's Concerto in B minor. She exhibited a pleasing ability in these things, which, with a group of shorter pieces at the end, call for a variety of styles and no small powers of expression. Francis Moore accompanied her on the piano.—The Listener in the Evening Sun.

Her art has been molded on heroic lines; she draws an unusually large tone from the instrument and justly deserves the descriptive title of "The Bruennhilde of the Bow."—Max Smith in American.

She has a good tone, an admirable technic, and she wisely avoided a program in advance of her development. And while the fact that a girl is pretty cannot affect her bow, it does nothing to detract from the pleasure of an evening of violin music. Miss Jeffrey has every reason to feel cheerful.—K. L. in the Mail.

She was greatly daring in venturing on the Chaconne, but emerged with considerable credit, while the Handel Sonata sounded very pleasantly, especially the concluding allegro, given with great spirit. She showed bigness of sentiment in a romance by Rachmaninoff and a capital technic in Godowsky's "Perpetuum Mobile," the last a clever piece of work. Her final number was a "Slovak," or Russian dance, by Samuel Gardner, the well known violinist of the Elshuco Trio. It is a sound piece of violin writing, as might be expected, and Miss Jeffrey played it very well indeed.—Herald.

Management LOUDON CHARLTON,
CARNEGIE HALL NEW YORK

Private and class lessons given by OVIDE MUSIN in person — Instructions by correspondence.

OVIDE MUSIN'S

EDITION

"Belgian School of Violin"

4 Books, first principles to highest virtuosity. Ask for history of Belgian School. Enclose stamp. Address

MUSIN'S VIRTUOSO SCHOOL

51 West 76th Street NEW YORK

VIRGIL PIANO CONSERVATORY

MRS. A. M. VIRGIL, Director

(An Authorized Authority on Technic)

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF SUCCESSFUL RESULTS HAVE PROVEN

The Efficiency of the VIRGIL Method

VIRGIL P. S. CO., 11 WEST 68th STREET, NEW YORK

PHYLLIS LA FOND

Soprano

CONCERTS OPERAS RECITALS

Management ANTONIA SAWYER, Aeolian Hall, New York

Over 35 years recognized as one of the Leading American Dealers in Rare Old Violins

John Friedrich & Bro.

279 Fifth Avenue New York

A very large stock of beautiful old violins, embracing specimens of many of the best makes, every one in perfect adjustment, at reasonable prices. Fine new violins at from $10 upward. Complete outfits at from $15 upward.

WRITE FOR COMPLETE CATALOGUE

Florence Macbeth

PRIMA DONNA COLORATURA

Concert Direction, Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall, New York

Helen L. Levy, Associate Manager

HERMAN DEVRIES

VOCAL TEACHER

MRS. HERMAN DEVRIES, . . . Associate Vocal Instructor

At Studios, 518-528 Fine Arts Building, Chicago, Ill.

Terms for Mr. Devries Terms for Mrs. Devries

Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each, $50.00 Ten Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each, $30.00

IDA MAY BORNCAMP

ACCOMPANIST - - COACH

TEACHER OF PIANO

418 Hamilton St., - - - Evanston Ill.

Phones Evanston 4723 and Wabash 8335

GRINNELL SCHOOL OF MUSIC

The Grinnell School of Music, which is a part of the Grinnell College at Grinnell, Iowa, and which has for its director George L. Pierce, sent out this fall one of the most attractive catalogues we have seen, from which we note that besides Mr. Pierce in the piano department, the faculty boasts Edward Scheve, the distinguished composer and teacher of theory and piano; Henry William Matlack, organ; David E. Peck, violin; Alma Fuller Pierce, piano; Sarah Inness MacDonald, piano; Mary Frances Coleman, voice; Harry O. Hickernell, wind instruments; Amon Dorsey Cain, voice; Henry J. Dotterweich, piano; Jean Young Currie, voice; Elias Blum, voice, and Max Daehler, piano.

From the pages of the catalogue we glean the following interesting information:

The School of Music is in closest affiliation with the college in methods and in spirit. It occupies the same grounds and is under the same general management. Its students have free use of the college gymnasiums and of the library.

The School of Music students unite with the college students in the daily chapel service at 9 o'clock in the morning, the weekly Vespers on Sunday at 4:45, and have many interests in common with them. Many students of the School of Music find it greatly to their advantage to take single courses in the college, particularly in modern languages and English literature. The college accepts music as a major when the student shows sufficient artistic capacity.

The Grinnell College Glee Club, composed of twenty men chosen by competitive examination, is probably the best known club in the West. Twenty-four seasons of continuous success make this organization an important one in Grinnell College. Membership is open to all men of the institution. This club easily won first place in a competition held at Des Moines between leading Glee Clubs of Iowa, and have twice won the competition for male choruses at the Des Moines Eisteddfod. Twice the club has toured to the Pacific Coast—in the spring of 1909 and 1916.

The Girls' Glee Club is composed of twenty-four young women, chosen under the same regulations as stated for the men's club. In the spring of 1912 the club made a tour of the Pacific Coast, and in the spring of 1915 to Colorado. In the Eisteddfod at Des Moines the club tied for first honors once and won the first prize twice.

The Vesper Choir is a union of the two glee clubs and makes a study of the better class of church music and sings at college Vespers Sunday afternoons. This choir has entered the Des Moines Eisteddfod four times, and has won first prize twice and second prize twice.

The Grinnell Orchestra has a membership of forty-five and affords an opportunity for orchestral players to become familiar with a large number of valuable works each year. Membership is open to all who are competent to play the part assigned. The present year the orchestra gave the May Festival program instead of bringing in one of the symphony orchestras.

The Oratorio Society numbers nearly two hundred voices and has produced in past seasons Handel's "Messiah," Saint-Saens' "Samson and Delilah," Elgar's "Banner of St. George," Mendelssohn's "Elijah," Haydn's "Creation," Scheve's "Death and Resurrection of Christ," Saint-Saens' "Night," for women's chorus; Bruch's "Frithjof," for men's chorus; Grainger's "Merry Wedding," and many other works. At the Festival of 1915 "A Song of Penitence," by Dr. Edward B. Scheve, professor of composition, was given for the first time, accompanied by the New York Symphony Orchestra under the direction of the composer. Membership is open to all who have true voices and possess some skill in reading music.

The Grinnell College Band has a membership of from twenty-five to thirty, and is under the direction of an experienced band master. Places in the band are secured by competitive tests.

A feature of the college year is the annual May Festival, given by the Grinnell Music Festival Association. For several years past it has been the custom to bring one of the great symphony orchestras to Grinnell for these concerts, and to give, with orchestral accompaniment, some large choral work. This opportunity to hear music is highly appreciated by all students and lovers of music. At recent festivals the Minneapolis, the Theodore Thomas, and New York Symphony Orchestras have participated.

The feature of the 1917 festival was the first performance of a symphony in D Minor by Dr. Edward B. Scheve, professor of composition.

During the year a recital course is maintained for the benefit of the music students, the semester fee covering the expense of tickets to the course. During a four years' residence a student may hear such artists as Schumann-Heink, Gadski, Nordica, Kitty Cheatham, Werrenrath, Campanari, Elman, Kreisler, Ganz, Mrs. Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler, Harold Bauer, Josef Hofmann, Leopold Godowsky, Zimbalist, Flonzaley Quartet, Zoellner Quartet, Trio de Lutece, and the orchestras named above.

———♯♯♯———

LOUIS KUPPIN

Eugene Berton, who received his vocal training from Louis Kuppin, teacher of voice at the Fine Arts building in Chicago, and who recently made a debut in New York, was heard last week in Detroit.

The Free Press of that city comments as follows:

"Master Berton was something of a sensational surprise. The young man is 17, with a future, and in his upper ranges has an astonishingly full and powerful voice, and he interprets Debussy and Rimsky-Korsakoff, and Dvorak and Borodine and song writers of similar calibre as many good artists are unable to interpret them after several years of study and effort. His insight seems to be instructive and something outside his actual experiences. This makes the young man intensely interesting and makes him a phenomenon.

———♯♯♯———

Weaver—Miss Charlotte Peege, contralto, who is a pupil of Iva Bigelow Weaver in Milwaukee, has been engaged as one of the soloists at the Apollo Club concert (Boston) in April. Miss Peege went to Boston something over a year ago and is already recognized there as one of the leading church and concert singers.

CLEVELAND, OHIO

Cleveland had not heard Amelita Galli-Curci for nearly three years, and it is little wonder that the Grays' Armory, where the concert took place under Miss Gafney's management, was sold out long before the actual "public sale" began. As Mr. James H. Rogers remarked, "The stage was, as a matter of course, crowded and extra chairs had been placed in every even remotely available space. Only the aisles and the rafters were barren of listeners. And a few hardy adventurers clung to the window sills outside the hall."

The audience went into ecstasies of delight, tinged with regret that Mme. Galli-Curci is not a more frequent visitor in Cleveland. None of the epithets regularly applied can exaggerate her vocal charm. Far from being the mere warbling sort of prima donna, she evinces the utmost beauty of quality throughout her range, the utmost accuracy in intervals. Her sustained tone work, as well as her crescendo and decrescendo, is impressive indeed, but it is the more spectacular coloratura passages, after all, that one lives for when Galli-Curci sings.

LOUISE MORRIS.

———♯♯♯———

Park Ridge—The Community Church Chorus, under direction of Elmer J. Crabbs, presented the Cantata "Ruth" (Gaul) last Sunday evening. The solo parts were sung by Mrs. A. A. Hamburger, Doris Crofont, Mary Armstrong, Mrs. Frank Showers, Mrs. Adelaide Ransom, Mrs. F. W. Urban, T. L. Ryerson, and N. W. Smock. Helen Holbrook was organist and Frances E. Holbrook pianist.

VAN YORX THEO. Tenor
Studio: 22 West 39th Street New York

Fernando Carpi Tenor
Metropolitan Opera House
Available for Concerts, Recitals and Festivals Address Metropolitan Opera House

GALLI-CURCI SOPRANO
STEINWAY PIANO
HOMER SAMUELS, Accompanist MANUEL BERENGUER, Flutist
Management Chas. L. Wagner. D. F. McSweeney, Associate Manager. 511 Fifth Avenue, N. Y

SCHUMANN-HEINK 3672 Michigan Ave. CHICAGO
Steinway Piano MANAGEMENT HAENSEL & JONES, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK

CONTRALTO
Pupil of Pauline Viardot Garcia and Mathilde Marchesi
Mrs. W. S. BRACKEN
Teaching at Cosmopolitan School 16th Floor New Kimball Bldg.

MILWAUKEE

Following is the music program at the Butterfly Theatre last week, where George M. Lipschulz, Director of Orchestra, has gained the reputation of providing not only a fine musical treat week by week, but one also which is always in perfect harmony with the picture presented:

Overture—Mignon ..... Thomas
Orchestra
Gypsy Sweetheart ..... Victor-Herbert
George F. Russell, Baritone
Triumphal March ..... Grieg
From "Sigurd the Crusader"
Madame Butterfly—Selection ..... Puccini
Girl of the Golden West ..... Puccini
Dance of Cammorists ..... Wolf-Ferrari
Till We Meet Again ..... Whiting
Serenade ..... Ern
Serenade ..... Roze
Siegfried's Paraphrase ..... Wagner
Nocturne ..... Chopin
Suki San ..... Donaldson
Love Theme—Poor Butterfly ..... Hubbel

♯♯♯

Craven—Carl E. Craven will present his choir at St. Paul University Church on the Midway (60th and Dorchester), in benefit concert this (Friday) evening. He is to be soloist on Sunday evening, December 8, at Bethany Lutheran Church, where Dr. J. Lewis Browne is to dedicate a new organ.

BARGAINS!
We want musical people to
PROFIT BY THIS OFFER

THINK IT OVER
A No. 6 Aluminum $50.00
BLICK TYPEWRITER
Weighs 5 pounds
Guaranteed FOR ONLY $32.50
WHILE THEY LAST
Send $2.50 with order and balance on delivery
THE BLICKENSDERFER Mfg. Co.
109 N. Dearborn St. CHICAGO, ILL.

COMMUNITY HALL
118 MARION ST., OAK PARK
Beautiful new recital hall. Seats 200. Acoustics perfect. New Mason Hamlin Grand. For terms and bookings address
GEO. R. HEMINGWAY 121 Marion St., Oak Park

PRINTING
FOR EVERY SOCIAL AND COMMERCIAL NEED
Cards, Announcements, Stationery, Programs, Etc.
Correct Form. Artistic Work. Moderate Prices.
SAMPLES AND SCHEDULE OF PRICES SENT UPON REQUEST
THE REGAL PRESS 5514 W. Lake Street CHICAGO, ILL. Phone Austin 820

AGNES BERRY AND GLENN DILLARD GUNN AT EDGEWATER BEACH HOTEL MUSICALE

On Sunday, November 10, occurred the first of this season's series of concerts under the management of Jessie B. Hall in the colonial room of the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Agnes Berry, formerly with the Chicago Opera Association, was the soprano. Miss Berry has a glorious voice and charming stage presence. Her numbers consisted of the following: "Romance" from "Cavalleria Rusticana" (Mascagni), "Quand je Dors" (Liszt), "Where Blossoms Grow" (San Souci), "Were My Song With Wings Provided" (Hahn), "Lass With the Delicate Air" (Arne) and "Sunlight Waltz" (Harriet Ware).

Glenn Dillard Gunn, the alternating artist, played "Obermann's Valley," "At the Spring" and "The Bells of Geneva" by Liszt, "Two Etudes," Opus 25, 3 and 2, and "Scherzo, M Minor" by Chopin, "American Polonaise" "Impromptu" (John A. Carpenter), "Legend" (Rossetter Cole) and "Play of the Waters" (Ravel). Mr. Gunn's reputation is sufficient to know that his was a scholarly performance.

Grace Grove was as usual a tower of strength at the piano in all accompaniments.

E. C. H.

♯♯♯

VOICE OF PAUL ALTHOUSE "A SHEER TONAL DELIGHT"

The above headline applies to the singing of Paul Althouse at a performance of "Madame Butterfly" with the Metropolitan Opera Company in Brooklyn. Of it the Brooklyn Daily Eagle said: "Paul Althouse was the Pinkerton. Vocally this young American has moved far toward the summit of fame, and last evening he sang as he never has in Brooklyn. Some of his pianissimos in the love scene of the first act were sheer tonal delight. And he grows histrionically."

Of the same performance the Brooklyn Citizen said: "It would be hard to imagine a more artistic rendering of the duet at the end of the first act than Geraldine Farrar and Mr. Althouse gave. His singing was artistic throughout the evening."

♯♯♯

Devries—The Misses Burtusek, pupils of Mrs. Herman Devries, scored a big success at Wood's Theatre (in concert) last Sunday.

WANT ADVERTISEMENTS

(Advertisements under this head will hereafter be accepted at 20 cents a line.)

WANTED—Music teachers and supervisors of public school music; city, county, state. Federated chain plan (co-operative). Information free. Results assured. Write P. H. Thomas, 109-W-45-N. Y. C.

DIRECTORY

Addresses are Chicago unless otherwise stated

ACCOMPANISTS

Bodholdt Agnes (Pianist) 6722 Chappel Av. (Hyde Park 1485)
Borncamp Ida May (Phone Evanston 4723 418 Hamilton St., Evanston, Ill.
Boyd Jeanne (Midway 763) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Harrison 2074)
Bradley Ruth (Graceland 5697) 859 Cornelia Avenue
Browne Helen M. (Graceland 7714) 4308 Greenview Av.
Campbell Gordon (Rogers Park 4072) Cosmopolitan School of Music
Campbell Helen (Oak Park 3747-J) 604 Lyman Av., Oak Park
Cartwright Harriet (Res. Phone Drexel 697) 1204 E. 47th and 612 Fine Arts Bldg.
Coleman Carlton E. (Superior 8669) Bush Conservatory
Coryell Marion (New York) 72 W. 68th St
Chute Delbert (Midway 5288) 419 Fine Arts Bldg.
Fricke-Green Esther (Haymarket 1888) 625 Lyon & Healy Building
Gilbert Harry M. (New York) 61 W. 50th St.
Grandland Florence M. (Maywood 320) 217 N. 3rd Av., Maywood, Ill.
Grove Grace (Wabash 8324) 400 Fine Arts Bldg.
Henry Edith (Graceland 9601) 721½ Barry Av.
Kittilsby Katharine (Rogers Park 2551) 1533 Sherwin St.
Kurtz George Ralf (Organist) 4609 Dover st. (Edgewater 2959)
Lester William (Midway 8888) 419 Fine Arts Bldg.
Lewis Pauline (Home Ph., Blackstone 1883) 5558 Ellis Av.
Link Violet Martens (Graceland 4816) 846 Oakdale Av.
Lychenheim Marion (Rogers Park 1207) (Ensemble) 2030 Kenilworth
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Lakeview 528) 3623 Pine Grove Av.
McAllister Bessie (Chicago Piano College) 4308 Greenview Av. (Graceland 7714)
McShane Eugenia (Sunnyside 3966) (Organist) 4609 Dover St.
Meagley Mary Willing (Toledo, Ohio) 2307 Monroe St.
Nelson Edgar A. (Edgewater 9332) Bush Conservatory
Olson Mabel W. (512 Fine Arts Bldg.) Summer Address: Galva, Ill
Orchard Mrs. Charles (Blackstone 1789) 1535 Hyde Park Av.
Porter Beulah Taylor (Rogers Park 1679) 429 Fine Arts Bldg.
Pullis Mabel A. (Drexel 1985) 4312 Lake Park Av.
Ryan Helen Victoria (Oak Park 1201) 330 Washington Blvd., Oak Park, Ill.
Scheib Eleanor (Care Wolfsohn Bureau) 1 West 34th St., New York
Shaw Mrs. George L. (Sunnyside 9828) 4600 Dover St.
Simpson Corinne (Pianist and Reader) with Radcliffe Chautauqua Co.
Stewart Marchia Kelley (Pianist) 7025 Merrill Av. (Midway 722)
Stout Alice Brown (Tel. R. F. 8450) (Soprano) 266 Park av., River Forest, Ill.
Stumpf Aimee C. (Wellington 1855) (Pianist) 3608 Maple Square Av.
Van Grove Isaac (8793 Wabash) 630 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wallace Alma (Organist) (New York) Chg. Music News, 1 W. 34th St.
Williamson Gavin (Home Tel., S. Chgo. 2585) 523 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har.3766)

CHOIR BOY TRAINING.

Thompson Nance D. (Hm. ph., Edgewater 6296) Ly. Arts Cons., Lyon & Healy Bldg.

CLUBS

Mendelssohn Mgt. Harriet M. Snow 64 E. Van Buren St. (Wab. 8740)

COMMUNITY SINGING AND PAGEANTRY

Smith Mr. & Mrs. H. Augustine, Boston Univ. or 37 Claflin Rd., Brookline, Mass.

COMPOSERS

Gilberte Hallette (New York) 135 W 47th St.
White Lida Browning 818 Monroe St., Gary, Ind.

COMPOSERS RECITALS

Hemingway Clara Edmunds (Gary, Ind.) 568 Madison St. (Gary 1224)
MacDowell Mrs. Edward (New York) Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway

CONDUCTORS

Ballmann M. (Orchestra and Band) 1257 Foster Ave
Conti Arnoldo (Chicago Opera Association) Opera Coach, 1528 Kimball Hall
Erb J. Warren, Conductor—Song Coach Accompanist, 220 Madison Av. (New York)
Gennaro Giovanni 1103 Kimball Hall
Gingrich Irving, 614 Fine Arts Bldg. 646 Belden Av. (Lincoln 1290)

DANCING

Pryor Ruth (Classic Dancer) Ballantini Bureau (Wabash 8538)

Walker Virna Harman (Haymarket 4347)
Yung 206 S. Wabash Av Suite 200 (Wab. 2460)
Marie (Wabash 7342)
400 Fine Arts Bldg.

DRAMATIC ART

Barnum Letitia V. Fine Arts Bldg.
Cornick Frances E. (Reader)
Ballantine-Rice Mgt., Kimball Hall
Liten Carlo (New York)
Ricker Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall
Bessie Bown (St. Louis)
Stein Artists' Guild, Union Av.
Mrs. Karl Buren (Wabash 9070)
55 Auditorium Bldg.

DUET PROGRAMS

Eastlake-Keirnan Eleanor and Kathryn
American Conservatory
Sullivan Josephine & Eugene (Milwaukee)
233 Mason st.

ENSEMBLES

Chicago Chamber Music Trio
522 Fine Arts Bldg. (Edgewater 8361)
Murdock Trio (Rogers Park 6286)
1316 Albion Av.
Russian Symphony Orchestra, Dan'l Mayer
Aeolian Hall, New York
Tollefsen Trio 946 President St.
Brooklyn, New York

HARP

Conti Mme. Amelia (Calumet 2710)
(Instruction) New Southern Hotel
De Lone Loretta (Sym., Orch., Recital)
308 Lyric Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

LANGUAGES

Berlitz School of Languages
Auditorium Building

MANAGERS

Ballantine Bureau (Wabash 8538)
1528 Kimball Hall
Bazarozy Anthony (New York)
1495 Broadway
Choir Bureau. (Harriet Martin Snow, Dir.)
64 E. Van Buren St. (Wabash 8740)
Haensel & Jones New York
Hall Aeolian Hall
Jessie B. (Bureau of Fine Arts)
425 Fine Arts Bldg. (Harrison 228)
Hanson M. H. (New York)
437 Fifth Ave.
Hawley James, Concert Director
Cable Bldg. (Wabash 1853)
Mayer Daniel. New York
Aeolian Hall
Music League OF AMERICA.
1 W. 34th St., New York
Rice Ethel M. (Wabash 1260)
1536 Kimball Hall
Shipman Vera Brady (Salina, Kan.)
Care of Daily Union
Wagner Charles (New York)
511 Fifth Ave.
Wolfsohn Musical Bureau
1 W. 34th St., New York

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS

Baldwin Piano Co. (Wabash 4884)
323 S. Wabash Av.
Cable Piano Co. (Mason & Hamlin Pianos)
Friedrich Wabash Av. and Jackson Blvd.
John & Bro (Violins)
279 Fifth Av.,New York

ORGAN

Barnes George W. (Salina, Kan.)
Christ Cathedral
Birch Robert R. (Oak Park 6846)
Church of Redeemer.
Bogen Allen W. (Blackstone 1913)
5429 Harper Av.
Browne J. Lewis (Monroe 5556)
St. Patrick's Church, 130 S. Desplaines
Christian Palmer (Kenwood 7509)
Kenwood Evangelical Church
Conger Sylvia (La Grange 995-W)
29 S. Sixth Av., La Grange, Ill.
Cook Frances Anne (Douglas 3908)
644 Woodland Park (6th Pres. Church)
Cotsworth Albert (Main 2611)
South Cong' Church
Courboin Chas. M. (Organist, Sp'field, Mass.)
Syr. Musical Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Deal Alice R. 4359 West End Av. (Garfield 2856)
New First Congregational Church
Eddy Clarence (Concert Organist)
2021 California St., San Francisco
Edwards Marie (Kedzie 228)
Congregational Church, Wilmette, Ill.
Fickett Elizabeth Dean (Edgewater 3459)
(Accompanist) Edgewater Pres. Church
Francis J. Henry (Choral Conductor, Composer)
St. John's, Charleston, W. Va.
Fraser Arthur Randolph (Oak Park 5749)
Grace Church, Oak Park, Ill.
Gallup Emory L., 828 Kimball Hall
St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church
Goodwin Hugo (Superior 7283)
St. James Episcopal Church
Groom Lester W. (1916 Lincoln Av.)
Church of the Ascension
Haines Tina Mae (Kenwood 5003)
Organist St. James M. E. Church
Hancock Irving (Drexel 6903)
Trinity Episcopal Church
Hemington Francis (Home Ph. Oak Park 2464)
Church of the Epiphany
Hodge Florence (Christ Reformed Episcopal)
4717 Sheridan Road (Edgewater 106)
Holmes A. Alfred
McClurg Bldg.
Holzworth Alfred (Lincoln 4395)
2594 Orchard St.
Hyde Herbert E. (637 Fine Arts Bldg.)
St. Peter's Ch., Dir. Musical Art Society
Ickes Clara M. (accompanist) (Diversey 2510)
2727 Mildred Av. (Ravenswood Baptist)
Keller Walter (300 Fine Arts Bldg.)
Sherwood Music School
Knight Florence (Wabash 7217)
Kimball Hall
Knodle Walter St. Clare
Philadelphia, Pa.
Mattison California Av. Congregational Church
Moline Lily Wadhams (Diversey 8470)
1st Church of Christ, Scientist, Oak Park
Norton John W. (Superior 7283)
St. James Episcopal Church
Polk Harry T. Valparaiso, Ind.
1st Pres. Ch. and Schelling Theater
Porter Hugh (Hyde Park 2461)
Hyde Park Presbyterian Church
Pruyn-Hall Edythe (Drexel 4763)
4326 Greenwood Av.
Ross Helen Worswick (Home Tel. Oak Park 4405)
Chicago Musical College.
Scheve Edward B. (Grinnell, Ia.)
Iowa College School of Music
Seder Edwin Stanley (126 E. Chestnut St.)
First Cong'l Church, Oak Park
Slade Mason (Christ Episcopal)
65th and Woodlawn Av.
Thompson John Winter (Galesburg, Ill.)
Central Congregational Church
Van Dusen Frank W.
American Conservatory
Wedertz C. Gordon
Chicago Musical College
Wild Harrison M.
1203 Kimball Hall
Zaring Belden J (New Eng. Cong'l Church)
4451 Winchester Av. (Ravenswood 1418)

PIANO

Abernethy Patricia (Manhattan, Kan.)
State Agricultural College
Adler Lois (Drexel 396)
1364 47th Place
Ammalee Lillian
Care of Music News
Amsbury Theo (Piano-Theory) Douglas 2723
American Conservatory
Anderson Cora
American Conservatory
Austin Electa (Sunnyside 9555)
(Northwestern Univ.) Evanston
Barber Lvell
Bush Conservatory
Birdsall Edna J. (Lincoln 4635)
2315 Seminary Av.
Blood Blanche (Piano and Violin)
9th Floor, Auditorium Bldg.
Bohnet Cleveland (Home Tel., Oakland 5240)
American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Bower Mary (Ravenswood 6287)
1953 Sunnyside Av.
Brillhart Jessie David (Gunnison, Colo.)
Colorado State Normal School
Briscoe Addison (Home Phone Midway 188)
1328 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Brown Roy David (Wabash 1761)
905-906 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Brumbaugh Frances Pierson (Home, Oak.2470)
707 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8151)
Clark Helen Drummond (Midway 9608)
Studio 6239 Ellis Ave.
Cleophas Mrs. Kirsti (Piano and Voice)
Kensett, Iowa
Cleophas Gertrude,
care Music News
Cleveland Wyoneta (Chicago Musical College)
Y. W. C. A., 830 S. Michigan Av.
Clough Vierlyn (Lakeview 4515)
4144 Clarendon Av.
Detweiler Harry
Chicago Musical College
Doelling Mae (Concert Pianist)
2912 Burling St
Durno Jeannette (Oakland 4638)
907 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Ehrhardt Edward V. (Graceland 5717)
523 Oakdale Av. (721 Fine Arts Bldg.)
Eidam Clarence
1625 Kimball Bldg.
Fox Albert R. (Garfield 8277)
Residence 4208 Wilcox Av.
Francis-Du Val Irene (Beverly 931)
(Organ) 2140 W. 103d St.
Frazer Arthur (Superior 8414)
116 E. Oak St.
Ganz Rudolph (Mgt. Charles L. Wagner)
511 Fifth Av., New York
Garwood Victor (Wabash 5388)
American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Gemmer Edwin J. (814 Kimball Hall)
6109 Evans Av. (Normal 3997)
George Anna E. (867 N. Dearborn St.)
Bush Conservatory
Godfrey Eleanor F. (Kimball Hall)
Chicago Piano College
Godowsky Leopold (New York)
Haensel & Jones, Aeolian Hall.
Granquist Arthur
Columbia School of Music
Haake Charles J. (Northwestern Univ., Evanston)
Fine Arts Bldg., Chicago
Haake Gail Martin (Northwest'n Univ., Evanston)
North Shore School of Music, Chicago
Hanapel Rose (Kenwood 523)
4740 Prairie Av.
Howland Betsy M. (Home Tel. Rav. 951)
Chicago Piano College (Wabash 4805)
Irons Myrtle Tyler (822 Kimball Hall)
6034 Stony Island Av. (Hyde Park 9942)
Kelly Elizabeth Lee (Wellington 7383)
4028 Sheridan Road
Kelpsch Le. Marguerite (Tel. Harrison 2074)
Lyceum Arts Conservatory
Kenney Cady (Laramie)
University Wyoming
Kimball (Pianist and Teacher), De Pauw Uv'sty.
Minnie Murdoff (Greencastle, Ind.)
Kober Georgia (Sherwood Music School)
300 Fine Arts Bldg.
La Roche Pearle (Wentworth 2630)
5528 Indiana Av
Lapham Agnes (Hyde Park 4969)
6042 Kenwood Av.
Le Claire Florence (Diversey 1603)
2021 Bissell St.
Levitzki Mischa (Management Daniel Mayer)
Aeolian Hall, New York
Levy Heniot (Kimball Hall)
American Conservatory
Lewis George G. (Teacher) (Harrison 4868)
Cosmopolitan School
Lobel Sophine (Lawndale 8538)
1543 S. Clifton Park Av.
Loomis Clarence (Pianist-Composer)
American Conservatory (Oak Park 7727)
Lyon Rose (Belmont 7247)
922 Kimball Hall
Magnuson Lillian
Cosmopolitan School of Music
Marshall Caroline E. (Garfield 9470)
417 S. Central Park Av.
Paine Sarah E. (Piano and Flute)
1226 Kimball Hall (Kenwood 8021)
Park Ralph Munroe (Wabash 1761)
905-6 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Pendry Charlotte S.
Centralizing School of Music
Persson Frederick (Superior 1074)
American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Peterson Agnes (Kedzie 9035)
411 S. Homan Av.
Peterson Edna Gunnar (La Crosse, Wis.)
325 S. Seventeenth St.
Prahl Earl Victor (Superior 8700)
Bush Conservatory
Prindiville Helen (Wentworth 6547)
5934 Calumet Av.
Raab Alexander
624 S. Michigan Av.
Reckzeh Karl (Res. 2042 Bradley Pl.)
Chicago Musical College
Redding Edwyl (Gunnison, Colo.)
Colorado State Normal School
Reuter Rudolph
624 S. Michigan Av.
Robinson Carol (Wabash 5883)
1328 Kimball Building
Ryder Mme. Sturkow (Drexel 3300)
4715 Lake Park Av.
Scionti Silvio
Kimball Hall
Seifert Myra C. (Lakeview 29)
585 Hawthorne Place
Shattuck Arthur (Milwaukee, Wis.)
325 Oakland Av.
Smith Lura Schuler (Lincoln, Neb.)
University School of Music
Spencer Allen (Pianist-Teacher)
American Conservatory
Spry Walter (Chicago)
Columbia School of Music
Stead Mabel Riggs
Peoria, Ill.
Stephen Daisy Waller (Pullman 244)
Cosmopolitan School of Music
Stephens Clyde (Coe College)
Cedar Rapids, Iowa
Stumpf Mrs. L. C. (Wellington 1855)
8608 Maple Sq. Av.
Thompson Frank Olin
Wisconsin Conservatory, Milwaukee
Tomlinson Anna (Harrison 6267)
300 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wagner Oscar (Kimball Hall)
Oscar (Harrison 4868)
Wanieck Kurt (Graceland 831)
American Conservatory
Warren Minnette (St. Paul)
Schiffmann Bldg.
Watt Harmon H. (Kimball Hall)
Chicago Piano College
Weed Myrtle (St. Paul, Minn.)
802 Pittsburgh Bldg.
Wells Howard (Kenwood 651)
4958 Blackstone Av.
Willard Carolyn Louise
1625 Kimball Bldg.

Williams Anne (Columbus 1760)
Wilson Raymond (Syracuse University) Syr. Mus. Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Zygman Flora G. (Concert Pianist) 825-7 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5013)

PIPE ORGANS

Casavant Bros. Organ Builders South Haven. Mich.

PUBLISHERS

Bingham Helena (Illinois Music Co.) 2622 Marino St., Los Angeles, Cal.
Bond Carrie Jacobs & Son 744 S. Michigan Av.
Fearis (J. S.) & Bro., Chicago 4547 N. St. Louis Av.
Fischer (J.) & Bro., New York 7 and 11 Bible House
Gamble Hinged Music Co. 57 E. Van Buren St.
Gilbert Music Co. (Irving 359) 3924 Irving Pk. Blvd.
MacDermid James G. Fine Arts Bldg.
Summy Clayton F. (Co.) 64 E. Van Buren St.
Witmark M. & Sons (New York) 144 W. 37th St.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC

McConathy Osbourne (Theory, Conducting) Northwestern Univ. Sch'l of Music
Robinson O. E., American Conservatory 6518 Kenwood Av. (Hyde Pk. 3377)
Votaw Lyravine, 10th flr. Audit. Bldg.(Wab.8238) 6026 Kenwood av. (Hyde Park 6738)

SCHOOLS

American Conservatory (Wabash 5388) Kimball Hall
Auditorium Conservatory. Mus. & Dr'm'tic Art 55 Auditor'm Bldg. (Wabash 9070)
Balatka Acad. Musical Art (Anna Balatka, Dir.) 819 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 612)
Bintliff Mrs. Elizabeth battie School of Music, Ripon, Wis.
Brail School of Music (Florence Brail) 812 Kimball Hall and 403 E. 61st St.
Centralizing School of Music (Wabash 6349) 20 E. Jackson Blvd
Chapek Music School. 1452 Broadway T. H. Chapek, Dir. (Graceland 2621)
Chicago Kindergarten Inst. C. C. Cronise, Sec. 701 Rush St.
Chicago Piano College 910 Kimball Hall (Wabash 4805)
Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art Fine Arts Bldg (Harrison 5965)
Columbia School of Music. 509 S. Wabash Av. (Clare Osborne Reed, Dir.)
Cosmopolitan Sch'l of Music (Harrison 4868) 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Dearborn School of Lyceum Arts Auditorium Bldg. (Wabash 6867)
Doney A. M. Musical College 2820 W 36th St.
Grinnell College (George L. Pierce, Dir.) Grinnell Iowa
Heizer Music Sch.(1215 Douglas St., Sioux City, Ia.) Dir. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Heizer
Hinshaw Conservatory of Music 1110 Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 8335)
Knox Conservatory of Music (Wm. F. Bentley, Dir.) Galesburg, Ill.
Knupfer Walter R. (School of Fine Arts) Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8793)
Loudon The Jennette (Studios) 614 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8806)
Lyceum Arts Conservatory (Harrison 2074) 600-610 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Mandy School of Music (Wabash 8173) 817-19 Kimball Hall
M. A. Monzel Musical College 911 Kimball Hall
Moody Bible Institute of Chicago 153 Institute Pl.
Musin Virtuoso School for Violin 51 W. 76th St., New York
Northwestern University School of Music Evanston, Ill.
Orchard School of Music and Expression 1537 Hyde Park Blvd (Blackstone 1789)
Preiser School of Music (Austin 2541) (Fannie B. Preiser, Dir.) 530 Pine Av.
Sherwood Music School (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg.
Saint Cecilia Conservatory Winona, Minn.
Tone-Color Studios. Music, etc. (E. Larrabee, Dir.) Aud. Bldg. & 602 Arlington Pl.
Valparaiso University School of Music Valparaiso, Indiana
Virgil Piano Conservatory 11 W. 68th St., New York
Western Conservatory. (E. H. Scott, Pres.) Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 3506)

SOLFEGE, HARMONY, COMPOSITION

Lagourgue Charles, 616 S. Michigan Ave. (Harrison 1719)

TEACHERS' AGENCIES

Allen J. E. (Musical Artist Teachers' Agency) 101 Park Av., New York.

THEORY

Andersen Arthur Olaf (Home Phone H. P. 5783) American Conservatory
Butler Lester S. Worcester, Mass.
Cole Rossetter (Res. Phone Midway 118) 719 Fine Arts Bldg.
Frothingham Frances (Piano) 605 Kimball Bldg.
Graham A. Cyril (Harrison 2580) 509 Wabash Av.
Lutkin Peter C. Evanston, Ill.
Watt Harmon H. Kimball Hall
Wrightson Herbert J. (Piano, Organ) 610 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 2583)

TEACHERS' CLASSES

Mr. & Mrs. Crosby Adams Montreat, N.C.
Dunning Carrie Louise 8 W. 40th St., New York City
Long Carrie Munger (Dunning System) Congress Hotel
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Dunning System) 3623 Pine Grove av. (L. V. 9037)
Perfield Effa Ellis (950 McClurg Bldg.) National Conservatory of Music

VIOLIN

Barker John (Austin 2541; Home, Elmhurst 43-R) Preiser School of Music, Austin
Barron Robert Louis (Eugene, Ore.) University School of Music
Brambach John M. (Irving 5717) 4045 N. St. Louis Ave.
Breeskin Elias (New York) Aeolian Hall, care D. Mayer
Breytspraak Ruth (West 738) Knupfer Studio, 630 Fine Arts Bldg
Brokaw Ralph Wichita, Kan.
Brown Mildred (Ravenswood 8448) 2120 Wilson Av.
De Vore Jessie (Blackstone 1789; Drexel 6071) Orchard School, 1535 Hyde Park Blvd.
Durkee Corrol B. (Home Tel. Garfield 2149) 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Western Cons.)
Dyson Lois F. (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg. (Sherwood School)
Fischel Max I. Chicago Musical College
Frederiksen Frederik (Hm. Ph. Graceland 9166) Studio 600, Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Garagusi Nicholas (New York) M'gt. Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St.
Ginsburg Ralph (Wabash 8335) Hinshaw Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Given Thelma (New York) Metropolitan Musical Bureau
Goldblatt Maurice H. Chicago Musical College
Harris Graham (New York) 240 E. Tremont Av.
Heymar D. A. Wally (Sunnyside 1995) 5683 Ridge Av.
Konecny Josef Care of Music News
Kortschak Hugo (New York) 850 Park av.
Kribben Bertha (St. Louis, Mo.) 1050 Thornby St.
Leach Rowland Bush Conservatory
Lipschultz George Milton (Lawndale 5402) 212 Grand Av., Milwaukee Wis.
Lowe-Pierson Lela (Rogers Park 4701) 6807 Wayne Av.
Lynch Rhea Dorothy (Columbus 2452) 242 N. Mason St.
Michaelis Ralph (Hyde Park 966) 914 Kimball Hall
Mixer Chas. Mitchell (Home Ph. Rogers Pk. 9543) American Conservatory. Kimball Hall
Neill Amy Emerson (Hyde Park 6322) 1446 E. Marquette Road
Welge Gladys (Home Ph., Austin 3417) Preiser Sch. Music, 530 N. Pine av.
Yost Gaylord, 824 N. Pennsylvania St. Indianapolis, Ind.
Zebrowska-Perlowska Antoinette 7812 S. Shore Dr.

VIOLONCELLO

Casals Pablo (Usera & Co.) 10 E. 43d, New York
Gegna Max (Julius Daiber) Aeolian Hall, New York
Hess Hans (Edgewater 8361) Fine Arts Bldg.
Slack Anne (Home Ph. Lawndale 3668) American Conservatory

VOICE

Aaron Miriam (Los Angeles, Cal.) 155 S. Kingsley Drive
Annette-Gifford Ethel (Tel. Wentworth 5892) 6237 South Park Av.
Arden Cecil (Metropolitan Opera Co.) Mgt. Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St., New York
Arendt Else Harthan (Graceland 4997) 819 Sheridan Rd.
Arnd Margaret Louise (Lake View 1657) 3814 Sheffield Av.
Bailey Mr. and Mrs. Herbert (Huron, S. D.) Dir. of Music, Huron College
Baldwin Jessie Nichols(Home Ph. Oakland 8585) Orchard School, 1535 Hyde Park Blvd.
Balfour Constance (New York) Mgt. Daniel Mayer
Barradell Kennard 624 S. Michigan Av.
Bastedo Orrin (New York) 257 W. 86th St.
Beatty Wilbur (Columbus 5032) (Baritone), 331 N. Central Av.
Bender Celia (Piano) (Armitage 4397) Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Berger Emily E. (Contralto) (Oak Park 5163) 418 W. Lake St., Oak Park
Bibb Kathleen Hart (Minneapolis, Minn.) Metropolitan Music Bldg.
Boardman Arthur (Hyde Park 6137) (Tenor) 1536 E. 65th Place
Bowman Mrs. Hatswell (Evanston, Ill.) Northwestern Univ. School of Music
Brashear Roberta (Kedzie 2167) (Soprano) 139 N. Homan Av.
Braun Anna C. (Monticello 5050) 4937 N. Drake Av.
Breed Liela A. 523 Fine Arts Bldg.
Brenk Ethel (Milwaukee, Wis.) 137—20th St.
Brittan Louise (Harrison 6267) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
Browne Kathryn E. (Soprano) 6945 Stewart Av. (Normal 3162)
Burmeister Anna (Soprano) (Ravenswood 4527) 4527 Greenview Av.
Burton Arthur (Harrison 5802) 818 Fine Arts Bldg.
Burton Louise (Wabash 8703) 800 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Butler Hanna (Wabash 4870) 512 Fine Arts Bldg. (Soprano)
Calkins Elton (Summerdale Cons.) 1209 Morse Av. (Rogers Park 2928)
Campbell Sara Irene (Austin 6201) Chicago Musical College Allen Ray (Hyde Park 7604)
Carpenter 816 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8700)
Carpi Fernando (New York) Metropolitan Opera Co.
Case Anna (New York) Aeolian Hall, Met. Musical Bureau
Caspers Bertha (Soprano) (Kenwood 870) 4748 Champlain Av.
Castle Lester Hugo (Blackstone 1359) (Basso) 6434 Ellis Av.
Caton Louis (Calumet 459) 728 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har. 6528)
Chaiser Florence (Rogers Park 2034)
Chalmers Thomas J. (Baritone) New York Metropolitan Opera Co.
Clark Charles W. (Superior 8700) 839 N. Dearborn St.
Clarke Edward (Res. Ph. Edgewater 9133) (Baritone) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Clippinger D. A. 617-18 Kimball Hall
Clissold Edward T., 327 S. La Salle St. (Baritone) Con. Men's Fall Festival since 1908
Cook Dwight Edrus (Grinnell, Ia.) (Tenor) Grinnell College
Cook John Loring (Tenor) 817 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8173)
Comer Sybil (Harrison 2074) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Conrad Henrietta (Soprano) 608 W. 180th St., New York
Crabbs Elmer J. (Tenor) Tel. Park Ridge 2111.
Craven Carl E. (Tenor), 422 Fine Arts Bldg. 305 E. 54th St. (Oakland 6451)
Dahlstrom Margaret (Western Conservatory) 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Irving 5613)
Dickey Annabelle MacIntyre (Res., Hyde Pk. 7397) (Contralto) 422 Fine Arts Bldg.
De Lima Edna (New York) 158 Madison Av.
De Luca Giuseppe (Metropolitan Bureau) Aeolian Hall, New York
Devries Herman 518-528 Fine Arts Bldg.
De Young Richard (Wabash 8238) Dearborn School of Lyceum Arts
Diederich Walter (Austin 2111) (Tenor) 5526 W. Monroe St.
Doak Saba (Superior 2080) Plaza Hotel
Donath Kurt (Tenor) 613-614 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Donaldson Ruby 721 Fine Arts Building
Downing Frederica Gerhardt (Oak Park 1478) 209 S. Harvey Av., Oak Park, Ill.
Dressler Eugene (Ravenswood 3661) 4436 N. Ashland Av.
Dufresne Edouard 823 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Dunford Frank M. (Basso) (Kedzie 8310) 710 S. Central Park Av.

8013
AMERICA FIRST

NOTICE TO READER
When you finish reading this magazine, place a 1-cent stamp on this notice, mail the magazine, and it will be placed in the hands of our soldiers or sailors destined to proceed overseas.
No wrapping—no address.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY

CHICAGO, AMERICA
DECEMBER 6, 1918

Music News

15 CENTS A COPY
BY THE YEAR $2.50

LUCIEN MURATORE

AS DON JOSE IN "CARMEN"

Valparaiso University School of Music

(Accredited)

VALPARAISO, INDIANA

The University School of Music offers courses in Piano, Voice, Violin, Organ, Theory, and Public School Music.

Students may attend the Music School and also take the regular work at the University.

The Expenses are the Lowest

Tuition, $36.00 per quarter of twelve weeks. Board with Furnished Room, $39.00 to $51.00 per quarter. Catalog will be mailed free. Address

HENRY B. BROWN, President
or OLIVER P. KINSEY, Vice President

45th YEAR

Lyravine Votaw

CONTRALTO

DEARBORN SCHOOL OF LYCEUM ARTS

10th Floor Auditorium Bldg.

Theory for Singers

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC

6026 Kenwood Ave.

Phone Hyde Park 6738

Silas Wright Mountz

Vocal Culture and Art of Singing
Lecture Song Recitals

CONCERT and ORATORIO BASSO CANTANTE

Hotel Sherman, Los Angeles, Calif.

For Concert Engagements Address

MURDOCK TRIO

1316 ALBION AV. CHICAGO

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

ADAMS AND DESPLAINES STS.
FIVE MINUTES FROM THE LOOP

High Mass 10:45—Choir of 100 Voices

STRICTLY LITURGICAL SERVICE
CLASSICAL REPERTOIRE

J. Lewis Browne, Organist and Choirmaster

DONALD CAMERON BEIDLER

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITURE

LYON & HEALY BUILDING
CHICAGO

HARRISON 1237

KENNARD BARRADELL

TENOR, 624 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago

VITTORIO BARITONE TREVISAN Chicago Opera Association

Teacher of Singing

904 Kimball Hall Harrison 4480

MAESTRO ARNOLDO CONTI

Assistant Director to Sig. Campanini
Chicago Opera Association

OPERA COACH—Studio, 1528 Kimball Hall
Phone Wabash 8538

Music News

Vol. 10 No. 49

CHARLES E. WATT, Editor and Publisher

Published Every Friday at 850 McClurg Bldg., 218 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.
Tel. Wabash 5595

Entered as Second Class Matter November 24, 1908, at the Postoffice at Chicago, Illinois, under the Act of March 3, 1879

CHICAGO, DECEMBER 6, 1918

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTIONS

United States, per year, postpaid.....$2.50
Foreign, per year, postpaid..... 3.50
Single Copies, 15 Cents

Every authorized representative of Music News has a properly signed representative card.

On failure to receive The Music News regularly, subscribers should notify the office promptly.

Copies of the paper for sale at the news counter of Lyon & Healy, Gamble Hinged Company, Summy's music stores, McClurg's book store and at The Fair; or may be ordered through any of our correspondents in other cities.

In New York at Brentano's, Fifth avenue and Twenty-seventh street.

Advertising rate card will be sent on application.

Changes in advertisements must be ordered one week in advance.

All cuts made for advertisers are charged to their accounts.

BUSINESS REPRESENTATIVES

Thomas A. Fannell, Eleanore Capps Hostler, Lester Hugo Castle, Mary Carver Williams

SPECIAL WRITERS

Albert Cotsworth, Lyravine Votaw, Herbert J. Wrightson

List of Correspondents

New York
Joseph De Valdor
Foreign Editor
1 W. Thirty-fourth St.

Boston
Lester S. Butler
Steinert Hall

Cleveland
Louise Morris
Idlewood Av.

Indianapolis
Gaylord Yost
824 N. Pennsylvania St.

Pittsburgh
Mr. and Mrs. R. Knotts
Cameraphone Building

Denver
Mrs. James M. Tracy
Liszt School of Music
905 Downing St.

St. Paul, Minn.
Myrtle Weed
802 Pittsburgh Bldg.

Wichita, Kan.
Ralph Brokaw

Worcester, Mass.
Lester S. Butler
441 Day Bldg.
For Sale at
Bernard and Sumner's

Milwaukee
Iva Bigelow Weaver
Mack Block

Philadelphia
Charles W. H. Bancroft
4042 N. Darion St.

New Haven, Conn.
Arthur Troostwyk
849 Chapel

Los Angeles, Cal.
S. W. Mountz
Hotel Sherman

Erie, Pa.
Albert H. Dowling, Jr.
456 E. Seventh St.

Charleston, W. Va.
J. Henry Francis
St. John's Church

Minneapolis
Kate Mork Twitchell
3244 2nd Ave. S.
Minneapolis, Minn.

Winnipeg, Canada
Charlotte Ellen Powers
317 Birk Bldg.

KURT DONATH

LEADING TENOR IN GRAND OPERA—EUROPE AND AMERICA

Director of Vocal and Operatic Department BALATKA ACADEMY OF MUSICAL ART, Chicago, Lyon & Healy Bldg.

Artists—

We have to rent the most desirable studios in the loop—large, light and airy.

Act now; reasonable rents.

McClurg Building

218 S. Wabash Ave.

Apply to

Willoughby & Co.

7 W. Madison St., Chicago Savings Bank Bldg.

or

Chief Janitor on Premises

Telephone Central 418

CENTRAL MUSIC HALL

64-66 East Van Buren St., Chicago

Chicago's most attractive hall, devoted exclusively to concerts, recitals and other high-class entertainments
Seating Capacity 700 Rent Reasonable
For Terms and Dates, Address,

HARRIET MARTIN SNOW, Mgr
64 East Van Buren Street, Chicago
(In Summy's Music Store) TELEPHONE WABASH 8760

GRINNELL COLLEGE

Grinnell School of Music

Courses leading to

Bachelor of Music—Bachelor of Arts—Diploma

George L. Pierce, Director, Grinnell, Ia.

M. BARBEREUX-PARRY

ORIGINATOR AND FOUNDER OF THE BARBEREUX SYSTEM OF CONSTRUCTIVE VOICE PRODUCTION AND UNIFIED DICTION, director of the Vocal Department of the National Conservatory of Music, will conduct Summer Normal Classes in New York City June 17th to July 6th, in Chicago July 8th to 31st, in Asheville, North Carolina, August 15th to 31st.

A course of written lessons is arranged to assist the student and teacher. This course can be used either for preparatory or supplementary study, and can be obtained by mail for a minimum sum.

Teachers are wanted to teach this system in every locality. On application addresses will be given of teachers in all parts of the United States who are using this system with great success.

EDOUARD DUFRESNE

FRENCH BARITONE

823-24 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 6743)

FREDERICK VANCE EVANS

BASSO CANTANTE

Dean Lawrence Conservatory

APPLETON WISCONSIN

Music News

Vol. 10 · Chicago, December 6, 1918 · No. 49

Editorial

PASSING COMMENT

Just the same as in those traditional "best regulated families," so also, in all magazines and newspapers, no matter how well conducted, there will occur from time to time (sometimes oftener) little mistakes and big ones.

So, when Musical America held up Music News to ridicule a week or two ago because of a mistake we had made in reference to the Worcester Festival, we were just as heartily amused in this office as Musical America people could possibly have been in theirs, for, beyond any question, had the error been on their part, we would have called public attention to it, just as they did in our case.

ꕥ ꕥ ꕥ

As to the error itself. We stated in an editorial that Americans were, at last, getting "a chance," and not only had a young Chicagoan been appointed conductor (pro tem.) of The Chicago Symphony Orchestra, but also even so well known and austere an organization as the Worcester Festival had, for this Fall, announced a program made up entirely of American works and presented exclusively by Americans.

The joke of the matter lay in the fact that this Festival was not given at all because of the influenza epidemic.

ꕥ ꕥ ꕥ

Nevertheless it was planned and announced and this fact constituted the joyful germ from which grew the editorial in question and so, after all, it was built upon intended if not actual fact.

ꕥ ꕥ ꕥ

And to continue a little more along the same line of rejoicing—who would have believed it possible (four years ago say), that any young American could be entrusted with such work as has been placed in the hands of Eric Delamarter of Chicago?

Who would have dared to suggest that a young Chicago girl could or would be engaged as Premiere Danseuse of the Chicago Opera Association for the season of 1918-19? And yet, Sylvia Tell, only sixteen years of age, Chicago born and educated, is today actually and successfully filling that position!

ꕥ ꕥ ꕥ

Surely, young Americans are proving, as never before, that they can do all the work we have formerly placed in the hands of foreigners and that they can do it equally well, or better.

And, since this is the fact, why not insist upon equal prominence and equal pay with the foreigners?

Too long, by far, has been the time in which young American artists have been regarded as merely sporadic, episodic or ephemeral, and the time has fully arrived when each one who takes up music seriously, consistently and persistently should insist that the public accept him and his work at full value.

There should be no more preference for foreigners—no more juggling with prices when dealing with young artists, and the latter should, individually and collectively, assume that business-like attitude where there is expected and demanded a just appreciation and an adequate pay for all they are asked to present to the public.

ꕥ ꕥ ꕥ

And, to go back a little further in our story: Mistakes occur in lots of other places besides a newspaper office. For instance—the Opera House.

A book might be written about the "Contretemps of the Opera" and it would be both voluminous and entertaining.

For instance, in the performance of "Il Trovatore" at the Auditorium in the opening week of this season, some one connected with the stage management deliberately walked across the back of the stage attired in business suit and a derby hat while there was an act in progress at the front of the stage.

Of course he thought he was behind a "drop" and when, on reaching the center of the stage, he discovered that he was not, he took to his heels and ran for cover like a frightened deer. Did the audience laugh?

ꕥ ꕥ ꕥ

Also, at the opera one can hear many funny remarks from his neighbors. For instance—the lady next me one night last week was, during the intermission, scanning the names emblazoned around the stage opening. "Berlioz, Mozart, Beethoven, Schumann," she read and then, turning to her companion, "I suppose," she hazarded, "they left off the Heink because there was not room for it."

ꕥ ꕥ ꕥ

Music News receives, in the course of the year, an unlimited number of programs from all parts of the country and among these are found many of exceptional interest.

When we print these we are often told, in commendatory letters, that this item constitutes one of the most useful features of the paper.

The following program was given at the University of Illinois (Urbana) in Convocation Assembled in Honor of the British Educational Mission to the United States and is here printed as a model of appropriateness:

> Lives there a vocal specialist > with soul so dead,
> Who cannot say (of every > goldarned singer who has > won a name),
> "This my own, my own ungrateful pupil!"
> —Exchange.

Processional—The Masque of the Titans of Freedom—John Lawrence Erb.
Entrance of the University Senate; the President and Deans of the University; the British Educational Mission.
Welcome of the Mission—President Edmund J. James.
The Star Spangled Banner—Organ and Convocation.
Entrance of America and Illinois attended by Cadets of the United States School of Military Aeronautics.
Rule Britannia—Organ.
Entrance of Britain and Canada and their welcome by America and Illinois.
Address—President Edmund J. James.
Response for the Mission—Vice Chancellor Arthur Everett Shipley.
Onward Christian Soldiers—Organ and Convocation.
Prayer—Rev. John Mitchel Page.
America and God Save the King—Organ and Convocation.
Benediction—Rev. John Mitchel Page.
Recessional—Triumphal March in D flat—John Lawrence Erb.
Recession of the President of the University, the British Educational Mission, the Deans of the University; the National and State Figures with their Military Escort, and the Senate.

♯♯♯

TWIN STORIES

Bobby (at dinner table)—"Say, father, what do they mean when they say a man is prematurely bald?"

Father (who knows)—"When he gets bald before marriage, my son."

♮ ♮ ♮

Franklyn (at mirror)—"Gosh! I am getting balder and balder every day."

Emelyn—"Franklyn, you brute! What other woman is pulling out your hair?"

Maestro Giuseppe Sturani

of the Chicago Opera Association conducted the performance of

"Linda di Chamounix"

in a striking manner, making the revival a memorable event

Kathleen Hart Bibb

SOPRANO

Minneapolis Minn.

EDISON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

MORGAN L. EASTMAN, CONDUCTOR

Popular Concerts—Orchestra Hall

FIRST THURSDAY OF EACH MONTH NOVEMBER TO MAY

Edwin Stanley SEDER

Organ—Piano—Pupils. 126 E. Chestnut St. F. A. G. O.

MUSIC TO COME

Friday, December 6

Orchestra Hall, 2:30—Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Auditorium, 8—"Carmen."

Saturday, December 7

Ziegfeld Theater, 11 a. m.—Concert, Chicago Musical College.

Kimball Hall, 3—Concert, American Conservatory.

Auditorium, 2—"La Gioconda."

Auditorium, 8—"Thais"

Sunday, December 8

Auditorium, 3—Gala Operatic Concert.

Kimball Hall, 3:30—Piano recital, Leginska.

Fullerton Hall, 3 and 4:15—Chicago Concert Ensemble.

Orchestra Hall, 3:30—Violin recital, Heifetz.

Turner Hall, 3—Orchestra program, Ballmann.

Playhouse, 3:30—Piano recital, Boguslawski.

Edgewater Beach Hotel, 4—Ruth Lowenberg, soprano.

Monday, December 9

Auditorium, 8—"Romeo and Juliet."

Tuesday, December 10

Church of the Ascension, 8—Organ recital, Lester Groom.

Central Music Hall, 8:15—Haydn Choral Society, "Elijah."

Auditorium, 8—"Tosca."

Orchestra Hall, 8:15—Orchestra concert.

Wednesday, December 11

Auditorium, 8—Opera.

Thursday, December 12

Fourth Presbyterian Church, 4:30—Organ recital, Seder.

Kimball Hall, 8:15—Recital, Sybil MacDermid-Glenn Dillard Gunn.

Auditorium, 8—Opera.

♯♯♯

GRACE CHURCH, OAK PARK

Maunder's "Penitence, Pardon, and Peace" will be sung at Grace Church, Oak Park, Sunday afternoon, December 8, at 5 o'clock. Special soloists, Hildred Hanson Hostetter, soprano, and Richard C. Anson, baritone.

♮ ♮ ♮

Handel's "Messiah" will again be sung this year at Grace Church under direction of Arthur Randolph Fraser, choirmaster and organist, Sunday, December 22, at 4 p. m. Special soloists, Orpha Kendall Holstman, soprano; Permelia Gale, contralto; Robert Loren Quait, tenor, and Rollin Pease, basso.

♮ ♮ ♮

Arthur Randolph Fraser will give an organ recital at St. Barnabas Episcopal Church, Washington boulevard, Chicago, Wednesday evening, December 11, at 8 p. m. Mr. Fraser will be assisted in giving a program of patriotic organ numbers by Mrs. Sarah Pruner Fox, soprano. A collection will be taken for the benefit of the new organ fund.

♯♯♯

Murdock—The Murdock Trio appeared on November 18, 19 and 20 at the Riviera Theater. Leta Murdock, violinist, played on Thanksgiving night at Bethany M. E. Church. On November 11 Miss Murdock appeared in joint recital at the North Shore School of Music with Ruth Goodsmith, pianist.

ALICE BROWN STOUT

Alice Brown Stout, who is comparatively a newcomer in the musical life of Chicago, during the past two years has been enjoying an unusually busy season, which would seem to give adequate test of her ability as soprano, accompanist and composer.

At the time of her post-graduation from the Chicago Musical College Mrs. Stout was awarded four medals, and Wm. K. Ziegfeld, who was at that time manager of the school, said it was the first time in the history of the institution that one student should merit high honors in three distinct branches of study.

ALICE BROWN STOUT

Since that time Mrs. Stout has continued to gain splendid success, and such noted critics as Felix Borowski, Oscar Saenger, Mrs. O. L. Fox, Adolf Muhlman and Gustaf Holmquist speak in the highest terms of her work.

Her voice is a dramatic soprano of beautiful quality and clearness, while as an accompanist she has few superiors. Her best-known composition is "Snowflakes," text by Longfellow, which has been sung by Mabel Sharp-Herdien on several occasions with splendid success.

Mrs. Stout has also had considerable experience as a teacher, and, combined with much personal charm, her appearance at any musical event, whether it be in the capacity of singer or accompanist, is always greeted with the keenest pleasure.

She has just accepted the position of soprano in the quartet of the First Baptist Church of Oak Park and has been engaged to sing at the banquet of the Baptist Social Union at the Hotel La Salle on December 20.

♯♯♯

Chicago Normal School—At the Chicago Normal College on next Monday noon the annual fall concert will be given when the two glee clubs (direction H. W. Fairbank and Miss Alice Garthe) will appear; the soloists will be Roby Roberts, soprano; Elizabeth Walsh, contralto, and Frank Barnard, tenor.

♯♯♯

Thatcher—Burton Thatcher will sing at the memorial service given by Marshall Field & Company at the Auditorium on December 8.

Giacomo Rimini

Gives an impressive impersonation of Amonasro

Following are the Chicago press comments:

(By Herman Devries in the Chicago American, Nov. 26)
"Rimini's Amonasro is one of his sure fire characterizations. His voice was powerful and resonant and on the whole he made a very important success in both the dramatic and lyric aspects of his characterization. He deserves strong commendation."

(By Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago News, Nov. 26)
"Giacomo Rimini repeated his realistic dressing in the role of Amonasro and sang the music excellently."

(By Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Post, Nov. 26)
"Giacomo Rimini made a picturesque Amonasro."

(By Edward Moore in the Chicago Journal, Nov. 26)
"His singing was admirable."

This splendid baritone achieved a real success as Marcello in a special performance of "La Boheme" with Galli-Curci and John McCormack at the Auditorium Theatre with the Chicago Opera on the afternoon of December 1.

Buy YOUR Piano at Piano Headquarters

We wish that you might visit our piano sales rooms for an entire day merely as a spectator.

Here, when in need of a Mason & Hamlin for concert or studio use, come many of the greatest musicians of our time—Bauer, Gabrilowitsch, Melba, Kubelik, Muratore or their personal representatives.

You will see in one room the largest showing of grand pianos in America. And in others, more moderately priced Conover, Cable, Kingsbury and Wellington Pianos. Choose YOUR piano here and take advantage of our Easy Payment Plan.

Cable Piano Company

Cable Corner, Wabash and Jackson

F. WIGHT NEUMANN ANNOUNCEMENTS

Ethel Leginska, pianiste, will come to Chicago for a recital next Sunday afternoon, December 8, at Kimball Hall, under the direction of F. Wight Neumann. The program complete is as follows:

Sonata, Op. 53 ..... Beethoven
Allegro con brio; molto adagio; rondo
Two Etudes, Op. 10, No. 8; Op. 25, No. 7 ..... Chopin
Polonaise, Op. 53 ..... Chopin
To the Sea
Witches' Dance
Hungarian ..... MacDowell
Etude, F sharp ..... Arensky
Prelude, G minor ..... Rachmaninoff
Rhapsodie No. 13 ..... Liszt

A recital of great interest will be the joint appearance of Sibyl Sammis-MacDermid, soprano, and Glenn Dillard Gunn, pianist, Thursday evening, December 12, at 8:15 at Kimball Hall, under the direction of F. Wight Neumann.

Flora Guenzburg-Zygman will be heard in piano recital Sunday afternoon, December 15, at Kimball Hall, under the direction of F. Wight Neumann.

Carolyn Willard

Piano Virtuoso

For Terms and Dates, Address

1625 KIMBALL BLDG.

Music in Chicago

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Alice Weber, pianist; Renzina Teninga, organist and Ben Crow, baritone, will appear in joint recital at Kimball Hall, Saturday afternoon, December 7, under the auspices of the American Conservatory.

Elizabeth Walsh, an artist pupil of Charles LaBerge, gave a song recital Thursday evening, December 5, at Kimball Hall.

The Misses Eleanor Eastlake and Kathryn Keirnan, artist pupils of Ragna Linne, who make a specialty of appearing in vocal duets, sang with much success in various recent engagements.

Leo Sowerby, bandmaster in an artillery regiment, writes interestingly about his experiences in England and France.

———♯♯♯———

THE TEW STUDIOS

Owing to rapidly increasing demands upon the time of Mr. Whitney Tew it has become necessary to secure assistance in his vocal teaching.

Mr. John A. Alcott has been chosen to fill this post. It is also proposed that one of Mr. Tew's advanced young women pupils will shortly be prepared to act as a second assistant.

The complement of assistants in the studio are now Miss Harriet C. Cartwright, theory of harmony and accompanist; the Misses Lucy Levy and Winnifred Cline, assistant accompanists, and Miss Jean Sutherland, secretary.

———♯♯♯———

MOODY BIBLE INSTITUTE

On Thanksgiving day there were many functions at the Moody Bible Institute, among them a concert in the afternoon given by the following pupils of the School of Music Male Choir: Misses Meryhew, Ruth Thiers, Williams, Frederickson, Loes, Lamberton and Thompson. This was followed by a patriotic program, as follows:

Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow..Bourgeois
Audience
Invocation
The Red, White and Blue ..... a'Becket
Audience
The Stars and Stripes
Male Choir
The Star-Spangled Banner ..... Key
Audience
Address—The Call of a Higher Patriotism
Rev. Otis G. Dale, D. D.
America ..... Carey
Audience—Standing

———♯♯♯———

HONOR FOR FREDERIKSEN PUPILS

Benjamin Paley and Alfred Goldman, former violin pupils of Frederik Frederiksen, were chosen among the four from Chicago who are to be a part of the Orchestra which will accompany President Wilson on his trip abroad.

———♯♯♯———

Abernethy—Patricia Abernethy of the Piano Faculty at the Agricultural College at Manhattan, Kan., will serve during December as accompanist, as follows: On the 2d, with Alfred Johnson in recital; 8th, with Duobisky in recital; 15th, with Choral Club concert, and on the 18th she will present a number of her students in recital.

G. MAGNUS SCHUTZ IN RECITAL

Every once in a while some Chicago singer or player definitely steps over that line which separates the cultured and artistic performer from the positively finished artist and stands forth in so fine a form as to make it possible to say nothing but good things of his work.

G. Magnus Schutz, baritone, has long been known as the possessor of fine voice and of a good musicianship as well as constant intelligence in the use of these elements, but on last Monday evening at the Hinshaw Conservatory Recital Hall, in a short but beautifully chosen program, he proved himself unequivocally as belonging to that select company which may be designated properly and without reserve—artists.

His voice was smooth, musical, beautifully conserved and finely adjusted to each number presented.

His musicianship seemed without flaw and in interpretative values he was fascinating.

The program was a model of appropriateness for his voice and was a sheer delight to the audience. It here follows:

Pilgrim's Song ..... Tchaikowsky
Il-lacerato Spirito (Simon Boccanegro) ..... Verdi
Le Tambour Major (The Cadi) ..... Ambrose Thomas
Slumber Romance (Philemon and Baucis) ..... Gounod
Vulcan's Song (Philemon and Baucis) ..... Gounod
Freebooter's Songs (Minnie's Song, The Rebel, Son of Mine and Up in the Saddle) ..... William Wallace
Invocation ..... Rogers
May the Maiden ..... Carpenter
L'Heure exquise ..... Hahn
Down in the Valley Fair ..... Erball
The Wedding Day ..... Leoni
Doan You? ..... Terry
Miss Doris Stapleton—Accompanist

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

Lovewell—Mr. S. Harrison Lovewell of Arlington, Mass., formerly organist and choirmaster of the First Parish Church (Unitarian), Taunton, Mass., and editor of publications of C. W. Thompson & Co., Boston, Mass., is now in charge of the choir and music department at the Tome School, (Dr. Thomas Baker, director), Port Deposit, Maryland.

JOHN

McCormack

In America Entire Season 1918-19

EDWIN SCHNEIDER, Accompanist

CHARLES L. WAGNER, Mgr.

D. F. McSWEENEY, Associate Manager

511 Fifth Avenue (Postal Life Building)
New York

STEINWAY PIANO USED

GEORGE L. TENNEY

TENOR

Teacher of Voice Studio Room 30, Lewis Institute. Phone West 793

ESTELLE L. RUSSELL

The Art of Singing

807-808 Lyon and Healy Bldg
Telephone Oak Park 3506-W.

OLIVE NEVIN IN SONG RECITAL

To Olive Nevin fell the distinction of opening the Kinsey Concerts at the Ziegfeld Theater, and on last Wednesday morning she faced there—a capacity audience.

This audience, drawn by the magic of her name partly and partly also because of a previous fine impression she had made in Chicago—was soon so absorbed in the charm of her program and the beauty of her art, that, whatever may have been the reason for coming, that for remaining to the end and enthusiastically indorsing every item of the program was the sheer delight of the program itself as well as the individuality and personal attractiveness of the singer.

Miss Nevin is a splendid example of intelligence and musical feeling combined, and her program of Wednesday (as always) reflected both these qualities in remarkable per cent.

Not in the least is she influenced by tradition or the usual concert routine, but, in choosing her list of songs, she takes works which have individuality as well as charm and those only which she feels contain matter fitted to her individual gifts.

She uses her voice for every iota of its possibilities, and, in interpretation, she proves, invariably, that she has studied the content of each song to a finish.

Her program (printed in full in the last issue of Music News) opened with a classical group, beautifully characteristic of those represented—Scarlatti, Handel, Gretry and Bishop, each of whom was given faithful and sympathetic interpretation.

Grieg next came to place on the program, and in his "Nocturne," "Faith" and "My Goal" proved entirely amenable to the Nevin uses and a wholly fine medium for the display of her best qualities.

A Russian group, coming next, disclosed much of unique value, with considerable of the outre in mood and color and not a great deal of musical beauty to recommend them.

Miss Nevin, nevertheless, sang them as such a group should be sung and made them thoroughly interesting.

As always in her recitals, she brought her late cousin, Ethelbert Nevin, to sympathetic and beautiful notice and, as was the rule of this program, she sang nothing that was at all known excepting the "Dites Moi," which, while not in the least hackneyed, is one of the most attractive of all the Nevin compositions.

"Le Vase Brise," "Chantez! la Nuit Sera Breve" and a song from "Ruy Blas" proved to be fine works, every one—and wholly good as vehicles for the display of Miss Nevin's best work.

For encore she gave the beautiful "Nocturne," which is considered by many the very best of the Ethelbert Nevin songs, and she gave it beautifully.

Her last group contained nothing but compositions of American women, and it was a credit to them and her alike.

Those represented were Gena Branscombe, Harriet Ware and Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, the latter, in "After," providing one of the genuine thrills of the morning.

As final encore Miss Nevin, true to form, introduced another novelty (although an old composition) in the form of a stirring Marching Song by Bishop, written to a poem composed by General Burgoyne and not only very fine in itself but wonderfully apropos of the present times as well.

Altogether—Miss Nevin at this time scored one of the finest successes of the current season and not only fully justified the fine reputation she has already made here but added many more to the growing list of her admirers.

C. E. W.

###

BUREAU OF FINE ARTS

Jessie B. Hall of the Bureau of Fine Arts has booked in theaters in the past month Dorothy Hermann, Beulah Hayes, Nota Harrah, Marie Walter, Nina Layman, Mae Norton, Ruth Thorne (Georgia Nightengale), Olive Lacey, Maurice Wood, Ruth Lowenberg, sopranos; Alice Gile, Ruth Simmons, contraltos; Carl Craven, Grant Kimbell, Arthur Boardman, tenors, and Lester Luther, bass.

In permanent church positions: Martha Cook, soprano; Elton Calkins, tenor.

In lyceum: Flossie Grossjean Finch, pianist; Juanita Spannanberger, contralto; Nota Harrah, soprano; Mabel Burch, soprano; Marie Woodman, contralto; Emma Gaarde, violinist.

The Edgewater Beach twilight musicales are a fine success this year. Opened by Agnes Berry, soprano, and Glenn Dillard Gunn, the other artists appearing there have been Annabelle MacIntyre Dickey, contralto, and Grant Kimbell, tenor, in one of the most charming programs ever given in any concert room in Chicago; Mme. Henriette Pepin, mezzo, and Dorothy Lynch, violinist; and booked for future appearances are Irma Becklenberg, pianologist; Lemuel Kilby, baritone; Ruth Lowenberg, soprano; Marion Bergman, pianist; Frank Parker, baritone; Ruth Thorne, soprano; American Girls' Quartet for Christmas Sunday, etc.

All the stars on the bureau service flag are acquiring titles. Letters in this week from Sergt. Daniel Baker, Sergt. Horace Davis, Corporal McGranahan, Sergt. Raymond Harmon, Lieut. Frederic Perssons, Sergt. Joseph Kitchin, Sergt. Leonard Allen, Sergt. Donald Fiser.

###

MUSICIANS' CLUB OF WOMEN

The Musicians' Club of Women presented Toscha Seidel in the following program at Orchestra Hall last Tuesday evening:

Chaconne ..... Vitali
Concerto, D minor ..... Wieniawski
Allegro moderato; romance; allegro moderato (a la zingara)
Nocturne ..... Chopin-Auer
Mazurka ..... Tor-Aulin
Romance ..... Beethoven
Turkish March ..... Beethoven-Auer
Gypsy Airs ..... Sarasate

L. T. Grunberg at the piano

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC CREDITS

Constructive Drill Book No. 1 and 2, one dollar each, over 400 constructive drills in each.

EARN MORE — Teach adults and children partly in classes, one-half hour private lesson, one hour class lesson per week.

HELP YOURSELF — Improvise, Play and Write 95220 Modulations from one given tone. Develop Musical Memory, Intellectual Memory and Fore Feeling. Create Keyboard and Written Harmony. Teach with Scientific Pedagogy. Prices $10.00 to $220.00. Teachers may join a class any time.

Address EFFA ELLIS PERFIELD
Chicago, Ill. 218 S. Wabash Ave.
New York City, 109 W. 45th St.
St. James Hotel

MINNETTE WARREN
COMPOSER-PIANIST
Mgt. Warren Concert Bureau
305 SCHIFFMANN BLDG. ST. PAUL, MINN.

WILHELMINE LANG
DRAMATIC SOPRANO
Concert - Oratorio - Recital Pupils
2054 W. Chicago Avenue Phone Humboldt 24

MME. BRUNE-MARCUSSON
SOPRANO Concert—Oratorio—Pupils
400 Fine Arts Bldg. Phone West 611

LESTER MARGARET Soprano WILLIAM Composer-Accompanist
5211 BLACKSTONE AV. PHONE MIDWAY 8888

Melba Mae French-Barr
LYRIC SOPRANO
Studio 1530 Kimball Building Phone Edgewater 8322

MAE Doelling Pianist Teacher
2912 Burling Street

Eugene F. Dressler
NAVY

Hazel Dell Neff
Coloratura Soprano 4263 5th Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ruth Lowenberg
SOPRANO
4236 Grand Boulevard Drexel 1863

GEORGE RALF KURTZ
Organ Piano Accompanying
Sherwood Music School Fine Arts Bldg. Annex

ROLLIN Bass-Baritone PEASE
910 Colfax St., Evanston, Ill. Phone Evanston 6522

Orchard School Music and Expression
Piano, Voice, Violin, Cello, Theory, Dancing
1537 Hyde Park Boulevard. Phone Blackstone 1789

LYELL BARBER
PIANIST
Bush Conservatory Superior 8700

GERTRUDE OGDEN FLEMING
DRAMATIC SOPRANO
Centralizing School of Music Tel. Wabash 6349

ETHEL BRENK
137 20th Street SOPRANO Milwaukee, Wis.

Anne Williams Teacher of Piano and Harmony
STUDIO: 28 Latrobe Avenue
PHONE: Columbus 1760

Tollefsen Trio
CONCERTS - MUSICALES
MGT. WINTON & LIVINGSTON, NEW YORK

Marian Coryell Accompanist Composer Pupils
STUDIO: 72 West 68th St., New York

ANNA FITZIU AND EFREM ZIMBALIST AT MEDINAH TEMPLE

The postponed concert of Anna Fitziu and Efrem Zimbalist, under the auspices of the Daily World, was given in Medinah Temple to a capacity audience on Saturday evening, November 30th.

Miss Fitziu sang for her first number "The Thief" (Arditi), better known as "Il Bacio" or "Kiss Waltz." This, as usual, made a tremendous hit and served to show the beauty and brilliance of the voice and style.

For second group she sang "Awake, My Child, the Dawn Is Here" (Curran), "Inter Nos" (MacFayden), and "Ali, Ali" (Shalitt), a well known Jewish song and which brought down the house.

Miss Fitziu has a glorious voice, is a beautiful woman and she was gorgeously gowned. After her first number she sang for encore "Spring" by Mrs. Grant, and after the group "The Long, Long Trail" and "A Little Word."

Miss Fitziu, besides possessing a voice which is so big and fine as to have placed her in the front rank at the opera house—has such a fine gift of interpretation and so keen a musical sense that throughout those numbers she provided constant artistic delight and more and more as the evening progressed won the admiration and devotion of the splendid audience.

E. C. H.

———♯♯♯———

Given—Thelma Given, the young American girl pupil of Professor Auer, whose recent debut at Carnegie Hall successfully launched her on an extensive concert career, started her first American tour this week, playing in Columbus, Ohio, her birthplace, and Decatur, Ill., where she lived as a little girl.

———♯♯♯———

Tamminga—Miss Ethel Tamminga, soprano, will be a member of a quartet which will sing at the Hippodrome all of the coming week.

CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE CONCERT

The concert at the Chicago Musical College last Saturday morning was a particularly pleasing one and was heard by a very large audience.

Vocal numbers were presented in good style by Lygia Zabrocki, Irene Dunn, Gladys Farsada Banfield, and Era Lightner, the last two, who are pupils of Genevra Johnstone Bishop, appearing to especial advantage in the fine duet from "Don Pasquale" (Donizetti).

Ben Zimberhoff, a fine young student of Max Fischel, played a group of violin pieces and Lorrtaine Earnest, another talented young player, was heard in the "Scene de Ballet" (De Beriot).

The pianists of the occasion were pupils of Harry R. Detweiler, Alexander Raab, Rudolph Reuter, and Harold von Mickwitz, the latter playing the second piano part in a brilliant reading of the Beethoven C minor Concerto by his pupil, Mae Gilbert.

The other numbers were Waltz in B (Beecher), Florence Welch (Detweiler), Rhapsodie in B minor (Brahms), and Mazurka (Borowski), Beatrice Hellenbrandt (Raab), and a piano duo, "Ma Mere L'oye," by Vera Bowen and Helen Prindeville (Reuter).

E. C. H.

———♯♯♯———

LAKE VIEW MUSICAL SOCIETY

At the Lake View Musical Society on last Monday Miss Frances Papert, contralto, appeared in a group of old Scotch and English songs in costume and scored a fine success. Her numbers included "Blue Bells of Scotland" and "Stu 'Mo Run" (old Scotch) and "Passing By" and "Oh No, John" (old English). She had the advantage of splendid accompaniments from Mrs. Violet Martens Link, who also appeared successfully in an Instrumental Trio.

Two other artists who were very much liked were Fredericka Gerhardt Downing, contralto, and Charlotte Bergh, soprano.

SYBIL SAMMIS MacDERMID

In conjunction with Glenn Dillard Gunn, Sybil Sammis MacDermid will appear in recital Thursday evening, December 12, in

SYBIL SAMMIS MAC DERMID

Kimball Hall. Mrs. MacDermid's program will include songs by Bizet, Mendes, Fourdrain, MacDermid, Carpenter, and Boyd. Also arias by Handel and Godard. The accompanist will be Miss Jeanne Boyd.

———♯♯♯———

Durno — Shirley Taggert, artist pupil of Jeannette Durno, who gave so successful a studio recital on last Sunday afternoon, has appeared several times recently at Great Lakes with much success. She has also played repeatedly under the auspices of the Lake View Musical Club in recitals at hospitals and various other city institutions.

———♯♯♯———

American Conservatory—The American Conservatory has arranged a course of lectures for organ students, to begin December 11. These lectures will be given by Frank Van Dusen. Each lecture will be followed with a studio organ recital by pupils of the organ department of the conservatory.

———♯♯♯———

Lowenberg — Miss Ruth Lowenberg, soprano, will sing at the Edgewater Beach Hotel next Sunday afternoon at the Twilight Musicale, under direction of Jessie B. Hall.

———♯♯♯———

Bergman—The pianist who so ably assisted Ethel M. Rice in her readings at the La Salle Hotel last week was Miss Marion Bergman and not Beyman as reported in Music News.

Auguste Bouilliez makes notable debut as Sharpless in "Madam Butterfly" at the Chicago Opera

The Belgian baritone has been commented on as follows by the Chicago press:

"He has a very resonant, sympathetic voice. It is of fine timbre and of considerable power."

(Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago News, Nov. 20.)

"Bouilliez as Sharpless gave a creditable performance."

(Herman Devries in the Chicago American, Nov. 20.)

"Mr. Auguste Bouilliez showed that he has a fine voice and knows the stage."

(Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Post, Nov. 20.)

"Auguste Bouilliez was an impressive Sharpless, proving that his voice is of fine quality, range and power, and his mastery of routine would make any role assigned to him safe in his hands."

(Henriette Weber in the Herald-Examiner, Nov. 20.)

"He is duc to be one of the valuable members of the company. What he disclosed on this occasion was an attractive voice, of big dimensions and power, and a dignified, very human, very likable impersonation of the consul."

(Edward Moore in the Chicago Journal, Nov. 20.)

THE SYMPHONY CONCERTS OF LAST WEEK INTRODUCE TO GOOD EFFECT NIKOLAI SOKOLOFF OF CLEVELAND AND ARE GLORIFIED BY THE SUPREME ART OF THE YOUTHFUL VIOLINIST, RAOUL VIDAS

Technically brilliant young Russians, some of them exuberantly soulful, several of them hair-tossing and wildly-pacing poseurs and some, solidly and definitely fine, have come before us in such numbers the past season or two as to leave a feeling of bewilderment.

But, in the case of Vidas, who played with the orchestra in the concerts of last week, we are at no loss whatever to tell where he is "different" and in what respects he excels definitely and triumphantly.

RAOUL VIDAS

Contrary to the general rule of the youngsters we have heard he is not Russian and he is not Auerian.

He is, on the contrary, French in so far as training is concerned and, by birth, a Roumanian, this combination being a new one on our concert stage and one which, in this case at least, certainly spells artistic delight.

Vidas—a boy of seventeen—has the carriage and the poise of a man of twenty-five at least.

His technic is comparable to the best of the young artists we have heard and his violin musicianship is impeccable.

And, he has one characteristic which is his almost alone, a characteristic which does not adhere to many of the other youths of the violin and one which he shares with Jacques Thibaud, a violinist of such refinement and charm that every one who has ever heard him knows at once where to place Vidas through the parallelism.

Vidas is, indeed, noted, even as is Thibaud, for his extreme delicacy, refinement and finish of readings and for the penetratingly intense as well as wonderfully beautiful quality of his tone.

The Lalo Concerto, in which he appeared at this time, is not well known and neither is it particularly attractive, but Vidas made it the vehicle through which he poured out a stream of tone so ravishing in quality and so sustained in sentiment as to place him sui generis among young violinists.

We shall await impatiently the opportunity to hear him in a recital.

Sokoloff, serious of mien and knowledgous in manipulation of the orchestra, disclosed some traits which were admirable and which make us want, very much, to hear him again.

His accompanying of the Violin Concerto was positively ideal and his reading of the "Sketch of Central Asia" (Boradin) was uncanny in the intensity which lay underneath its very quietude and which suggested irresistibly the heat and dreariness of the desert—giving, with but little prodding of the imagination, the impression of distressing heat waves and of intolerable thirst.

The program included also the Symphony No. 1 by Sibelius (Finnish) and the Overture Solennelle, Glazounow (Russian), both presented sympathetically.

The programs of the current week are as follows:

Visiting conductor and soloist, Serge Prokofieff.
Symphony, B. & H. No. 7 (Midi).....Haydn
Adagio, allegro; adagio; menuetto; finale
Concerto for Pianoforte No. 1, E flat major, Op. 10 .....Prokofieff
Allegro brioso; andante assai; allegro scherzando
Symphonic Legend (The Enchanted Forest).....D'Indy
Skythian Suite, Op. 20 (Ala and Lolli).....Prokofieff
Invocation to Veles and Ala
The Evil God and the Dance of the Pagan Monsters
Night
Lolli's Pursuit of the Evil God and the Rise of the Sun
Rhapsody (Espana) .....Chabrier

CHARLES E. WATT.

———♯♯♯———

KNUPFER STUDIOS

At the last one of Mr. Knupfer's weekly studio recitals at the Knupfer Studios a program was given for the Rexinger Tourists. Among those participating were Dorothy Eichenlaub, Anna Daze, Agnes Blafka, Mildred Schooler, Verness Fraser and Myrtie Peterson, all members of Mr. Knupfer's artist class.

The piano numbers were:

Concerto, A minor, First Movement.....MacDowell
Dance of the Gnomes.....Liszt
Rhapsodie No. 11.....Liszt
Papillons .....Schumann
Vienna Carnaval Pranks.....Schumann
Rhapsodie, E flat.....Brahms
Invitation to the Dance.....Weber-Tausig

Mrs. Schofield, pupil of Mr. Burnetti, sang a group of songs.

———♯♯♯———

Papert-Evans—Ruby Evans, soprano, and Frances Papert, contralto, have been having very great success in their duet recitals. In some of these they appear in costume and in others in modern concert dress, and this fact, together with their varied repertoire, makes their work very attractive to the public.

———♯♯♯———

Van Grove—Isaac Van Grove was accompanist for Miss Anna Fitziu at the concert given at Medinah Temple on last Saturday evening.

MILON R. HARRIS

Milon R. Harris, with Voice Studios in Kimball Hall, is sending out an attractive card announcing his various classes, including Music History, Public School Music, Harmony, and Accompanying.

———♯♯♯———

Shaw—Among the month's engagements for Mrs. George Shaw, accompanist, were programs before the Catholic Woman's League, Fine Arts Building; Daughters of the British Empire, Stevens Building, and the British-American Woman's Club, Auditorium Hotel. Mrs. Shaw left November 27 for a three weeks' tour in Kansas, Texas and Louisiana.

———♯♯♯———

St. James—At the concert at St. James' Church on last Sunday evening the program was given by Hugo Goodwin, organist, and Earle Anderson, baritone.

J. WARREN ERB
CONDUCTOR SONG COACH
ARTISTS ACCOMPANIST
Permanently at
STUDIO HALL, 220 MADISON AVENUE
NEW YORK

GRACE HOFFMAN
American Colorstura Soprano
Concert - Opera - Recitals
216 W. 72nd Street New York City

CARLO LITEN
FAMOUS BELGIAN TRAGEDIAN
NOW IN AMERICA Dramatic Recitals and Recitations
Exclusive Management
DANIEL MAYER Aeolian Hall, New York

The Jennette Loudon Studios
PIANO :: THEORY :: ENSEMBLE
614 FINE ARTS BUILDING

WESTERN Conservatory
E. H. SCOTT Pres.
KIMBALL HALL . . . CHICAGO

GEORGE R. GARNER Celebrated Colored American Tenor
4405 CHAMPLAIN AVENUE

MARIE KERN-MULLEN
CONTRALTO
CLUBS—CONCERT—ORATORIO—RECITALS
International College of Music
63 Auditorium Bldg. Res. Tel., Edgewater 438

SAM THOMPSON
Famous Boy Soprano of Trinity Choir
Open for Concert Engagement
4802 Sheridan Rd. Edgewater 6296

Alice Brown Stout
Dramatic Soprano—Accompanist
266 PARK AVE., RIVER FOREST, ILL. Telephone R. F. 8450

Lucille Stevenson
Soprano Teacher of Voice
Available for Concerts
Address: R. M., 1625 Kimball Hall Chicago

Duet Programs

JOSEPHINE (Soprano) SULLIVAN EUGENE (Tenor)
Personal Address
233 Mason St., Milwaukee, Wis.
Mgt. Catherine B. Wendt
2230 Osgood St., Chicago
Phone Lincoln 6244

THIRZA MOSHER PARMENTER

The following songs were sung at the Lyceum Arts Conservatory recital some two weeks ago by that delightful song-bird and song interpreter, Thirza Mosher Parmenter. Every good thing which has been said of this successful young artist is heartily corroborated by this writer, who has seldom heard a voice more perfectly under control and at the same time more capable of expressing deep musical feeling.

THIRZA MOSHER PARMENTER

| | |
|---|---|
| The Belles of Youth | Speaks |
| The Robin Sings | MacDowell |
| The Sea | MacDowell |
| No La Sospiri—La Tosca | Puccini |
| Vissi D'Arte—La Tosca | Puccini |
| The Yellow Dusk | Horsman |
| The Legend | Tschaikowsky |
| Domani—Osteria | Lalo |
| Petites Roses | Cesek |
| Call of Radha | Ware |
| L'il Moon | Bartholomew |
| Love, I Have Won You | Ronald |

That genuine success is approached by "no high road" finds ample proof in the career and achievements of Miss Mosher. Being an indefatigable student and blessed with perfect health, she has toiled unremittingly, both at home and abroad, for the attainment of her high ideals.

Her schooling for the concert stage has been of the highest quality. She studied seven years in New York City under Walter Wheatley, leading tenor of the Century Opera Company; Emilio Agremonte, celebrated Spanish coach, and Charles N. Granville, exponent of the eminent French singer and teacher, Victor Maurel. The season of 1913-14 she spent in Europe, coaching with Carlo Sebastiani, who in the last twenty years has been conductor of orchestras in nearly every leading opera house in Europe.

Miss Mosher's style is that of a genuine artist. Her voice, which is a coloratura soprano of great purity, is always under perfect control. In her pianissimo the smoothness and beauty of her high voice is most perfectly revealed. The ease and naturalness with which she sings gives her work an individual charm.

She is not a mere singer, but an interpreter of songs. She sings to the heart as well as to the intellect, and so enters into her work that her audience forgets the singer in the song.

Although Miss Mosher sings with perfect diction in French, German, Spanish, and Italian, she arranges her programs mostly in English unless by special request.

Being a young woman of charming personality and untiring energy, she is assured a place among the coming artists of the concert stage.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

A PROGRAM AT THE STUDIO OF ESTELLE RUSSELL

A gracious and charming hostess is Mrs. Estelle Russell, and in her program of last Friday evening she showed also that she has a list of thoroughly fine young singers under her careful tutelage and that the progress they are making is proof of the fine pedagogic atmosphere of her workshop.

At this time Mrs. Russell introduced the Russell Trio, assisted by Bernice Austin, accomplished accompanist, and Madeleine Armistead, who gave a group of very delightful readings.

The three who sang in the ensemble are Louise Fritz, Leah Gehri and Mabel Hatton—charming girls, all of them, and each one possessed of a voice which gives promise of very definite results.

As an ensemble the work already accomplished is so fine and so far reaching as to indicate that, should they continue in this unusual line of work, they may hope to become one of the most artistic organizations of the city.

As soloists they are all attractive. Miss Gehri was particularly happy in "Little Mother of Mine," which she sang so well as to win unusual appreciation; Miss Fritz made intelligent work of her aria and put good contrasts into the "Life and Death," while Miss Hatton in her group proved herself to be the possessor of one of the most unusual voices heard in many months—very low, very full and capable of thoroughly big things.

The program follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Trio—Morning | Speaks |
| Pretty Barzarita | Harker |
| Trio—In Flanders Fields | |
| Leah Gehri | |
| Little Mother of Mine | Burleigh |
| Leah Gehri | |
| Reading | |
| Trio— | |
| Murmuring Zephyrs | Jensen |
| Sweet Little Woman o' Mine | Bartlett |
| Piano—Aufschwung | Schumann |
| Bernice Austin | |
| Love and Music (Tosca) | Puccini |
| Life and Death | |
| Louise Fritz | |
| Trio—My Heart, the Bird of the Wilderness | Horsman |
| Solo—Pathway Thru the Poppies | Thomson |
| When the Soft Winds Blow | Guerdy |
| Mabel Hatton | |

C. E. W.

Fannell—Thomas Fannell, tenor, has recently filled the following engagements: Hawkeye Club, La Salle Hotel; Chicago Druggists' Club, Sherman Hotel; Men's Club, St. Luke's Church, Evanston; Christ Church, Winnetka, Ill.; Palatine, Ill.; week of October 7, Great Northern Hippodrome (return engagement), and Warren Avenue Congregational Church.

Warner—Marjorie Dodge Warner, formerly a Chicago resident, has been singing at the Central Park Theater (vaudeville).

HERBERT J. WRIGHTSON
PIANO THEORY ORGAN
610 FINE ARTS BLDG. WABASH 2583 Residence Phone, Wilmette 2082

LEOPOLD GODOWSKY
World-Famed Pianist Season 1918-19
KNABE PIANO USED
HAENSEL & JONES Aeolian Hall New York

Iva Bigelow Weaver
SOPRANO Oratorio & Recitals
MARY WOOD CHASE SCHOOL, Fine Arts Building, Chicago
Mack Block, MILWAUKEE, WIS.

LENORA SPARKES
Lyric Soprano of the Metropolitan Opera House
Concerts, Oratorio, Festivals, Recitals
DANIEL MAYER, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK CITY
HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager

Yeatman Griffith
Teacher of FLORENCE MACBETH, Prima Donna Coloratura, and many other Artists and Teachers
318 W. 82nd St., New York. Tel. Schuyler 8537

HUGO GOODWIN
CONCERT ORGANIST Pupils Accepted 19 W. Delaware Pl., Tel. Superior 1558

THOMAS NOBLE MACBURNEY
609 Fine Arts Building BARITONE Phone Wabash 8988

Centralizing School of Music
GERTRUDE RADLE-PARADIS, President
Centralizing School of Acting
WILLIAM OWEN, Director
Departments: Piano, Theory, Voice, Violin, Violoncello, Expression.
SEND FOR BOOKLET
Box 27, 20 East Jackson Blvd., CHICAGO, ILL.

Giovanni Gennaro
TENOR

Available for Concerts
Oratorios and Recitals
831 Kimball Hall Tel. Wabash 1729
PUPILS ACCEPTED

DUNNING SYSTEM
OF
Improved Music Study
FOR
BEGINNERS
Normal Teachers
HARRIET BACON MacDonald
3623 Pine Grove Ave.
CARRIE MUNGER Long
Chicago
Congress Hotel
Mrs. MacDonald's Classes:
Tulsa, Okla., January 6; Chicago, March 9.
Mrs. Long's Classes: New Orleans, La., January 10, 1919; Birmingham, Ala., March 1; Chicago, Ill., May 1.

ANTOINETTE
ZEBROWSKA-PERLOWSKA Concert Violinist
7812 SOUTH SHORE DRIVE
Tel. So. Chicago 4865

Blanche E. Snider
LYRIC SOPRANO
429 Fine Arts Bldg. On tour with Cathedral Quartette

Letitia V. Barnum, Director
CHICAGO SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION AND DRAMATIC ART
Fine Arts Bldg. 410 Michigan Ave., Chicago

LENOX LUCIE ROBERTS
Soprano—Pupils
519 FINE ARTS BUILDING, WED. AND SAT. A. M.
1019 Superior St., OAK PARK. Phone O. P. 3530-J

Hanna Butler
Soprano PUPILS RECITAL ORATORIO
512 Fine Arts Bldg. Tel. Wabash 4870

Arthur Shattuck, Pianist
Management Margaret Rice, Secretary, 325 Oakland Avenue, Milwaukee
The Steinway Piano

Marie Edwards
PIANIST AND ORGANIST. Ill. College of Music. 2831 Washington Blvd.
907-8 Lyon & Healy Bldg. Phone Wabash 6841

BASSO Dr. Carver Williams
Cosmopolitan School Kimball Hall

ALMA HAYS REED
SOPRANO
6543 GLENWOOD AVENUE

ARTHUR RANDOLPH FRASER
Choirmaster and Organist. Grace Church. Oak Park
PUPILS—PIANO and ORGAN
TELEPHONE OAK PARK 5749

THE PREISER SCHOOL INTRODUCES A NEW MEMBER OF THE FACULTY

On last Tuesday evening at the Preiser School of Music in Austin a new member of the faculty in the person of Ralph Michaelis was introduced to the clientele of this rapidly growing and thoroughly fine institution.

RALPH MICHAELIS

Mr. Michaelis is no beginner in the work of public playing, for he has been for a number of years one of the recognized young artists of the city, and at this time the Preiser pupils and friends of the school found his work very good and endorsed it to the full.

There was present a capacity audience and he was greeted with much enthusiasm and obliged to respond to many recalls. Fannie Barnett Preiser was his accompanist and again proved her deftness and musical feeling.

The four movements of the Sonata Le Tombeau (Leclair) provided a grateful opportunity for the display of the fine tonal qualities as well as the musicianship of Mr. Michaelis, and the Bruch Concerto, following, gave a touch of the transcendent technical qualities of which he is also capable.

Eight short pieces (scheduled in Music News last week) followed and gave wide variety of musical charm as well as violinistic skill and were so much liked that several encores were necessary to satisfy the demands of the delighted audience.

Alexander RAAB
PIANIST
CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

Nicholas Garagusi
THE AMERICAN VIOLINIST For Concerts and Recitals.
Management EMIL REICH, 1 W. 34th St., New York

Clyde Stephens
PIANIST
Faculty Appointment, Coe College Cedar Rapids, Ia.

MASON SLADE
Organ Lawrence Conservatory, Appleton, Wis.
Christ Episcopal Church, Chicago
Phone Midway 930

JENNIE F. W. JOHNSON
CONTRALTO
American Conservatory. 700 Oakwood Blvd., Chicago

SABA DOAK CONCERTS ORATORIO RECITALS
SOPRANO Plaza Hotel, Chicago Tel. Superior 2680
Mgt. Alma Voedisch 1425 Broadway, N. Y.

Edgar Nelson
BUSH CONSERVATORY

Chant Sans Paroles
A New Composition for Piano and Violin by BENIOT LEVY
Published by - - The Clayton F. Summy Co.

Hertha E. Johnson
PUPILS SOPRANO CONCERTS
1207 Kimball Hall Phone Harrison 7949

DR. FRANCIS HEMINGTON
Concert Organist Pupils Received
Phone Oak Park 2464

CARL J. WATERMAN
TENOR
Teacher of Singing and Public School Music
Lawrence Conservatory Appleton, Wisconsin

HARRY DETWEILER PIANIST
TEACHING
Chicago Musical College
Pres. Columbia Conservatory, Aurora, Ill.

HAZEL SILVER Lyric Soprano
Bush Conservatory Tel. Superior 8700

Cleveland Bohnet
PIANIST, AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

REGINA HASSLER-FOX
AMERICAN MEZZO-CONTRALTO
Personal Representative, L. S. FOX, 133 Fifth Ave., N.Y

GRANT HADLEY
BARITONE
KIMBALL BLDG.

MONICA GRAHAM Mary Wood Chase School STULTS SOPRANO BASS WALTER ALLEN -- 1306 KIMBALL HALL

THE BURNS SCHOOL OF MUSIC
PHYSICAL EXPRESSION AND ETIQUETTE
M. Rose Burns, President
725 Lyon & Healy Bldg. and 401 W. 63d St.

Jeannette Durno Presents Artist Pupil In Sunday Recital

Several years ago, when Miss Jeannette Durno, the very popular Chicago pianist and teacher, was acting as judge in a piano contest at Wichita, Kan., the work of Miss Shirley Taggert came under her notice, and indeed she joined with the other judges in unanimously awarding the prize to Miss Taggert, who at that time had received but six months' instruction from a local teacher and yet had such great native ability as to be easily in the lead of all contestants.

Later, Miss Taggert came to Chicago for lessons at the Durno Studio, and on last Sunday—after just one year and a half of the Durno instruction, she was introduced to an unusually intelligent and altogether enthusiastic audience in a program of great beauty and taxing content.

She played so extremely well and won such unequivocal praise as to place herself very decidedly in the class of young artists and to again prove Miss Durno a remarkably effective teacher. An attractive girl is Miss Taggert and wholly at her ease when at the piano.

Technically she is well fitted to cope with any program of piano music, for in the Chopin Prelude in C minor (chords) she showed the ability to bring out massive tone, which, however, was perfectly under control and of fine texture, this result being a combination of powerful upper-arm technic in combination with a perfect control of the laws of relaxation, amplified and colored by scientific and skillful use of the damper pedal.

In the F major Etude (Chopin) she seemed to be able to let the notes drip from her finger tips as clearly and pellucidly as drops of water, and in the Leschetizky Intermezzo she showed a control of octave playing which embraced both daintiness and extreme bravura, and which betokened the fact of exhaustive and careful study.

Her scale also was remarkable, being limpid and beautiful, and throughout the recital she disclosed technical preparedness which enabled her always to propel musical tones and at the same time gave her free hand in the matters of movement and dynamics.

Interpretatively she showed much scope and definite characteristics.

In the Chopin Fantasie Impromptu she was particularly intelligent.

In this number, as someone said to me once, "the player must obey that biblical injunction which says that you must not let your left hand know what your right hand doeth," and so clean-cut and independent was the rhythm and the melody of each hand as given out by Miss Taggert as to prove her all-embracing preparation of each factor in the piece.

The Cyril Scott Lento, a rather uninteresting thing, was yet filled with beauty of tone by Miss Taggert, while her reading of the "Golliwog's Cake Walk" was as jolly and interesting a reading of that humoresque as this writer has heard.

"What is a Golliwog and why does he cakewalk?" said someone to me. This is a hard question and perhaps only Debussy knew the answer, but at any rate Miss Taggert made us see some sort of an ungainly, grotesque creature enjoying himself in a lot of lumbering antics, very unusual and wholly mirth-provoking and in so doing gave a definite picture.

At the close she played the A Minor Concerto of Grieg with Miss Durno at the second piano, but other duties prevented this writer from remaining for this (inevitably) fine performance.

At two points in the program Miss Taggert was relieved momentarily by Miss Brashear, a charming young soprano pupil of Mrs. Frederica Gerhardt Downing, who sang "One Fine Day" from "Madame Butterfly," "The Home Road" (Carpenter) and "Ecstacy" (Rummel), to the thoroughly musical and intelligent accompaniment of Margaret Farr.

Miss Brashear has a light and very clear voice, beautifully produced and definitely sustained throughout.

Her enunciation of text is clear and her musicianship is well advanced. She is definitely a talented pupil and one who will surely attain fine results if she continues along the same lines she has so carefully and successfully followed this far in her career.

♮ ♮ ♮

The picture used with this article gives views of Miss Durno's two studios—one at her residence and the other at the new Lyon & Healy Building.

Miss Durno is one of the most definite and exacting of teachers as well as one of the most successful of artists and in her studio functions, which occur from time to time, one is certain to hear, always, beautiful music, intelligently and beautifully performed.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

HUGO GOODWIN AND EARLE ANDERSON AT ST. JAMES' CHURCH

At St. James' Church on last Sunday occurred the fourth of a series of Sunday night musicales under the direction of Hugo Goodwin, organist of this church.

Partly on account of the weather and partly on account of insufficient advertising, there was not a large audience to hear the well-rendered program. Mr. Goodwin played four groups, consisting of Scherzoso (Rogers), "From the Far East" (Rimsky-Korsakow), Second Arabesque (Debussy), "Salve Regina" (Widor), "Oriental Scene" in B minor (Kroeger), "Song of Volga Boatmen" (traditional), improvisation on a familiar tune, "The Swan" (Saint-Saens) and "Neptune" (Stoughton). Mr. Goodwin is a very worthy organist and played with great musicianship and zeal.

Mr. Anderson, a jackie from Great Lakes and also a fine musician, sang the following: "Border Ballad" (Cowen), "I Am Thy Harp" (Woodman), "Noel d'Irlande" (Holmes), "Evening and Morning" (Spiker) and "Flee as a Bird" (Dana).

Mr. Anderson expects to be back in the music world again soon and will be welcomed. He has a fine baritone voice and uses it artistically.

H. L. W.

Tamaki Miura

A Unique Madame Butterfly—

Following are the comments of the Chicago press:

Miura Thrills Audience as Butterfly
Japanese Prima Donna Evokes Tears

(By Herman Devries in the Chicago American, Nov. 20)
"For me she is the greatest Butterfly. There never has been one like her and I doubt if you and I ever will see another of her mould."

Mme. Miura Wins as Cho-Cho-San

(By Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago News, Nov. 20)
"She has done much with her voice. Altogether her share of the evening's representation was highly commendable and often called for prolonged and well deserved applause. 'One Fine Day' must be recorded, for she received a rousing storm of applause at its conclusion."

(By Edward Moore in the Chicago Journal, Nov. 20)
"Miura's Cho-Cho-San comes nearer to being creditable than any impersonation of the Italian school I am able to think of at the present moment. Taken in combination, one is ready to swear that she is the one Butterfly of the world."

(By Frederick Donaghey in the Chicago Tribune, Nov. 20)
"She gave to the gathering, which looked and listened, something to be remembered as good art."

Japanese Diva Is Scintillant in Butterfly

(By Henriette Weber in the Herald-Examiner, Nov. 20)
"Other Butterflies may come and go, and none can fit the picture and the story so completely as this little maid from Japan. And she has the voice, too."

(By Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Post, Nov. 20)
"She made of Madame Butterfly a figure that was appealing by its simple charm. She is very skillful in the use of her voice. In the lighter passages she sings with a tone of sustained beauty, true singing according to our ideals. The final scene she sang with great power and won the tribute of many a moist eye from the assemblage. Her's is a remarkable performance."

Covers herself with glory in her performances with the Chicago Opera Association

Concerts Opera Recitals

Management, Anthony Bagarozy
1495 Broadway - New York

The Elderly Person

The urge was irresistible. Not really definite, in analysis, but so strong that the Elderly Person obeyed with small protest.

The bare feet on the cottage floor wakened echoes in a "nocturnal blackness" of a piece with that wherein "goblin's 'll get you" which Riley's "Orfan Annie" scared children with. A sleepy direction about the flashlight from the other side of the room went unheeded. The reliable, enveloping "raglan" of many years' hard service preserved the decencies and kept out the chill. . . . At a summer place the simon-pure man always adheres to some particularly rakish article of clothing as maintaining his freedom from convention. When Willis gets on his battered carcass of a hat of seventeen summers' bad treatment, when Max sports shoes with a legion years' mud in the creases and cracks and the Elderly Person dons the dilapidated raglan, then the season is on. . . . But this is digression from the story.

On the screened porch the blackness was dense, too. The patter went down the stoop to next but its lowest step and there the figure curled up to wait. Then the messenger voiced itself. Such a light, deli cate, flattering, fluttering wind aplay with the leaves. Little Debussyisms of delicious, slithering cymbals. Nothing coy or flirtatious, but the rather faintest imitations of movement and intermittent friction. These almost breathed a perfume, a vagrant fragrance borne from "one knows not whither or where." Just such whisperings of sound as Moszkowski puts into his "Spring Murmurings." The light puffs touched the face like those from the feathers from "my lady's marabou fan." In a near-by copse a solitary cricket "told straight on his simple thought," which is "the cricket's way of being still." The whirr made a background of subdued sound for the kissing leaves.

"Very early in the morning while it was yet dark," floated the words from down the centuries. But a low rumbling in the far off signaled the hour of the fast mail's approach to stations miles away and that meant dawn about due also. The rumble made its crescendo and dimenuendo with a perfection that no orchestra yet achieves and with a length, in measures, rivaling some of Wagner's "Tristan" demands. The clatter at the climax was stunning. At four miles distance the ears were as deafened as though but—well, let us not raise any discussion as to how sound can travel in such marvelous stillness. The rumble died away and left what young Peter Ibbetson wrestled with from Gray's "Elegy," and was stumped with: "And leaves the world to darkness and to me." . . . The trees were somber blotches. The shrubs were solids. Flowers had no color, objects no form. Far off, up high, were two watery, uneasy stars. Sentimentally, they were "pale stars," being first to lose their effulgence in the coming of daylight. They were not "like a diamond in the sky." Over the wrong shoulder, for bad luck, was the slenderest rim of a burned out old moon, going to her oblivion with tearful gleams.

It was a trick of the dawn to lay stress on the passing mail train. Because the Elderly Person wanted to see if he could truly discern when the darkness began to dissolve. But in that hurried two minutes the change came about. Then he saw first the outlines of the round stepping stones of the path. Not distinctly, but still they were separated from the gloom. They are literally "stepping stones to higher things" in that they lead up hill. Then the willow, grown into a fine tree from the switch which the Little Maid once pushed into the soil, began gentle undulation of its outmost twigs. They are so restless, seldom still at all. Somehow the hint of light brought more force to the wind's movement. Where it had been a whisper before it became promising sibilations, like Sindings. "Rustlings of Spring," which say a good deal, but intimate more by their repression. Along the edges of the big "slumbrous and liquid trees" a tiny glitter of outline pulsated evasively and enticingly. Discouragingly, too, because the eye could fasten upon no one point and locate its clarity, yet there it was along the weaving edge. . . . Does the light come down from Heaven first, to awaken us to adore and be still?

While the infinitessimal atoms played among the shadow of the edges in the copse a firefly lazily opened and closed its wings for a final adieu to a night of joy. An inky night for his clan, always, for a legitimate occasion. And almost at the same instant a smothered, incomplete, but undeniable crow infiltrated. It came from Michael's presumptuous young rooster who actually did not know how "his clarion to blow," as he undoubtedly confessed, with embarrassment, a second later, when the farmyard cock trod on his heels with a mighty salute. This fowl must have learned that call from Rostand's "Chanticleer," who, you will remember, believed himself commissioned to order the sun to rise. Then the wind hurried away to "whisper it to the fields of corn," tossing the branches of the trees as he went until they made Rosseau-like clusters of minutest foliage.

A little gurgle in the young elms. And at the same instant the cricket allowed the mechanism which makes his legs whirr to run down and went off his night shift. Does he depend on the first bird call for his quitting time whistle? There had been no moan from the pewee, no "sister" from the phoebe during the obscurity. But with the assurance that the robin family were awake that cricket "quit and called it a day."

When there is a baby in the family there is no telling just when or how it wakens. A sweet, gurgling, cooing gradually makes itself heard, that's all. It is loveliest of all sounds even though it becomes the tocsin for another strenuous day. The robins waken somewhat like the baby except that there is almost at once a querulous, complaining episode.

"Time to get up," says Mrs. Robin.

"Surely not," says he.

"Beyond peradventure," insists Madam, "Do I have to tell you forever that the early worms are caught by early birds? I don't want to feed my nestlings stale, insanitary, dried up fellows. The doctor says birdie needs worms pasteurized by morning dew."

"Seems to me I have a tougher time than any of the bird families. Other fellows have only one brood per season to dig worms for while I have three and four." . . . Talk about robin "singing sweetly!" He complains for a living.

While he fussed, a catbird began to practice his morning scales and was soon joined by the luscious notes of the wood thrush. These came from so near the fountain that it could be imagined he was taking his morning dip. Is that why his breast is such a bed of cotton for the brown dots to lie in, like jewels?

The powers of light and darkness are supposed to be opposites, but they are alike in that, once either obtains the upper hand, it becomes authoritative quickly. The

Cyrena Van Gordon

Gains new laurels as Amneris in "Aida" at the Auditorium

For* Concerts, Festivals and Recitals

Management

R. E. JOHNSTON,

1451 Broadway, New York

Following are the press comments:

"Cyrena Van Gordon's stage beauty was at its resplendent best, and her singing of the Amneris music was stamped with authority. She was also in very good vocal condition."—(Herman Devries, in the Chicago American, November 26, 1918.)

"Cyrena Van Gordon has a grateful part in Amneris, and she not only looks regal, but also puts into her role a very admirable vocal art. She was a most important integral of the cast."—(Maurice Rosenfeld, in the Chicago Daily News, November 26, 1918.)

"She is singing now as she never sang before. Her voice has become more smooth and more brilliant and her singing of the role of Amneris in this opera, particularly in the first scene of the fourth act, was fully as good as the rest of the performance, which is no small praise."—(Edward Moore in the Chicago Journal, November 26, 1918.)

light grew stronger so fast there was no reckoning with its unfoldings. Familiarity walked where uncertainty had stumbled. Insects took up the day's duties and a rattling milk cart on the highway said that Tom's stunt was under way.

The Elderly Person saluted it all, being glad for the life it symbolized. The thoughts flew to where the wind "crossed the church yard with a sigh and said, 'Not yet. In quiet lie.'" It was good to "have an eye for such mysteries." Comfortable, too, to turn towards the warm bed and extra snooze admissible. But at the instant a something intruded itself which was not of nature's adoring awakening. No, indeed. And in a flash came the remembrance that it was Fourth of July in this year of our Grace. The intruding noise was the indubitable, early firecracker of the young patriot near by. His appearance and concussion on the scene spelled disaster for the contemplated nap. He had a can of 'em and plenty of punk. He greeted the Elderly Person as one of the fraternity and was ready to hobnob and share patriotism and crackers.

Declining, with thanks, the civic impulses took another form. The flag was brought from its shelter, its lovely folds passing the lips and leaving a thrill behind. The pole went into its sockets and the breeze, catching the bunting caressingly, tossed it with freedom "on the loyal winds it loved so well." The fresh, vivid coloring was dominant in the myterious light. So clear and unhesitating—so boldly certain—are the hues that it is not surprising that Francis Scott Key felt that the Stars and Stripes could be seen a long way off. Humming the strains, the Elderly Person saluted and went indoors.

"What have you been doing?" was the inquiry to be answered.

"Well, I've been asking for years, 'Oh say, can you see,' but now, for once, I can say that I have seen 'by the dawn's early light what so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming.'"

MME. HANNA BUTLER STUDIO NOTES

Mme. Hanna Butler sang a group of French songs at the opening of the new Music Hall in the High School Building at Riverside late in October, scoring a fine success, as she did also in the Belgian and French National Hymns when she sang them last week at the opening meeting of the Matinee Francaise at the residence of Mrs. Door-Felt on Wellington avenue.

At the same function Mme. Butler's artist pupil, Miss Rhoda Arnold, was very successful in her singing of the Aria from "The Queen of Sheba" and in the "Jai Pleure en Reve" (Hue).

♮ ♮ ♮

Mme. Butler sang before the Mangasarin Society on November 17, and will be special soloist at the Alliance Francaise today, December 7.

♮ ♮ ♮

Mrs. Florence Chaiser, soprano, artist pupil of Mme. Butler, recently appeared with great success before the Englewood Woman's Club.

♯♯♯

Kimbell—Grant Kimbell appeared Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at Riviera Theater of last week. On December 4 Mr. Kimbell sang the Lament from "Pagliacci" with the Sinai Social Center Orchestra, under Maurice Goldblatt. On December 7 and 8 he will appear in South Bend in concert.

♯♯♯

Bishop—Mme. Genevra Johnstone Bishop gave a concert with her quartet (the Alcha Quartet) at Great Lakes, November 27. Lorraine Earnest, student of Leon Samtini, played some violin solos. A very successful studio recital was given by Mme. Bishop's pupils November 22.

♯♯♯

Simpson—Corinne Simpson of Chicago is fulfilling concert engagements in Wisconsin.

GERTRUDE OGDENS FLEMING'S STUDIO NOTES

Miss Marian Lewis and Miss Sara Roske are scheduled to appear in solo and duet numbers with Ballmann's Orchestra.

Miss Esther Lang was soloist at the entertainment given for the Sailors' Club in Waukegan, Saturday night, November 30.

Martha Williams appeared in costume singing groups of Irish, Scotch and English songs at the double program given November 29 in Central Recital Hall.

♯♯♯

Mullen—Mme. Marie Kern-Mullen sang on last Sunday afternoon at the Three Arts Club.

BLANCHE SLOCUM

CONCERTS RECITALS

Exclusive Management
JULIUS DAIBER, Aeolian Hall, New York

JAMES HAWLEY, Cable Bldg., Chicago.
Western Representative

BALDWIN PIANO USED

Giuseppe De Luca

CELEBRATED Baritone of Metropolitan Opera Co.

Address for Concerts—Metropolitan Musical Bureau, Aeolian Hall, New York City

DONATO A. PARADISO

Voice Specialist and Opera Coach

807-808 Carnegie Hall - - - - - - NEW YORK

MISCHA LEVITZKI The Genial Russian Pianist

Season 1918-19 Booking Now — Management DANIEL MAYER — HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager

AEOLIAN HALL — Baldwin Piano Used — NEW YORK

FLORENCE EASTON

Metropolitan Opera, N. Y.
Chicago Opera, Chicago
Covent Garden, London

DUET RECITALS CONCERTS

FRANCIS MACLENNAN

Management: HAENSEL & JONES, Aeolian Hall, New York

LUCY J. HARTMAN

HAYDN CHORAL SOCIETY

The Haydn Choral Society, under direction of H. W. Owens, will give "Elijah" at Central Music Hall on next Tuesday evening, December 10.

Miss Lucy J. Hartman, the distinguished oratorio singer, will appear in the contralto solos and Thomas Remington, who made so great a success at Winona Lake last summer, will appear in the name part, while Matilda Turnock will sing the soprano solos and Harlan Haics those for tenor.

There will be a chorus of 100 voices and accompaniments will be played by Edith Baughman.

MARGUERITE
NAMARA
SOPRANO
CHICAGO OPERA
ASSOCIATION

CHICAGO ARTISTS' ASSOCIATION

The first program of the Chicago Artists' Association was held in the Recital Hall of the Fine Arts Building November 19. A short program by the junior members of the association was given preceding the artists' program and was cordially received by the audience. The members appearing were Miss Alma Alpers, pianist; Miss Ruth Swanson, violinist; Miss Sophine Lobel, pianist; Miss Pearl Hughes, voice, and Mrs. Peter Bernard, voice.

The opening numbers on the artists' program were three duets, Serenade "Roi I'a Dit" (Delibes), "L'Heure Exquise" (Hahn), and "The Lass With the Delicate Air" (Arne), sung by Eleanor Eastlake and Kathryn Kiernan, that was the most artistic duet singing heard for a long time. The two voices blended beautifully, and their shading and pianissimo effects left nothing to be desired.

Mignonette Schruta, violinist, gave an interesting group including Schubert-Wilhelm's "Ave Maria," Weidig's "Venetian Serenade," Wolfe's "Mazurka," and a composition of her own called "Idylle" that brought forth insistent applause from the audience. Miss Shruta's playing disclosed lovely tone power, and splendid technical ability, instantly winning the approval of her hearers.

Rene Lund, baritone, whose work is at all times artistic and satisfying, came next on the program, singing "Love and Springtime" (Metcalf), "A Vision" (Protheroe), "A Lake and a Fairy Boat" (Homer), "The Piper" (Stoughton), and "Nature Awaits Thee" (Warner). Especially pleasing was Stoughton's "The Piper" as interpreted by Mr. Lund, while Warner's "Nature Awaits Thee" afforded excellent opportunity for his dramatic ability.

Adela Laue, a pianist of rare and brilliant technique, charmed the audience with Grieg's Six Tone Poems and Rhapsodie, F minor, by Dohnanyi. Miss Laue's playing showed intelligence and breadth of thought that, combined with splendid technique, go far toward the success of any artist.

Eleanor Eastlake and Kathryn Kiernan closed the program with another delightful group of duets—"The Charm of Spring" (Salter), "The Duet of the Stars" (Chaminade), and "The Gypsies" (Brahms-Viardot), the last named making a fitting climax for a program of such unusual attractiveness and real worth.

Helen Campbell and Beulah Taylor Porter played excellent accompaniment throughout.

L. B. H.

———♯♯♯———

Turner Hall—Ballmann's Orchestra at north side Turner Hall. The regular Sunday afternoon concert at north side Turner Hall, under direction of Martin Ballmann, will take place on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Soloists are Mme. Henrietta Pepin from Milwaukee, soprano; also the Singing Society Young Men's Choir, Hans Biedermann, conductor (40 singers), in songs a capella and with orchestra. Program of popular music will be rendered.

———♯♯♯———

Birch—Robert Birch, Chicago organist, writes friends in this city that he celebrated the signing of the armistice at Bordeaux, France, in company with Lieut. Leo Sowerby, also of Chicago.

Lucien Muratore

Makes a Glorious Re-entry at the Chicago Opera

"Lucien Muratore is one of the greatest tenors of his time."

(Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Evening Post, Nov. 27, 1918.)

"As for his singing, it is in a class by itself among the tenors of the stage who have been brought to us in recent years. He is one of the greatest tenors of his time."

(Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Evening Post, Nov. 27, 1918.)

As Don Jose in "Carmen."

"There was the same glorious, golden voice, the perfect type for French opera, round, warm, appealing and thrilling. He is the great Don Jose."

(Edward Moore in the Chicago Journal, Nov. 27, 1918.)

"The great tenor was received with a burst of applause on his first entrance, and after the famous 'Flower Song' the applause became a riot."

(Henriette Weber in the Chicago Herald-Examiner, Nov. 27, 1918.)

"His singing of the 'Flower Song' won him storms of applause and his dramatic play in the smugglers' camp scene brought him many times before the curtain. In a cast which contained several great artists, Muratore stood forth eminently as the first."

(Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago Daily News, Nov. 27, 1918.)

"Muratore rightfully awoke the first genuine storm of the evening."

(Herman Devries in the Chicago American, Nov. 27, 1918.)

Muratore Unique as Romeo.

It was Muratore Day.

(By Henriette Weber in the Chicago Herald-Examiner, Dec. 1.)

"The greatest of Romeos was in fine vocal trim and again showed himself to be a master of the vocal art in one of its most romantically dramatic manifestations. Every nuance was an artistic gem in itself, every posture and gesture bespoke the patrician of Shakespeare and Gounod. Muratore's was once more a practically perfect interpretation of a great role."

(By Edward Moore in the Chicago Journal, Dec. 2)

"His Romeo was at all times suave and elegant. He was once again one of the glorious phenomena of the company."

(By Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago News, Dec. 2)

"Our leading French tenor was in very good vocal condition and gave freely of his voice and of his dramatic talents in a role which he plays with a buoyant enthusiasm. His performance again stood forth as a capital representation."

(By Herman Devries in the Chicago American, Dec. 2.)

"Saturday's matinee set the great Muratore more firmly upon his particular pedestal of glory. His is immortal art."

(By Frederick Donaghey in the Chicago Tribune, Dec. 2.)

"Muratore renewed his admired Romeo and took uncounted calls and recalls."

(By Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Post, Dec. 2.)

Muratore Wins Glory as Romeo.

"No artist of our generation has maintained such an average of excellence."

MARIE KERN-MULLEN SINGS AT THE THREE ARTS CLUB

Voices come and go in Chicago and many are those which have some special points to recommend them and also plentiful enough is the number of those which should never seek an outlet in this busy and critical musical center.

The voice of Marie Kern-Mullen is not, however, of the latter kind, for it is exceptional in every sense of the word and also it is joined to a personality and an intelligence which certainly will make it known throughout the city and will give its possessor much success.

Mme. Kern-Mullen is striking in appearance and very strong in personality and intelligence.

Her enunciation in each language she employs is clear and definite and her conception of each song is clean-cut and always convincing.

Her voice is contralto of great range and power and it is also of refined and thoroughly agreeable quality.

On last Sunday afternoon at the Three Arts Club she sang first "Ah Love of Thy Might" (Samson and Delilah) in French and gave the fine, big song a really noble interpretation.

Later she presented "Yesterday and Today" (Spross), "Lullaby" (Scott) and "When the Boys Come Home."

In the first she was very dramatic and introduced a contrast which was vivid and effective. In the second she presented a beautifully sustained and musically conceived melody line and in the last she attained an emotionalism which few interpreters of the song have been able to present.

The Three Arts Club is a very delightful place and the audience of Sunday was wholly sympathetic and appreciative of the work of Mme. Kern-Mullen.

There was also on the program some piano numbers (name of the player was inaudibly announced) which would have been more pleasing had the piano been in tune.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

Thatcher—A largely attended recital given by students in the preparatory piano department was given in the Chicago Musical College, Recital Hall, November 13. Future events in the hall will be programs given by students of Miss Woodstock of the School of Expression and of students of Burton Thatcher of the vocal department.

———♯♯♯———

South Side Club—Mrs. Eudora B. Harbers of the Chicago Musical College faculty will give a recital on December 11 before the Chicago South Side Club, assisted by Helen W. Ross of the faculty, also Carl Rink, violinist; George F. Kortzenborn, baritone, and Irene Monroe, solo dancer.

WAUKEGAN CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Music lovers of Waukegan turned out in a goodly number Thursday evening, November 21, to hear the annual fall recital by pupils of the Waukegan Conservatory of Music, Mary Hotchkiss-Love, president. Illness on the part of some of the pupils altered the original plan of the program and although previously advised that some especially talented of Mrs. Love's pupils would not appear, the program as it was presented was in no wise a disappointment.

That the Waukegan Conservatory stands for and maintains high ideals is very evident. Those appearing were of three classes —vocalists, pianists and violinists, the latter being pupils of Professor Mandy and, if I mistake not, both vocal and piano students were pupils of Mrs. Love. Each individual showed careful instruction and conscientious preparation. The following is the program:

Piano—Hungarian March ..... Engelman
Helma Vilin

Violin—
Minuet in G ..... Beethoven
Polish Dance ..... Drake
Marshall Meyer

Piano—Dancing Fireflies ..... Meyer-Albersleben
Vera Jones

Vocal—Sunshine of Your Smile ..... Ray
Alfhield Smedberg

Piano—Gigue ..... Watson
Helen Amann

Vocal—
Carmena ..... Wilson
Near the Well ..... Quinlan
Ellen Johnson

Piano—Star Spangled Banner ..... Arr. Hoffman
Lois Rockafellar

Piano—The Surf ..... Merz
Marjorie Mills

Piano—Punchinello ..... Rachmaninoff
Julia Osling

Vocal—Dismal Care (Martha) ..... Flotow
Mrs. Josephine Darrow

Piano—Spinning Wheel ..... Raff
Jessie Julian

Piano—C Minor, Prelude ..... Rachmaninoff
Clarence Ericson

Violin—Fantasia Appassionata ..... Vieuxtemps
David Cohn

Piano—Second Hungarian Rhapsody ..... Verdi-Liszt
Louise Osling

Chorus—
America Will Fight for Freedom and for Right ..... Arr. Love
Marseillaise ..... de Lisle
Ruth Love, accompanist

T. F.

———♯♯♯———

LEGINSKA OPENS SEASON AT MAINE MUSIC FESTIVALS AND EARNS "EASY MONEY"

Portland and Bangor, Me., were the first cities to hear Leginska play this season, and that they fully appreciated and realized the treat is shown by the columns of newspaper praise given the little pianist.

"The greatest woman piano player of the century" is the Bangor Daily News' verdict, while the Portland Telegram echoes with "Leginska, the piano wonder, whose technic and mastery of her instrument is nothing short of marvelous."

All of which, however, is not quite such an awe-inspiring tribute as that of two little newsboys who, standing by the curb as Leginska entered her taxi to go to the concert hall, were overheard to remark: "Gee! there goes Leginska. She gets $1,000 for playing two little pieces on the piano. Some easy money, ain't it?"

———♯♯♯———

Holmes—The choir of Emanuel Lutheran Church presented "The Song of Miriam" (Schubert), under direction of A. Alfred Holmes, on last Sunday evening.

A Rendezvous for the Elite—Artists and Musicians

PANCRAZI'S
Genuine Italian Restaurant and Rotisserie
486 COLUMBUS AVENUE
BETWEEN 83RD AND 84TH STREETS
NEW YORK

HUGO GOODWIN
ORGANIST AND CHOIRMASTER, ST. JAMES EPISCOPAL CHURCH
DIRECTOR BACH CHORAL SOCIETY. ORGAN, PIANO, VOCAL COACH
WITH INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE 666 RUSH STREET SUPERIOR 7283

ALLEN RAY CARPENTER TENOR Kimball Hall

CHARLES W. CLARK "Master of the Song World" BARITONE J.C. Barker, 803 N. Dearborn St CHICAGO

H. W. OWENS VOCAL DIRECTOR WESTERN CONSERVATORY Voice Teacher Coaching PHONE WABASH 3506

Morgan KINGSTON LEADING TENOR METROPOLITAN OPERA CO., New York Concert Direction Metropolitan Musical Bureau AEOLIAN HALL NEW YORK

GUSTAF HOLMQUIST
624 So. Michigan Avenue BASSO 'Phone Sunnyside 6111

RINGO MARGUERITE SOPRANO 414 W. 121st St., NEW YORK CITY TELEPHONE MORNINGSIDE 8905

"Triumph for Matzenauer"

with Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra

"She sings with heartfelt passion numbers from Chausson, and Tschaikowsky."

—Huneker

James Gibbons Huneker in NEW YORK TIMES—

Margaret Matzenauer was magnificent. The singing of this woman carries us back to the glorious days of Lilli Lehmann and Milka Ternina.

Reginald de Koven in NEW YORK HERALD—

Mme. Matzenauer sang the lovely music with full appreciation and poetic feeling.

Sylvester Rawling in NEW YORK WORLD—

Margaret Matzenauer was the soloist. She was stunning to look upon and in superb voice. She sang with fire and passion, tempered with artistic discretion and intellectual understanding.

William J. Henderson in NEW YORK SUN—

Her singing yesterday delighted the audience.

Max Smith in NEW YORK AMERICAN—

Her gloriously ample voice was heard to advantage in the Chausson music which she proclaimed with great dramatic power and eloquence, always preserving, however, full intellectual control over her emotions.

Pitts Sanborn in NEW YORK GLOBE—

Rarely has any woman been blessed with such a throat and such a native musical gift—a voice which is hardly short of phenomenal.

PHILADELPHIA NORTH AMERICAN—

Her singing of "The Flower of the Water" was instinct with mystical poetry, while she rose to sublime tragic heights in the final "Death of Love."

PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER—

No finer or more satisfying exemplification of the vocal art than Mme. Matzenauer provided is readily imaginable, and the enthusiastic heartiness of the applause which she elicited bespoke the appreciative intelligence of her hearers.

PHILADELPHIA PRESS—

It is stale news that Margaret Matzenauer is one of the few most accomplished artists on our stage—concert or operatic. But to have heard the simplicity and distinction with which she sang the little Tschaikowsky songs was to have had an illustration of the heart-reaching fundamentals on which a great art is based. Only the real artist can do the simple things supremely well.

Exclusive Management: HAENSEL & JONES, Aeolian Hall, - New York

FRANK LA FORGE, Composer-Pianist Assists at All Concerts STEINWAY PIANO

SECOND WEEK OF OPERA

AIDA

The second week of the season opened with the usual big Monday audience, possibly the finest society display of any night of the week.

Whether this is true because of the fact that Society wishes by patronizing Monday night extensively to prove its superiority to the tradition of "wash day," or whether it is because this is considered a good way to open the week's activities, is a question.

At any rate, Monday is a big night always. It was particularly big last week because of the fact that at that time Rosa Raisa made her reappearance in the part of Aida, one which is indissolubly connected with her local prestige.

She is, indeed, a very great interpreter of

(1) MARY GARDEN
(2) CLEOFONTE CAMPANINI
(3) BAKLANOFF IN "TOSCA"
(4) RIMINI
(5) ROSA RAISA IN "LES HUGUENOTS"
(6) TAMAKA MIURA
(7) JOURNET
(8) GALLI-CURCI
(9) MURATORE IN "PAGLIACCI"
(10) O'SULLIVAN
(11) MYRNA SHARLOW IN "WERTHER"
(12) STRACCIARI
(13) HUBERDEAU
(14) DOLCI
(15) FLORENCE MACBETH AS MICAELA

the part, and in the vocal score she finds a splendid vehicle for the display both of that power which is so certainly hers and also of the finesse which is possessed by but few dramatic sopranos but unquestionably has been brought to full perfection by Raisa.

Arimondi was the same heavily stepping King we have observed so many times, and

AMELITA GALLI-CURCI
Coloratura Soprano

Virgilio Lazzari as the High Priest made another fine impression both as to fitness for the part in appearance and action and in the skill with which he handled the vocal score.

Cyrena Van Gordon, improved so greatly this season as to give unquestioned proof that she has been studying assiduously the past year, disclosed in the part of Amneris not only a regal bearing and beauty but also in the vocal score showed herself to be one of the finest of contraltos now in opera.

Dolci, announced for Radames, was not able to appear, and in his place the thoroughly dependable as well as wholly artistic Forrest Lamont came on without rehearsal and scored one of the big successes of the week.

The part is not so absolutely suited to him as others he has presented, for he is romantic and lyric rather than dramatic and robusto. Nevertheless he has enormous versatility as well as splendid musicianship, and it is believed that he could assume with entire satisfaction any tenor role of the operatic repertoire.

He was one of the best-looking tenors who have ever essayed the part on the Auditorium stage.

Rimini, a very versatile man, with a voice which comfortably fits a wide variety of scores, is at his best in the part of Amonasro, and in the duet passages with Raisa he was especially fine.

The third act, enlisting the services of Raisa, Rimini and Lamont in very full and special measure, was more beautifully done than this writer remembers to have ever seen it, and this great excellence was largely, also, because of the wonderful art exercised by Georgio Polacco, who held the baton.

Throughout the opera this exceedingly talented man held all the stage forces to exact command with one hand while with the other he manipulated the Orchestra in a way to make everyone wonder at his power as well as his finished reserve.

He is a very great Conductor, and Chicago has accepted him without reserve.

Chicago has been accustomed to hear the music of the Priestess sung beautifully, and among those especially remembered for loveliness of voice in this part are Mabel Riegelman and Mabel Hall—but the newcomer to the part on last Monday—Emma Noe, quickly and certainly proved her right to be measured by the most distinguished of predecessors, and in the measurement she proved herself entirely up to all requirements.

A beautiful voice is hers and—very evi-

LUCIEN MURATORE
As Don Jose

dently, it is backed up with musicianship and intelligence.

Sylvia Tell and the corps de ballet did a charming dance, and all the pageantry of the opera was up to the usual Chicago standard—a very high one.

But—the Chorus did not distinguish itself. There was considerable laxity in singing and there was so much uncertainty of movement as to suggest that rehearsals had not been as frequent or as diligent as they should have been.

In passing, it may be said that this same laxity was observed in "Carmen," but that in "William Tell" on Wednesday we witnessed a performance in which every factor seemed to have been trained to the final degree.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

CARMEN

The performance of "Carmen" on Tuesday will long be remembered by the Chicago reading public because of the fact that while every daily newspaper—save one, wrote glowingly about it and especially of the first appearance of Muratore, the one exception was particularly unkind and equally unjust in treatment both of Muratore and Marguerita Sylva, who sang—for the first time, the part of Carmen.

Of course critics will disagree, but in this case—the critic of the Tribune stood absolutely alone in an opinion which seemed to everybody else to have no basis in fact or justice.

Miss Sylva is very pretty and very dainty. She gave us a perfectly beautiful and charming Carmen, with not much dramatic fire and not a bit of coarseness.

Her costumes were the best remembered, with the one exception that it is hardly conceivable that the real Carmen would have worn in the Tavern Scene an almost priceless string of matched diamonds.

The Sylva voice is not a great one, but it is very pleasant, and her participation in all the ensembles proved conclusively that she has both musicianship and routine.

And—speaking of ensembles, the Quintet has absolutely never been done with a smarter crack nor with a more perfect adjustability of one part to the other than at this time by Sylva, Alma Peterson, Irene Pavloska, Nicolay and Daddi, while the many trio bits involving the three Gypsy girls (Peterson, Pavloska and Sylva) were absolute delight both to the eye and the ear.

With so many fine sopranos sighing for "a chance" in any opera, and with voices unnumbered almost, superior to that of Myrna Sharlow, it becomes a wonder that she should have been put on to sing the part of Micaela when so palpably out of condition as on last Tuesday.

In times past she has sung the third act aria beautifully, but she did not do so at that time.

Lucien Muratore, superb in style as ever

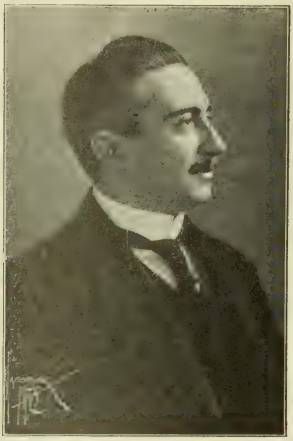
ROSA RAISA
As Aida

and with an even added breadth and dignity, was again the Don Jose, and—entirely as usual, he swept the audience off its feet with the glory of his singing and the perfection of his dramatic art.

Desire Defrere sang his usual part, and young Corenti did a bit very well.

Sylvia Tell and the other dancers appeared in the last act and added one more leaf to their growing book of popularity.

Louis Hasselmans was the Director and, for the second time—proved himself a really



GIUSEPPE STURANI
Conductor

remarkable character and a worthy alternate with Polacco. He has originality, intelligence, technic and style, and in "Carmen" was not afraid to exercise all of them.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

WILLIAM TELL

A desperately dull opera is "William Tell," but on Wednesday evening it was made to carry a burden of keen interest through several unusually propitious circumstances.

To detail these in order—When, in the first act, Warren Proctor, the young Chicago tenor, began to sing the solo of the Fisherman at the back of the stage, the effect was electric, for, without any question—no more beautiful voice nor any greater purity of quality has been disclosed on the Auditorium stage in many years.

The audience reacted to this in the most unusual manner, and on every side could be heard exclamations of surprise and delight.

The part played and sung by Mr. Proctor was not a long one, and in the action of it he disclosed the fact that he is still in the formative stage of operatic work, but,

JOHN McCORMACK
Tenor

beyond any question—the absolute beauty and purity of his voice and the perfection of his musicianship and style were such on Wednesday evening as to have given him an upward move in the estimation of everyone who heard him and to have put him in the running for a continually growing success.

VIRGILIO LAZZARI

He will not develop into a robust tenor, probably, but, in the opinion of this writer, the work he did last Wednesday evening as well as that of the previous Sunday at the popular concert was such as to prove conclusively that as the Duke ("Rigoletto"), Alfred ("Traviata"), Rodolfo ("Boheme") and similar parts his voice and his personality point irresistibly to a career comparable only with that made by John McCormack in the earlier years of the Chicago Opera, when he was doing those parts continuously at the Auditorium.

The next feature to come to attention was the singing of John O'Sullivan, who at this time made his American debut.

The part of Arnold is a very trying one—for it demands of a singer that he possess every attribute of both the dramatic and the lyric tenor, and that in ensemble he be absolutely a giant in power and endurance.

Mr. O'Sullivan was, very likely, a little nervous when he first appeared, and his early solos did not bring unqualified approval, but, scene by scene, he progressed in the display of intelligence, style and voice until—at the last, he had scored a very great success.

In manner he may safely be compared to Mary Garden, being the definite masculine parallel to her feminine characteristics.

He has exquisite taste in costuming and in posturing, and, altogether, he gave us at his first appearance much to admire and much to build our hopes upon that he will be one of the growing sensations of the season.

The next sensation was Yvonne Gall, who, in a gorgeous red velvet robe, impersonated Mathilda beautifully and artistically.

The opera was cut to some extent and her participation in it was therefore not of long duration, but every moment was fraught with charm and beauty, and she succeeded in impressing every auditor again with the

Marcel Journet

Gives a splendid characterization of Athanael in "Thais" at the Chicago Opera.

Following are the press comments:

"Journet returns with a voice sounding at least ten or fifteen years younger than it was before. Athanael is a baritone role, but he appeared to be fully at ease in it; he sang it exquisitely, with a fine, rotund, suave tone of lovely quality and good expression."—Edward C. Moore in the Chicago Journal, November 23, 1918.

"Mr. Journet gave a quite remarkable performance of Athanael."—Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Evening Post, November 23, 1918.

"The role of Athanael became more realistic than formerly. The transition from the fervent, religious ascetic to the lover was brought out graphically. He sang it with vocal finish and with great warmth and power."—Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago Daily News, November 23, 1918.

"The French bass-baritone finds a way to illuminate the character of Athanael with a wealth of interesting detail. In facial expression, makeup and both histrionic and vocal interpretation, Journet presents one of the best characterizations on record of this difficult role."—Herman Devries in the Chicago American, November 23, 1918.

"Marcel Journet was welcomed back and greeted with eager applause upon his first entrance, the heartiness of his greeting being but a forerunner of the enthusiasm which his fine impersonation of the Monk created."—Henriette Weber in the Chicago Herald-Examiner, November 23, 1918.

fact of her great gifts, her superb art and her unquestioned routine.

The next point of great interest was the remarkable ensemble offered by Auguste Bouilliez, Marcel Journet and O'Sullivan.

Rossini, in this opera, has laid on the work for these three with lavish hand—again and again must they, as William Tell, Walther Furst and Arnold, appear in heroic song and action, and on Wednesday night they rose to these successive climaxes splendidly.

Bouilliez as William Tell was a dominant figure throughout, both vocally and in dramatic action. Margery Maxwell as his son sang well and acted very prettily, going to the great ordeal of having the apple shot off her head with the sang-froid of a child who has been bribed with a dime to take a dose of medicine.

Defrere, Huberdeau, Dua and Berat did small parts, and Constantin Nicolay as the

MARCEL JOURNET
Baritone

Grandfather gave another of his faithful genre pictures.

Charlier conducted with skill and style.

The Opera was beautifully mounted, and the Chorus knew its work.

The Orchestra did fair work only except in the famous Overture, which was played in genuine concert style.

There was a dainty ballet also—but all these factors combined could no more than arouse interest for about half the time taken to present the very long work, and again was it proven that "William Tell" is an opera for occasional resurrection only and that were it not for the beautiful trio numbers for the three leading men its music score would hardly be worth preserving.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

LINDA DI CHAMOUNIX

Another revival of an old-time opera occurred on Thanksgiving night, and in "Linda" there was found a vehicle for the display of all that beautiful vocalization and quaint old-fashioned charm possessed by Galli-Curci and which was given such eloquent expression in "Dinorah" last year.

The opera was revived beautifully. The scenic investure was neat and restful, the Chorus work, both in song and action, was fine, and the Orchestra played with animation and style under the alert baton of Giuseppe Sturani.

But when the old operas are "revived" in modern style, when the scenic investure is made modern, when the Orchestra and Chorus are such as could not have been

YVONNE GALL
French Soprano

dreamed of in the day when the opera was first current, why do not the stage manager and the artists combine in an agreement to drop the old "traditions" which, when introduced in this day and age, are nothing short of distressing?

For instance, every one of the principals on last Thursday evening, after his or her big songs, invariably kept the action waiting while they stood and bowed, for minutes at a time, and even in the most ridiculous instances they returned to the stage to acknowledge applause when by so doing they utterly ruined the dramatic flow of the piece.

Wouldn't it be a great joy to have an old opera (as we sometimes have a new one) go straight ahead without the actors paying any attention to the audience at all until the end of the act?

"Linda" (which is the nomenclature adopted by Chicago for the old Donizetti opera) gives wonderful singing opportunities to a number of stars as well as providing the place for good characterization and skillful acting—opportunities which, in every case, were splendidly conserved at this first performance of the work in Chicago for many, many years.

Vittorio Trevisan, an incomparable comedian, brought to "Linda" all that wealth of refined and effective fun-making which he has employed so often and so wonderfully well in "The Barber" and in the big scene with Galli-Curci especially he was irresistible.

His singing voice also was exceptionally good at this time. Forrest Lamont, the thoroughly attractive young tenor, assumed his fifth role for the still new season and scored his fifth big success of the year.

In the romantic part of Carlo he looked and acted splendidly, and in the singing of the graceful music he was magnificent. The big duet with Galli-Curci proved to be one of the most charming moments yet offered this year.

Virgilio Lazzari, with a voice which is nothing less than phenomenal and with a presence and poise which encompasses every part with entire credibility, sang the part of the Parish Priest and did it most sympathetically as well as with beautiful vocal art.

Stracciari had the part of The Father, a character role of great possibilities, and he met them all splendidly.

Madalena, his wife, was skillfully and very effectively done by Maria Claessens, while small parts, all well taken care of, were in the hands of Oliviero and Beryl Brown.

Carolina Lazzari made her second appearance for the season and created a genuine sensation both by the charm and dignity of her presence and the beauty of her interpretation of a very sympathetic role (Pierotto), and also in the glory and finish of her wonderful voice.

Here is a voice of such rare beauty and volume as well as of such perfection in production as to make it comparable with the

LYCEUM ARTS CONSERVATORY
(INCORPORATED)
ELIAS DAY, Director
EDWARD CLARKE, Associate
"DEFINITE PREPARATION FOR A DEFINITE WORK"
Our faculty includes such well known names as Elias Day, Sibyl Sammis-MacDermid, Louis Kreidler, Frederick Morley, Katherine Howard-Ward, Charles Edward Clark, Jeanne Boyd, Frederik Frederiksen, Tor Van Pyk, Ora Padget-Langer, Louise Cozad, Carl Kiamsteiner, Thirza Mosher, Frank H. Borstadt, Jr., Will H. Bickett, Rachel Steinman Clarke, Oranne Truitt Day, Mary R. Fitch, Marguerite Kelpsch, Willis A. Behrens, Irma Montgomery Gibson and Nance D. Thompson.
A thorough education is offered in music and dramatic art, leading to diploma and degree.
More than 300 young people have secured positions in our concert companies during the last five years. For Free Catalog Address
FRANK A. MORGAN, MANAGER
Box M. N. 600-610 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Chicago, Ill.

Alma Peterson
∴ SOPRANO ∴
Re-engaged for Third Season with Chicago Grand Opera Association
Management,
WINTON & LIVINGSTON
Aeolian Hall New York

Mme. Marie Yung
DIRECTOR
European Ballet School
(Former Ballet Mistress Chicago Opera Association)
Specialty
Individual Solo Instruction
400 Fine Arts Bldg. Phone Wabash 7342

very greatest contraltos ever heard in this country.

In basic quality and in the glory of the lower tones it is like the voice of the once very famous Scalchi, but in evenness of scale and ease of production throughout it is immensely better than that of the once famous singer.

Besides, Scalchi, when heard in this country, was an unattractive woman, past middle age, while Lazzari is young, vibrant, and beautiful.

Some one said to me, "Just wait until you see her Delilah in 'Sampson and Delilah,'" and I am certainly waiting impatiently, for beyond question that will be a wonderful performance.

Galli-Curci was in a radiant mood on Thursday night and in perfectly glorious voice. She assumed the part of Linda with the utmost of simplicity and bucolic charm in the first act, played the dressed-up beauty (a la Manon) of the second act with dignity and style, and went through the episodes of the demented girl very cleverly and with entire conviction to the audience.

Imagine, if you can, how "easy" it would be to change from a demented girl to one of sound mentality during the course of a single song—and then, when you reflect that Galli-Curci did this in an entirely credible manner, you will have a new respect for her histrionism which, while not overpowering at any time, is always and completely adequate and satisfying even in the old operas, such as "Dinorah" and "Linda," which would be almost impossible of successful impersonation by the vast majority of singers.

The score of "Linda" affords some very good Galli-Curci moments, one coloratura song of the first act (well known) suits her admirably and was sung adorably on Thursday, the mad scene provides a good pyrotechnical display, and the duet with Carolina Lazzari was a joy not to be forgotten.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

TOSCA

One of the best "wearing" of all operas, and one indeed to which many repetitions bring only added charm, is "Tosca."

This is (1) because of the plausibility and consistently dramatic working out of the story; (2) because of the very wonderful orchestral score, and (3) because the three major parts in this opera provide unusual opportunity for the artists who essay them.

LOUIS HASSELMANS
One of the New Conductors

On last Friday evening, when the opera received its first performance for this year, it assumed its usual importance as a play and a spectacle, for it was magnificently presented, while in the matter of orchestral manipulation, as in fact in the handling of the entire music score, there was provided the utmost of pleasure as well as considerable novelty through the superb directing of all the forces by Polacco, who was at the baton.

This brilliant man and consummate musician is not afraid of contrast nor of color, and he applies both with lavish hand. The singers must needs be big ones to measure up to the demands he makes upon them, but on Friday night there was no question of failure on that standpoint.

Rosa Raisa, who sang Tosca for the first time, dressed the character magnificently and acted it with much vigor as well as an abiding refinement.

Her voice was in superb condition and covered all of the score splendidly, rising to tidal eloquence in "Vissi d'Arte" and (with Dolci) sweeping to a whirlwind success in the bravo duet of the last act.

Dolci, very fine to the eye in the dress of Cavaradossi and with an ample and power-

JOHN O'SULLIVAN
Tenor

ful dramatic tendency, proved to be as robust as well as thoroughly refined an impersonator of the part as we have had, while rarely indeed in any role at the Auditorium have we heard more glorious singing.

The last act solo was particularly fine. Baklanoff, always a little different from anyone else, played Scarpi convincingly, even though much more quietly than we have been accustomed to see, and in the vocal score he was at least adequate.

Constantin Nicolay played Angelotti with good dramatic effect and with fine vocal display, and Vittorio Trevisan as the Sacristan repeated a part which, in his reading, has become a tradition and a classic at the Auditorium.

Desire Defrere was the Sciarrone, and Marie Pruzan, who sang the little song for the Shepherdess, disclosed a sweet but very small voice—in fact her solo was almost inaudible.

The pageantry of the "Church Scene" was more admirable than usual, being given an added touch of firmness and solidity by the skillful use of the organ, an item which has been omitted in late years, and the chorus throughout was fine indeed.

As for the orchestral score and its reve-

Virgilio Lazzari

Scores brilliantly with the Chicago Opera as

Ramfis in "Aida"

The following are the press comments:

"His voice is a genuine basso, clear, brilliant, of fine quality and expressive. With such a voice the trial scene of the fourth act is worth hearing and it was so on this occasion."—Edward C. Moore in the Chicago Journal, November 26, 1918.

"Virgilio Lazzari was impressive as the High Priest. His voice sounded rich and solid."—Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Evening Post, November 26, 1918.

"Virgilio Lazzari found the role of the Priest a grateful one and improved in voice on most of his predecessors."—Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago Daily News, November 26, 1918.

"Virgilio Lazzari is the finest High Priest I have heard in Chicago and behold he sings in tune."—Herman Devries in the Chicago American, November 26, 1918.

lation by the conductor of the evening, it would be impossible to speak in terms too glowing.

C. E. W.

ROMEO AND JULIET

The usual Saturday matinee throng was in attendance and sat enthralled through the four long acts of "Romeo and Juliet," held spellbound by the well-remembered art of Muratore in the part of Romeo, set opposite, on this occasion, to the exquisite and potent Juliet of Yvonne Gall.

Here is another splendid "double-star" attraction and one which will, inevitably, take hold of the Chicago fancy just as have other famous events the past year or so.

Yvonne Gall is so inherently beautiful of face and form, and she has such exquisite taste in clothes as well as a wonderful feeling for the niceties of the stage, that she could not fail to find in the Gounod masterpiece a magnificent vehicle for the display of her charms and her talent.

She certainly looks and acts Juliet to the very life and she sings the music equally well.

Opposite Muratore, both in action and song, she lives up to his great traditions beautifully, and the art of each of these two remarkable singers merges into and offsets the art of the other as can happen in but few castings of any opera.

Muratore, in glorious voice this year and with an even added dignity, poise and grace at his command, gave us again his matchless reading of the Romeo score and again was rewarded with that whirlwind applause which always follows his efforts in this opera, as indeed it does equally in every other one he essays.

Arimondi, Dua, Maguenot, Pavloska, Journet, Berat and Defrere contributed again those parts which they have done before and so often in such fine solo and ensemble effects, Maguenot, Journet and Pavloska being particularly fine in their offerings, while Auguste Bouilliez, who is destined to become a very great Chicago favorite, was one of the best Capulets ever seen on the Auditorium stage.

Charlier, suave and effective as ever, was the conductor. There was a pleasing ballet display, the scenic investiture was, as usual, one of the finest offerings of the Chicago Opera Association, and the beautiful dressing of principals and chorus made again a vivid and beautiful picture.

C. E. W.

MADAME BUTTERFLY

The Saturday night packed house found the Puccini music and the engrossing story of the hapless Japanese maid much to its liking, and in Tamaka Miura a compendium of the action. In fact, the opera may be said to belong to her. Not only in wealth of knowledge of correct detail, with ease and poise to use these for ornament and illumination, nor in the presence of dramatic talent of a first order, but in the vital quality of voice and genuine musical feeling she meets the complete requirements of the role in such fashion as to be the embodiment of the luckless heroine of the tragic story. An astonishing volume came in the big moments and there were other times when the mezzo voice was felt with touching effect. She differs from all who sing the role in that her accents are placed elsewhere. The points which they exaggerate she treats lightly as not being the true illustrations. Her markings should be preserved for future exponents. At present she is uniquely, artistically, alone.

Forrest Lamont is a rousing good Pinkerton; his voice is large, ringing and brilliant, with a passionate intensity which never flags. Vitality radiates in all that he sets his hand to, and he was splendidly in the picture. The lovemaking in the first act and his remorseful "Adieu" later on throbbed mightily with spirit and purpose.

And Bouillez proved one of the best of Sharplesses. The voice is ample and well controlled. He proved his individuality by making much of the child in the scenes—a usually overlooked point but wonderfully effective.

Irene Pavloska added new laurels to her conception of Suzuki. The flower duet has never been better done.

Alma Peterson has only a small bit to do, but proves her fitness by doing it more than well.

Trevisan, Nicolay, Defrere and Daddi added each his own portion to round out a wonderful whole.

The orchestra was like an ocean of sound. It muttered and fumed sullenly; it sighed in soft lappings of mysterious secrecy; it was turgid and ugly; it sent sprays of scintillant color in dashing confusion; it sobbed and wailed in long waves of mournful heaving; it fought and beat in anger; it tore at restraint and strove to unleash its fury, to break bounds and destroy. And ever and anon it thundered in blinding storms of furious power, gathering up into one over-

FORREST LAMONT

Proves His Artistry in Various Roles at The Chicago Opera

Following Are the Press Comments:

As Pinkerton In "Madame Butterfly"

Chicago Herald and Examiner, November 20, 1918—(By Henriette Weber)

LAMONT SINGS EFFECTIVELY

Forrest Lamont, who made good as one of the American artists in the Chicago company last year, had assigned to him the ungrateful task of trying to make us like that cad, Pinkerton, and while he could not change the story he certainly proved himself well equipped to sing the music with finish and eloquence.

The Daily News, November 20, 1918—(By Maurice Rosenfeld)

FORREST LAMONT PRAISED

The role of Pinkerton was given to Forrest Lamont, an American tenor, who was one of our most capable singers and artists last season, and last evening he gave conclusive evidence that he will again prove himself to be a versatile and valuable member of the company. His tenor voice is growing in volume and warmth and he did his share of the singing in the first act most admirably.

Chicago Evening Post, November 20, 1918—(By Karleton Hackett)

Mr. Forrest Lamont made a good Pinkerton, making that rather dubious representative of our navy appear like a fairly decent fellow, and singing with feeling.

Chicago Daily Tribune, November 20, 1918—(By Frederick Donaghey)

Lamont sang Pinkerton well; and he looked it.

Chicago Daily Journal, November 20, 1918—(By Edward C. Moore.)

He is a fine, upstanding artist with a splendid voice and a good stage presence. It was good to hear a vigorous, youthful sounding voice in the love duet at the end of the first act. It had high merits of its own. The result was that when the last high note was reached the audience burst into loud applause.

Chicago Evening American, November 20, 1918—(By Herman Devries)

Lamont's voice is in excellent condition. It sounded very fresh and ringing, especially in the duet with Butterfly. He is a very capable young singer.

As Nicias in "Thais"

Chicago Herald and Examiner, November 23, 1918

Forrest Lamont sang the music of Nicias well.

The Daily News, November 23, 1918

LAMONT'S SINGING PRAISED

Surely Lamont's singing was the best we have heard of them usic writen for Nicias.

Chicago Sunday Tribune, November 24, 1918

Mr. Lamont gave to Nicias more of good voice than it had in any season.

As Folco in "Isabeau"

Chicago Evening American, November 25, 1918

LAMONT AT HIS BEST

Forrest Lamont was at his best in the role of Folco; in fact he was remarkably well cast, surprising even those who have always applauded him as one of Mr. Campanini's most reliable young singers.

Chicago Herald and Examiner, November 24, 1918

Forrest Lamont did exceedingly well.

Chicago Daily Journal, November 25, 1918

He sang his various solos as though they meant something musically. In fact he succeeded in giving meaning to that of the first act, which ended with the catching of a hawk on the fly. This is an easy place to score an error, but Lamont is an American, and he fielded the play perfectly.

The Daily News, November 25, 1918

Mr. Lamont earned a big share of the evening's applause for his fervent singing.

whelming chord the passionate music it held in its folds. All evening it dominated, impressed, conquered, illuminated. Polacco is its master—a director of the first magnitude.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

♮ ♮ ♮

LA BOHEME

Days in advance the Auditorium was sold out for the double-star event—Galli-Curci and John McCormack in "La Boheme," which remarkable function took place on Sunday afternoon in the presence of an audience as enthusiastic as it was remarkable in size and complexion.

The opera was beautifully put on and in every detail proved a most delightful reading. Giuseppe Sturani, called to the baton on short notice because of the illness of Polacco, proved himself a thorough master of the situation and gave a fine reading of the score.

The part of Mimi is not in any sense a coloratura one, and in it Galli-Curci has no opportunity whatever to exercise those particular gifts which so entrance the multitude.

But—on the other hand, the Mimi music is lovely throughout, and when rendered with such exquisite art as is possible for Galli-Curci it becomes a genuine benediction.

John McCormack, especially gifted for lyric tenor parts in the opera, and whose many successes in earlier years of the Chicago company are affectionately remembered, was again that same delightful Rodolpho he taught us to adore in years past.

The two incomparable solos of the first act (Galli-Curci and John McCormack) were impeccably presented, as was also the beautiful duet with which the act closes, while the "Adieu" music of the third act, in which both participate, was particularly fine.

In this scene a perfection of ensemble was attained by the addition of Rimini and Pavloska as the quarreling lovers, each of them having attained special distinction in earlier numbers, and Mme. Pavloska having given in the "Waltz Song" of the second act an exhibition of skill and art which placed her very high in the esteem of the thoroughly delighted audience.

Huberdeau made his usual big appeal in the last act; Trevisan was the inimitably merry and always refined comedian as Schaunard, and the cast was filled out, definitely and well, by Daddi, Oliviero, Cantor and Lendesman.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

Other Operas

On this (Friday) evening the opera will be "Carmen," and Muratore will sing.

On Saturday at the matinee Rosa Raisa will appear for the first time in "La Gioconda," and the cast will be made notable also by the appearances of Carolina Lazzari, Dolci, Rimini, Nicolay and others.

In the evening "Thais" will be presented with the same notable cast of its first performance, including Gall and O'Sullivan.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock there will be another Gala Concert, and the next week will begin on Monday evening with a repetition of "Romeo and Juliet."

♯ ♯ ♯

FREDERIKA GERHARDT DOWNING FOR THE OPERA

The many friends of Frederika Gerhardt Downing, Chicago contralto, are congratulating her on her engagement by the Chicago Opera Association, and Music News offers also congratulations to the company on the acquisition of so fine and sincere an artist as is Mrs. Downing, whose wonderfully fine voice will certainly prove a valuable addition to the opera forces.

♯ ♯ ♯

HANS HESS IN CELLO RECITAL

Hans Hess, the brilliant young Chicago cellist, will give a recital during the season under the management of F. Wight Neumann.

Louis Hasselmans

makes his debut as conductor and creates a furore in the performance of "THAIS" with the Chicago opera.

Following are the press comments:

"Louis Hasselmans made good, proving that he has an authoritative beat and fine sense of the balance of ensemble. It was good to hear the score subdued where it should be and to catch the finer nuances of modern French orchestration."—(Henriette Weber in the Chicago Herald-Examiner, November 23, 1918.)

"He commands the orchestra with suave but authoritative surety. The Meditation was applauded with unusual enthusiasm for the exquisite phrasing from the Hasselmans brain."—(Herman Devries in the Chicago American, November 23, 1918.)

"He disclosed temperamental traits, a command of the orchestral body, an intimate knowledge of the score and an alert regard for the singers."—(Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago Daily News, November 23, 1918.)

"He is a conductor with the power to bring out the meaning. The orchestra played excellently under his direction and he will prove a valuable addition. He had not been conducting five minutes before he was a huge success."—(Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Evening Post, November 23, 1918.)

Mr. Hasselmans conducted with much eclat the performance of "Carmen" on November 26th.

SHERWOOD MUSIC SCHOOL

The large audience at the Sherwood Recital Hall Friday evening showed, by generous applause, that the two-piano program given by some of Miss Georgia Kober's pupils was well received.

One is apt to suppose that an entire program of "just one kind" of music would prove a bit monotonous, but this was avoided by consummate skill in the selection and arrangement of the works presented.

For some of the pupils it was the first public appearance since studying with Miss Kober, but they, as well as the others, gave full and complete testimony that they had "imbibed freely" of her teaching. At no time was there apprehension as to the support they were to receive, as Miss Kober, in each instance, took care of the orchestral parts on the second piano in her usual sympathetic manner.

The program opened with Mozart's C minor Fantasie, arranged by Grieg, played by Miss Ruth Thompson in a delicate but accurate way that was truly Mozartian, yet with the Grieg flavor.

Miss Gwendollyn Llewellyn gave a nice interpretation of Arensky's "Waltz," playing the dreamy passages with exquisite grace and attacking the big chord skips fearlessly and precisely.

"On the Mountains," by Grieg, was played with excellent taste by Miss Elizabeth Lovell. Miss Lovell has a fine touch and displays good judgment in using it.

Miss Hazel Crone, in Chaminade's "Morning" and "Evening," proved to be a young player of much promise, as her work in this pleasing number showed conscientious study and fine discrimination.

The same was true of Miss Margaret Anderson in her playing of Schytte's "Barcarolle." The characteristic rhythm of a boat-song was nicely brought out and the melody sung with good tone.

Because of the illness of the pupil who was to appear next on the program, Miss Meta Kummer, who is "always prepared," substituted, at the eleventh hour, with Liszt's Preludes in a most satisfactory manner. Miss Kummer's playing is always good because of her earnest and sincere work in preparation.

The remainder of the program consisted of the first movements of three popular Concertos—Pierne's C minor, played by Miss Marion Rinn; Grieg's C minor, by Miss Frederica Toenniges, and Rubinstein's D minor, by Miss Helen Holcombe.

These young ladies showed real musicianship in technic and interpretation, and give much promise of even greater achievements in their chosen field. Added interest was given the Pierne work from the fact that the author, with his orchestra, is soon to appear in Chicago. The Grieg C minor Concerto is a favorite with the Sherwood Music School because Mr. Sherwood studied this work under Liszt and introduced it to America.

W. G. H.

♯ ♯ ♯

Wedertz—C. Gordon Wedertz was in charge of the musical portion of the Elks' annual memorial service at Cohan's Grand Opera House on Sunday, December 1. Amy Neill, who was studying with Professor Leopold Auer in the Chicago Musical College last month, was the solo artist.

Yvonne Gall

makes a glorious debut as "Thais" with the Chicago Opera on November 22nd.

"Massenet's music was vocal gold in her hands."

—Henriette Weber in the Chicago Herald-Examiner, November 23, 1918.

The following remarkable comments are from the Chicago press:

"Yvonne Gall, a beautiful Parisienne, gave Chicago the first real Thais heard here. Mlle. Gall was seen and heard and conquered easily. She is one of the most scholarly artists among the women that it has been Chicago's good fortune to hear. Massenet's music was vocal gold in her hands."—Henriette Weber in the Chicago Herald-Examiner, November 23, 1918.

"Mlle. Gall makes her own appeal by reason of a fresh, full, young voice of excellent range, warm and pleasant in the medium register and especially charming in mezzo-voce. The mirror scene was sung with firm tone."—Herman Devries in the Chicago American, November 23, 1918.

"She sang throughout with musical feeling and with many a nuance of expression. Her debut must be recorded as a success for she was recalled many times."—Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago Daily News, November 23, 1918.

"Miss Gall is by far the best representative of the French school that has been brought here in recent years. She plays the part with the grace that all who succeed on the French stage must either have by nature or acquire, and she can sing. Her voice is rich in color, especially in the middle register, of ample range and power. There was deep feeling in her tones."—Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Evening Post, November 23, 1918.

"The typical French soprano voice has as characteristic a tone as a clarinet. As nearly as her tone may be put into words it is clear and always perfectly true to pitch."—Edward C. Moore in the Chicago Journal, November 23, 1918.

MAX ROSEN'S RECITAL

Max Rosen complimented his Chicago following, and it proved to be a goodly and enthusiastic one, on Sunday by arranging an unhackneyed program for his recital. F. Wight Neumann, with his clear perspicacity, was the sponsor. Kimball Hall, bright and cheerful, was the place, and Mr. Rosen and the audience did the rest to make the event a notable one on a day crowded full of high-grade music.

Through the cool, clear arches of the stately Nardini Concerto came the processional of lovely music. That gave the note of repose to contrast with all the fire and passion and technical demands of Paganini's D minor. Burleigh's "Summer Idyll" brought a spell of the enchantment of serene outdoor beauty, making way for the witchery of Kreisler's embellishment of a Dvorak "Slavonic Dance," so good as to be worthy quick repetition. The slow-moving Elgar offered a surprise in the deftness of projection he has infused into his "Capricieuse" and prepared the way for Burleigh's "Perpetual Motion," a breathless bit of grace and stunning speed. Godowsky's well-made and atmospheric "Legende" provided an exquisite interlude between Burleigh and Auer, whose "Concert Tarantelle" brought the printed program to a close. The supplemental program was still going at 5:30, with an applauding and eager multitude loudly cheering the smiling young man who had won a most pronounced success and aroused the most cordial approval. The encores were as fresh and enjoyable as the unworn numbers making up the formal program. And Rosen did them with cumulative power and verve—as much as to say what he had done was only a warming-up process and he was now ready to play indefinitely! The audience certainly gave him every encouragement to go on, too.

MAX ROSEN

In every way Mr. Rosen has gone further on in his strides toward the high places in his profession. He is grave and serious, for a young man, with a reverence toward his art which pervades his varied offerings. What is done carries on its face a valid musical reason—there is no apparent exploitation of either talent of technique. What might be felt as reserve is only sweet reasonableness and a seeking to let the music filter through his personality and speak for itself. One marked exception to this general rule is evidenced in the things which carry a certain wild strain. The Auer "Tarantelle," for example, and one of his encores was Magyar-like as to themes. These seemed to touch a certain chord in Rosen's make-up and he put into them a nameless intensity that was almost perversity beside his well-ordered scheme of things.

His tone is fuller, larger, warmer, more pulsing with emotion than a year ago, but the outstanding trait which made him friends in his debut then still abides with him. His violin sings all the time. He seldom allows any interpretative demand to rob it of its pure, smooth sweetness. It throbs with a fine emotion throughout. If there are difficulties to overcome there is nothing to indicate their presence. Fluent, easy, unvaryingly mellow and appealing is his music, suggesting a rarely fine soul at the heart of it all. His present is great, but the future will give him rank among the mighty.

Emmanuel Balaban, his accompanist of a year ago, if memory serves, was again at the piano. An evident comradeship between the two young men made the ensemble admirable.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

A. G. O.

Probably the largest assemblage of the local chapter of A. G. O. assembled at their monthly dinner on Monday. It was Composers' Night. Marie Sidenius Zendt was there to sing four of Herbert Hyde's lyrics, and he was there to play them. One, a "Bird Song," was written for Mrs. Zendt, and by the tokens of a hearing it belongs to her. Together they made it delicious.

Walter Keller's brilliant and unusual "Canon" for piano was assigned to his son for utterance—capitally presented amid hearty enthusiasm. An address on French music by Charles Koechlin of the Official Mission of French Scholars was the final item of entertainment.

Thatcher—Pearl Townsend, pupil of Burton Thatcher, will sing at the Illinois Pageant, Hibbard School, Albany Park, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

On Thursday evening, November 21, th Evanston Musical Club gave Goring Thor as' lovely cantata, "The Swan and the Sk lark." The soloists were Mary Ann Kau man, soprano; Edna Jukes, contralto; A bert Lindquest, tenor, and Charles E. Lu ton, bass. The chorus was in the best trim and sang with conviction and in e cellent ensemble. Miss Kaufman, who voice is well known in Chicago, sang wi dramatic brilliancy. Mr. Lindquest, young tenor who is pursuing his studies New York, gave evidence of promisi worth in his reading of the beautiful ten part. Edna Jukes, who sang the contral role, is an artist pupil of Mr. Grant-Schaef and sang with satisfactory assurance a interpretation in every detail. Charles Lu ton, in the bass aria "A Grecian Poet," the beginning, and again at the end, ga a most substantial and artistic frame to t whole work, and not only did he win wi voice but with the personality which he a ways possesses in the singing of orator parts.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

On next Saturday morning at 11 o'clo the program will be given by Magda Jense Elsie Barge, Mrs. Nelson C. Brewer, Lu Miller, Mrs. S. V. L. Rodriguez, Gilbe Ross, Madeline Reed and Margueri Kelpsch.

Mendelssohn Club—The Chicago Me delssohn Club, Harrison M. Wild, condu tor, opens its twenty-fifth season with concert at Orchestra Hall, Thursday ev ning, December 12th. Arthur Hacke tenor, will be the soloist.

Reuter—Rudolph Reuter of the Chica Musical College faculty will present a r cital of works for piano and chamber mus at Davenport, Iowa, December 8.

Lucy J.
Hartman
Contralto
"Ideal Messiah Singer"

Preiser School of Music
Founded by Albert Leo Preiser
Offers courses in Piano, Violin, Voice, Dramatic Art, Violoncello, Cornet, Clarinet, Saxophone, Mandolin, Guitar and Banjo. Pupils' Recitals given semi-monthly.
FANNIE BARNETT PREISER, Director
530 N. Pine Ave. Phone Austin 2541

MARIE SIDENIUS ZENDT
SOPRANO
Grasmere Hotel
Chicago
Telephone
Ravenswood 3700

ROSA RAISA

Triumphs in LA TOSCA

Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago News (November 30):

"The greatest of the Dramatic Sopranos made her initial appearance in this capital part at the Chicago opera on November 29."

The following are the comments of the press:

By Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago News (Nov. 30.)

"Last evening her interpretation of Floria Tosca was one of the greatest operatic characterizations we have had from this star. Vocally she gave a rendition rich in tone and artistic in musical ideals. Dramatically it rivaled the portrayals of the best exponents of this well known tragic personage and pictorially it was a revelation in elegance of costume and grace of carriage. Her Tosca is a role which has established her as a great dramatic singing actress."

By Herman Devries in the Chicago American (Nov. 30.)

"She sings with a limitless wealth of rich, pure tone that never at any time grows harsh or grating."

By Henriette Weber in the Herald-Examiner (Nov. 30.)

"She gave a delineation of Sardou's heroine that was positively thrilling. She sang brilliantly."

By Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Post (Nov. 30.)

"Miss Raisa sailed through the performance in brilliant fashion. She looked quite stunning, played the part with Italian fire."

By Frederick Donaghey in the Chicago Tribune (Dec. 1.)

"It was fine, sane acting. No Tosca has been lovelier to the looker-on. Musically, Tosca 'holds no tests for Raisa.'"

COLLEGE OF ST. TERESA

Conservatory of St. Cecelia

Winona, Minn.

The Conservatory has trained some of the ablest artists and teachers in the Northwest.

State Music Teachers' Examinations of Licentiate grade required for any diploma.

Piano, Pipe-organ, Violin, Voice, Normal Music Course, Public Speaking, Counterpoint, Harmony, Music History.

Address the Secretary

Saida Ballantine

Ballantine Bureau

Manager of

Musical and Dramatic Artists

CHAUTAUQUA - LYCEUM - CONCERTS - COACHING

1528 Kimball Hall Telephone Wabash 8538

CHRISTIE

LANGENHAN

SOPRANO

Oratorios

Concerts

Recitals

MANAGEMENT

HUGO BOUCEK 116 West 39th Street NEW YORK

ALICE SJOSELIUS

SOPRANO

"Mistress of a tone surpassingly exceptional"

Direction, EVELYN HOPPER
Aeolian Hall, New York City STEINWAY PIANO

Chicago Piano College

Twenty-third Year

THE WELL KNOWN SCHOOL FOR SERIOUS STUDENTS

DIRECTORS: HARMON H. WATT ELEANOR F. GODFREY

KIMBALL HALL BUILDING CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

THE PYRE PLAYERS

For several months the Pyre Popu[lar] Players, under direction of Walton Py[le], have been delighting a fine clientele at [the] Warrington Theater, Oak Park, and cl[osing] ing there on Thanksgiving night, they h[ave] gone to Fort William, Canada, where th[ey] expect to play a round of standard dra[ma] throughout the balance of the season.

The last bill given at The Warring[ton] was the merry comedy, "Officer 666," a[nd] in this there was shown a skill and fin[ish] which was the natural result of the rout[ine] acquired during the long season and wh[ich] presages that the Canadian season will [be] an unqualified success.

D. M. Selden played the part of "Offi[cer] 666" with care and skill and Mr. Cas[ey] who has grown to be a prime favorite [in] Oak Park, was effective as "an Officer."

Bess Bennett, a genuinely success[ful] player of young girl parts and an actr[ess] of much routine, played Helen, while M[ary] Cooper, who has also become a sta[r] favorite in Oak Park, was the Sadie.

Mr. Way, attractive as ever, played [the] part of Travers Gladwin and Mr. Pyre [was] a distinct pleasure in the role of the J[ap] a fine part and one which he understa[nds] to the smallest detail.

Miss King, who will unquestionably pr[ove] a fine success in Canada, played the p[art] of the Aunt in "Officer 666," and as [has] been the case throughout the season pro[ved] thoroughly competent, while Mr. Doyle a[nd] Mr. Jones as "Raffles" and "Captain [of] Police" were intelligent and pleasing [in] their work.

For the final production at Oak P[ark] Allen York was assigned to the part [of] Whitney Barnes and in this found a fr[esh] vent for his talents than in most of [the] parts he has played, for he has the you[thful] vivacity and good looks to clearly typ[ify] this important role and throughout the p[lay] proved his adaptability and his dram[atic] gifts.

C. E. W.

###

YOST IN ALL-AMERICAN PROGRA[M]

The distinction of being the first viol[in]ist to give an all-American recital will [go] to Gaylord Yost, composer-violinist, wh[o] appeared in Indianapolis December 5 [at] Hollenbeck Hall. For many years Mr. Yost has been an ardent worker for [the] recognition of native composers, and s[uch] programs have from time to time represe[nt]ed practically all of the American writ[ers] of violin music. He was one of the fi[rst] to publicly perform the Carpenter Son[ata] which work he introduced in 1914.

The following program is of uncommon interest by virtue of the fact of its breadth, scope and great variety, proving conclusively that a violin recital of genuine and substantial worth can be built from "Americas own."

Pasquale Tallarico, the gifted pianist, assisted at the piano in the Carpenter wo[rk], and John Gunder acted as accompanist [for] the other numbers. The complete progr[am] follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Sonata, G major | John Alden Carpe[nter] |
| Mr. Tallarico and Mr. Yost | |
| Melody | Arthur Fo[ote] |
| Serenade No. 2 | Gaylord Y[ost] |
| American Dance | Albert Sto[ne] |
| Concerto, E minor | Cecil Burle[igh] |
| Moment Musical | Carl Be[ck] |
| Serenade Negre | Francis Macmillen |
| Scherzo giocoso | Albert Spalding |

RAYMOND WILSON

Raymond Wilson, the pianist, has recently appeared in two important recitals in Syracuse, playing on Tuesday evening at the Mizpah Auditorium under the auspices of the Recital Commission in a joint recital with Charles M. Courboin, organist; Haig Gudenian, violinist, and Florence Girton Hartman, soprano. Mr. Wilson's selections on this occasion included Ravel's "Fountain," Dohnanyi's "Cappricio," and the "Paraphrase on Theme from 'Eugene Onegin'" by Tschaikowsky-Pabst.

On Wednesday, November 27, Mr. Wilson appeared on the program of the morning musicales at the Onondaga, playing a group of Chopin numbers. Mr. Wilson's work on both occasions was characterized by virility and brilliancy. Runs of sparkling clarity, a technique which was so ample that it made the most difficult passages seem insignificant, a deep and satisfying tone, and a fine sense of proportion appeared in all his renditions. He was received with great enthusiasm by large audiences on both occasions and scored marked success.

———♯♯♯———

Thatcher—Miss Esther Essig, student of Burton Thatcher and of Ethel Woodstock, read "Madame Butterfly" and sang excerpts from it at the Austin Baptist Church, November 21.

DECATUR, ILL.

Millikin Conservatory of Music Artists' Series opened on Monday evening, November 25, with Thelma Given, violinist. A capacity house welcomed Miss Given most enthusiastically to her childhood home town.

Other artists in the series will be:
January 14—Joseph Bonnett, organist.
January 30—Cornelius Van Vliet, cellist.
February 25—Charles W. Clark, baritone.
March 25—Ethel Leginska, pianist.

In spite of the war conditions the Millikin Conservatory has a larger enrollment this term than for the four terms last season. The Music Kindergarten also has an enrollment of ninety-eight children ranging in age from 3 to 7 years.

———♯♯♯———

ARTHUR A. PENN, COMPOSER OF "THE MAGIC OF YOUR EYES"

Arthur A. Penn, not Albert Penn as erroneously stated in Music News last week, is the composer of the very popular "The Magic of Your Eyes," a song which is destined to such a great popular success that everyone will want to know the exact name of its composer.

The Witmarks are to be congratulated on having been able to add this song to their catalog.

SOME OF FLORENCE EASTON'S "EARLY STAGES" REVEALED

To an interviewer on the New York Evening Mail Florence Easton, who sang with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra last week at Carnegie Hall, besides creating her usual furore at the Metropolitan Opera House, confided that her family was willing for her to become a concert singer, but absolutely refused to hear of an operatic career. Whereupon 17-year-old Florence, spurred on by this family opposition, went up to London to sing for an opera impresario and returned home, not with a contract, but with a promise that if she would spend her summer learning roles she could have a contract in the fall. This was more difficult to accomplish than it sounds, for in order to practice these roles the would-be prima donna had to continually visit friends and relatives, since her own family had no sympathy with her operatic ambitions. But all's well that ends well, and Florence Easton has certainly ended, or rather arrived (both meaning the same in this case) at the top.

———♯♯♯———

Rankel—John Rankel, baritone, sang on November 25 with the Chicago Male Quartette for the Chicago Drug Club, and on November 26 for St. Luke's Men's Club, Evanston.

ORRIN BASTEDO
BARITONE
Appeared Successfully with the Society of American Singers Season 1918
Concerts-Opera
Personal Address 257 W. 86th St., New York

Carolina Lazzari
LEADING CONTRALTO
CHICAGO OPERA ASSOCIATION
Management: CHARLES L. WAGNER
D. F. McSweeney, Associate Manager
511 Fifth Avenue, New York

ETHEL LEGINSKA
Eminent Pianist
Management Haensel & Jones
Aeolian Hall
New York
STEINWAY PIANO USED

LYRIC SOPRANO EDNA DE LIMA FORMERLY OF THE LONDON COVENT GARDEN
FOR CONCERTS, OPERA, RECITALS
MANAGEMENT HAENSEL AND JONES AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK

THELMA GIVEN
Violinist
Management:
Metropolitan Musical Bureau
35 West 42nd Street, New York, N. Y.

TEW
WORLD'S GREATEST VOCAL TEACHER
Engages to equip every pupil with an understanding of the Art of Singing, which insures a natural, unforced compass of from three octaves upwards of PURE, BEAUTIFUL, FLEXIBLE, and POWERFUL tone. (a) Principle of Co-ordination Applied to Vocal Mechanism, possible only through reversal of all modern Vocal Orthodox Methods. (b) Understanding of Principle (Logos), the Only Teacher.
SUITE 612 AND 613, FINE ARTS BUILDING, CHICAGO
TELEPHONE—WABASH 6990

FRANCES COATES IN COSTUME RECITAL

"Musical Etchings" was the title given by Lucie Roberts Lenox to the costume recital given by her artist pupil, Frances Coates, on Friday evening. It proved an appropriate title indeed, for the lines were clear and undisputed as to technique and preparation and yet there was the delicacy of curve, the fleeting suggestion, the value of effect to produce the atmosphere of the periods represented.

Miss Coates is gifted with a marked sense of mimicry and Mrs. Lenox has known how to develop the talent without robbing it of individuality. It was easy to believe that every pose and action was the result of study, but the impression left was that of artlessness, as if the means used t project the moods were, spontaneously the moods of the songs. And Miss Coate has a good voice and knows how to us it as well. It has apt flexibility, adequat range, is even, pure and true. Best of al the musical instinct is unerring and th training has made excellent use of this fac tor, so that taste, talent and instructio have worked together to fit well the youn woman for a place of definite service in th musical world. Without seeking for th crowded fields she can find the uncultured one where etchings of the first orde are appreciated. Every one does not un derstand an etching. Those who do hav knowledge and insight.

FRANCES COATES

Miss Coates' recital was divided into fou parts. I missed the Irish songs. Th French ones included a group of the popu lar "Chansons"—street and folk songs. I these Miss Coates was particularly happy doing them with an abandon altogethe felicitous. She proved her sincere musica worth by a rapt presentation of that al most perfect essence of song, Huhn' "L'Heure Exquise." Nothing in the eve ning was of greater worth than her par in this offering.

The Dutch group had the patter o wooden shoes to make it lively. The musi used was largely from the light opera school and served its rather fleeting pur pose well. Best of all was Bohm's good song, "The Vow," put over with a nea archness.

The English costume was adorable an Miss Coates fitted her tempos to what i demanded. Very dainty and elegant wa the style of Dr. Arne's "Lass with th delicate air." The pronunciation was im maculate. In fact one of Miss Coates vital assets is the ability to make hersel readily understood. She did the "Tragi story of Barbara Allen" with choice Victo rian neatness and "Oh! for a husband" deftly and surely made its coquettish way. Mabe Daniels' "Soldier Cap" afforded a brillian finale which was supplemented by Fay Foster's "Americans Come." It's a truly dramatic song and it should be a safe pre diction that it will long be found on pro grams—so compact and effective is its con struction and content. It had fine force this time.

The abused word "charming" may be ap plied correctly to the event and congratu lations go to Miss Coates and Mrs. Lenox Alma Berming Law was an accompa nist of admirable assistance and skill.

There was dancing afterwards. It re quired magnificent self-control to deny one's self the proffered privilege of the "first dance" with the concert giver. Some day I may claim it!

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

———###———

Zouboulakis—At the dinner given by the Serbian Congress at the LaSalle Hotel on last Sunday, among the numbers presented was the very serious and effective new song "On to Victory," by John C. Zouboulakis who presided at the piano during its ren dition by Eugenia Vessella, a young so prano, whose good voice and fine stlye won her much favor from the large audience present.

———###———

Frazer—Arthur Frazer, pianist, played for the Winnetka Woman's Club last week.

ALEXANDER NAKUTIN
TENOR
TEACHER OF SINGING

Endorsed by Mmes. Rosa Raisa, Marie Michaelowa, Mr. Leone Zinovieff and Others. Under Mr. Nakutin's tuition, Miss Genevieve Schrader took the Lake View Musical Society's prize for singing, in competition with 45 pupils of various schools.

823 Kimball Hall Phone Harrison 6701

KNUPFER STUDIOS School of Musical Arts
630 Fine Arts Bldg. Walter Knupfer, Director

RAFAELO DIAZ TENOR
Metropolitan Opera Company
Available for RECITAL, ORATORIO, FESTIVAL
Mgt. Metropolitan Musical Bureau, Aeolian Hall, 33 W. 42d St., New York

O'SULLIVAN, French-Irish TENOR

Makes Possible the Revival of William Tell at the Chicago Opera

A SENSATIONAL AMERICAN DEBUT

"Mr. O'Sullivan is the most welcome of operatic strangers from Paris in recent seasons."—Frederick Donaghey in the Chicago Tribune November 27, 1918

Following Are the Remarkable Press Comments:

O'Sullivan Is Welcome

(Frederick Donaghey in The Chicago Tribune, Nov. 27, 1918.)

"Mr. O'Sullivan is the most welcome of operatic strangers from Paris in recent seasons. I have heard Tamagno fail in the incidental part of Arnold, the terror of tenors; and O'Sullivan didn't fail last night when he effected his American debut."

(Mr. Donaghey said again on December 1 that tenors who can sing the music of Arnold as written are infrequent phenomena.)

New Tenor Scores in William Tell

(By Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Post, Nov. 27, 1918.)

"His voice at a first hearing is one of clarion quality, which sounds the call to arms with brilliant power. Mr. O'Sullivan's voice is pitched so high by nature and he sings the upper tones with such surety that those not of the trade hardly realize the tremendous feats he is accomplishing. He was complete master of himself and tossed off phrase after phrase of vocal skyrockets as if they were nothing at all."

O'Sullivan Another Great Tenor

(By Edward C. Moore in the Chicago Journal, Nov. 27, 1918.)

"It would have been almost enough to find someone who could sing the role of Arnold at all. That he did it in such stunning fashion as he did came very near to making him a big sensation on the strength of the one appearance alone. O'Sullivan's voice has a personal, distinctive quality which is not in the least like any tenor that I ever heard before. If you hear a trumpet or a cornet played in its upper ranges by an expert in tone production you will know as nearly as possible what his voice sounds like, but that is not so very close after all. It will be better to go and hear him. You will not only satisfy your curiosity, but you will hear something remarkable. It takes a real singer to go through the role and he is a real singer."

Tenor O'Sullivan Hits Mark in Tell

(By Maurice Rosenfeld in the Chicago News, Nov. 27, 1918.)

"Mr. O'Sullivan disclosed operatic qualities of paramount caliber, is intelligent in the handling of dramatic situations and his voice can be rated as of brilliant quality of carrying power, high in range. He managed the high and difficult music with adroitness and was accorded a flattering reception."

(By Herman Devries in the Chicago American, Nov. 27, 1918.)

"Tenors who can successfully juggle with the Rossini tessitura are rare in our day, and O'Sullivan is one of these."

Mr. O'Sullivan, the French-Irish Tenor of the Chicago Opera Association, repeated his initial sensation at a second performance of William Tell given on the evening of Dec. 2

LELA LOWE-PIERSON
VIOLINIST
Tel. Rogers Pk. 4701. 6807 Wayne Av.

FLORENCE CARO LINDLEY
SOPRANO
Tel. Edgewater 1095. 1216 Rosedale Ave.

Tina Mae Haines Teacher, Coach Lectures, Recitals
4452 SIDNEY AVE. Tel. KENWOOD 5093

FRANK W. VanDusen PIANO ORGAN
American Conservatory Kimball Hall

ALTA MILLER
CITALS MEZZO-SOPRANO PUPILS
1707 Hinman Av., Evanston Tel. Evanston 318

WALTER WHEATLEY
TENOR
Western Address; Lincoln, Neb.

ROWLAND LEACH
VIOLINIST BUSH CONSERVATORY

Mary Bower, B. M. With Chicago Musical College
Teacher of Piano, Harmony, Organ and Psychology of Music
1953 Sunnyside Ave. Phone Ravenswood 6287

Virna Harman Walker
STUDIO OF DANCING
Ballroom Ballet Pantomime Phones:
206 S. Wabash Av., Suite 200. Wab. 2460; Hay'k't 4347

MILON R. HARRIS, Tenor
Voice Development and Artistic Singing
STUDIO, 929 KIMBALL HALL CHICAGO

FREDA STARR
AMERICAN LYRIC SOPRANO
Management Lincoln Bureau 1257 So. 27th St., Lincoln, Nebr.

Thomas REMINGTON Basso
ROOM 610 KIMBALL BUILDING

Veada K. Hatfield
SOPRANO CHURCH, CONCERT, TEACHING
361 Forest Ave., River Forest, Ill.

ANNA GROFF-BRYANT
Dean of the School of Three Arts of Lombard College
Galesburg, Ill. Send for latest bulletin.
Chicago Studio, 707 Fine Arts Building.

Adelaide PIERCE
CONTRALTO
Warren Concert Bureau, Schiffmann Bldg. St. Paul, Minn.

Cora ANDERSON
PIANIST Kimball Hall

LILLIAN AMMALE
Pianist Care of MUSIC NEWS

Books and Music

BY HERBERT J. WRIGHTSON

BOOKS

Contemporary Composers, by Daniel Gregory Mason. Price $2. (Macmillan Company.)

The four composers placed on this pedestal of honor are Strauss, Elgar, Debussy and D'Indy. There are also two essays, as prelude and postlude to the work, entitled "Democracy and Music" and "Music in America," between which there exists a certain kinship, as the question of popular appeal figures largely in both. The first, of course, considers the question in a more universal sense and compares different schools and styles in an interesting manner, with many pungent truths expressed in a scintillating way. The comparison of a mode such as Debussy's with that of Richard Strauss leads to the conclusion that the former is not, as sometimes supposed, more spirituelle than the latter, excepting "as a gourmet is more spiritual than a glutton" (p. 20). The author refers to these two composers as typical representatives of Programism and Impressionism, and says that just as the former "appeals from music to association, impressionism appeals to sentiment, to fancy and to the phantasmagoric reveries upon which they are ever ready to embark." Other comparisons are made which are highly noteworthy and instructive, but "the stressing of that which the senses alone can perceive from moment to moment" (alluding to sensation rather than intellect music) "is appealing with varying success from our minds and hearts to our auditory nerves. The increasing measure of success attending such appeal shows vividly the numerical advantage that the hungry or curious auditory nerves have, in the modern democratic audience, over the enlightened minds and hearts."

The biographical essays are very analytical, giving numerous quotations from the musical works, illustrative of individuality, method, etc. Some particulars of the composer's life are naturally included, yet the personal element is more or less incidental.

In the final chapter, "Music in America," we find more perspicacious summarizations of things. The refutation of the idea that ragtime is the typical American music is both decisive and unanswerable. This passage from the writing of an enthusiastic champion of the "popular" brand of music is quoted: "As you walk up and down the streets of an American city you feel in its jerk and rattle a personality different from that of any European capital. . . . This is American. Ragtime, I believe, expresses it. It is today the one true American music." The retort is a smashing counter, such as one might expect from intelligence and good taste to relatively uncultured zeal (see p. 248). Concerning the tendency to lack of individuality which characterizes the lesser artist, no matter what his technique, the author says: "It is no more possible for a human being to be, let us say, at once as subtle as Debussy and as gorgeous as Strauss than it is to be in two places at once. . . . But the young American . . . in the attempt to be everywhere at the same time . . . cuts himself up into little pieces that end by being nowhere" (p. 277). He accords MacDowell a high and permanent place on account of his individuality, in spite of mannerism and deficient technique. The Negro Spirituals are considered more worthy to be held as representative than the popular music of the day.

Music Composition, a New Method of Harmony, by Carl E. Gardner. (Carl Fischer.)

The author begins by giving a "Vocabulary of Chords," consisting of triads, chords of the seventh, of the ninth, of the eleventh and of the thirteenth, on every degree of the scale, and in major, minor, harmonic and melodic, ascending and descending. The only exception is, as a footnote states, that the eleventh and thirteenth chords of the two forms of melodic minor are omitted. This seems a pity. Why not have the thing complete? Apart from this ridiculous array of the possible Combinations and Permutations of the letters of the alphabet from A to G (or H), with no particular bearing on the art of music, the book contains many features of excellence. There is some treatise on Elementary Form in the first chapter—the divisions and subdivisions of the Period. One very commendable point is the prolific use of examples taken from actual music, instead of the perfunctory, dry and often meaningless made examples, found in so many textbooks. The chapter on Altered Chords contains some novelties of classification, for instance, among the augmented sixth chords; yet it is again far in advance of the average treatise on the subject.

The section on Elevenths and Thirteenths contains the saving statement "Because of the immaturity of these chord formations it is not advisable for the student to attempt to use them at the present time." The analysis of some of the illustrations appears to have in view the conformity to an adopted premise (and a by no means self-evident or proved one) rather than a sense of fundamental principles. To call the D natural in the MacDowell example on page 90 a dominant eleventh, and an augmented one at that, is surely far-fetched and inadvisable. It is plainly a non-harmonic tone in a simple dominant seventh chord. Of course every example may not be as easy to dispose of on regulation lines as this. "Modulation and Transition" occupies only about three pages! "Style" and more advanced form are given a good deal of space in conclusion, and though appropriate to the title of the work, are extraneous to the subtitle.

Notes on Music in Old Boston, by William Arms Fisher. (Oliver Ditson Company.)

The history of music in Boston and that of the publishing house of Oliver Ditson Company are, of course, closely related. The present volume may have as its chief motive the second, but gives a very thorough and interesting account of the first, replete with old woodcuts, maps, portraits, facsimiles of music, play-bills, newspaper extracts, etc. To the musical historian the work will be of great value and will be added with pleasure to the library. The progress of events is traced in considerable detail from June, 1630, to the present day. The music produced, the artists who visited Boston when it had attained town-like proportions, the shops, newspapers—in fact everything having a bearing upon musical activities, are mentioned and often illustrated. "State Street in 1801" has a very old-fashioned aspect, and "Tremont Street in 1798" (then "Common Street") exercises the imagination. In the up-to-date section, the photographs of the personnel of the Ditson firm, the various buildings it has occupied, and many of the departments of its present place of business show a remarkable culmination of well-directed business enterprise.

The Trial of Santa Claus, an operetta by J. S. Fearis. Price 50 cents. (Chicago, J. S. Fearis & Bro.)

This amusing operetta is suitable for school entertainments and other amateur performances. The choruses are two-part, all the solos in the treble clef, the accompaniment easy, and there is some spoken dialogue to give variety to the proceedings.

The Singing Leaves, cantata for women's voices, by Frances McCollin. Price 50 cents. (Oliver Ditson Company.)

The text of this work is by James Russell Lowell, and the cantata took a prize in the 1918 competition of the Philadelphia Matinee Musical Club. Beginning with a decided reminiscence of a well-known song by a namesake of the composer, it nevertheless shows no other tendencies to plagiarism but distinct originality and style. The solo voices are soprano, alto, tenor and baritone, the time of performance about twenty minutes.

The National Songs of the Allies, harmonized for mixed voices. (Oliver Ditson Company.)

With a very striking cover design, this little collection brings us the familiar national airs (thirteen of them) arranged for mixed chorus. The native texts as well as English are given in each case, excepting for the "Hymn of Free Russia," which has only English.

SHEET MUSIC

Bramwell & Ragen

Piano—John Janscek, "The Call to the Flag."

Oliver Ditson Company

Songs—William Arms Fisher, "Zero Minus One," "There's a Great Day Coming"; Augusta O. Renard, "Evening Prayer"; John Hyatt Brewer, "O Lord, Our God"; Mary Knight Wood, "Love Song of Egypt"; Folksongs, "Volga Boatmen's Song" (Russian), "Barbara Allen" (English), "May Song" (Spanish), "Oh, Hop-Vine" (Hungarian), "Sorgen" (Scandinavian); W. R. Spence, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is"; Mark Andrews, "Still Will We Trust"; Arditi, "Speak, Love"; A. G. Wathall, "Hush, My Dear"; H. W. Loomis (arr.) "Little Papoose"; Bohm, "Still as the Night" (violin or 'cello obb.); A. Armstrong, "A Long Fight, a Strong Fight."

Duet—W. R. Spence, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is."

Octavo—Mixed voices: Root, "Just Before the Battle, Mother"; G. B. Nevin, "O Lord, to Whom Vengeance Belongeth," "Let This Mind Be in You"; Bizet, "On the Front" ("Carmen"); Protheroe, "Turn Thy Face from My Sins," "More Love to Thee"; John H. Brewer, "O Lord, Our Governor"; Andrews, "Seek Ye the Lord"; Mauro-Cottone, "Tantum Ergo"; Berwald, "Lead Us, O Father"; Manney, "America's Crusaders," "Grant Us Thy Peace," "They That Trust in the Lord"; Hosmer, "And It Shall Come to Pass"; William Reed, "Ye Armies of the Living God"; Henry Hadley, "Out of the Depths"; E. S. Barnes, "By Cool Siloam's Shady Rill."

Women's Voices: Coleridge-Taylor, "Song of Deliverance"; Cesar Franck, "Processional"; Sullivan, "Orpheus With His Lute"; Jensen, "Golden Moments"; J. Bertram Fox, "A Tragic Tale."

Men's voices: Barnby, "Crossing the Bar"; Manney, "America's Crusaders"; G. B. Nevin, "When the Flag Goes By"; A. E. Johnstone, "America's Message"; Macfarlane, "Up and On."

J. S. Fearis & Bro.

Song—J. S. Fearis, "Flag of the Stars."

Octavo—Fearis, "Flag of the Stars" (mixed voices, men's voices, women's voices and 3-part men's voices.)

William A. Pond & Co.

Songs—Edgar P. Crissman, "I Know Thou Art Near," "The Rose's Message," "The Mark of a Rose," "Jock," "A Toast"; J. Fletcher, "The First Christmas Solo."

Carl Fischer

Piano—Godowsky, "Humoresque," "Rigaudon"; Josef Hofmann, "The Star Spangled Banner."

J. Fischer & Bro.

Songs—Cecil Forsyth, "Call Me Thine," "A Masque," "The Watcher," "When the Last Sea Is Sailed," "Rest"; Fay Foster, "The Honorable Chop-Sticks," "The Shadow of the Bamboo Fence," "The Cruel Mother-in-Law"; Elmer Andrew Steffen, "Two Loves"; Victor Harris, "When Daddy Sings."

Octavo—Male voices: Cecil Forsyth, "In Old Japan," "Mr. Alphabet's Holiday."

Hinds, Noble & Eldredge.

Songs—William Barnes, "Everybody Hit for Victory," "The Selfsame Moon."

R. Ricordi & Co.

Songs—Gerald Arthur, "A Rose, a Kiss and You"; H. T. Burleigh, "O Peter, Go Ring Dem Bells," "Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child," "I Stood on de Ribber ob Jerdon," "My Lord, What a Mornin'"; Granville Bantock, songs from the Chinese, "From the Tomb of an Unknown Woman," "A Feast of Lanterns."

Piano—Hugo Frey, "Dear Old Pal of Mine"; Bantock, "Quickstep," "Reel."

Organ—Cyril Scott, "Requiescat" (arr. by A. E. Hull.)

Violin and Piano—Cyril Scott, "Lullaby" (arr. by Ethel Barnes.)

Cello and Piano—Cyril Scott, "Lullaby" (arr. by C. Warwick Evans).

---

Among the songs published by J. Fischer & Bro., the Japanese sketches by Fay Foster are very quaint and cleverly done, with texts from the original Japanese. Cecil Forsyth's songs exhibit genuine art, the poems also being of a high order, and "When Daddy Sings" by Victor Harris, is delightfully humorous.

J. S. Fearis' "Flag of the Stars" has an easily grasped rhythm and is tastefully harmonized. It is in all arrangements, as quartet, trio and solo.

READ The Musical Observer

the best music monthly published. Too little space to tell you about the many good things it contains. Send for a copy of current issue free. MUSICAL OBSERVER CO., Cooper Square, NEW YORK.

ANNA E. GEORGE

PIANIST COMPOSER

Teaching at Bush Conservatory

Esther Fricke-Green Accompanist

Organist Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist

625 Lyon & Healy Building

Mrs. Charles L. Krum

SOPRANO

Studio, 621 Fine Arts Bldg. Res. 5000 Harper Av. Tel. Drexel 2986

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Buren Stein

Auditorium Musical-Dramatic Conservatory

AUDITORIUM BLDG. CHICAGO

CLARA EDMUNDS-HEMINGWAY

Contralto-Whistler-Reader-Pianist,

ORIGINAL Composition Recitals. ORATORIO, Concert, Recital

CHURCH. 568 Madison, Gary, Ind. Phone 1224

SILVIO SCIONTI

PIANIST

American Conservatory, Kimball Hall

FREDERICA GERHARDT DOWNING

CONTRALTO

Oratorio - Concert - Recital

709 South Harvey Av., Oak Park, Ill. Phone O. P. 1478

Allen W. Bogen

CONCERT ORGANIST PUPILS

5429 Harper Ave. Tel. Blackstone 1913

MRS. EDWARD MacDOWELL

Programs of MacDowell Music Steinway Piano

Management: Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway, New York

Proceeds of these recitals revert unreservedly to the MacDowell Memorial Association

IRVING C. HANCOCK

Organist and Choirmaster, Trinity Episcopal Church

PUPILS—PIANO AND ORGAN Phone Drexel 6903

Frances Frothingham

PIANO—HARMONY

605 KIMBALL BUILDING

Jessie Nichols Baldwin

Soprano Teacher of Singing Recitals

617 Kimball Hall and Orchard School

Olive Nevin, Soprano

"A Nevin Worthy of the Name"

325 WEST 57th STREET NEW YORK

GRAHAM HARRIS, Violinist

Winner Nat'l Contest N.F.M.C. Biennial Convention

240 E. Tremont Av. NEW YORK

Palmer Christian

Concert Organist

SOMETHING ABOUT MME. MARGUERITE NAMARA

By ELEANORE CAPPS HOSTLER

Everybody on Michigan avenue was wondering about the stunning woman in the wine-color suit, trimmed with skunk fur, buttoned up the back and with a high collar over her chin, a gorgeous black hat and walking stick, when finally I found it was the Opera star I wished to interview—Mme. Marguerite Namara of the Chicago Opera Association and the subject of this sketch.

This is only one of many beautiful costumes possessed by this singer, and I would like to tell you about all of them—those wonderful lace and spangled gowns, the gorgeous ermine opera coat and others, but while Mme. Namara has many and wonderful gowns and knows how to wear them, she prefers to talk about her music and her children.

She is a very beautiful woman, a striking figure, and she has a charm which is really quite irresistible.

Mme. Namara began her career at the age of six years, playing piano as a child prodigy, until she reached the age of fourteen, when she discovered she had a voice. She inherited her gift from her mother, Margaret Namara, called the "Forest City Nightingale," who was a very popular singer until she gave it up for domestic life and to further her daughter Marguerite's career.

How well she succeeded must be realized when it is known that Marguerite never studied with anyone else until she sa in Opera in Italy.

Marguerite Namara made her debut Marguerite in "Faust" at the Politema Th ater in Genoa, Italy, at the age of eightee the youngest prima donna to have a peared in first roles in Italy. She sang f a season of three months in Genoa, wh she was engaged by Henry Russell for t Boston Opera Company. After singi with the Boston Opera Company for som time she went to Paris and studied wit Melba and Jean de Reszke. For two year she sang in many concerts in Paris an Brussels, scoring a well-merited and grea success.

FREDERICK NAMARA TOY
Son of Marguerite Namara

She was then engaged by R. E. John ston for two seasons' concert work, whe she traveled from coast to coast and mad a tremendous success.

She went back to Paris and St. Peters burg, but the outbreak of the war cancele all operatic contracts for which she wa engaged in London, Paris and St. Peters burg.

At the beginning of the war she san for four months in concerts for the Re Cross and other war charities.

When the war broke out Debussy wa writing an opera for Mme. Namara, t which D'Annunzio was to have supplie the libretto. Both Debussy and D'Annun zio were much interested in Mme. Namara' work. It is needless to add that the wa and the sudden demise of Debussy prevent ed the finishing of the opera, and Madame not being able to obtain enough prope food for her baby boy, then one year old was forced to return to America. Afte her return she accepted a flattering offe from the Shuberts to create the star par in Lehar's beautiful opera comique "Alone at Last." This had a run of on year and was one of the greatest successe ever produced on Broadway.

She abandoned the stage for a time, bu later signed a contract with Johnston, un der whose management she is at the presen time.

She recently scored a tremendous suc cess in joint recital with Mischa Elman a

MARGUERITE NAMARA AND HER BABY GIRL, PEGGY BOLTON

ANNA FITZIU

Soprano with Chicago Opera Associaton

Makes a great success in the name part of Mascagni's "ISABEAU"

Herman Devries in Chicago American, Nov. 25

Anna Fitziu is one of our reasons for just pride. Her growth and artistic development have been watched by the entire theatre-going nation.

Today she needs no explanation. Her "Isabeau" is real grand opera, and her voice—it pours out in full-throated richness, ample, warm, free, glowing, pure, silver-clear, and never, never hard nor brittle. Its tone is a refreshing river of melody. Miss Fitziu's intelligence and her open-minded eagerness for knowledge and wider educational possibilities will make her eventually one of America's finest singing actresses. Of course, she was a beautiful picture, too.

Karleton Hackett in Chicago Evening Post,

Miss Anna Fitziu sang Isabeau with full, rich tones and played the role with sympathy. She even handled the difficult situation of the disrobing with dignity. The long flowing tresses of her wig must have cost a mint of money at the present prices, but it was worth it, since it was voluminous enough to serve as a veil. Without such covering the scene is quite impossible, but secure behind this golden screen she moved off with decorous modesty.

MISS FITZIU APPEARED ALSO AT THE MEDINAH TEMPLE ON SATURDAY EVENING, NOV. 30, SCORING A SPLENDID SUCCESS

Herman Devries in the Chicago American commented as follows:

Miss Fitziu's voice stands the test of concert singing. It pours out all its richness and warmth with a surety of tone and effect.

CONCERTS—RECITALS—FESTIVALS
Exclusive Management R. E. JOHNSTON, 1451 Broadway, New York

he Hippodrome in New York, the house eing packed, with 1,000 people seated on he stage. She has given two recitals in New York City this season, besides singng forty times for all of the different "War Charities," for the W. S. S. drive and many of the camps. She says she was never appier in her life than while doing this work, and was so glad to be able to "do er bit" in this way.

After hearing her in New York City last ear, Campanini engaged her on a four-ear contract, so Chicagoans will have opportunities of seeing and hearing this harming and gifted young singer and ctress. She is said by some to resemble Calve in looks and in acting when Calve was in her prime, but Namara has a personality which is all her own and which hould win for her in Chicago, as well as ll other places where she has appeared, tremendous and instantaneous success.

In addition to her engagement with the hicago Opera Association, Madame Namra has many concert and recital engageents. On December 3rd she gave a reital in Brooklyn, and on the 6th a joint ecital with Caruso at the Biltmore in New ork City, and will open the season of the ew York Mozart Society on December 7th.

In January she will go on tour with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, and will make a tour through California in February and March, besides many concerts in all of the larger cities in the east.

At the first concert of the Chicago Opera Association given at the Auditorium on Sunday, November 24th, Mme. Namara made so signal a success that she was immediately engaged by Campanini to sing for the concert on Sunday, December 8th, following her return from concerts in New York.

After so many successes, it is not strange that this charming and talented young singer should be sought for in marriage, and so at a very early age she became the wife of Frederick Toy, former manager of Isadore Duncan, which marriage proved to be an unfortunate one, and she was divorced, later marrying Guy Bolton, the famous playwright, whom Madame says is adorable, and whose married life is said to be as successful as the many plays which he has produced. Among his best known plays are, "Nobody Home," "Very Good Eddie," "Have a Heart," "Miss Springtime," "Riviera Girl," "Girl Behind the Gun," "Oh Boy," "Lady Lady," "Leave It to Jane," "Polly With a Past," and "Hit the Trail Halliday."

Madame has two children, a boy by her former marriage, Frederick Namara Toy, and a little girl two years old, Peggy Bolton, with whom she spends a great deal of time when at home.

♯♯♯

THE WAUKEGAN CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Citizens of Waukegan should feel very much elated over the bringing to their very doors of such good teachers and such fine ideals as those which obtain in the Waukegan Conservatory of Music, of which Mrs. Mary Hotchkiss Love is the directress and in which also Frank Mandy, violinist of Chicago, is a prominent teacher.

The courses of study in this school comprise every branch of music and have been carefully and skillfully arranged and the list of teachers is a long one and contains the names of many experienced and well known artists.

At a recent concert given at the conservatory it was clearly proven that the enrollment of pupils for this season is not only large, but that it comprises many talented young people and that results of the finest may be expected. Music News expects to report other functions of the conservatory before the close of the season.

♯♯♯

Hadley—Mrs. B. F. Hagar, artist pupil of Grant Hadley, sang before the Windsor Park Woman's Club on November 26.

JEANNETTE DURNO PIANIST TEACHER

DIR. DURNO PIANO STUDIOS - - - 907-8 LYON & HEALY BLDG.

FREDERICK W. VANDERPOOL

From a neat little circular sent out by his publishers (Witmark), we glean the following information about Frederick W. Vanderpool:

To paraphrase an old saying, a little knowledge is a pleasant thing, especially when it applies to the personality of a composer. A natural curiosity about the composer is usually aroused in those who love his music. Partly to satisfy that curiosity and partly to acquit others with his works, this little circular about Mr. Vanderpool and his songs has been compiled.

Frederick W. Vanderpool was born in New York City on May 8, 1877, of American parents. He has always been associated with things musical so that the natural gift for composition and expression which he has used to such good advantage has been fostered by his surroundings. He was a boy soprano in various churches, and came under the influence of R. Huntington Woodman, with whom he studied organ. The influence of that noble instrument can still be clearly traced in his work, although he very soon gave up its study and developed his voice instead. He worked with such eminent voice teachers as Louis Koemmenich, Dr. Carl Dufft, and Dr. Frank Dossert.

Subsequently, he joined various musical and theatrical companies, but didn't give up his early interest in composition. About 1900 his first song was published. This was the song "If" to a lyric by Ella Wheeler Wilcox, and it became at once so substantial a success that Mr. Vanderpool decided to devote more of his time to composition. "If" still is one of his most successful songs and holds its place on recital programs today just as it did when it first appeared.

Since then his compositions have followed in rapid succession until today he is one of the best represented American composers on all recital programs. His songs have attracted the attention of most of the distinguished singers of the day, and the advent of a new Vanderpool song is always a matter of great interest. There is a spontaneous freshness about his conception of a musical setting that accentuates the merits of the lyrics he selects, and an endless fountain of melody seems to be at his disposal. To the ear of the uninitiated Mr. Vanderpool's songs are welcome because they are understandable and directly appealing; to the singer and the vocal teacher they possess the added charms of musicianly quality and an unerring appreciation on the part of the composer for effect and, in many instances, dramatic fervor.

JOHN McCORMACK IN RECITAL AT HUTCHINSON, KAN.

Through the personal efforts of Mrs. E. Richards of Hutchinson the world renowned tenor, John McCormack, was heard in recital Friday evening, November 22, at Hutchinson, Kan.

The large convention hall was completely filled with an enthusiastic and appreciative audience. Though the crowd was not as large as the occasion would merit, due to the epidemic of "flu," it amply demonstrated the fact that it made up for the lack of attendance by rounds of thunderous applause.

To the surprise of the writer the Gazette of Hutchinson took a very skeptical attitude toward the McCormack recital in an article printed last Friday evening in which it remarked, "If he has the goods, so to speak, he will make a home and welcome for himself in Hutchinson."

The writer fully appreciates that the state of Missouri covers considerable territory but he was not aware of the fact that it extended as far west as Hutchinson.

It took McCormack less than three minutes to show that he not only had the "goods," but that he could deliver them to the queen's taste as well.

The tenor was in excellent voice and was indeed a rare privilege to again hear John McCormack, to allow one's self entirely to fall victim of his art.

His remarkably clear enunciation was a pleasure to listen to as was his gorgeous voice. In no matter what style, whether be lyric, dramatic, a sympathetic ballad, or quaint Irish ditty, John McCormack is master of them all. Truly, as it has been written, "There is but one McCormack—his name is John."

Mr. McCormack opened the program with "Plaisir d'Amour" (Martini), which he did in splendid style.

The numbers chosen were of a great variety and to try to discriminate with reference to artistic values would be but camouflage, for we vainly seek superlatives rich enough to say that which words cannot express.

"The Americans Come" by Foster touched the popular pulse of the audience which, being electrified by this dramatic rendition, burst into a long continued applause for which Mr. McCormack replied for encore with M.

Other favorite encores which were given were: "Little Mother of Mine," "It's a Long, Long Trail," "Mother McCree" and "I Hear You Calling Me."

Mr. McCormack was ably assisted by Mr. Edwin Schneider, accompanist, Mr. Wilston Wilkinson being assisting violinist.

The work of Mr. Schneider was a rare bit of art in itself. At all times his accompaniments were extremely sympathetic, invariably adequate, never obtrusive.

Mr. Wilkinson is a young violinist who plays tolerably well. We have indeed heard many violinists who were his superiors. His playing Friday evening was but a criterion of what he could accomplish with serious study.

WILLIAM BARNES.

###

Krum—Mrs. Frank B. Dudley, a pupil of Mrs. Charles Krum, sang last Monday for the Chicago Society of Artists at the Art Institute.

Ethel M. Rice

MANAGER OF . . . Musical and Dramatic Artists

CLUB PROGRAMS ARRANGED

CHAUTAUQUA LYCEUM DRAMATIC COACHING

1536 KIMBALL HALL

PHONE WABASH 1260 RES. PHONE EDGEWATER 2719

Anna Case

LYRIC SOPRANO

of the Metropolitan Opera Co.

Exclusive Management

Metropolitan Musical Bureau

Aeolian Hall, New York City

SHERWOOD MUSIC SCHOOL

PIANO VOICE VIOLIN ORGAN THEORY DRAMATIC ART DANCING

Twenty-second Year. 300 Teachers. 6,000 Pupils. 400 Branches in 18 States. Plan of study saves much time and money

Main School: Fine Arts Building, Chicago

ELEANOR EASTLAKE - KATHRYN KEIRNAN

Costume DUETTISTS Classic

American Conservatory

MABLE CORLEW SMITH

HOTEL ALEXANDRIA SOPRANO TEL. SUPERIOR 5544

Florence Macbeth

PRIMA DONNA COLORATURA

Concert Direction, Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall, New York

Helen L. Levy, Associate Manager

HERMAN DEVRIES VOCAL TEACHER

MRS. HERMAN DEVRIES, . . . Associate Vocal Instructor

At Studios, 518-528 Fine Arts Building, Chicago, Ill.

Terms for Mr. Devries Terms for Mrs. Devries

Ten Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each, $50.00 Ten Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each. $30.00

CLEVELAND, OHIO

The New York Symphony, in Cleveland n Friday and Saturday, had the marvelous largarete Matzenauer as soloist for Friday ight, singing "Ah, Mon Fils," from "Le 'rophete" (Mayerbeer) and the arioso "Du 'hrist Avec Ardeur," from "The Death of oan of Arc" (Bemberg). The inevitable ncores were responded to with "When the ioys Come Home" (Oley Speaks) and The Years at the Spring" (Mrs. H. H. A. ieach). The Saturday afternoon program or young people featured Lila Robeson, letropolitan contralto, who sang an aria om "Rinaldo" (Handel).

The leaders of the thousands of children ho will sing Christmas Carols in the treets of Cleveland are already organized nd have received their instructions. This iovement is regularly carried on by the fusic School Settlement.

Cleveland's brand-new Symphony Orhestra, under Nikolai Sokoloff, will give concert for the benefit of St. Ann's Church n December 11 at Gray's Armory. The oloist is Rev. John M. Powers, tenor. The ew orchestra contains sixty pieces. Mr. okoloff, the guest of the Chicago Orches-a this week, is a rising young conductor hom New York listened to with great iterest last spring. Last winter he spent n France, organizing American aid for usicians in France. His present work in leveland is largely educational and is un-er the auspices of the Musical Arts Asociation.

♮ ♮ ♮

The Cleveland Harmonic Club will pre-nt the "Messiah" during the Christmas season, and various church choirs are planning special music for the near future, among them St. Paul's, Euclid Avenue Presbyterian, Old Stone, and Miles Park Presbyterian.

♮ ♮ ♮

The Fortnightly Club enjoyed again hearing Mrs. Caroline Hudson Alexander, a former member, at their opening afternoon concert. This is the twenty-sixth season for "Fortnightly." Cleveland's pride in Mrs. Alexander is just indeed, for she stands pre-eminent in the artistic use of her voice. Small though it is, perfect training has produced a superbly delightful vocal usage, and Mrs. Alexander is second to none among oratorio singers. Her quality is liquid and beautiful and her manner has that peculiar ease and naturalness that is all too rare. When Oscar Wilde wrote a play everybody in London thought they could write plays, too, it looked so easy; and just so, the Fortnightly ladies said, "She makes me want to go home and try it myself." Surely that is an art. That it is not without recognition is demonstrated by the fact that Mrs. Alexander has for several years been the recipient of the highest church singer's salary in the world, in New York, and has recently accepted a position in The Mother Church, Scientist, Boston, even better than her former one.

She also sang at Akron while in the vicinity.

♮ ♮ ♮

Mme. Helen Stanley, of Chicago Opera connection, is continuing her work with Mr. Raoul Laparra, famous French composer-pianist. Their presentation of a "Musical Journey Through Spain" on Monday morning at Hotel Statler in Cleveland proved a delightful and unusual feat. One felt that the performers were thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the Spanish provinces, although neither are of Spanish nationality. The costumes, the dances, the interpretations bore the aspect of the authentic to a marked degree, and the numbers had an educational interest as well as great musical charm.

Levitzki's well-known genius graced the morning musical at the Statler Friday, November 29.

♮ ♮ ♮

The Cleveland Museum of Art has recently received a gift of sixty-two musical instruments, collected in various countries, and presented by Mr. Charles G. King Jr. Dr. Charles Koechlin delivered a lecture on "Modern French Music" at the Museum on Monday, November 25. The awakened interest in the French composers rendered the audience very receptive to what this distinguished member of the French Educational Mission had to say.

♮ ♮ ♮

It is worthy of mention that both Cleveland and East Cleveland public schools allow High School credit for work in music done under outside instruction. Cleveland is the largest city to have taken this step forward.

LOUISE MORRIS.

♯♯♯

Peterson-Barth — Helen Peterson-Barth has been engaged to sing for the Druggists' Association on December 10 at the Hotel La Salle, and for the Englewood Sunday Evening Club on December 15.

VAN YORX THEO. Tenor
Studio: 22 West 39th Street New York

Fernando Carpi Tenor
Metropolitan Opera House
Available for Concerts, Recitals and Festivals
Address Metropolitan Opera House

GALLI-CURCI SOPRANO
STEINWAY PIANO
HOMER SAMUELS, Accompanist MANUEL BERENGUER, Flutist
Management Chas. L. Wagner. D. F. McSweeney, Associate Manager. 511 Fifth Avenue, N. Y

SCHUMANN-HEINK 3672 Michigan Ave. CHICAGO
Steinway Piano MANAGEMENT HAENSEL & JONES, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK

CONTRALTO
Pupil of Pauline Viardot Garcia and Mathilde Marchesi
Mrs. W. S. BRACKEN
Teaching at Cosmopolitan School 16th Floor New Kimball Bldg.

ELIAS BREESKIN'S RECITAL IN NEW YORK

Elias Breeskin, who has just finished the tour with the Russian Symphony Orchestra, and who will be the assisting artist in the Caruso concerts in the spring, will give his only New York recital of the autumn season on Thursday evening, December 12th, at Aeolian Hall at 8:15. The program will be as follows:

ELIAS BREESKIN

Suite ..... Sinding
Presto; andante; allegro
Concerto ..... Mendelssohn
Allegro moderato; andante; allegro
Le Deluge ..... Saint-Saens
(With piano and organ accompaniment)
Valse ..... Godowsky
Introduction and Scherzo Caprice ..... Kreisler
(For violin alone)
Nocturne, D major ..... Chopin-Wilhelmj
Chorus of the Dervishes ..... Beethoven-Auer
Witches' Dance ..... Paganini-Kreisler

# # #

Craven—In his appearance as soloist at the dedication of the Bethany Lutheran Church new organ, with J. Lewis Browne playing the recital program, Carl E. Craven will sing an Aria from "Elijah" and "Arise, Shine" (Buck) and "The Lord Is My Light" (Allitsen). Future engagements for Mr. Craven are: December 14, Chicago Athletic Club; 15, College Club; 17, Wicker Park Woman's Club; 17 (evening), Woodlawn Park Woman's Club.

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

The following program was given at the American Conservatory last Saturday afternoon by pupils of Silvio Scionti, Charles LaBerge, and Adolph Weidig:

Thirty-Two Variations ..... Beethoven
Master Coe Pettit
Come Unto Me ..... Lynes
The Fairy Pipers ..... Brewer
La Tarrantella ..... Boyd
Miss Ada Meservey
Ballade, G Minor ..... Chopin
Miss Ruth Freeman
Andante ..... Mendelssohn
Tambourin Chinois ..... Kreisler
Miss Anna Nyberg
Miss Dorothy Pelck at the Piano
Nocturne, G Minor ..... Chopin
Etude, A Minor, Opus 25 ..... Chopin
Miss Grace Welsh
Adelaide ..... Beethoven
The Lark ..... Rubinstein
Miss Louise McDonald
Concerto, F Major, First Movement ..... Saint-Saens
Miss Florence Burke
Prelude from First Sonata (Violin alone) ..... Bach
Concerto, D Minor, First Movement ..... Vieuxtemps
Miss Janet Cobb
Miss Marion Lychenheim at the Piano
Rose in the Bud ..... Forester
Cradle Song ..... MacFayden
Come Into the Sun ..... Ronald
Miss Martha Feche
March from Nutshell Suite ..... Grainger
La Campanella ..... Liszt
Master Coe Pettit

All but the first and last two numbers were heard by this writer, whose only criticism of the program would be that it was slightly too long. The vocal pupils revealed lyric voices of resonance and warmth, with real insight into the spirit of song interpretation, though perhaps deficient in enunciatory clearness.

Scionti's pupils played with great individuality of style and finesse of technique. Without exception they all bid fair to become distinguished artists. Of the violin pupils, Miss Anna Nyberg played the Kreisler "Tambourin Chinois" with stunning temperament, and Miss Janet Cobb evinced a thorough technique and an artistic if somewhat serious-minded reading of the Bach and Vieuxtemps numbers.

Miss Mabel Stapleton proved a rarely sympathetic accompanist.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

# # #

Lowenberg—Miss Ruth Lowenberg appeared at the Riviera Theater all last week and Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week. Miss Lowenberg has a beautiful high soprano voice, and she sings with splendid style and musicianship, which, combined with a simple, straightforward manner of presenting her songs, makes her work very attractive.

COMMUNITY HALL
118 MARION ST., OAK PARK
Beautiful new recital hall. Seats 200. Acoustics perfect.
New Mason Hamlin Grand. For terms and bookings address
GEO. R. HEMINGWAY 121 Marion St., Oak Park

WANT ADVERTISEMENTS

(Advertisements under this head will hereafter be accepted at 20 cents a line.)

FOR RENT—1 day or 2 half days in studio large enough for recitals; two pianos; 1 Steinway grand; address R, Music News.

WANTED—Music teachers and supervisors of public school music; city, county, state. Federated chain plan (co-operative). Information free. Results assured. Write P. H. Thomas, 109-W-45-N. Y. C.

DIRECTORY
Addresses are Chicago unless otherwise stated

ACCOMPANISTS

Bodholdt Agnes (Pianist) 6722 Chappel Av. (Hyde Park 1485)
Borncamp Ida May (Phone Evanston 4723 418 Hamilton St., Evanston, Ill.
Boyd Jeanne (Midway 763) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Harrison 2074)
Bradley Ruth (Graceland 5697) 859 Cornelia Avenue
Browne Helen M. (Graceland 7714) 4308 Greenview Av.
Campbell Gordon (Rogers Park 4072) Cosmopolitan School of Music
Campbell Helen (Oak Park 3747-J) 604 Lyman Av., Oak Park
Cartwright Harriet (Res. Phone Drexel 697) 1204 E. 47th and 612 Fine Arts Bl
Coleman Carlton E. (Superior 8669) Bush Conservatory
Coryell Marion (New York) 72 W. 68th St
Chute Delbert (Midway 5288) 419 Fine Arts Bldg.
Fricke-Green Esther (Haymarket 1888) 625 Lyon & Healy Building
Gilbert Harry M. (New York) 61 W. 50th St.
Grandland Florence M. (Maywood 320) 217 N. 3rd Av., Maywood, Ill.
Grove Grace (Wabash 8324) 400 Fine Arts Bldg.
Henry Edith (Graceland 9601) 721½ Barry Av.
Kittilsby Katharine (Rogers Park 2551) 1533 Sherwin St.
Kurtz George Ralf (Organist) 4609 Dover st. (Edgewater 2959)
Lester William (Midway 8888) 419 Fine Arts Bldg.
Lewis Pauline (Home Ph., Blackstone 1883) 5558 Ellis Av.
Link Violet Martens (Graceland 4816) 846 Oakdale Av.
Lychenheim Marion (Rogers Park 1207) (Ensemble) 2030 Kenilworth
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Lakeview 528) 3623 Pine Grove Av.
McAllister Bessie (Chicago Piano College) 4308 Greenview Av. (Graceland 771
McShane Eugenia (Sunnyside 3966) (Organist) 4609 Dover St.
Meagley Mary Willing (Toledo, Ohio) 2307 Monroe St.
Nelson Edgar A. (Edgewater 9332) Bush Conservatory
Olson Mabel W. (512 Fine Arts Bldg.) Summer Address: Galva, Ill
Orchard Mrs. Charles (Blackstone 1789) 1535 Hyde Park Av.
Porter Beulah Taylor (Rogers Park 1679) 429 Fine Arts Bldg.
Pullis Mabel A. (Drexel 1985) 4312 Lake Park Av.
Ryan Helen Victoria (Oak Park 1201) 330 Washington Blvd., Oak Park, Ill.
Scheib Eleanor (Care Wolfsohn Bureau) 1 West 34th St., New York
Shaw Mrs. George L. (Sunnyside 9828) 4600 Dover St.
Simpson Corinne (Pianist and Reader) with Radcliffe Chautauqua Co.
Stewart Marchia Kelley (Pianist) 7025 Merrill Av. (Midway 722)
Stout Alice Brown (Tel. R. F. 8450) (Soprano) 266 Park av., River Forest, Ill.
Stumpf Aimee C. (Wellington 1855) (Pianist) 3608 Maple Square Av.
Van Grove Isaac (8793 Wabash) 630 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wallace Alma (Organist) (New York) Chg. Music News, 1 W. 34th St.
Williamson Gavin (Home Tel., S. Chgo. 258 523 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har.3766)

CHOIR BOY TRAINING.

Thompson Nance D. (Hm. ph., Edgewater 629 Ly. Arts Cons., Lyon & Healy Bldg

CLUBS

Mendelssohn Mgt. Harriet M. Snow 64 E. Van Buren St. (Wab. 874

COMMUNITY SINGING AND PAGEANTRY

Smith Mr. & Mrs. H. Augustine, Boston Univ. or 37 Claflin Rd., Brookline, Mass.

COMPOSERS

Gilberte Hallette (New York) 135 W 47th St.
White Lida Browning 818 Monroe St., Gary, Ind.

COMPOSERS RECITALS

Hemingway Clara Edmunds (Gary, Ind.) 568 Madison St. (Gary 1224)
MacDowell Mrs. Edward (New York) Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway

CONDUCTORS

Ballmann M. (Orchestra and Band) 1257 Foster Ave
Conti Arnoldo (Chicago Opera Association) Opera Coach, 1528 Kimball Hall
Erb J. Warren, Conductor—Song Coach Accompanist, 220 Madison Av. (New York)
Gennaro Giovanni 1103 Kimball Hall
Gingrich Irving, 614 Fine Arts Bldg. 646 Belden Av. (Lincoln 1290)

DANCING

Pryor Ruth (Classic Dancer) Ballatine Bureau (Wabash 8538)
Walker Virna Harman (Haymarket 4347) 206 S. Wabash Av Suite 200 (Wab. 2460)
Yung Marie (Wabash 7342) 400 Fine Arts Bldg.

DRAMATIC ART

Barnum Letitia V. Fine Arts Bldg.
Cornick Frances E. (Reader) Ballantine-Rice Mgt., Kimball Hall
Liten Carlo (New York)
Ricker Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall Bessie Bown (St. Louis) Artists' Guild, Union Av.
Stein Mrs. Karl Buren (Wabash 9070) 55 Auditorium Bldg.

DUET PROGRAMS

Eastlake-Keirnan Eleanor and Kathryn American Conservatory
Sullivan Josephine & Eugene (Milwaukee) 233 Mason st.

ENSEMBLES

Chicago Chamber Music Trio 522 Fine Arts Bldg. (Edgewater 8361)
Murdock Trio (Rogers Park 6286) 1316 Albion Av.
Russian Symphony Orchestra, Dan'l Mayer Aeolian Hall, New York
Tollefsen Trio 946 President St. Brooklyn, New York

HARP

Conti Mme. Amelia (Calumet 2710) (Instruction) New Southern Hotel
De Lone Loretta (Sym., Orch., Recital) 308 Lyric Bldg., Omaha, Neb.

LANGUAGES

Berlitz School of Languages Auditorium Building

MANAGERS

Ballantine Bureau (Wabash 8538) 1528 Kimball Hall
Bazarozy Anthony (New York) 1495 Broadway
Choir Bureau. (Harriet Martin Snow, Dir.) 64 E. Van Buren St. (Wabash 8740)
Haensel & Jones New York Aeolian Hall
Hall Jessie B. (Bureau of Fine Arts) 425 Fine Arts Bldg. (Harrison 228)
Hanson M. H. (New York) 437 Fifth Ave.
Hawley James, Concert Director Cable Bldg. (Wabash 1853)
Mayer Daniel, New York Aeolian Hall
Music League OF AMERICA. 1 W. 34th St., New York
Rice Ethel M. (Wabash 1260) 1536 Kimball Hall
Shipman Vera Brady (Salina, Kan.) Care of Daily Union
Wagner Charles (New York) 511 Fifth Ave.
Wolfsohn Musical Bureau 1 W. 34th St., New York

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS

Baldwin Piano Co. (Wabash 4884) 323 S. Wabash Av.
Cable Piano Co. (Mason & Hamlin Pianos) Wabash Av. and Jackson Blvd.
Friedrich John & Bro (Violins) 279 Fifth Av.,New York

ORGAN

Barnes George W. (Salina, Kan.) Christ Cathedral
Birch Robert R. (Oak Park 6846) Church of Redeemer.
Bogen Allen W. (Blackstone 1913) 5429 Harper Av.
Browne J. Lewis (Monroe 5550) St. Patrick's Church, 130 S. Desplaines
Christian Palmer (Kenwood 7509) Kenwood Evangelical Church
Conger Sylvia (La Grange 995-W) 29 S. Sixth Av., La Grange, Ill.
Cook Frances Anne (Douglas 3908) 644 Woodland Park (6th Pres. Church)
Cotsworth Albert (Main 2611) South Cong' Church
Courboin Chas. M. (Organist, Sp'field, Mass.) Syr. Musical Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Deal Alice R. 4359 West End Av. (Garfield 2856)
Eddy New First Congregational Church Clarence (Concert Organist) 2021 California St., San Francisco
Edwards Marie (Kedzie 228) Congregational Church, Wilmette, Ill.
Fickett Elizabeth Dean (Edgewater 3459) (Accompanist) Edgewater Pres. Church
Francis J. Henry (Choral Conductor, Composer) St. John's, Charleston, W. Va.
Fraser Arthur Randolph (Oak Park 5749) Grace Church, Oak Park, Ill.
Gallup Emory L., 828 Kimball Hall St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church
Goodwin Hugo (Superior 7283) St. James Episcopal Church
Groom Lester W. (1916 Lincoln Av.) Church of the Ascension
Haines Tina Mae (Kewood 5000) Organist St. James M. E. Church
Hancock Irving (Drexel 6903) Trinity Episcopal Church
Hemington Francis (Home Ph. Oak Park 2464) Church of the Epiphany
Hodge Florence (Christ Reformed Episcopal) 4717 Sheridan Road (Edgewater 106)
Holmes A. Alfred McClurg Bldg.
Holzworth Alfred (Lincoln 4395) 2594 Orchard St.
Hyde Herbert E. (637 Fine Arts Bldg.) St. Peter's Ch., Dir. Musical Art Society
Ickes Clara M. (accompanist) (Diversey 2510) 2727 Mildred Av. (Ravenswood Baptist)
Keller Walter (300 Fine Arts Bldg.) Sherwood Music School
Knight Florence (Wabash 7217) Kimball Hall
Knodle Walter St. Clare Philadelphia, Pa.
Mattison Myrtle E. California Av. Congregational Church
Moline Lily Wadhams (Diversey 8470) 1st Church of Christ, Scientist, Oak Park
Norton John W. (Superior 7283) St. James Episcopal Church
Polk Harry T. Valparaiso, Ind. 1st Pres. Ch. and Schelling Theater
Porter Hugo (Hyde Park 2461) Hyde Park Presbyterian Church
Pruyn-Hall Edythe (Drexel 4763) 4326 Greenwood Av.
Ross Helen Worswick (Home Tel. Oak Park 4405) Chicago Musical College.
Scheve Edward B. (Grinnell, Ia.) Iowa College School of Music
Seder Edwin Stanley (126 E. Chestnut St.) First Cong'l Church, Oak Park
Slade Mason (Christ Episcopal) 65th and Woodlawn Av.
Thompson John Winter (Galesburg, Ill.) Central Congregational Church
Van Dusen Frank W. American Conservatory
Wedertz C. Gordon Chicago Musical College
Wild Harrison M 1203 Kimball Hall
Zaring Irene Belden (New Eng. Cong'l Church) 4451 Winchester Av. (Ravenswood 1418)

PIANO

Abernethy Patricia (Manhattan, Kan.) State Agricultural College
Adler Lois (Drexel 396) 1364 47th Place
Ammalee Lillian Care of Music News
Amsbury Theo. (Piano-Theory) Douglas 2723 American Conservatory
Anderson Cora American Conservatory
Austin Electa (Sunnyside 9555) (Northwestern Univ.) Evanston
Barber Lvell Bush Conservatory
Birdsall Edna J. (Lincoln 4635) 2315 Seminary Av.
Blood Blanche (Piano and Violin) 9th Floor, Auditorium Bldg.
Bohnet Cleveland (Home Tel., Oakland 5240) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Bower Mary (Ravenswood 6287) 1953 Sunnyside Av.
Brillhart G. Davis (Gunnison, Colo.) Colorado State Normal School
Briscoe Addison (Home Phone Midway 188) 1328 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Brown Roy David (Wabash 1761) 905-906 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Brumbaugh Frances Pierson (Home, Oak.2470) 707 Fine Arts Bldg (Wabash 8151)
Clark Helen Drummond (Midway 9608) Studio 6239 Ellis Ave.
Cleophas Mrs. Kirsti (Piano and Voice) Kensett, Iowa
Cleophas Gertrude, care Music News
Cleveland Wyoneta (Chicago Musical College) Y. W. C. A., 830 S. Michigan Av.
Clough Vierlyn (Lakeview 4213) 4144 Clarendon Av.
Detweiler Harry Chicago Musical College
Doelling Mae (Concert Pianist) 2912 Burling St.
Durno Jeannette (Oakland 4638) 907 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Ehrhardt Edward V. (Graceland 5717) 523 Oakdale Av. (721 Fine Arts Bldg.)
Eidam Clarence 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Fox Albert E. (Garfield 8277) Residence 4208 Wilcox Av.
Francis-Du Val Irene (Beverly 931) (Organ) 2140 W. 103d St.
Frazer Arthur (Superior 8414) 116 E. Oak St.
Ganz Rudolph (Mgt. Charles L. Wagner) 511 Fifth Av., New York
Garwood Victor (Wabash 5388) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Gemmer Edwin J. (814 Kimball Hall) 6109 Evans Av. (Normal 3997)
George Anna E. (867 N. Dearborn St.) Bush Conservatory
Godfrey Eleanor E. (Kimball Hall) Chicago Piano College
Godowsky Leopold (New York) Haensel & Jones, Aeolian Hall.
Granquist Arthur Columbia School of Music
Haake Charles J. (Northwestern Univ., Evanston) Fine Arts Bldg., Chicago
Haake Gail Martin (Northwest'n Univ., Evanston) North Shore School of Music, Chicago
Hanapel Rose (Kenwood 523) 4740 Prairie Av.
Howland Betsy M. (Home Tel. Rav. 951) Chicago Piano College (Wabash 4805)
Irons Myrtle Tyler (822 Kimball Hall) 6034 Stony Island Av. (Hyde Park 9942)
Kelly Elizabeth Lee (Wellington 7383) 4028 Sheridan Road
Kelpsch Marguerite (Tel. Harrison 2074) Lyceum Arts Conservatory
Kenney Cady (Laramie) University Wyoming
Kimball (Pianist and Teacher), De Pauw Un'sty. Minnie Murdoff (Greencastle, Ind.)
Kober Georgia (Sherwood Music School) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
La Roche Pearle (Wentworth 2630) 5528 Indiana Av
Lapham Agnes (Hyde Park 4969) 6042 Kenwood Av.
Le Claire Florence (Diversey 1603) 2021 Bissell St.
Levitzki Mischa (Management Daniel Mayer) Aeolian Hall, New York
Levy Heniot (Kimball Hall) American Conservatory
Lewis George G. (Teacher) (Harrison 4868) Cosmopolitan School
Lobel Sophine (Lawndale 8538) 1543 S. Clifton Park Av.
Loomis Clarence (Pianist-Composer) American Conservatory (Oak Park 7727)
Lyon Rose (Belmont 7247) 922 Kimball Hall
Magnuson Lillian Cosmopolitan School of Music
Marshall Caroline E. (Garfield 9470) 417 S. Central Park Av.
Paine Sarah E. (Piano and Flute) 1226 Kimball Hall (Kenwood 8021)
Park Ralph Munroe (Wabash 1761) 905-6 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Pendry Charlotte S. Centralizing School of Music
Persson Frederick (Superior 1074) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Peterson Agnes (Kedzie 9035) 411 S. Homan Av.
Peterson Edna Gunnar (La Crosse, Wis.) 325 S. Seventeenth St.
Prahl Earl Victor (Superior 8700) Bush Conservatory
Prindiville Helen (Wentworth 6547) 5934 Calumet Av.
Raab Alexander 624 S. Michigan Av.
Reckzeh Karl (Res. 2042 Bradley Pl.) Chicago Musical College
Redding Edwyl (Gunnison, Colo.) Colorado State Normal School
Reuter Rudolph 624 S. Michigan Av.
Robinson Carol (Wabash 5883) 1328 Kimball Building
Ryder Mme. Sturkow (Drexel 3300) 4715 Lake Park Av.
Scionti Silvio Kimball Hall
Seifert Myra C. (Lakeview 29) 585 Hawthorne Place
Shattuck Arthur (Milwaukee, Wis.) 325 Oakland Av.
Smith Lura Schuler (Lincoln, Neb.) University School of Music
Spencer Allen (Pianist-Teacher) American Conservatory
Spry Walter (Chicago) Columbia School of Music
Stead Mabel Riggs Peoria, Ill.
Stephen Daisy Waller (Pullman 244) Cosmopolitan School of Music

Stephens Clyde (Coe College) Cedar Rapids, Iowa
Stumpf Mrs. L. C. (Wellington 1855) 8608 Maple Sq. Av.
Thompson Frank Olin Wisconsin Conservatory, Milwaukee
Tomlinson Anna (Harrison 6267) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wagner Oscar (Kimball Hall) Oscar (Harrison 4868)
Wanieck Kurt (Graceland 831) American Conservatory
Warren Minnette (St. Paul) Schiffmann Bldg.
Watt Harmon H. (Kimball Hall) Chicago Piano College
Weed Myrtle (St. Paul, Minn.) 802 Pittsburgh Bldg.
Wells Howard (Kenwood 651) 4958 Blackstone Av.
Willard Carolyn Louise 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Williams Anne (Columbus 1760) 28 Latrobe Av.
Wilson Raymond (Syracuse University) Syr. Mus. Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Zygman Flora G. (Concert Pianist) 825-7 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5013)

PIPE ORGANS

Casavant Bros. Organ Builders South Haven. Mich.

PUBLISHERS

Bingham Helena (Illinois Music Co.) 2622 Marino St., Los Angeles, Cal.
Bond Carrie Jacobs & Son 744 S. Michigan Av.
Fearis (J. S.) & Bro., Chicago 4547 N. St. Louis Av.
Fischer (J.) & Bro., New York 7 and 11 Bible House
Gamble Hinged Music Co. 57 E. Van Buren St.
Gilbert Music Co. (Irving 359) 3924 Irving Pk. Blvd.
MacDermid James G. Fine Arts Bldg.
Summy Clayton F. (Co.) 64 E. Van Buren St.
Witmark M. & Sons (New York) 144 W. 37th St.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC

McConathy Osbourne (Theory, Conducting) Northwestern Univ. Sch'l of Music
Robinson O. E., American Conservatory 6518 Kenwood Av. (Hyde Pk. 3377)
Votaw Lyravine, 10th flr. Audit. Bldg.(Wab.8238) 6026 Kenwood av. (Hyde Park 6738)

SCHOOLS

American Consevatory (Wabash 5388) Kimball Hall
Auditorium Conservatory. Mus. & Dr'm'tic Art 55 Auditor'm Bldg. (Wabash 9070)
Balatka Acad. Musical Art (Anna Balatka, Dir.) 819 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 612)
Bintliff Mrs. Elizabeth battie School of Music. Ripon, Wis.
Brail School of Music (Florence Brail) 812 Kimball Hall and 403 E. 61st St.
Centralizing School of Music (Wabash 6349) 20 E. Jackson Blvd
Chapek Music School. 3452 Broadway I. F. Chapek, Dir. (Graceland 2621)
Chicago Kindergarten Inst. C. C. Cronise, Sec. 701 Rush St.
Chicago Piano College 910 Kimball Hall (Wabash 4805)
Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art Fine Arts Bldg (Harrison 5965)
Columbia School of Music. 509 S. Wabash Av. (Clare Osborne Reed, Dir.)
Cosmopolitan Sch'l of Music (Harrison 4868) 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Dearborn School of Lyceum Arts Auditorium Bldg. (Wabash 6867)
Doney A. M. Musical College 2820 W. 36th St.
Grinnell College (George L. Pierce, Dir.) Grinnell, Iowa
Heizer Music Sch.(1215 Douglas St., Sioux City, Ia.) Dir. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Heizer
Hinshaw Conservatory of Music 1110 Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 8335)
Knox Conservatory of Music (Wm. F. Bentley, Dir.) Galesburg, Ill.
Knupfer Walter R. School of Fine Arts Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8793)
Loudon The Jennette (Studios) 614 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8806)
Lyceum Arts Conservatory (Harrison 2074) 600-10 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Mandy School of Music (Wabash 8173) 817-19 Kimball Hall
M. A. Monzel Musical College 911 Kimball Hall
Moody Bible Institute of Chicago 153 Institute Pl.
Musin Virtuoso School for Violin 51 W. 76th St., New York
Northwestern University School of Music Evanston, Ill.
Orchard School of Music and Expression 1537 Hyde Park Blvd.(Blackstone 1789)
Preiser School of Music (Austin 2541) (Fannie B. Preiser, Dir.) 530 Pine Av.
Sherwood Music School (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg.
Saint Cecilia Conservatory Winona, Minn.
Tone-Color Studios. Music, etc. (E. Larrabee, Dir.)Aud. Bldg.& 602 Arlington Pl.
Valparaiso University School of Music Valparaiso, Indiana
Virgil Piano Conservatory 11 W. 68th St., New York
Western Conservatory. (E. H. Scott, Pres.) Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 3506)

SOLFEGE, HARMONY, COMPOSITION

Lagourgue Charles, 616 S. Michigan Ave. (Harrison 1719)

TEACHERS' AGENCIES

Allen J. E. (Musical Artist Teachers' Agency) 101 Park Av., New York.

THEORY

Andersen Arthur Olaf (Home Phone H. P. 5783) American Conservatory
Butler Lester S. Worcester, Mass.
Cole Rossetter (Res. Phone Midway 118) 719 Fine Arts Bldg.
Frothingham Frances (Piano) 605 Kimball Bldg.
Graham A. Cyril (Harrison 2580) 509 Wabash Av.
Lutkin Peter C. Evanston, Ill.
Watt Harmon H. Kimball Hall
Wrightson Herbert J. (Piano, Organ) 610 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 2583)

TEACHERS' CLASSES

Mr. & Mrs. Crosby Adams Montreat, N.C.
Dunning Carrie Louise 8 W. 40th St., New York City
Long Carrie Munger (Dunning System) Congress Hotel
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Dunning System) 3623 Pine Grove av. (L. V. 9037)
Perfield Effa Ellis (950 McClurg Bldg.) National Conservatory of Music

VIOLIN

Barker John (Austin 2541; Home, Elmhurst 43-R) Preiser School of Music, Austin
Barron Robert Louis (Eugene, Ore.) University School of Music
Brambach John M. (Irving 5717) 4045 N. St. Louis Ave.
Breytspraak Ruth (West 738) Knupfer Studio, 630 Fine Arts Bldg
Brokaw Ralph Wichita, Kan.
Brown Mildred (Ravenswood 8448) 2120 Wilson Av.
De Vore Jessie (Blackstone 1789; Drexel 6071) Orchard School, 1535 Hyde Park Blvd.
Durkee Corrol B. (Home Tel. Garfield 2149) 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Western Cons.)
Dyson Lois F. (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg. (Sherwood School)
Fischel Max I. Chicago Musical College
Frederiksen Frederik (Hm. Ph. Graceland 9166) Studio 600, Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Garagusi Nicholas (New York) M'gt Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St.
Ginsburg Ralph (Wabash 8335) Hinshaw Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Given Thelma (New York) Metropolitan Musical Bureau
Goldblatt Maurice R. Chicago Musical College
Harris Graham (New York) 240 E. Tremont Av.
Heymar Wally (Sunnyside 1995) 5683 Ridge Av.
Konecny Josef Care of Music News
Kortschak Hugo (New York) 850 Park av.
Kribben Bertha (St. Louis, Mo.) 1050 Thornby St.
Leach Rowland Bush Conservatory
Lipschultz George Milton (Lawndale 5402) 212 Grand Av., Milwaukee Wis.
Lowe-Pierson Lela (Rogers Park 4701) 6807 Wayne Av.
Lynch Rhea Dorothy (Columbus 2452) 242 N. Mason St.
Michaelis Ralph (Hyde Park 966) 914 Kimball Hall
Mixer Chas. Mitchell (Home Ph. Rogers Pk. 9543) American Conservatory. Kimball Hall
Neill Amy Emerson (Hyde Park 6322) 1446 E. Marquette Road
Welge Gladys (Home Ph., Austin 3417) Preiser Sch. Music, 530 N. Pine av.
Yost Gaylord, 824 N. Pennsylvania St. Indianapolis, Ind.
Zebrowska-Perlowska Antoinette 7812 S. Shore Dr.

VIOLONCELLO

Gegna Max (Julius Daiber) Aeolian Hall, New York
Hess Hans (Edgewater 8361) Fine Arts Bldg.
Slack Anne (Home Ph. Lawndale 3668) American Conservatory

VOICE

Aaron Miriam (Los Angeles, Cal.) 155 S. Kingsley Drive
Annette-Gifford Ethel (Tel. Wentworth 5892) 6237 South Park
Arden Cecil (Metropolitan Opera Co.) Mgt. Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St., New York
Arendt Else Harthan (Graceland 4997) 819 Sheridan Rd.
Arnd Margaret Louise (Lake View 1657) 3814 Sheffield Av.
Bailey Mr. and Mrs. Herbert (Huron, S. D.) Dir. of Music, Huron College
Baldwin Jessie Nichols(Home Ph. Oakland 8585) Orchard School. 1535 Hyde Park Blvd
Balfour Constance (New York) Mgt. Daniel Mayer
Barradell Kennard 624 S. Michigan Av.
Bastedo Orrin (New York) 257 W. 86th St.
Beatty Wilbur (Columbus 5032) (Baritone), 331 N. Central Av.
Bender Celia (Piano) (Armitage 4397) Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Berger Emily E. (Contralto) (Oak Park 5163) 418 W. Lake St., Oak Park
Bibb Kathleen Hart (Minneapolis, Minn.) Metropolitan Music Bldg.
Boardman Arthur (Hyde Park 6137) (Tenor) 1536 E. 65th Place
Bowman Mrs. Hatswell (Evanston, Ill.) Northwestern Univ. School of Music
Brashear Roberta (Kedzie 2167) Soprano) 139 N. Homan Av.
Braun Anna C. (Monticello 5050) 4937 N. Drake Av.
Breed Liela A. 523 Fine Arts Bldg.
Brenk Ethel (Milwaukee, Wis.) 137—20th St.
Brittan Louise (Harrison 6267) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
Browne Kathryn E. (Soprano) 6945 Stewart Av. (Normal 3162)
Burmeister Anna (Soprano) (Ravenswood 452 Soprano) 4527 Greenview Av.
Burton Arthur (Harrison 5802) 618 Fine Arts Bldg.
Burton Louise (Wabash 8703) 800 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Butler Hanna (Wabash 4870) 512 Fine Arts Bldg. (Soprano)
Calkins Elton (Summerdale Cons.) 1209 Morse Av. (Rogers Park 2928)
Campbell Sara Irene (Austin 6201) Chicago Musical College
Carpenter Allen Bar (Hyde Park 7604) 816 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8700
Carpi Fernando (New York) Metropolitan Opera Co.
Case Anna (New York) Aeolian Hall, Met. Musical Bureau
Caspers 4748 Champlain Av.
Castle Lester Hugo (Blackstone 1359) (Basso) 6434 Ellis Av.
Caton Louis (Calumet 459) 728 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har. 6528)
Chaiser Florence (Rogers Park 2034)
Chalmers Thomas J. (Baritone) New York Metropolitan Opera Co.
Clark Charles W. (Superior 8700) 839 N. Dearborn St.
Clarke Edward (Res. Ph. Edgewater 9133) (Baritone) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Clippinger D. A. 617-18 Kimball Hall
Clissold Edward T., 327 S. La Salle St.(Baritone
Con. Men's Fall Festival since 1908
Cook Dwight Edrus (Grinnell, Ia.) (Tenor) Grinnell College
Cook John Loring (Tenor) 817 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8173)
Comer Sybil (Harrison 2074) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Crabbs Elmer J. (Park Ridge 2111) (Tenor) Park Ridge, Ill.
Craven Carl E. (Tenor), 422 Fine Arts Bldg. 305 E. 54th St. (Oakland 6451)
Dahlstrom Margaret (Western Conservatory 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Irving 5613)
De Lima Edna (New York) 158 Madison Av.
De Luca Giuseppe (Metropolitan Bureau) Aeolian Hall, New York
Devries Herman 518-528 Fine Arts Bldg.
Diaz Rafaelo (Tenor) Metropolitan Opera, New York
Dickey Annabelle MacIntyre (Res., Hyde Pk. 73
(Contralto) 422 Fine Arts Bldg.
Diederich Walter (Austin 2111) (Tenor) 5526 W. Monroe St.
Doak Saba (Superior 2680) Plaza Hotel
Donath Kurt (Tenor) 613-614 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Donaldson Ruby 721 Fine Arts Building

AMERICA FIRST

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY

DEC 14 1918

NOTICE TO READER
When you finish reading this magazine, place a 1-cent stamp on this notice, mail the magazine, and it will be placed in the hands of our soldiers or sailors destined to proceed overseas.
No wrapping—no address.

CHICAGO, AMERICA
DECEMBER 13, 1918

Music News

15 CENTS A COPY
BY THE YEAR $2.50

YVONNE GALL
SOPRANO
CHICAGO OPERA ASSOCIATION

Valparaiso University School of Music

(Accredited)

VALPARAISO, INDIANA

The University School of Music offers courses in Piano, Voice, Violin, Organ, Theory, and Public School Music.

Students may attend the Music School and also take the regular work at the University.

The Expenses are the Lowest

Tuition, $36.00 per quarter of twelve weeks. Board with Furnished Room, $39.00 to $51.00 per quarter. Catalog will be mailed free. Address

HENRY B. BROWN, President
or OLIVER P. KINSEY, Vice President

45th YEAR

Lyravine Votaw

CONTRALTO
DEARBORN SCHOOL OF LYCEUM ARTS
10th Floor Auditorium Bldg.
Theory for Singers
PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC
6026 Kenwood Ave.
Phone Hyde Park 6738

Silas Wright Mountz

Vocal Culture and Art of Singing
Lecture Song Recitals
CONCERT and ORATORIO BASSO CANTANTE
Hotel Sherman, Los Angeles, Calif.

For Concert Engagements Address

MURDOCK TRIO

1316 ALBION AV. CHICAGO

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

ADAMS AND DESPLAINES STS.
FIVE MINUTES FROM THE LOOP
High Mass 10:45—Choir of 100 Voices
STRICTLY LITURGICAL SERVICE
CLASSICAL REPERTOIRE
J. Lewis Browne, Organist and Choirmaster

DONALD CAMERON BEIDLER

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITURE
LYON & HEALY BUILDING
CHICAGO
HARRISON 1237

KENNARD BARRADELL

TENOR, 624 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago

VITTORIO ZARITONE TREVISAN Chicago Opera Association
Teacher of Singing
904 Kimball Hall Harrison 4480

MAESTRO ARNOLDO CONTI

Assistant Director to Sig. Campanini
Chicago Opera Association
OPERA COACH—Studio, 1528 Kimball Hall
Phone Wabash 8538

Music News

Vol. 10 No. 50

CHARLES E. WATT, Editor and Publisher

Published Every Friday at 850 McClurg Bldg., 218 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.
Tel. Wabash 5595

Entered as Second Class Matter November 24, 1908, at the Postoffice at Chicago, Illinois, under the Act of March 3, 1879

CHICAGO, DECEMBER 13, 1918

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTIONS
United States, per year, postpaid.....$2.50
Foreign, per year, postpaid..... 3.50
Single Copies, 15 Cents

Every authorized representative of Music News has a properly signed representative card.

On failure to receive The Music News regularly, subscribers should notify the office promptly.

Copies of the paper for sale at the news counter of Lyon & Healy, Gamble Hinged Company, Summy's music stores, McClurg's book store and at The Fair; or may be ordered through any of our correspondents in other cities.

In New York at Brentano's, Fifth avenue and Twenty-seventh street.

Advertising rate card will be sent on application.

Changes in advertisements must be ordered one week in advance.

All cuts made for advertisers are charged to their accounts.

BUSINESS REPRESENTATIVES
Thomas A. Fannell, Eleanore Capps Hostler, Lester Hugo Castle, Mary Carver Williams

SPECIAL WRITERS
Albert Cotsworth, Lyravine Votaw, Herbert J. Wrightson

List of Correspondents

New York
Joseph De Valdor
Foreign Editor
1 W. Thirty-fourth St.

Boston
Lester S. Butler
Steinert Hall

Cleveland
Louise Morris
Idlewood Av.

Indianapolis
Gaylord Yost
824 N. Pennsylvania St.

Pittsburgh
Mr. and Mrs. R. Knotts
Cameraphone Building

Denver
Mrs. James M. Tracy
Liszt School of Music
905 Downing St.

St. Paul, Minn.
Myrtle Weed
802 Pittsburgh Bldg.

Wichita, Kan.
Ralph Brokaw

Worcester, Mass.
Lester S. Butler
441 Day Bldg.
For Sale at
Bernard and Sumner's

Milwaukee
Iva Bigelow Weaver
Mack Block

Philadelphia
Charles W. H. Bancroft
4042 N. Darion St.

New Haven, Conn.
Arthur Troostwyk
849 Chapel

Los Angeles, Cal.
S. W. Mountz
Hotel Sherman

Erie, Pa.
Albert H. Dowling, Jr.
456 E. Seventh St.

Charleston, W. Va.
J. Henry Francis
St. John's Church

Minneapolis
Kate Mork Twitchell
3244 2nd Ave. S.
Minneapolis, Minn.

Winnipeg, Canada
Charlotte Ellen Powers
317 Birk Bldg.

KURT DONATH

LEADING TENOR IN GRAND OPERA—EUROPE AND AMERICA

Director of Vocal and Operatic Department BALATKA ACADEMY OF MUSICAL ART, Chicago, Lyon & Healy Bldg.

Artists—

We have to rent the most desirable studios in the loop—large, light and airy.
Act now; reasonable rents.

McClurg Building

218 S. Wabash Ave.

Apply to

Willoughby & Co.

7 W. Madison St., Chicago Savings Bank Bldg. or
Chief Janitor on Premises

Telephone Central 418

CENTRAL MUSIC HALL

64-66 East Van Buren St., Chicago

Chicago's most attractive hall, devoted exclusively to concerts, recitals and other high-class entertainments
Seating Capacity 700 Rent Reasonable
For Terms and Dates, Address,

HARRIET MARTIN SNOW, Mgr
64 East Van Buren Street, Chicago
(In Summy's Music Store) TELEPHONE WABASH 8740

GRINNELL COLLEGE

Grinnell School of Music

Courses leading to

Bachelor of Music—Bachelor of Arts—Diploma
George L. Pierce, Director, Grinnell, Ia.

M. BARBEREUX-PARRY

ORIGINATOR AND FOUNDER OF THE BARBEREUX SYSTEM OF CONSTRUCTIVE VOICE PRODUCTION AND UNIFIED DICTION, director of the Vocal Department of the National Conservatory of Music, will conduct Summer Normal Classes in New York City June 17th to July 6th, in Chicago July 8th to 31st, in Asheville, North Carolina, August 15th to 31st.

A course of written lessons is arranged to assist the student and teacher. This course can be used either for preparatory or supplementary study, and can be obtained by mail for a minimum sum.

Teachers are wanted to teach this system in every locality. On application addresses will be given of teachers in all parts of the United States who are using this system with great success.

EDOUARD DUFRESNE

FRENCH BARITONE
823-24 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 6743)

FREDERICK VANCE EVANS

BASSO CANTANTE
Dean Lawrence Conservatory
APPLETON WISCONSIN

Music News

Vol. 10 Chicago, December 13, 1918 No. 50

Editorial

PASSING COMMENT

The fact that this week marks the twenty-ninth anniversary of the opening of the Auditorium brings to mind a flood of reminiscence.

During the two or three years in which the Auditorium was being planned and built there was an immense amount of talk and speculation about it and therefore the public was thoroughly primed for a sensational "opening."

This took the form of a Dedicatory Concert (on a Monday night) and chief figures in this were President Harrison, Adelina Patti, Clarence Eddy and (I believe) the Apollo Club.

♮ ♮ ♮

The first opera given (Tuesday) was "Romeo and Juliet" with Patti singing Juliet and the second (Wednesday) was "William Tell," in which Tamagno sang the part of Arnold.

♮ ♮ ♮

Even then, hungry as Chicago was for opera, the Rossini masterwork seemed dreadfully long and boresome.

♮ ♮ ♮

At that time we had a month of opera, unless memory is at fault, and thereafter we had, most years, until our own company was created eight years ago, a month or less each spring by the Metropolitan forces from New York.

And, while many Chicagoans refer regretfully to "the days when we had Melba, the De Reszkes, Plancon and Eames" this writer has no recollection of any performances whatever given by the Metropolitan in any of its visits to Chicago which could compare in any way with the beautiful work being done right now by our own Chicago company.

True, the past years did bring us, at times, a plethora of fine stars, but never any such mise en scene, such completeness of production or such variety and worth of repertoire as we have now.

♮ ♮ ♮

Don't forget that victory must be paid for. Keep your War Savings pledge.

♮ ♮ ♮

To revert to the opening concert at the Auditorium. A chief glory of the new building and one which was intended to be a permanent feature in the musical life of Chicago was the magnificent organ which, at that time, was played by Clarence Eddy.

If that organ had only been kept in repair and added to from time to time, and if the public had been trained through the years to appreciate organ recitals by having them offered regularly at so central a place as the Auditorium, we might today still be enjoying a class of concerts in which the possibilities for music delight are unlimited.

But a great opportunity was wasted and today, after years and years of neglect and abuse, the noble old organ at the Auditorium is almost unusable and has not in years been in such shape that a recital could be played on it.

♮ ♮ ♮

And this reminds me once more to remind the thousands of students in Chicago that on every Thursday afternoon of the year (at 4:30), at the Fourth Presbyterian Church, which is only ten minutes from down town, a beautiful program of organ music is played and the admission is made absolutely free through the generosity of a music lover who has given a fund for the perpetual maintenance of these events.

The organ at the Fourth is a marvel of beauty and effectiveness and Mr. Seder, a newcomer to Chicago, who is now giving the recitals week by week, is a genuine and an inspiring artist.

♮ ♮ ♮

It may take more than two years to demobilize our fighting forces. Buy more W. S. S.

♮ ♮ ♮

Music News, in its report of the Carmen of Marguerite Sylva, questioned the advisability of the display of a matchless necklace of diamonds which she permits the Gypsy girl to wear in the second act.

In an interview with Miss Sylva she resented this criticism a little and declared that the real Carmen might very easily have been the possesor of such diamonds.

"For," she said, "you must remember that Carmen was a cigaret girl merely as a means to an end—she was typically an adventuress and she belonged to a group of lawless people who were ready at any time to help her 'fleece' any victims she might entangle.

"It was her pleasure as well as business to fascinate the men and, having gotten one in her power, she would have no scruples in robbing him in whatever way was quickest and easiest. The band of Gypsies to which she belonged would, doubtless, commit murder for the purpose of robbery if the 'stake' were large enough. Therefore Carmen probably could have had many diamonds, acquired one way or another."

Miss Sylva's reasoning is ingenious and she is "authority" on "Carmen" (she ad-

Truth—

Has one strong inalienable friend

—Time

Arthur B. English

mits it herself), but it still seems to us that Carmen could hardly have been the possessor of such a magnificent necklace as the one displayed by Miss Sylva in the character.

Don't stop buying W. S. S. until you have purchased all you can. Don't be a quitter—buy your quota.

We are asked by the government to reproduce this letter:

The secretary of the treasury has called for redemption on December 19, 1918, the issue of United States treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing January 2, 1919, and requests that this call be given the widest possible publicity. In order to assist in this, if you have an issue of your paper going to press on either Friday, Saturday or Monday, December 9, we will appreciate your publishing the following notice:

"All United States treasury certificates of indebtedness of series IV E., dated September 3, 1918, and maturing January 2, 1919, are hereby called for redemption on December 19, 1918, at par and accrued interest pursuant to the provision for such redemption contained in the certificates.

"On December 19, 1918, interest on all certificates of said series will cease to accrue."

Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago,
Government Bond Department.

Don't Hooverize in the matter of W. S. S.

After reading the interview with Reed Miller, the celebrated American oratorio singer, in Musical America, we had resolved to make editorial note of his chief point, which is that the release of the soldiers, who have learned the value of music in the army, should be the signal for the starting of oratorio and choral societies all over the country.

The idea is a magnificent one and will eventuate not alone in pleasure and profit to the amateur singers (military and otherwise), but will also, in course of time, provide numerous solo engagements for young American artists.

Instead of writing further on the matter, we here reproduce a letter sent us by Haensel and Jones, the New York managers of Mr. Miller:

"Every American soldier or sailor who has learned to sing during his months of service with the colors will find a welcome waiting him in the oratorio society or choral organization of his home town, if a plan suggested by Reed Miller, the distinguished oratorio tenor, is carried into effect." This is the beginning of a most interesting interview with Mr. Miller published in Musical America, in which he points out the fact that thousands of American soldiers will, in the next few months, be returning to their homes—men who have been taught in camp that singing is quite as essential a part of the soldier's equipment as his rifle. It rests with the conductors of oratorio societies and of men's singing clubs to see that these voices are brought into their organizations, Mr. Miller believes, and if this is done, it will mean the greatest impetus that could be given music in this country. "Never before has music been recognized in America as it has been during the war just ended," Reed Miller said. "Hundreds of thousands of soldiers have for the first time in their lives learned the joy of creating music, of participating in its production, instead of merely being listeners. Now, what is the sense in letting all this ability, this newly-awakened power, go to waste? And that is what will happen unless the leaders of choruses are awake to their opportunities and go to work in systematic fashion to bring these new singers into their organizations."

Patriotism does not cease when fighting ceases—keep on buying W. S. S.

The Manuscript Music Society of Philadelphia sends out the following interesting announcement:

The Manuscript Music Society offers a prize of $100 for a cantata on the subject of Peace, open to all American composers.

The cantata shall not exceed forty nor be less than twenty minutes in length, and shall be for solo voices and chorus.

It may be submitted with piano score, but the successful composer should be prepared to furnish the orchestral score and parts.

Compositions must be submitted anonymously, but shall bear some distinguishing mark or motto, a copy of which, with the composer's name and address, is to be inclosed in a separate sealed envelope.

The society reserves the right to withhold the award if none of the compositions submitted are deemed of sufficient merit.

Manuscripts shall be sent to the secretary and must be in hand June 15, 1919.

Please note that manuscript music is first-class matter.

December 1, 1918.

Samuel J. Riegel, Secretary,
763 N. Twentieth St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Pay up your W. S. S. and get it off your hands.

We are in receipt of the following letter from Minnie Hubbard, a charming and brainy violinist of Mankato, Minn. It deals with the "Commercial" and the "Nothing for Nothing" problems, both of which will be kept well to the front in Music News columns henceforth:

Mankato, Minn., Nov. 29, 1918.

Mr. Watt: Ever since I heard your paper on "Commercialism" I've wanted to say that every professional musician should feel like thanking you for your efforts in his behalf. It is not the amateur who needs the advice, "Nothing for nothing," but the kind hearted artist whom people try to take advantage of. If I could only tell how many times musicians have expressed their feelings regarding this subject saying, "No, I shall never play for them again, because when they have money to pay they engage outside artists. They expect us to play for nothing because we live here and we don't feel it is treating us right." Some of these artists were members of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

There is no reason why a musician should give his services for nothing. The public is mistaken when it thinks an appearance means "pleasure" to the artist, for it means effort with apparent ease.

You, Mr. Watt, in coming forth so frankly advising "Nothing for Nothing" have proven yourself a friend of the musician. For he needs the advice of a business man. Many musicians have offered in a friendly way to play for me for almost nothing with the hopes of more appearances in the future. But I refuse to accept their offers unless financially profitable to them. Who will deny that money is welcome and an inspiration?

But the musician must also remember that "Nothing for Nothing" applies to others as well as himself.

(Signed) Minnie Charlotte Hubbard.

A wide circle of friends throughout the country was shocked on Monday to read of the death of Saba Doak, which occurred on Sunday in Chicago.

Miss Doak, who was a soprano of beautiful voice and fine personality, devoted her entire time to concert singing and had made numerous tours with various bands and orchestras. She had made her home at the Plaza Hotel for several years. She was a victim of pneumonia.

The Church of the Epiphany, on Ashland boulevard, celebrated its fiftieth anniversary on last Sunday, and a big item of the day was the fine music provided by Dr. Francis Hemington. Dr. Hemington has been organist in this church for a number of years and has become noted not only for the fine music he provides on Sundays but also for the splendid series of organ recitals which he has been giving for a long time.

A. A. Van de Mark, originator and manager of the American Musical Festival at Lockport, N. Y., is a Chicago visitor this week.

The allied forces must remain under arms until peace is permanently established. Lend your savings—Buy W. S. S.

EDISON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
MORGAN L. EASTMAN, CONDUCTOR
Popular Concerts—Orchestra Hall
FIRST THURSDAY OF EACH MONTH
NOVEMBER TO MAY

Edwin Stanley SEDER F. A. G. O.
Organ—Piano—Pupils. 126 E. Chestnut St.

MAE DOELLING AND ALMA HAYS REED IN BENEFIT CONCERT

A fine audience came to the Florentine Room at the Congress Hotel on last Monday afternoon to hear an excellent program of music by Alma Hays Reed, soprano, and Mae Doelling, pianist, with some fine readings by Natalie Whitted Price of the Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art, given in historic colonial costume.

MAE DOELLING

The concert was a benefit for wounded soldiers, given by the Mu Phi Epsilon.

Miss Doelling is a pianist of the most sincere as well as thoroughly artistic type and her every appearance makes for the complete pleasure of her audience.

There was such an abundance and such excellence of technic that this became a factor unnecessary of mention. Miss Doelling is able to give full play to her poesy and her inherent feeling for musical story and these are backed up further with a complete musicianship and an abiding good taste.

A recent pupil of Godowsky, Miss Doelling was able to give a polished as well as definitely thrilling reading to three transcriptions of his, i. e., Concert Allegro

ALMA HAYS REED

(Scarlatti), Minuet (Schubert) and "Tambourin" (Rameau), this constituting a charming group.

Later she played in splendidly intelligent and musical style a Chopin Etude and the "Danse des Elfes" (Sapellnikoff), and closed the program with a brilliant reading of the "Tarentelle et Venezia e Napoli" (Liszt).

Mrs. Reed, who has spent much time the past few years in concert touring and in teaching at Lawrence Conservatory (Wis.), has returned to Chicago and her reappearance in the local concert field on Monday was the signal for sincere delight and unqualified approval.

In the "Caro Nome" ("Rigoletto") she showed that she has ample facility as well as clear and clean technic and in a group of small songs disclosed not only lovely vocal quality, but also the keenest sort of interpretative intelligence.

This group, beautifully contrasted, comprised the Prelude from Ronald's "Cycle of Life," "Snowflakes" (Mallinson) and "Bird of the Wilderness" (Horsman). Mrs. W. D. Pennington was the accompanist.

———♯♯♯——— E. C.

LEVITZKI IN NEW YORK RECITAL

That New York looks forward with pleasurable anticipation to again hearing Mischa Levitzki, who has been declared by critics to be the greatest of the younger pianists before the public today, is evidenced by the fact that before any recital of his was announced for this winter people sent in a number of orders for "boxes for Levitzki's next recital."

This looked-for musical event will occur on December 22, in Aeolian Hall, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and among the numbers that Levitzki has arranged in his program are the Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue (Bach), "Melody" (Gluck-Sgambati), Polonaise, Opus 89 (Beethoven), Etudes Symphoniques (Schumann), four selections of Chopin; "Poeme Heroique" (Mana Zucca), Waltz, D major (Stojowski), "Music of the Spheres" (Dohnanyi), Etude, D sharp minor (Scriabine), "La Campanella" (Paganini-Liszt).

No higher tributes could be paid to genius than musical critics of New York have accorded Mischa Levitzki, but it remained for Chicago to say: "Levitzki played Saint-Saens' Second Concerto better than did its composer. His work is brilliant, brainy, correct, clean, dazzling, easy, fragrant, insouciant, lovely, musical, sensuous."

Levitzki has been playing steadily of late, and is an untiring worker, so that the forthcoming concert on December 22 at Aeolian Hall promises a treat for music lovers.

———♯♯♯———

LYCEUM ARTS CONSERVATORY

The pupils' recital on the evening of December 3 was given by Miss Anna Brauer, pianist, and Miss Merlyn Pococke, contralto.

Miss Brauer is an exceptionally talented young lady who has already done much professional work. She is a pupil of Katherine Howard Ward. Her numbers on this occasion were Variations on a Pastorale (Mozart), Intermezzo (Letchitiskii), "In Autumn" (Moszkowski), Fourth Rhapsody (Liszt), a Minor Concerto, first movement (Grieg), and Sonata Tragic, first and second movements (MacDowell).

Miss Pococke is a pupil of Sibyl Sammis MacDermid. She has a fine, sympathetic voice and uses it well. Her numbers were "Ah, Rendim"; "The Shadow of the Bamboo Fence" (Fay Foster), "Retreat" (La Forge), "The Odelisk" (Carpenter), and "Dawn in the Desert" (Gertrude Ross).

Miss Pococke's accompanist, Miss Doris Doe, is a very good one.

H. L. W.

DEBUT OF AN UNUSUALLY GIFTED YOUNG CONTRALTO

Kimball Hall was filled to the last seat on Thursday evening of last week and there was unbounded enthusiasm for the work of Elizabeth Walsh, a young contralto who is studying at the American Conservatory under Charles La Berge.

Miss Walsh, accompanied by Mabel Stapleton in good style and assisted by Herbert Butler, violinist, was at no loss to make up an attractive program without including anything whatever of the usual list of composers.

Hallett Gilberte, a fine American writer, furnished one of her most satisfactory groups; another was made up of old Irish and old English songs; Frank La Forge, another American, was responsible for a third group, and Grieg and Rossi, both far removed from the usual German school, completed the list.

Mr. Butler played only a group of Cecil Burleigh (Six Characteristic Pieces), and in so doing proved this American writer for violin to be vastly superior to many of the foreign writers we have heard time out of mind.

In "A Dream" (Grieg) Miss Walsh was delightfully suave and steady, and in the old aria, "Ah, Rendimi" (Rossi) she disclosed vocal graces and intellectual charms very far above the ordinary.

She has a voice of great range and powerful quality in the lower scale, while she rises easily and brilliantly to an altitude which covers, probably, every requirement of the dramatic soprano repertoire.

These qualities were amply and beautifully shown in "Two Roses" and "Ah, Love, but a Day," two remarkably colorful and effective songs by Gilberte.

Miss Walsh has a very nice interpretative sense, and her good control of vocal powers makes it possible for her to devote much attention to this department of her work. Therefore, in the La Forge group, one was impressed with the beauty of the songs and with the intelligent way in which they were interpreted rather than with the technical display or with the method by which the very satisfactory results were attained.

This group was made up of four songs, all beautiful and comprising together much variety. They were "When Your Dear Hands," "I Came With a Song," the very popular "To a Messenger" and "Spooks," which latter is, I think, very new.

The closing group (mostly old Irish) introduced Miss Walsh in a comedy vein, which is one she well understands and knows well how to conserve faithfully. Altogether, this young singer is one of very unusual voice, and her attainments are already such as to warrant the assumption that she will go a long way along the road she has chosen to travel and will meet with much success by the way.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

A. G. O.—The American Guild of Organists (Illinois Chapter) will hold a service at the Second Presbyterian Church on December 15 at 4:30, when the soloists will be S. E. Gruenstein, Florence Hodge and Walter Keller.

———♯♯♯———

All 100 per cent Americans are making good their W. S. S. pledges. Are you?

Buy YOUR Piano at Piano Headquarters

We wish that you might visit our piano sales rooms for an entire day merely as a spectator.

Here, when in need of a Mason & Hamlin for concert or studio use, come many of the greatest musicians of our time—Bauer, Gabrilowitsch, Melba, Kubelik, Muratore or their personal representatives.

You will see in one room the largest showing of grand pianos in America. And in others, more moderately priced Conover, Cable, Kingsbury and Wellington Pianos. Choose YOUR piano here and take advantage of our Easy Payment Plan.

Cable Piano Company

Cable Corner, Wabash and Jackson

F. WIGHT NEUMANN ANNOUNCEMENTS

Flora Guenzburg-Zygman, pianiste, will be heard in recital next Sunday afternoon, December 15, at 3:30 at Kimball Hall, under the direction of F. Wight Neumann. The program is as follows:

Sonata, Op. 31, No. 2, D minor.....Beethoven
Allegro; adagio; alegretto
Pastorale.....Scarlatti
Theme et Variations.....Chevillard
Etude.....Szymanowski
Gavotte.....Michalowski
Mazourka.....Heniot Levy
Prelude in E flat minor.....Rachmaninoff
Rhapsodie, D minor.....Brahms
Prelude, C sharp minor
Mazurka, A minor
Impromptu
Etude, C sharp minor
Etude, A minor
.....Chopin

♯♯♯

Farr—Hilda Butler Farr has written the music to "A Toast to the Absent" (words by Charles F. Lummis of Los Angeles), and this was sung with great success by Edna Swanson Ver Haar, the popular contralto, at the First Presbyterian Church of Oak Park on November 24 and also by Gretchen Ernst at the Presbyterian Church of Roseland.

♯♯♯

Stokes—Kate Pentzer Stokes, dramatic reader, appeared at the Edgewater Beach Hotel on last Thursday evening, including in her program a group of Browning poems and the reading of "Friendly Enemies," for which she has created a fine reputation.

♯♯♯

Namara—Marguerite Namara, soprano of the Chicago Opera Company, made a trip to New York last week to sing in a morning musicale at the Biltmore, the alternate artist of the program being Caruso.

Music in Chicago

DEARBORN SCHOOL OF LYCEUM ART

Lena Budd Powers, the director of the expression department of the Dearborn School of Lyceum Art, was heard in a dramatic reading on Tuesday evening. She chose, as her vehicle, Zangwill's potent and vigorous "Melting Pot," compressing it sufficiently, yet preserving a remarkable amount of detail. She differentiated admirably the characters, giving them almost visibility by the realism infused. Astutely, also, she allowed much of the dialogue to tell its own story and create the atmosphere it could not fail to do. The discussions with which it is interlarded really accomplished their definite purpose—perhaps even better than in the stage usages where the subject matter is often swallowed up in effusive personality. This perspicacity of Mrs. Powers is a form of artistry that cannot be too much commended. Phrases in music or spoken language are many times at their best when left to voice their own message. It is the discriminating artist who makes use of this truth.

Mrs. Powers has a stately mien and carriage, has a voice that runs well the gamut of feeling and passion and can mellow with tenderness. She senses the value of costume and grace of motion, is picturesque the while, and is charmingly artistic at all times.

The choice of the "Melting Pot" for exploitation at the present time was opportune and Mrs. Mandeville voiced the sentiment of the entire audience which had followed the graphic story with interest when she impulsively led it in the strains of "America."

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

♯♯♯

CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

The concert of last Saturday morning was given by advanced pupils in the various departments and was one of variety and great interest.

Norma Lenhardt, pupil of Mr. Wedertz, played the brilliant "Waldesrauchen" (Liszt); Elsie Barge, a talented young woman, was very good in Prelude and Rigaudon, from the "Holberg Suite" (Grieg); Tula Miller, pupil of Mr. Raab, played an interesting group of pieces by Scott, and a fine group of MacDowell numbers was beautifully played by Marguerite Kelpsch, an artist student of Mr. Reuter.

The vocal department of the college was well represented in the work of Magda Jensen (Thatcher), Mrs. S. V. L. Rodriguez and Madeline Reed, their numbers ranging through Burleigh, Whelpley, Reichardt, Sinding, Kursteiner and MacFayden.

Mrs. Nelson C. Brewer (violin) played a movement from a Mozart Concerto, and Gilbert Ross, a talented boy from Madison, Wis., was heard to much advantage in a Spanish Dance (Granados) and "Ronde des Lutins" (Bazzini).

♯♯♯

Toy—Ernest Toy of the faculty of the Columbia School of Music, has classes also at the Sacred Heart Academy in Lake Forest and at the conservatory at Lafayette, Indiana.

CHICAGO PIANO COLLEGE

At the Chicago Piano College last Saturday afternoon an excellent recital was given by pupils of Mr. Harmon H. Watt. The program was as follows:

Prelude—The Approaching Storm.....Homer Bartlett
Norwegian Peasant Dance.....Haberbier
Miss Lavinia Kent
Guitarre.....Moszkowski
Nocturne, B flat major.....Paderewski
Mandolinata.....Leschetzky
Miss Julia Perry
Air de Ballet.....Moszkowski
Miss Kent
Concert Etude, F sharp major.....MacDowell
Arthur Lang
Concerto, A minor.....Grieg
Miss Perry
(Orchestral parts to Concerto played on second piano by Mr. Watt)

The last two numbers heard by the undersigned were sufficient to prove conclusively to any critic the sterling worth of the work done by these students. Mr. Lang played the MacDowell "Concert Etude" with ease and brilliancy, while Miss Perry presented the difficult and demanding Grieg Concerto with poise and acumen, as well as a thoroughly developed technique.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

♯♯♯

CHRISTINE LANGENHAN STARTS ON WESTERN TOUR

Just as many others of the prominent artists had to consent to cancellations of engagements during the influenza epidemic, so did the well-known dramatic soprano, Christine Langenhan, who intended to open this season in October in the state of Nebraska. Mme. Langenhan started forth this week for a tour of the leading cities of the northwest—Minneapolis, Fargo, Moorhead, and others—which will keep her occupied until Christmas time.

Mme. Langenhan introduces this season many songs of well-known American composers, as O. Walter Kramer, Frederick W. Vanderpool, Arthur A. Penn, Fay Foster, Marion Bauer, Lieut. B. C. Hilliam, Arthur Trostroyk, Manna Zucca, Ralph Cox and many others.

JOHN
McCormack
In America Entire Season 1918-19
EDWIN SCHNEIDER, Accompanist
CHARLES L. WAGNER, Mgr.
D. F. McSWEENEY, Associate Manager
511 Fifth Avenue (Postal Life Building)
New York
STEINWAY PIANO USED

GEORGE L. TENNEY
TENOR
Teacher of Voice. Studio Room 30, Lewis Institute. Phone West 793

ESTELLE L. RUSSELL
The Art of Singing
807-808 Lyon and Healy Bldg.
Telephone Oak Park 3506-W.

OLDE FOLKES' CONCERT AT YE SOUTH CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, CHICAGO

There is something ever new in the tunes of long ago, and when they are given in an appropriate setting, as they were last Tuesday, they have a double charm.

The concert was given in costume under the direction of "Artimissimo Cotsworth, Chief Tyme-Beater." (Brother Artimissimo asked the writer not to say anything about him, and forced a promise—so please read between the lines. If the writer did not detest puns he would say that Art was back of the whole thing, for both he and it were, to be really frank and truthful.)

The "syngers" were in colonial costume, and the platform was set with fine pieces of colonial furniture, rugs, throws and bric-a-brac. A crystal candelabra with lighted candles added a quaint touch, which was heightened by occasional use by the Tyme-Beater of the candle-snuffers.

Probably the chief distinction of the program lay in the fact that more perfect enunciation was never heard by the writer. Not one single word was missed in any solo, and at this writing no instance can be recalled where the chorus could not be understood perfectly, all of which reflects great credit upon the painstaking training of—(I almost forgot my promise!)

Some of the numbers stood out with especial distinction. Probably the high-water mark of the evening was reached in the "Meditation" (Bach-Gounod), engaging "Dame Faithful Hathaway" on ye fiddle. This was a concerted number for violin, piano and organ, and had to be repeated. Another number which had to be repeated was "Comin' Through the Rye," sung by Mistress Hopeful Beatitude Lee ("she that was a Buckley"); "Sweet Genevieve" by "Dame Blessed Kenturah Schwartz" and "When You and I Were Young," by "Wonderful Jehosaphat Oliver." Both left a tear in many an eye. The "Worldly Songe," "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," by "Eliphalet Furioso Rea," was as potent as ever in making us listen breathlessly for the very, very, very low tone. It came, and thrilled—as it always has, and probably always will.

"Cousin Jedediah" failed to strike the writer as humorously as it did the rest of the audience, with its refrain about Azariah, Hezekiah and Sophia, for most of these appear in his own circle of cousins, so the names aren't funny—they're folks. However, everybody else enjoyed the song, and "Brother Andreson, ye High-up Singer," sang it excellently, aided and abetted by the chorus.

"All Among the Barley" went with great artistic finish by "IV of Ye Prodigiouslie Smarte Syngers." The work showed a polish and artistic ensemble which indicated careful preparation.

"Ye Mayden, Alicia Webber" played two of Mendelssohn's songs without words on "Ye New-fangled Spinnette," and showed that she was not at all awed by the camouflage of the name.

The chorus did some fine work in the "Gloria" ascribed to Mozart, and in the quaint old "Greatte Anthem of Victory" by Pucitta. A clever bit of humor was shown in the "Spiritual Song," "Vain Are All Things Here Below, How False and Yet How Fair," where just enough caricature was delicately imposed to make it excruciatingly funny, the audience demanding a repetition.

To conclude, the writer wishes he were absolved from the promise so rashly given our Elderly Person, for he would then proceed at this point to comment upon the smoothness of the performance, the attention that had been given to all details, and the general pleasure that was given by the concert, all of which was due to the care and foresight of the Chief Tyme-Beater. But inasmuch as this is proscribed, he must content himself with saying that he had one fine good time, and that he only wishes that all who read this review had been there.

HUGO GOODWIN.

♮ ♮ ♮

And Hitemquick Peradventure Goodwin did his full quota and won a lot of new friends. He put some things into the old "Poet and Peasant" overture not found in the score, was a whole mountain of strength in the ensembles, and made himself valuable in just the ways an exceptional organist knows how.

A. C.

♯♯♯

Browne—Kathryn Browne, soprano, was soloist at the luncheon of the Pi Phi Sorority at the College Club late in November.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC CREDITS

Constructive Drill Book No. 1 and 2, one dollar each, over 400 constructive drills in each.

EARN MORE — Teach adults and children partly in classes, one-half hour private lesson, one hour class lesson per week.

HELP YOURSELF — Improvise, Play and Write 95220 Modulations from one given tone. Develop Musical Memory, Intellectual Memory and Fore Feeling. Create Keyboard and Written Harmony. Teach with Scientific Pedagogy. Prices $10.00 to $220.00. Teachers may join a class any time.

Address EFFA ELLIS PERFIELD
Chicago, Ill. 218 S. Wabash Ave.
New York City, 109 W. 45th St.
St. James Hotel

HELEN BOYLE HAWORTH
Concert Contralto Oratorio
9 W. GOETHE STREET

Barbara Wait Contralto
632 Fine Arts Bldg. Tel. Wabash 8795

THIRZA MOSER PARMENTER
SOPRANO—TEACHER OF VOICE
Lyceum Arts Conservatory, Lyon & Healy Building

CHARLES LINK
Tenor Violinist
800 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
VIOLET MARTENS
Accompanist-Coach

Ethel TAMMINGA
LYRIC SOPRANO
2711 Lincoln Avenue Telephone Lincoln 813

DANIEL BONUS, Psychoanalyst
Specializing in the removal of nervous impediments to health and efficiency in artists, teachers and students.
218 NEW SUFFERN BLDG., DECATUR, ILL.

DUNWELL & FORD
Engravers and Printers
TO THE PROFESSION
114 S. Wabash Avenue

MINNETTE WARREN
COMPOSER-PIANIST
Mgt. Warren Concert Bureau
305 SCHIFFMANN BLDG. ST. PAUL, MINN.

WILHELMINE LANG
DRAMATIC SOPRANO
Concert - Oratorio - Recital Pupils
2054 W. Chicago Avenue Phone Humboldt 24

MME. BRUNE-MARCUSSON
SOPRANO Concert—Oratorio—Pupils
400 Fine Arts Bldg. Phone West 611

LESTER MARGARET Soprano WILLIAM Composer-Accompanist
5211 BLACKSTONE AV. PHONE MIDWAY 8888

Melba Mae French-Barr
LYRIC SOPRANO
Studio 1530 Kimball Building Phone Edgewater 8322

MAE Doelling Pianist Teacher
2912 Burling Street

Eugene F. Dressler
NAVY

Hazel Dell Neff
Coloratura Soprano 4263 5th Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ruth Lowenberg
SOPRANO
4236 Grand Boulevard Drexel 1863

GEORGE RALF KURTZ
Organ Piano Accompanying
Sherwood Music School Fine Arts Bldg. Annex

ROLLIN PEASE
Bass-Baritone
910 Colfax St., Evanston, Ill. Phone Evanston 6522

Orchard School Music and Expression
Piano, Voice, Violin, Cello, Theory, Dancing
1537 Hyde Park Boulevard. Phone Blackstone 1789

LYELL BARBER
PIANIST
Bush Conservatory Superior 8700

GERTRUDE OGDEN FLEMING
DRAMATIC SOPRANO
Centralizing School of Music Tel. Wabash 6349

ETHEL BRENK
137 20th Street SOPRANO Milwaukee, Wis.

Anne Williams Teacher of Piano and Harmony
STUDIO: 28 Latrobe Avenue
PHONE: Columbus 1760

Tollefsen Trio
CONCERTS - MUSICALES
MGT. WINTON & LIVINGSTON, NEW YORK

Marian Coryell Accompanist Composer Pupils
STUDIO: 72 West 68th St., New York

EDWIN STANLEY SEDER AT FOURTH PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN ORGAN RECITAL

Edwin Stanley Seder, a newcomer to Chicago, who has but recently been engaged as organist at the First Congregational Church in Oak Park, where a magnificent new organ has just been installed, has been chosen also to play the organ recitals for the present on each Thursday afternoon at the Fourth Presbyterian church, where the organ is also one of rare style and beauty.

EDWIN STANLEY SEDER

He was heard there on last Thursday in a beautiful program and brought swift conviction to each listener that he is not only technically able to cope with anything of the organ repertoire but also that he has unusual temperament and such imagination and taste as enable him to read a program of organ music with unwonted display of variety and dramatic color as well as an abounding play of fancy and sentiment.

The program under consideration began with the Mendelssohn Sonata in F minor, in which Mr. Seder's ability to read purely formal classical works with understanding and skill was made apparent, while his presentation of a Bach Toccata at the close proved him equally adept in those which run to technical display.

The organ at the Fourth Church is capable of giving forth the most refined tone, and it has within itself all the possibilities of the most exquisite sort of shading and tone color. These elements were splendidly conserved in the quiet works "At Twilight" (Stebbins) and "Cloister Scene," a very unusual piece by Mason, while the "Fountain Reverie" (Fletcher) was a model of grace in movement and elegance in tonal quality.

The Rogers Suite, comprising Prologue, March, Intermezzo and Toccata, was exceedingly well done, there being much variety in the reading, while in the latter especially there was a fine display also of technical brilliance.

These organ recitals are given every Thursday at 4:30 and the magnificent Fourth Church ought to be filled on every occasion.

C. E. W.

JOHN WARREN ERB

John Warren Erb, whose beautiful work at the piano in the very interesting presentation of "Shanewis" given at Lockport, N. Y., last fall, was reported in detail in Music News, is sending out a neat announcement card in which he gives his address as 220 Madison Avenue, New York, and his lines of work as conductor, song coach and artistic accompanist.

He has made appearances during the past season in the last named capacity with Kitty Cheatham, Greta Torpadie, Emma Roberts and William Wilcke.

MUSIC TO COME

Friday, December 13

Orchestra Hall, 2:30—Chicago Symphony. Orchestra, May Peterson, soloist.

The Auditorium, 8—Linda.

Saturday, December 14

Ziegfeld Theater, 11—Concert, Chicago Musical College.

Auditorium, 2—"Werther."

Kimball Hall, 3—American Conservatory Concert.

Centralizing School, 3:30 — Children's Christmas Program.

Auditorium, 8—"Il Trovatore."

Orchestra Hall, 8:15—Symphony Orchestra, May Peterson, soloist.

Sunday, December 15

Turner Hall, 3—Ballmann Orchestra.

Fullerton Hall, 3 and 4:15—Chicago Concert Ensemble.

Kimball Hall, 3:30—Piano Recital, Flora Grunzburg-Zygman.

Auditorium, 3:30—Concert, Ancient Instruments, John O'Sullivan, soloist.

Edgewater Beach Hotel, 4:30—Musicale.

Ebenezer Lutheran Church, 8—"The Crusaders."

Monday, December 16

Auditorium, 8—"Barber of Seville."

Tuesday, December 17

Blackstone Hotel, 11 a. m.—Kinsolving Musicale.

Auditorium, 8—"Samson and Delilah."

Lyceum Arts Conservatory, 8:15—Concert.

Wednesday, December 18

Auditorium, 8—"Cavalleria" and "Pagliacci."

Thursday, December 19

Fourth Presbyterian Church, 4:30—Organ Recital, E. S. Seder.

Friday, December 20

Orchestra Hall, 2:30—Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Auditorium, 8—"La Gioconda."

ELLEN KINSMAN MANN'S SPECIAL WORK IN THE LYCEUM AND CHAUTAUQUA FIELD

The five weeks' summer course which Mrs. Ellen Kinsman Mann offered during last July and August has shown excellent results.

Its special purpose was preparation of the pupils for lyceum work, and though Mrs. Mann gave no absolute guarantee of engagements to students, the immense value of her course has been fully demonstrated in actual results.

Some few of Mrs. Mann's class were placed even before finishing the five weeks' course. A majority of the others found engagements at the end of that period, while the rest, after continuing their studies up to October 1, were satisfactorily placed at that time.

Thus the entire rather widely assorted group (for some had studied in the states from California to Massachusetts, and others had had very little preparation at all) found places in their chosen work.

Barradell—Christian Matheison, student of Kennard Barradell at the Chicago Musical College, has been engaged as soloist at the Chateau Theater, Broadway and Grace street.

Frank Cowan

TENOR

Opera, Oratorio and Recital

Open for Sunday Evening Engagements

Soloist Pilgrim Congregational Church

Address 2043 Mohawk Street

Telephone Diversey 3153

CAROLYN WILLARD IN PIANO RECITAL

Miss Carolyn Willard, a Chicago pianist who long ago won the right to be classed among the very best players in this city, gave a recital at Kimball Hall on last Tuesday evening under the auspices of F. Wight Neumann and again demonstrated her great pianistic skill and her musical artistry.

CAROLYN WILLARD

The chief item of her very high grade program was the monumental Fantasie in C major, by Schumann, a work which to play at all requires the maximum of technical equipment and endurance but which to play as well as was done by Miss Willard at this time proves unequivocally the possession of all the elements which go to make up piano-musicianship.

The piece is pure music; there is no claptrap and very little of saccharine display, and yet it is always logical and interesting, and it is of such elaborate and intricate makeup and development that the mere fact of committing it to memory constitutes a colossal task.

Miss Willard invested it with all the musical charm it will carry, besides playing it in an altogether intelligent and technically clear way.

The early part of her program included also the Brahms Rhapsody, Op. 119; two Preludes, an Etude and the charming Rondo of Chopin, all played with clarity as to tone, with musical beauty in all the lyric moments and with the necessary contrasts of movement, dynamics and color to make them thoroughly interesting.

The last group was, however, the most interesting of all and began with the strange "One More Day, John," a sea chanty, arranged by Percy Grainger.

That this writer does not find this work logical or beautiful in any sense does not mean necessarily that it is devoid of these elements, and Miss Willard certainly played it with entire ease and conviction.

Howard Brockway's Capriccio, which followed, was by way of contrast easy of apprehension and appreciation and its graceful and charming phrases, tossed off with rare abandon by Miss Willard, constituted one of the most delightful points of the program.

Miss Willard has long been noted for the surety of technic and the brilliance of interpretative thought she is able to put into such pieces as the "Forest Murmurings" (Liszt), and the enormously big and difficult E Minor Polonaise of MacDowell, and at this time she did not fail to give the usual vivid reading and to make the usual splendid impression.

Her piano playing is of such a grade of intelligence and beauty as to constitute a really valuable object lesson to all young pianists and when Miss Willard appears again Kimball Hall should be filled to the last place.

C. E. W.

EDGEWATER BEACH HOTEL

The Twilight Musicale at the Edgewater Beach Hotel last Sunday was another delight added to the series which Miss Hall has been so successfully conducting. The soloists were Ruth Lowenberg, soprano, and Marion Bergman, pianist. They gave the following program:

In Quelle Trine Morbide (Manon Lescaut).....Puccini
Miss Lowenberg
Miss Bergman at the piano
Etude, Op. 25, No. 1.....Chopin
Ballade, G minor.....Chopin
Miss Bergman
Ishtar.....Spross
Come Down, Laughing Streamlet.....Spross
At Parting.....Rogers
Miss Lowenberg
Legende.....Paderewski
Les Vegas—Concert Etude in G flat.....Moskowski
Miss Bergman
Lullaby from Jocelyn.....Godard
The Gipsy.....Kirkman
Sunlight.....Ware
Miss Lowenberg
Heroic Elegie.....Liszt
La Campanella.....Liszt
Miss Bergman

Miss Bergman and Miss Lowenberg both stand in the first rank of the younger artists of Chicago. Miss Lowenberg is a skillful interpreter of both dramatic and lyric songs, although her voice is distinctly dramatic in quality. And, besides a very pleasing voice, Miss Lowenberg is the fortunate possessor of a winning personality, than which there is nothing more essential to the success of any singer.

Miss Bergman also possesses personality to a degree, together with a technic which is never-failing. The compositions which she chose were all-demanding in many ways and could not have been done equally well by one any less an artist than Miss Bergman. Added, however, to Miss Bergman's laurels as pianist, she possesses in even greater degree the gift of accompanying, which she did supremely for Miss Lowenberg, and of which gift she has due cause to be very proud.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

Gould—December 16 (Monday p. m.) Herbert Gould will sing a part program for the Englewood Woman's Club. He will have with him a male quartet of bluejackets from Great Lakes. Miss Agnes Bodholdt, who is Mr. Gould's regular accompanist, will play for him.

We must keep our army equipped and ready to enforce peace terms. Buy W. S. S.

VAN DUSEN STUDIO

The piano pupils of Frank Van Dusen gave a studio recital on Wednesday afternoon, December 4. One feature of the program offered was a paper on "Beethoven," by Miss Margaret Hughes, and the playing by pupils of various movements of the Beethoven sonatas. The program entire was as follows:

Appasionata Sonata, First Movement
Sonata, Op. 31, No. 1, First Movement
Sonata, Op. 27, No. 1, First Movement
Sonata, Op. 14, No. 2, First and Second Movements
Sonata, D minor, First Movement
} ..Beethoven
Three Waltzes.....Chopin
Chromatic Fantasia and Fugue.....Bach

Pupils who assisted in the recital were Misses Margaret Hughes, Idorna Newmark, Emily Roberts, Marguerite Peters, Ruth Rezanka, Rene Levy, Mildred Maedl, Margaret McClellen, and Whitmer Byrne and Lawrence Geib.

Pfeiffer—May Pfeiffer, contralto, will sing tomorrow (Saturday) evening at the Chicago Athletic Club.

J. WARREN ERB
CONDUCTOR SONG COACH
ARTISTS ACCOMPANIST
Permanently at
STUDIO HALL, 220 MADISON AVENUE
NEW YORK

R. Mills Silby Mus. Doc.
ORCHESTRAL AND CHORAL CONDUCTING
TEACHER OF SINGING AND THEORY
1528 Kimball Hall. Tel. Wabash 8538, Superior 6660

MAY PFEIFFER
CONTRALTO
Ph. Austin 9798 4718 Washington Blvd.

KATE PENTZER STOKES
TEACHING—DRAMATIC READER—CLUBS
Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art,
633 Fine Arts Building

HELEN CAMPBELL
PIANIST TEACHER
604 Lyman Av., Oak Park Phone O. P. 3747-J

GEORGE W. BARNES
Choirmaster and Organist Christ Cathedral
Director of Music St. John's Military School
SALINA, KA

CARLO LITEN
FAMOUS BELGIAN TRAGEDIAN
NOW IN AMERICA Dramatic Recitals and Recitations
Exclusive Management
DANIEL MAYER Aeolian Hall, New York

The Jennette Loudon Studios
PIANO :: THEORY :: ENSEMBLE
614 FINE ARTS BUILDING

WESTERN Conservatory
E. H. SCOTT Pres.
KIMBALL HALL . . . CHICAGO

GEORGE R. GARNER Celebrated Colored American Tenor
4405 CHAMPLAIN AVENUE

MARIE KERN-MULLEN
CONTRALTO
CLUBS—CONCERT—ORATORIO—RECITALS
International College of Music
63 Auditorium Bldg. Res. Tel., Edgewater 438

Alice Brown Stout
Dramatic Soprano—Accompanist
266 PARK AVE. RIVER FOREST, ILL. Telephone R. F. 8450

ENGLISH VOCAL STUDIO NOTES

Jane English, coloratura soprano, sang at a dinner at the South Shore Country Club Wednesday evening and gave her program, "Songs of Yesterday," in costume before the Chicago Colony of New England Women in the Crystal Ballroom of the Blackstone Hotel December 12.

♮ ♮ ♮

Mrs. English has been giving duet programs with Miss Ethel Tamminga, lyric soprano, formerly her pupil. They sang recently for the Khaki and Blue Club and the Eleanor Club. Miss Tamminga is studying with Mr. English this season.

♮ ♮ ♮

Miss Matylee Lippard, lyric soprano, pupil of Mr. English, is engaged for the Alhambra Theater, Toledo, in January.

♮ ♮ ♮

Miss Tamminga will sing with an operatic quartet at the Hippodrome Theater the week of December 9, a return engagement.

♮ ♮ ♮

Miss Marion Harvey, lyric soprano, is now touring Wisconsin under the management of the Extension Division of the University of Wisconsin.

♮ ♮ ♮

Mrs. English is preparing to use on all her programs a very beautiful song written for her by Mme. Sturkow-Ryder—"The Fairies Have Never a Penny to Spend."

Peterson—Alma Peterson, soprano of Chicago Opera Company, gave a recital at Rockford last week.

SWIFT & CO. CHORUS CONCERT

The following program was given under the direction of D. A. Clippinger last Saturday evening:

Hymn of Thanks.....Kremser
The Combined Choruses
Barcarolle.....Denza
Stars of the Summer Night.....Nevin
Chit-Chat.....Moffat
The Women's Chorus
A Warrior Bold.....West
The Rosary.....Nevin
The solo by T. R. Williams
My Lady Chloe.....Clough-Leiter
The Men's Chorus
Piano solo—Ballade.....Chopin
Miss Strom
Down in the Dewy Dell.....Smart
Mon Petit Coeur (Old French).....Arranged by Saar
Sandman Am a-Comin' (Arranged from Dvorak's Humoresque).....Rix
The Women's Chorus
Annie Laurie.....Arranged by Dudley Buck
The Chafer and the Flower.....Veit
Plainsman's Song.....Paul Bliss
The Men's Chorus

WHAT DANIEL MAYER'S ARTISTS ARE DOING

Mischa Levitzki will give his first recital of the season Sunday afternoon, December 22, at 3 p. m. in Aeolian Hall.

Constance Balfour, soprano, and Elias Breeskin, violinist, are on tour in joint recitals.

Carlo Liten, the Belgian tragedian, is on tour.

Emma Roberts, American contralto, will be heard in recital January 7 at 3 p. m. in Aeolian Hall.

NEW PARK CENTER CHURCH

At this newly named church (on Sacramento Boulevard), there was given on last Sunday evening a Gounod program under the direction of Mr. H. W. Owens, the participants being also almost all of them his pupils.

Mr. Owens has been at this church only a few weeks, but has already evolved a chorus which promises to become as fine and as popular as those he has conducted in years past at the M. E. church of Austin and the Park Avenue M. E. Church.

Gounod, whom we are apt to think of as operatic mainly, has to his credit nevertheless the greatest number of sacred works of any French composer known to America—perhaps the most of any French writer whatever, and these works are all of a graceful flow and a musical cast which makes them easily recognizable and wholly amenable to the uses of amateur church singers and also, in truth, they are all good music.

The only number on the program that was not written by Gounod was the solo number, "The King of Love," by Harry Rowe Shelley, who might easily be called "The American Gounod" so much is he like the Frenchman.

There is the same grace in his writing and the same flow of melody as well as the same saccharine quality to the accompaniment.

The full list of solo numbers comprised, besides the Shelley song, the following by Gounod: "Holy Vision," "There Is a Green Hill," "Come Unto Him," "O Divine Redeemer" and "Glory to Thee," these being sung in order by Thomas Williams, Mrs. Cora Gale, Catherine Owens, Mae Betts, Mrs. Isabelle Merrill, and Thelma Fisher.

Miss Fisher had the best voice among the women and Mr. Williams among the men, while Miss Betts was best prepared in her song, giving it without notes. But all these young singers showed musicianship and good style, each one paying good attention to enunciation of text and each, in turn, giving sincere and effective interpretation to his number.

The chorus, which has grown greatly in suavity as well as in power even in the past month and which is made up of a fine list of young singers in all parts, sang "Holy, Holy" (the sanctus from the "Messa Sollinelle"), "Send Out Thy Light," "Unfold Ye Portals Everlasting" (Redemption), "Grant Us Thy Peace," "Nazareth" and "Babylon's Wave," putting into each a fine amount of musical value and also interpreting throughout with genuine religious feeling.

The war has done many things toward evolving possibilities and breaking down conventions and it, perhaps, was wholly responsible for the introduction at the close of the program of "The Soldiers' Chorus" from "Faust."

A few years ago the singing of this piece on a Sunday night in a Methodist church would have been an unheard of and an impossible proceeding, but on last Sunday the audience seemed to sense the significance and to feel the martial impulse of the chorus just as keenly as did the chorus.

Mr. Owens conducted this (as in fact the entire program), with vim and skill and it proved to be the brilliant crown of a program which, throughout, was appropriate and beautiful.

C. E. W.

HERBERT J. WRIGHTSON
PIANO THEORY ORGAN
610 FINE ARTS BLDG.
WABASH 2583
Residence Phone, Wilmette 2082

LEOPOLD GODOWSKY
World-Famed Pianist Season 1918-19
KNABE PIANO USED
HAENSEL & JONES
Aeolian Hall
New York

Iva Bigelow Weaver
SOPRANO Oratorio & Recitals
MARY WOOD CHASE SCHOOL,
Fine Arts Building, Chicago
Mack Block, MILWAUKEE, WIS.

LENORA SPARKES
Lyric Soprano of the Metropolitan Opera House
Concerts, Oratorio, Festivals, Recitals
DANIEL MAYER, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK CITY
HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager

Yeatman Griffith
Teacher of FLORENCE MACBETH, Prima Donna Coloratura, and many other Artists and Teachers
318 W. 82nd St., New York. Tel. Schuyler 8537

HUGO GOODWIN
CONCERT ORGANIST Pupils Accepted 19 W. Delaware Pl., Tel. Superior 1553

THOMAS NOBLE MACBURNEY
609 Fine Arts Building BARITONE Phone Wabash 8988

Centralizing School of Music
GERTRUDE RADLE-PARADIS, President
Centralizing School of Acting
WILLIAM OWEN, Director
Departments: Piano, Theory, Voice, Violin, Violoncello, Expression. SEND FOR BOOKLET
Box 27, 20 East Jackson Blvd., CHICAGO, ILL.

ETHEL LEGINSKA IN PIANO RECITAL

Unquestionably there is a distinct revival of interest in concerts in Chicago, and, although numerous dates have been canceled this fall, yet those concerts which have really been presented have, almost invariably, been in the presence of big audiences and to great enthusiasm.

Particularly fine was the audience which greeted Miss Ethel Leginska at Kimball Hall last Sunday afternoon, and wonderfully fine was the enthusiasm which attended her work.

She is, indeed—a pianist to arouse enthusiasm. She is so "different" in appearance, personality and style and she has in such superabundance all the best elements which go to make up great pianism that it is no wonder that she has become a popular idol.

It is doubtful if any woman pianist of the day has such power as has she, and this is coupled with a security and a certainty which never vary, and is in contrast also to a charm and daintiness which make for the complete enthrallment of her every audience.

Such bravura flights as those she took in the Chopin Polonaise, Opus 53, the "Hungarian" (MacDowell) and the Thirteenth

ETHEL LEGINSKA

Rhapsodie of Liszt are beyond words to tell, and in these she simply electrified the Kimball Hall audience.

In the Beethoven Sonata, Opus 53, she showed an intellectuality and a finish of pianism which place her way above the average of pianists who read this master composer, while in the Chopin Etude, Opus 10, No. 8, and the F sharp Etude of Arensky she displayed a speed and surety which were unbelievable unless you should actually hear them played by her.

MacDowell's "Witches' Dance" has been played by many pianists and numerous are the fine readings which have been given, but Ethel Leginska has evolved a crispness, speed and clarity which are positively uncanny and which place her playing of this number absolutely sui generis.

Both this and the Chopin Etude referred to were instantly redemanded by the audience, and, other encores being unavoidable, Miss Leginska played, to the delight of the audience, a Moszkowski Waltz and an additional Liszt Rhapsodie.

The program included, further—a Rachmaninoff Prelude (G minor) and the Cello Etude of Chopin, these numbers combining to make an ideal selection.

Miss Leginska has always been a Chicago favorite, and her fame here has been a steadily growing one; but it is safe to say that after the remarkable exhibition of last Sunday at Kimball Hall she will become one of the supreme favorites of this concert field and that her next appearance here will again be attended by a capacity audience.

C. E. W.

———###———

Northwestern University—At Music Hall of the Northwestern University School of Music on last Tuesday evening a fine program was given by Bernard Sheinn, baritone, pupil of G. A. Grant-Schaefer, and Emma Cumine Brady, pianist. Accompaniments were played by Mr. Grant-Schaefer.

DUNNING SYSTEM
OF
Improved Music Study
FOR
BEGINNERS
Normal Teachers
HARRIET BACON MacDonald 3623 Pine Grove Ave.
CARRIE MUNGER Long Congress Hotel
Chicago
Mrs. MacDonald's Classes:
Tulsa, Okla., January 6; Chicago, March 9.
Mrs. Long's Classes: New Orleans, La., January 10, 1919; Birmingham, Ala., March 1; Chicago, Ill., May 1.

ANTOINETTE
ZEBROWSKA-PERLOWSKA Concert Violinist
7812 SOUTH SHORE DRIVE
Tel. So. Chicago 4885

Blanche E. Snider
LYRIC SOPRANO
429 Fine Arts Bldg. On tour with Cathedral Quartette

Letitia V. Barnum, Director
CHICAGO SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION AND DRAMATIC ART
Fine Arts Bldg. 410 Michigan Ave., Chicago

LENOX LUCIE ROBERTS Soprano—Pupils
519 FINE ARTS BUILDING, WED. AND SAT. A. M.
1019 Superior St., OAK PARK. Phone O. P. 3530-R

Hanna Butler
Soprano PUPILS RECITAL ORATORIO
512 Fine Arts Bldg. Tel. Wabash 4870

Arthur Shattuck, Pianist
Management Margaret Rice, Secretary, 325 Oakland Avenue, Milwaukee
The Steinway Piano

Marie Edwards
PIANIST AND ORGANIST. Ill. College of Music. 2831 Washington Blvd.
907-8 Lyon & Healy Bldg. Phone Wabash 6841

BASSO Dr. Carver Williams
Cosmopolitan School Kimball Hall

ALMA HAYS REED
SOPRANO
6543 GLENWOOD AVENUE

ARTHUR RANDOLPH FRASER
Choirmaster and Organist, Grace Church, Oak Park
PUPILS—PIANO and ORGAN
TELEPHONE OAK PARK 5749

Alexander RAAB
PIANIST
CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

Nicholas Garagusi
THE AMERICAN VIOLINIST For Concerts and Recitals.
Management EMIL REICH, 1 W. 34th St., New York

Clyde Stephens
PIANIST
Faculty Appointment, Coe College Cedar Rapids, Ia.

MASON SLADE
Organ Lawrence Conservatory, Appleton, Wis.
Christ Episcopal Church, Chicago
Phone Midway 930

JENNIE F. W. JOHNSON
CONTRALTO
American Conservatory. 700 Oakwood Blvd., Chicago

SABA DOAK CONCERTS ORATORIO RECITALS
SOPRANO Plaza Hotel, Chicago Tel. Superior 2680
Mgt. Alma Voedisch 1425 Broadway, N. Y.

Edgar Nelson
BUSH CONSERVATORY

Chant Sans Paroles
A New Composition for Piano and Violin by HENIOT LEVY
Published by - - The Clayton F. Summy Co.

Hertha E. Johnson
PUPILS SOPRANO CONCERTS
1207 Kimball Hall Phone Harrison 7949

DR. FRANCIS HEMINGTON
Concert Organist Pupils Received
Phone Oak Park 2464

CARL J. WATERMAN
TENOR
Teacher of Singing and Public School Music
Lawrence Conservatory Appleton, Wisconsin

HARRY DETWEILER PIANIST
TEACHING
Chicago Musical College
Pres. Columbia Conservatory, Aurora, Ill.

HAZEL SILVER Lyric Soprano
Bush Conservatory Tel. Superior 8700

Cleveland Bohnet
PIANIST, AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

REGINA HASSLER-FOX
AMERICAN MEZZO-CONTRALTO
Personal Representative, L. S. FOX, 133 Fifth Ave., N.Y

GRANT HADLEY
BARITONE
KIMBALL BLDG.

MONICA GRAHAM Mary Wood Chase School STULTS SOPRANO BASS WALTER ALLEN -- 1306 KIMBALL HALL

THE BURNS SCHOOL OF MUSIC
PHYSICAL EXPRESSION AND ETIQUETTE
M. Rose Burns, President
725 Lyon & Healy Bldg. and 401 W. 63d St.

Churches

NEW FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The Christmas season again brings its annual musical offering from the united choirs of New First Congregational Church, Ashland and Washington boulevards. It will be Dudley Buck's cantata and pageant, "The Coming of the King."

Although given for many years, this beautiful cantata continues to draw large audiences. The choirs present to them the spirit of reverence, impressiveness and mystery which this cantata conveys not only musically but also in the stage effects of lighting, setting and costuming. Most of the costumes are real Oriental products brought from the East by one of the choir members, Tenney Ford.

To become imbued with the true Christmas spirit, see and hear "The Coming of the King" either on Friday night, December 20, when you must have a ticket of admission, to be secured from Lyon & Healy, Gamble Hinged Music Company or Central Y. M. C. A., or Sunday night, December 22, at 8:15 o'clock. The Sunday evening service requires no ticket.

The soloists are: Mrs. G. L. Tenney, soprano; Miss Lucy Hartman, contralto; Dr. Campbell and Dr. L. Jones, tenors; Rollin Pease, bass; William Morse, baritone. Miss Alice Deal will preside at the organ, and Dr. G. L. Tenney will direct.

AT GRACE EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN OAK PARK

Mr. Arthur Fraser's boy choir at Grace Episcopal Church sang the sacred cantata, "Penitence, Pardon, and Peace," by Maunder, last Sunday night, the two special soloists being Mrs. Hildred Hanson Hostetter, soprano, and Mr. Richard C. Anson, baritone. Mrs. Hostetter has a fine voice and uses it excellently. She had much to sing in the cantata and was very pleasing throughout. An artist of rare discrimination, she is always able to fit into her environment with skill and grace.

Mr. Anson has a fine baritone voice and sang his solos artistically.

Mr. Fraser is a fine organist and choir director, and in his work invariably shows just how effective a boy choir can be when well trained, directed, and accompanied.

H. L. W.

SAINT PATRICK'S

St. Patrick's Parish Hall has been equipped with stage and scenery. Also 1,000 opera chairs now find place in its auditorium. To mark the "opening" on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 16, 17, 18, a different entertainment will be given each evening. On Monday night the operetta, "The Wild Rose," will be presented by the present and former pupils of St. Patrick's Girls' School and Miss Marie Brady. On Tuesday night the boys of St. Patrick's Commercial Academy are to offer a varied program together with an operetta, "The Bogus School Inspector," and on Wednesday night the combined choirs of the church will appear in "Refined Vaudeville." Mr. E. Richardson Smith will direct the stage and Dr. J. Lewis Browne the music.

ST. JAMES' FESTIVAL SERVICE

At St. James' Episcopal Church, Cass and Huron streets, next Sunday at 4 p. m., the following festival service program will be presented under the direction of Hugo Goodwin, organist and choirmaster:

Prelude—Christmas Song ..... Lemare
Processional—Hymn 45 ..... Plain Song
Magnificat in A ..... Foster
Deu- Misereatur in E flat ..... Buck
Anthem—Duet: Love Divine ..... Stainer
Solos by Roy Abramson, soprano, and Edward Brink, tenor
Hymn 642 ..... Dykes
Offertory anthem—Hark, Hark, My Soul ..... Shelley
Solos by Roy Abramson, soprano; Morris Jones, alto
Orison—Hymn 13 ..... Weber
Solo by Fred Stuhlman, soprano
Recessional—Hymn 23 ..... Parker
Postludial Recital of Christmas Music
Offertory on Christmas Hymns ..... Guilmant
A Christmas Lullaby ..... Melartin
Fred Stuhlman, soprano
Christmas in Sicily ..... Yon
Noel ..... Holmes
James Baker, soprano
Christmas Musette ..... Mailly
When Blossoms Flowered Amid the Snows ..... Yon
Roy Abramson, soprano
Improvisation on Christmas Carols

CHICAGO ARTISTS' ASSOCIATION

At the meeting of the Chicago Artists' Association, December 17, at 2:30 p. m., St. James' Choir boys, under the direction of Hugo Goodwin, organist and choirmaster, will present the following program:

Carols—
Wassail Song ..... Legge
God Rest, You Merry Gentlemen ..... Traditional
Solos by Masters Abramson, Stuhlman, Baker and Jones
Good Christian Men, Rejoice ..... Traditional Noel ..... Augusta Holmes
Master James Baker
Gesu Bambino ..... Pietro Yon
Master Roy Abramson
Nazareth ..... Gounod
Solo parts in unison by Masters Jones, Holmberg, Stowe, Anderson, Moffatt, Stuhlman, Johnston
Luther's Cradle Song ..... Spilman
Master Felix Conne
Carol—The First Nowell ..... Traditional
A Christmas Cradle Song ..... Melartin
Master Fred Stuhlman
Duet—Hark, Hark, My Soul ..... Shelley
Master Roy Abramson, soprano
Master Morris Jones, alto
Carol—Christus Natus Est ..... Bridge
O Holy Night ..... Adam
Master Morris Jones and Chorus
Noel of the Bressan Waits ..... Darcieux
Master Roy Abramson
Carol—Adeste Fideles ..... Reading
Duet—Silent Night, Holy Night ..... Gruber
Master Roy Abramson
Master Morris Jones

Bender—Miss Celia Bender was the soprano at the Oak Park M. E. Church Sunday, December 8, for the morning and evening services.

MAC DOWELL CLUB OF AUSTIN

On Thursday evening, December 5, the MacDowell Club of Austin presented Maude Fenton Bollman in a program of classic and modern songs at the Christian church, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience.

After the program the audience had a pleasant surprise awaiting them when the president, Maude Jones McFarland, introduced Mrs. Edward MacDowell, who arrived on a late train from Port Huron, Mich. Having heard Mrs. MacDowell at least four times in the last year, one might think that it would be uninteresting. While Peterborough and the MacDowell Colony are always the big subject, she presents it in a different way, usually with some added features, some new thought or idea which she is endeavoring to work out so the subject never grows old. She spoke of receiving recently for "Colony" a library worth $30,000 from a woman in Cleveland, Ohio. A man also had said that while he hoped to live twenty years longer, he had willed $10,000 to the "MacDowell Colony when he dies." And so the work progresses.

Just now she is housing many of the men from different camps who are broken down from mental or physical strain. She has sent word to the Y. M. C. A. and different organizations that where they can and wish to do so, they may pay board, but if they cannot, they may come without.

She is also getting ready to entertain the National Federation of Music Clubs, which will meet in July.

ELEANORE CAPPS-HOSTLER.

KINSOLVING MUSICAL MORNINGS

Reinald Werrenrath, baritone, and Toscha Seidel, violinist, will be the artists at the third musicale next Tuesday, December 17, at 11 o'clock, in the Crystal Ballroom of the Blackstone.

Program

Devil's Trill ..... Tartini
Mr. Seidel
She Never Told Her Love ..... Haydn
Who Is Sylvia ..... Schubert
Some Rival Has Stolen My True Love Away ..... Traditional Surrey Air, arr. Lucy Broadwood
The Pretty Creature (Old English) ..... Arr. by H. Lane Wilson
Mr. Werrenrath
Sicilienne et Rigaudon ..... Francoeur-Kreisler
Hebrew Lullaby ..... Achron
La Chasse ..... Cartier-Kreisler
Mr. Seidel
Le Manoir de Rosemonde ..... Henri Duparc
Le Miroir ..... Gustave Ferrari
Vision Fugitive (Heroiade) ..... Massenet
Mr. Werrenrath
Polonaise, A major ..... Wieniawski
Mr. Seidel
The Irish Guards ..... Edward German
Roadways ..... John H. Densmore
When Daddy Sings ..... Victor Harris
A Khaki Lad ..... Florence Aylward
Mr. Werrenrath

Mr. Isaac Van Grove at the piano for Mr. Werrenrath.

Mr. L. T. Grunberg at the piano for Mr. Seidel.

Browne-Craven — At the dedication of a new organ at Bethany Lutheran Church on last Sunday evening the two artists were J. Lewis Browne, organist, and Carl E. Craven, tenor. Mr. Browne played the Sonata No. 4 (Rheinberger) and many short numbers, including his own Scherzo Symphonique, and Mr. Craven sang a Mendelssohn aria, "How Long Wilt Thou Forget Me?" (Buck) and "The Lord Is My Light" (Allitsen).

ROBERT LOREN QUAIT, Tenor
Concert, Oratorio Recitals
7431 KIMBARK AVENUE
TELEPHONE MIDWAY 6996

JOSEF HOFMANN

Criticisms Unparalleled by Any Other Pianist

(James G. Huneker in New York Times, Nov. 24, 1918)

JOSEF HOFMANN PLAYS

Master Pianist in His Class Gives His First Recital of Season

Josef Hofmann is the master pianist in his class—and there are so few in that class that he must feel lonely. He is an objective artist, i. e., he subdues his personality to the spirit of the particular composer he interprets. When he plays Chopin it is not Liszt you hear, but Chopin. He, too, can storm the battlements on high, but he never loses the central control of his spirit. He is the captain of his soul, and in all the fire and fury of his music—he never pounds. A negative virtue nowadays! Not at all. A positive one. His magnificent tone, the beauty of his nuances, his feeling for "values" and rhythmic vitality, are peculiarly his own. His left hand, surely the most extraordinary left hand in the pianistic world, creates those bell-like basses; this hand is the keystone in his musical arch.

(W. J. Henderson in New York Sun, Nov. 24, 1918)

HOFMANN'S TECHNIC IS LIKE MAGICIAN'S

Pianist Thrills Auditors in Symposium of Famous Composers' Works

RECITAL A GREAT SUCCESS

Lyric Songs Breathe Tone Poetry Under Master's Touch of Keys

Josef Hofmann, foremost of pianists, gave his first recital of this season yesterday afternoon in Carnegie Hall. The scene was one now familiar at the artistic offerings of the famous pupil of Rubinstein. Every seat was taken. There were as many persons on the stage as the space not needed for the piano and the player would permit, and many others stood patiently behind the rail at the rear of the parquet floor. . . . . .

A Sonata so bewitchingly vocal as the A Major demands interpretation by a master of the singing tone of the piano. Yesterday we had that master and with his singing tone he brought also his purity of style, his virile repose, his grand simplicity.

Magic in Touch of Technic

To the habitual listener there was a mystic's fancy in the delicate conceptions of the F Sharp Minor Nocturne, but to the audience as a whole the playing of the Nocturne in B Major was a greater joy. How the wondrous crescendo of the trills grew and waned! What a magician of technic and of tone painting! The E Flat Valse, beloved of students, was performed with glittering crispness of a frosty morning, and the B Flat Minor Scherzo, which concluded the group, was given with another flaming revelation of reserved powers and big Polish feeling.

When Hofmann plays the elusive will o' the wisp pieces they become as luminous and as entrancing as the phosphorescence on a summer sea.

Some day a master of pen and piano—there is one—will write an essay on Hofmann's technic, which is a supertechnic of his own solitary order. Then mayhap we shall know by what mechanical means this great pianist transmutes blows upon keys into deep breathed lyric songs of tone poetry. Meanwhile we may try to preserve within our memories the beauty of such a recital as yesterday's.

(P. V. R. Key in New York World, Nov. 24, 1918)

HOFMANN IS HEARD IN A FINE RECITAL

Beethoven's A Major Sonata Made Almost a Living Thing by the Pianist

Hofmann's art has mellowed almost into perfection in recent years.

Hofmann played with an intellectual clarity, a classical breadth and poise and so discriminating an employment of dynamics that the sonata became almost a living thing.

No other pianist whom we know could have attained the simple musical beauty which Hofmann put into the Scarlatti pastorale; it fairly breathed of fields and flowers and gently swaying trees.

The final group, which included the Liszt Twelfth Rhapsody and Moszkowsky, had all in their presentation which ardent Hofmannites rave over—amazing tone coloring, perfect rhythms and a technic unapproached by even the so-called "technicians."

(Reginald de Koven in New York Herald, Nov. 24, 1918)

JOSEF HOFMANN'S MARVELOUS ART SEEN IN PIANO RECITAL

Immense Audience at Carnegie Hall Enjoys a Very Interesting Program of Piano Music Superbly Interpreted

There are at the present time very few really great artists, and Josef Hofmann, who gave his first piano recital this season at Carnegie Hall yesterday afternoon, is certainly one of them.

Today Josef Hofmann stands before the public as undoubtedly one of the greatest, if not the greatest, pianists of his day. Every time I hear him it seems to me that in the breadth and development of his art and style, in his human sympathy as well as in the tenderness and emotion which comes of a life's happy experience, he plays better. Certainly at yesterday's recital he gave a most illuminating and enjoyable exhibition of high class artistic piano playing, and I was especially struck by the superb balance, proportion and finish of his interpretation from an intellectual standpoint, as well as from a mechanical standpoint, of his piano dynamics, contrasts and climaxes.

His Marvelous Fingering

Oh, those wonderful fingers, which no amount of automobile or house building, or the indulgence of those mechanical experiments which are his hobby seem to injure in their dexterity, but only to improve!

His program of yesterday, ranging in well considered succession from Handel to Liszt, was one to test the capabilities and capacity, as regard varied expression and mood, of any pianist; and I am free to say that I enjoyed every phrase and note of it to an extent which practically disarmed criticism and only called for unqualified expression of pleasure and enjoyment.

The program opened with Handel's D Minor Variations, and it was evident from his interpretation that Mr. Hofmann had well in mind the tonal quality and effect of the old-time spinet or harpsichord, for which the music was written, and with classic elegance and simplicity tempered the sonority of the modern instrument in accord with the original intention of the composer. And yet there were both force and brilliancy as well as classic reserve in his exceedingly finished interpretation. Again old-time grace and delicacy, like the perfume of old lavender, came to the fore in the two familiar Scarlatti pieces, "Pastorale" and "Capriccio," in which the pianist showed versatility in style and sure artistic intention; the formal classicism of Handel being tempered with a genial and modern touch which made for unusual charm of appropriate expression.

The Beethoven Sonata A Major, Opus 101, the high light of the program, which came next, was interpreted with a wealth of imaginative detail in the way of varied tone color and contrast, and differentiation of light and shade, and given with a reserve and continence fully illustrative of Beethoven as the first great romantic composer. Here was no hard formalism, but the sympathetic and plastic interpretation of the emotional thought of a composer bent on breaking the shackles of the convention and tradition that his progressive genius had o'erlapped. Enthusiastically encored, and probably as a fitting introduction to the succeeding Chopin group, Mr. Hofmann played the Chopin B Flat Waltz with a combined entrain and delicacy which were captivating. . . . . .

The C Sharp Polonaise was played with splendid rhythm and climax. In the E Flat Major Waltz the interpretation was eminently dansante and fluent, like running waters or dancing fountains. The Scherzo B Flat Minor, which closed the group, was played in the manner of a ballade, with strong romantic suggestion and with conviction, fire and brilliancy. A third group of pieces, "Orientale," by Stojowski; the inevitable "Melodie in F Major," by Rubinstein; Moszkowski's "La Jongleuse" and Liszt's Twelfth Rhapsody, all brilliantly interpreted, closed the program with effect and almost interminable applause.

What struck me perhaps most in the program for finesse and subtle intelligence of interpretation was the Beethoven Sonata. For this sonata is for the cognoscenti rather than for the general public, and the fact that Mr. Hofmann succeeded in making his interpretation of this work, which certainly marks a high point in the romantic expression of its composer, as effective and interesting as it is, speaks much for his sure artistic intuition and interpretative gifts.

Better piano playing than that of yesterday afternoon has seldom been heard in New York, and it was a pleasure to note that the immense audience, which flowed over onto the stage and crowded every nook with the cordial and appreciative spirit of real musical intelligence and appreciation, was fully alive to and impressed by the real artistic, rather than the merely sensational, value of Mr. Hofmann's playing.

All hail to a great artist!

At the close of the program Mr. Hofmann was obliged to respond to no less than five encores amid tumultuous applause.

Management: WOLFSOHN MUSICAL BUREAU, 1 West 34th Street, - - - - - - - - - New York

STEINWAY PIANO

Edison Symphony Orchestra in Usual Monthly Concert

The usual monthly concert of the Edison Symphony Orchestra, under direction of Morgan L. Eastman, was given at Orchestra Hall on last Tuesday evening and had, as usual, a very interesting program, and it was, also—the scene of an unusual event and demonstration.

The preliminary announcements had carried the name of Giordano Pellonari, tenor, as assisting artist, and there was some speculation as to his personality, inasmuch as no one could be found who had ever heard his name before.

Just before his appearance Mr. Eastman made a little speech, in which the mystery was cleared up and in which also the graciousness and the helpful spirit of the conductor was made apparent.

"One evening a few weeks ago," said Mr. Eastman, "I went, after an evening in my office, to get a plate of spaghetti in a little Italian restaurant across the street, and when a young Italian came to take my order I noticed that he was humming a tenor aria from "La Tosca." When he returned with my supper he had changed to a song from "Boheme," and I became so interested that I asked about his music. 'Yes,' he said, 'I used to sing in Italy, but here I have found nothing to do but my present work in the restaurant.' I invited him to come next day to my studio and sing for me," continued Mr. Eastman, "and was so delighted with his voice that I at once asked him to come here tonight and sing for you. I must add that he is just twenty years of age and has had no lessons at all in vocal art, his gift being a natural one."

After this exciting introduction Mr. Pellonari came onto the stage and proved to be a nice looking, pleasant acting Italian youth, and when he began to sing it was apparent at once that he had a voice of very unusual compass and beauty, as well as natural temperament of great stress and effectiveness.

He sang three Neapolitan songs, as follows: "Tarentella Sincere" (De Crescenza), "Funiculi-Funicula" (Denza) and "O sole mio" with such fervor, beauty and style as to win a tremendous recall, when he gave an "Orientale" very beautifully. Recalled again and again, Mr. Eastman finally announced for him that there had been no more encores prepared, but that he would repeat any one of the four songs he had already sung on request. Immediately a shout of "Funiculi-Funicula" went up, and Mr. Pellonari repeated that pleasing lyric to the added delight of the audience.

So many things go into the makeup of a successful artist that this writer does not care to predict success for anyone unless he knows that the personality and the education of the young musician are good and that these are backed up with industry, perseverance and good sense.

Given these—and a few score more of necessities, however, Mr. Pellonari certainly has the voice, the appearance and the musical feeling to become a celebrity, and his introduction by Mr. Eastman was certainly a gracious thing.

The program played by the Orchestra was a particularly good one, and it was presented in a style several steps in advance of any before heard.

The "Marche Militaire" of Schubert went with a swing, a Brahms Hungarian Dance showed much skill on the part of Mr. Eastman particularly, with satisfactory response from his men, while two Wagner excerpts were also played consistently and effectively.

Many lighter works were also much liked, and, as usual, the audience demanded more and more, seemingly never being able to get enough of the graceful and brilliant music provided by this popular organization for its clientele.

The next regular concert will be given on January 2, but meantime, on December 19, will occur the Seventh Annual Concert of the organization, with the following splendid program:

Pomp and Circumstance, Op. 39, No. 1.....Elgar
Waltz from the Ballet Suite, Sleeping Beauty.....
.....Tschaikowsky
Ballet Music from Faust.....Gounod
Waltz from the Corps de Ballet
Entry of the Nubian Slaves
Solo Dance Cleopatra
Entry of the Trojan Maidens
Solo Dance of Helen
Solo—Selected .....
Frances Ingram
Evolution of Dixie.....Lake
Second Indian Suite, Op. 48, No. 1.....MacDowell
Entr'acte Gavotte from Mignon.....Thomas
Ase's Death from Peer Gynt Suite No. 1.....Grieg
Solo—Selected .....
Frances Ingram
March Slave, Op. 31.....Tschaikowsky

C. E. W.

THE EDISON ORCHESTRA AT ORCHESTRA HALL, MORGAN L. EASTMAN CONDUCTING

LETITIA V. BARNUM PRESENTS KATE PENTZER STOKES AND ORIANA ABBOT JENNISON IN NOVELTY PROGRAM AT THE BARNUM RECITAL HALL

On last Monday evening Mrs. Barnum presented her assistant, Kate Pentzer Stokes, in some wonderfully effective readings in the pretty little theater which bears her name, and the occasion was made further interesting by the introduction of Oriana Abbot Jennison of the Dayton (Ohio) Conservatory—a very good singer, who, at this time, had the assistance of Shirley M. K. Gendell at the piano.

Mrs. Stokes had for her chief number an extensive reading from the popular drama, "Friendly Enemies," and in this she proved herself the possessor of a great many gifts and graces.

She has a rich and clear voice—nice stage presence and a delightfully frank and pleasing manner, and, in addition to this, a dramatic sense which enables her to grasp so intricate and difficult a story as "Friendly Enemies" and present it to the audience clearly and with much color and style.

Her differentiation of the various characters was uncommonly good and her control of both the pathetic and the comedy elements equally remarkable.

The many people present found this work very entertaining and occasionally thrilling, and the forty minutes consumed in its rendition seemed not half that time to the fascinated audience.

Mrs. Jennison sang first a group of new songs by Rudolph Ganz, and in so doing did honor to him and much credit to herself, for they are good songs from every musical standpoint, and their style and sentiment are particularly American.

The titles of these songs are "To Mary," "The Angels Are Sleeping" and "'Neath the Stars."

The second group included "Mandoline" and "Pantomime," two interesting and characteristic songs of William Spencer Johnson, and a Serenade by Dunn.

Mrs. Jennison has a nice style, good musicianship and a well-trained voice, entirely capable of covering easily the demands put upon it at this time, and the audience responded to her allure in no uncertain terms.

To close the program the two artists joined in a novelty entitled "The Rhapsody of Grandmother's Autograph Album," in which, after Mrs. Stokes had read an appropriate prologue, Mrs. Jennison appeared in the costume shown in the picture and sang a lot of the usual doggerel of the old-fashioned autograph album, such as "The rose is red, the violet blue," etc., set to music with more or less skill by Archie A. Mumma.

The idea is a charming one and the two performers got out of it everything possi-

KATE PENTZER STOKES

TWO
SPLENDID ORGAN COMPOSITIONS
By
NEVIN
TOCCATA IN D MINOR
"Brought the audience to its feet, and was insistently redemanded."—Edwin Arthur Kraft.
IN SOLITUDE
"One of the best examples of serious organ writing that any American has given us in many a day."—A. Walter Kramer, in Musical America.
Published by
GAMBLE HINGED MUSIC CO.
67 E. VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

"The Devil's Love Song"
By HALLETT GILBERTE
is successfully sung by Charles W. Clark, Louis Graveure, Hartridge Whipp, and others.
Address HOTEL FLANDERS, 133 W. 47th St., New York

FLORENCE M. GRANDLAND
Coach—Accompanist PIANIST Pupils
217 N. 3rd Ave., Maywood, Ill. Tel. Maywood 320

SOPHIE MILLER
SOPRANO Teacher of Voice and Harmony
931 Kimball Hall Home Phone Graceland 6296

Harriet C. Cartwright
CONCERT PIANISTE AND TEACHER
OFFICIAL HARMONY, THEORY INSTRUCTOR and ACCOMPANIST of the WHITNEY TEW STUDIOS Telephones Wabash 4540 and Lyric 49

Ethel Edith Jones
MEZZO-SOPRANO
848 Sunnyside Ave. Tel. Sunnyside 3448

NANCE D. THOMPSON
Teacher of Boys' Voices, especially for Choir
LYCEUM ARTS CONSERVATORY
Lyon & Healy Building

JEANNE BOYD
COMPOSER—ACCOMPANIST—PUPILS
600 Lyon & Healy Bldg. Tel. Harrison 2074

JOSEF KONEČNÝ Violinist
WITH THE COLORS
ADDRESS CARE MUSIC NEWS

Helen Grahame Wait
SOPRANO
Lyceum Arts Conservatory, Lyon & Healy Bldg.

MAX I. FISCHEL, Violinist
CONCERTS INSTRUCTION RECITALS
Suite 610, Fine Arts Building

GLADYS WELGE
VIOLINIST TEACHER
5819 West Erie Street

BLOSSOM WILCOX
LYRIC SOPRANO
Address care FLORENCE VAN KIRK 501 Fifth Ave. New York

LOLA PIERSON TILLEMA
SOPRANO
Phone Edgewater 1177 1461 Catalpa Ave.

ble, considering the text and the rather pale music. Mrs. Stokes caught the spirit of the thing at once in her introduction, and Mrs. Jennison looked a charming picture, while she and Mr. Gandell gave faithfully artistic interpretation to the Mumma music.

Mrs, Stokes and Mrs. Jennison form an interesting artistic combination, and it would be a great pleasure to hear them together again.

C. E. W.

ORIANA ABBOT JENNISON

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

The usual Saturday afternoon concert at the American Conservatory proved unusually interesting last week in the hands of advanced pupils of Ida Kaehler, Karleton Hackett and William Middelschulte. The program follows:

Sonata, G minor, Op. 22.....Schumann
Miss Alice Weber
(Artist pupil of Ida Kaehler)
Love Me or Not.....Fecchi
The Lonely Road (Manuscript).....C. Olim Rice
The Horn.....A. Flegier
Mr. Crow
(Artist pupil of Karleton Hackett)
Concerto, No. 4, F major, First Movement)....Handel
Cadenza by W. Middelschulte
Miss Renzina Teninga
(Artist pupil of W. Middelschulte)
Etude, Op. 25, No. 9
Etude, Op. 25, No. 1 .....Chopin
Etude, Op. 10, No. 5
Miss Weber
Mia sposa sara la mia bambiera.....A. Rotoli
(My Bride Shall Be My Flag)
Rosa.....Tosti
Ariette—Were I a Sunbeam.....Zidal
Mr. Crow
Concert Study, D flat.....Liszt
Gnomenreigen.....Liszt
Marche Militaire.....Schubert-Tausig
Miss Weber
Fantasie on a Choral by Meyerbeer.....Liszt
Miss Teninga

Miss Alice Weber, in her several technically difficult numbers, revealed a high degree of musical temperament, with more mature interpretation than would naturally be expected.

Mr. Crow disclosed a rich, flexible voice, with quality rather than quantity in the foreground, though the latter was not lacking. He is the possessor of a fortunate personality and wins his audience from the start. His is the promise of an interesting and successful career.

Miss Teninga, in her organ selections, particularly the Liszt Fantasie in the last group, gave conclusive proof of the fact that she is not only an adept in the technical use of the organ but well versed in the lore of organ registration, for she made most musical use of a none too musical instrument and employed every combination for some definite purpose.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

———♯♯♯———

Boyd—Jeanne Boyd was accompanist for Sibyl Sammis MacDermid in joint recital with Glenn Dillard Gunn at Kimball Hall December 12. Two songs of Miss Boyd's were included in the program, "The Fairy Pool" and "La Tarantella."

LEMUEL KILBY AT EDGEWATER BEACH HOTEL

Fortunate indeed was the audience to have heard Lemuel Kilby at the Edgewater Beach Hotel on Sunday, December 1.

Mr. Kilby is a singer of rare intelligence and musical feeling, and his program at this time combined both these qualities to a remarkable degree.

In choosing his songs, Mr. Kilby deviates from the usual routine of concert singers and takes works which not only have individuality and charm, but which carry with them a message that is really worth while and are also peculiarly adapted to his individual talents.

His voice is not a tremendously big instrument, but is a particularly pleasing one, while his pronunciation and enunciation are almost faultless, and his interpretation proves that he has studied very thoroughly the construction of each song.

His first song, "Lochinvar" (from Scott's Marmion) by Chadwick, is seldom heard. It is a big song, and as interpreted by Mr. Kilby is unusually interesting.

He sang the Saracen Songs" by Burleigh, also seldom heard, and a well contrasted and notable group consisting of the following: "The Sea" (Grant-Schaeffer), "Love in Southland" (Canfield), "My Desire" (Nevin), "Monks' Drinking Song" (Clough-Leighter), "The Lights of Home" (Seiler), and "Roadways" (Densmore). These were all extremely well done and elicited much applause from the large audience present.

Melita Krieg, Mr. Kilby's accompanist, is a sincere and thoroughly well routined student of the piano. She has been a pupil of Harry Detweiler's for a number of years and owes much to him for his painstaking efforts in her behalf. Her accompanying is musical and sympathetic and her work at this time, also when heard on previous occasions in recital as well as in accompanying, proves that she is capable of doing big work, and we shall hope to hear her again soon in a recital.

The alternating artist on the program was one of various talents, Miss Irma Becklenberg, programmed as a pianologist, but who also rendered some piano solos in addition to her pianologues, very much to the pleasure of the audience.

ELEANOR CAPPS-HOSTLER.

———♯♯♯———

SERIES OF FIVE LECTURES ON THE ORGAN—ORGAN MUSIC AND ORGAN COMPOSERS

The following series of lectures to be given by Frank Van Dusen will be held in room 515 at the American Conservatory on the second Wednesday of each month, beginning December 11 at 3 p. m.:

December 11—Early Development of the Organ.

January 8—Later Development of the Organ.

February 5—Historical Lecture on early Music for the Organ and the Old Masters. Italian, German, French and English Schools.

March 12—Historical Lecture on Organ Music and Composers from the time of Bach. Italian, German, French, English and American Schools.

April 9—The Modern Organ—Its Construction—Registration, Organ Accompaniment and Hints for the Playing of Church Service.

ERNEST KRIZAN

A unique and interesting program was given last Sunday evening by Ernest Krizan, a young Bohemian artist pupil of Mrs. Augusta Chapek. Considering the fact that the young artist not only played the program but managed the entire thing himself, including the makeup of the program, the engaging of the hall and the soloists and managing of the advertising, it was a wonderful and daring feat. And a very generous aspect of it is that the performance was given for the benefit of the Czecho-Slovak Army, which has caused the whole world to applaud its heroism in the war which has just passed.

ERNEST KRIZAN

Mr. Krizan is a young artist of brilliant achievements and indomitable ambition. His choice of numbers was one which few young players of his experience would dare to attempt. Perhaps sufficient proof will be the quoting of the program, which was as follows:

Concerto No. 1, Op. 23, First Movement.....Tschaikowsky
Ernest Krizan
Orchestra parts played on second piano by Mrs. Augusta H. Chapek
Violin solo—Holka modrooka.....Sevcik
Mrs. Antoinette Zebrowska-Perlowska
Vocal solo—
La Boheme.....G. Puccini
Slovak Folk Song.....
Miss Helene Stevko
Address by Andrew Schustek, president Slovak County League
Prelude, Op. 3, No. 2.....Rachmaninoff
Polonaise, Op. 53, No. 6.....Chopin
Ernest Krizan
Violin solo—
Souvenir Poetique.....Fibich
Maiden's Wish.....Chopin-Taborowsky
Mazurka.....Malek
Mrs. Antoinette Zebrowska-Perlowska
Vocal solo—
The Last Song.....F. P. Tosti
Slovak Folk Song.....
Miss Susan Krc
Rhapsodie No. 12.....F. Liszt
Ernest Krizan
Mrs. Augusta H. Chapek, accompanist

Although an inadequate piano put Mr. Krizan at a distinct disadvantage, there was no lack of evidence of a broad, sympathetic tone and ample strength to attack big things. His reading of the Tschaikowsky Concerto revealed all his commendable qualities particularly well.

He was assisted by Mrs. Antoinette Zebrowska-Perlowska, who was ably accompanied by Mrs. Chapek. Both are thorough artists, and Mrs. Perlowska was particularly winning and exuberant in manner.

Two young singers also assisted: Miss Helene Stevko, possessing a sweet, free soprano voice with an evenly and wisely developed range, and Miss Susan Krc, who, singing Tosti's "Farewell," revealed a voice of much promise and with an artistically lyric quality.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

JENNIE F. W. JOHNSON

Miss Johnson has filled the following dates:

Nov. 7 Joyce M. E. Church.
Nov. 10 St. James' M. E. Church.
Nov. 24 Organ recital, All Souls' Church.
Dec. 1 Bethany Presbyterian Church.
Dec. 4 Oakland Parents' Association.

Miss Johnson conducts a fine chorus of young ladies every Thursday evening for the P. E. League. She is to give a recital of old Christmas carols of many nations for the Tuesday class at Lincoln Center on December 17.

Harriet L. V. Hebert

Miss Hebert sang at the Third Presbyterian Church last Sunday and will be special soloist on the 15th at St. Mary-of-the-Lake Church.

On Sunday evening Miss Hebert will leave for a short concert trip in Kansas and Missouri, all the dates being re-engagements.

MUSICIANS' CLUB OF WOMEN

A very interesting program of works by American women composers was given at the Musicians' Club of Women on Monday, December 2.

The first group, "The Song of a Persian Captive" (Mabel Daniels), "September" (Lucina Jewell), "One Golden Day" (Fay Foster), was sung by Florence Hallberg. Miss Hallberg has a lovely voice and sang with much refinement. "Eleven Variations on an Air by Scarlatti" (Helen Sears), was given a good rendition by Alma Birmingham.

Marie Sidenius Zendt, always good to look at, is also the possessor of a very beautiful voice. Although suffering with a cold, she succeeded in covering it up and sang with her usual artistry "Her Love Song" (Mary Turner Salter), "The Dawn" (Pearl Curran) and "Joy" (Beatrice MacGowan Scott). She also sang two duets with Miss Hallberg, "The Night Sea" (Mrs. H. H. A. Beach) and "Laughter Wears a Lily's Gown" (Gena Branscombe). These were done with much artistic effect, the voices also blending beautifully throughout.

The last number on the program was a "Quartet for Strings" by Amy Emerson Neill, with Miss Neill, first violin; Ruth Miller, Wally Heymar and Vera Poppe. This was a particularly interesting work and was given a splendid rendition by the quartet.

ELEANORE CAPPS-HOSTLER.

Great Lakes Quintet—The Great Lakes Quintet, the personnel of which is John Doane, Carl Fasshauer, Herman Felber, Walter Brauer and Robert Dolejsi, have accompanied President Wilson to Europe.

Mrs. Ella Kinsman Mann

Fine Arts Building

Mrs. Ella Kinsman Mann, Fine Arts Building, is now enrolling students for a special course of study designed specifically as an efficient preparatory training for the filling of Chautauqua and Lyceum engagements of the early Spring.

It will be similar to the course offered by Mrs. Mann last Summer, which by its splendid results so fully justified the expectations of the pupils.

For the more advanced pupils there are some openings in view for the first of the year.

Private and class lessons given by OVIDE MUSIN in person — Instructions by correspondence.

OVIDE MUSIN'S

EDITION

"Belgian School of Violin"

4 Books, first principles to highest virtuosity. Ask for history of Belgian School. Enclose stamp. Address

MUSIN'S VIRTUOSO SCHOOL

51 West 76th Street NEW YORK

Over 35 years recognized as one of the Leading American Dealers in Rare Old Violins

John Friedrich & Bro.

279 Fifth Avenue New York

A very large stock of beautiful old violins, embracing specimens of many of the best makes, every one in perfect adjustment, at reasonable prices. Fine new violins at from $10 upward. Complete outfits at from $15 upward.

WRITE FOR COMPLETE CATALOGUE

A Rendezvous for the Elite—Artists and Musicians

PANCRAZI'S

Genuine Italian Restaurant and Rotisserie

486 COLUMBUS AVENUE
BETWEEN 83RD AND 84TH STREETS
NEW YORK

HUGO GOODWIN
ORGANIST AND CHOIRMASTER, ST. JAMES EPISCOPAL CHURCH
DIRECTOR BACH CHORAL SOCIETY. ORGAN, PIANO, VOCAL COACH
WITH INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE 666 RUSH STREET SUPERIOR 7283

ALLEN RAY CARPENTER TENOR Kimball Hall

CHARLES W. CLARK "Master of the SongWorld" BARITONE J.C.Barker,893 N.Dearborn St CHICAGO

H. W. OWENS VOCAL DIRECTOR WESTERN CONSERVATORY Voice Teacher Coaching PHONE WABASH 3506

Morgan KINGSTON LEADING TENOR METROPOLITAN OPERA CO., New York Concert Direction Metropolitan Musical Bureau AEOLIAN HALL NEW YORK

Florence Macbeth

PRIMA DONNA COLORATURA

Concert Direction, Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall, New York

Helen L. Levy, Associate Manager

HERMAN DEVRIES VOCAL TEACHER MRS. HERMAN DEVRIES, . . . Associate Vocal Instructor

At Studios, 518-528 Fine Arts Building, Chicago, Ill.
Terms for Mr. Devries Terms for Mrs. Devries
Ten Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each, $50.00 Ten Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each. $30.00

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC NOTES

The American Conservatory Students' Orchestra will give a concert at Kimball Hall, Saturday afternoon, December 21, under the direction of Herbert Butler. Miss Ruth Freeman will play the MacDowell A Minor Concerto, Miss Elizabeth Walsh will sing an aria and Samuel Frankel will play several violin selections.

Advanced piano students of Kurt Wanieck, voice pupils of Ragna Linne, and violin pupils of Ramon Girvin will appear in recital Saturday afternoon, December 14.

Last Saturday's recital of the American Conservatory was one of exceptional merit, a number of students of very unusual talent taking part. Coe Pettitt, a boy of 14 years, pupils of Silvio Scionti, played the Beethoven thirty-two variations and afterwards the Liszt Campanella in a manner that many a professional could envy. Florence Burke's rendition of the Saint Saens F Major Concerto also deserves special mention. Anna Nyberg and Janet Cobb, artist pupils of Adolph Weidig, distinguished themselves by their artistic playing. Some excellent singing was done by the Misses Martha Feche, Ada Meservey and Louise McDonald, all pupils of Charles LaBerge.

Leo Sowerby, now in France, cables that he will return at Christmas time.

CHICAGO SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION AND DRAMATIC ART

Few schools in this country have a finer equipment for the development of dramatic art than has the school of which Letitia Kempster Barnum is president and which has its habitat in Suite 633, Fine Arts Building.

And, by the same token, no school anywhere gets better or more definite results than have been observed in the public performances in the charming little theater connected with the school.

The complete faculty list of the institution reads as follows:

Letitia Kempster Barnum.
Bertha L. Iles.
Margarette Lois Redfield.
Bozena Gueldner.
Natalie Whitted Price.
Leona Covey.
Kate Pentzer Stokes.
Frankie E. Swaim.
Lydia Earle Whitted, Registrar.

The school is devoted to the training of its students for public stage work, including the Chautauqua and Lyceum, and the Departments of Study include Voice Training, Public Speaking, Story-Telling Pageantry, School of Lecture Course, and Children's Department.

Arthur Troostwyk—Many new songs by Arthur Troostwyk are being featured this season by prominent singers. His "Spacially Jim" is proving to be one of Sophie Braslau's most effective numbers. Marguerite Namara is using "Sweetheart, Love Me Dearly" at her concerts with great success. She has sung it at many camps and patriotic events during the past summer. Christie Langenhan is singing Mr. Troostwyk's "Come for a Sail." She is soon to introduce a new number by this composer, "So Great Our Love," still in manuscript. Carolina Lazzari is to sing his "There's Love for You and Me."

MUSICALE AT NORMAL COLLEGE

Wonderful as is the "wheel" with which the boys at Great Lakes reward the visiting entertainers, they have no patent on vociferous applause, for the young men students at Armour Institute long ago invented something which resembles a thunderstorm in effect and which gladdens the heart of every visiting artist.

Not to be outdone, however, the girls at the Normal College in Englewood have also invented a brand of applause which is peculiarly their own and which it is a joy and a benediction to hear.

This cheerful sound of approval was much in evidence at the college auditorium on last Monday noon and with good cause, for the concert provided at that time was one of distinct musical value and of decidedly entertaining qualities.

This year Miss Alice L. Garthe has the Junior Choral Club and she carried them (on Monday) thru a triumphant performance of a decidedly fine group of songs, including "The Vision" (Faure), "Nocturne" (M. H. Brown), "The Lark" (Carl Hahn), and a wonderfully fine arrangement of Gena Branscombe's "Dear Lad o' Mine," one of the most successful of the songs inspired by the war.

Miss Garthe is a fine musician and a painstaking teacher with the very apparent result on Monday that her class sings correctly, intelligently and with much musical feeling.

The Senior Glee Club, under direction of H. W. Fairbank, also appeared and this body likewise did excellent work and in so doing reflected much credit on their teacher.

Mr. Fairbank, himself at the piano, led his class through a solidly beautiful performance of "Dawn" (Tschaikowsky) and "At the Cloister Gate" (Grieg) and gave easy pleasure with a waltz song of Friml and the much liked "Italian Street Song" of Victor Herbert. By special request he added his own "Soldier Lover" and (with the audience singing the chorus) easily proved it a fine piece for either choral or community uses.

This song has but lately been put on the market and will unquestionably attain the same success of other Fairbank songs.

Miss Garthe, in conducting, showed great skill and musical style and Mr. Fairbank, besides playing for his class, provided accompaniment to several solo numbers and proved anew his musicianship and skill, both in this work and in conducting.

Mrs. Mary Hayes-Sheridan also appeared as accompanist and did work of the finest artistic caliber.

In addition to the choral numbers there were four solo groups and these added great variety as well as a wealth of musical charm.

Cecelia Urban, a student at the college, played a piano solo with much brilliance as well as finish and style and Marie Fleming, the possessor of a good soprano voice, did an incidental solo in one of the ensembles with much credit to herself.

Valerie Walker-Marshall, besides singing (at short notice) several solo bits in the various chorus numbers, appeared in a group of soprano songs and was so vociferously received and applauded that she was compelled to add two encores—both, I think, by Lisa Lehmann, one of them "If no one ever marries me," being done with more cleverness than this writer has ever heard in any other interpretation.

She sang, besides, the brilliant "Nymphs and Fauns" (Bemberg) and the cheerful "Sunlight" of Harriet Ware, in both instances showing clarity of tone, clean technic in the coloratura passages and a nice musical understanding.

Mrs. Marshall is a graduate from the Normal College and has sung there often. She is a pronounced favorite.

Elizabeth Walsh, another student, and a pupil in voice of Charles La Berge (whose Kimball Hall recital is reviewed in another column), appeared in a song of Gilberte, "In the Time of Roses" (Rechardt), and two old Irish songs, "The Ould Plaid Shawl" and "Nelly, My Love, and Me," and she, too, proved a fine addition to the program. She has a remarkably full and fine voice and knows definitely and minutely just what to do with it and how also to interpret her repertoire.

The third vocal soloist was Frank Barnard, a well-known local tenor, who made a good impression in "The Trumpeter" (Dix), "Little Mother of Mine" (Burleigh) and an encore.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

Our army cannot be demobilized until the fruits of victory are assured—Continue to buy W. S. S.

———♯♯♯———

Send holiday greetings in War Savings Stamps.

FORREST LAMONT

American Tenor of The Chicago Opera Association

Wins great approval for his Radames in "Aida"

Following is some comment of the Chicago Press—

Thus far in the season Lamont has been the most useful member of the organization. He was no less so last night. It is no small task to become an eleventh hour substitute in such a cast, but Lamont fulfilled all his obligations in an honorable and seemly fashion. He has a good voice and good sense, consequently he was in the picture at all times, dominating it where he should and bearing his full share where he was merely among those present. He made an excellent figure of Radames and sang delightfully.—Edward Moore in the Journal.

Forrest Lamont sang the part of Radames and gave the best account of himself he has ever given here. He started right in with excellent singing of "Celeste Aida" and kept it up all the evening. He made a fine success and deserved a lot of praise, for he walked onto the stage with no chance for preparation or rehearsal. The people applauded him with warmth.—Karleton Hackett in the Evening Post.

Forrest Lamont goes on his way reaping fresh laurels. An eleventh-hour substitute, he justified his Americanism once more by "making good" with a weighty balance of praise to his credit. He was not one bit afraid in the Radames music, and the "Celeste Aida" found him ready for the big test of the final B flat, which he met and conquered and held, with the absolute surety of an excellently-trained singer-musician. That high B flat has, by the way, become so important that several of my New York colleagues of the press in a recent review advanced it up to a high C! And this from the "invincible" music press of Manhattan!—Herman Devries in the Chicago American.

To Forrest Lamont, after his prompt acceptance of the role of Radames, which until last evening was programmed for another artist, who could not sing the role on account of sudden illness, must be awarded the palm of supremacy as the greatest American tenor of the day. Mr. Lamont made of Radames a most heroic character, and few Italian tenors have sung the music of this role with greater vocal opulence, with purer tone production and with more musicianship.—Maurice Rosenfeld in the Daily News.

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT TRINITY EPISCOPAL

So cumulative in majesty and dignified sonority, so touching in its grave seriousness and tender emotion was the memorial service at Trinity Episcopal Church on Sunday afternoon that every heart was stirred and filled with overpowering sensations. When the last tones of the "Taps" died off into silence the tribute of moistened eyes was given spontaneously. And yet, withal, there was no hint of mourning, no tinge of sorrow, no effervescent woe. "The noble dead" Captain J. W. Borby called them repeatedly and the spirit of the great gathering echoed his words. And he was a small souled man, whatever his age, whatever his place in life, who would not willingly have had his body clothed in the khaki of the soldiers, there to honor the memory of their brothers gone on over the great top, or been glad to be remembered as having made the supreme sacrifice. As the years go on the regret will be the keener for every man who could not or did not offer himself in the modern crusade for justice and right. Those who could have gone and did not missed the supreme opportunity of all time.

This service was the homage of the church to three of its members who answered to the utmost the call of the country. They were Private John Wilson, Captain Franklin Wood and Sergeant Warren H. Brust, the latter a member of the choir and in his boyhood a soloist of first rank, as those of us who had heard him knew well. The singing forces were augmented by men and boys associated with young Brust, to probably sixty voices. Irving Hancock was the efficient captain of them and the result was a glorious mass of pulsating tone.

A primal tribute goes to Mr. Hancock for the music used. It was so fitting as to be virtually ideal and the absence of anything savoring of a solo was a master stroke. The intrusion of the personal note would have aroused resentment. Splendid processionals and recessionals with banners and dipping colors, stirring hymns of the faith and appeals to love of country and paeans of triumph and victory lifted the soul to lofty spiritual heights, cementing the union of the civic and religious in a triumphant outpouring of gratitude and praise for the present and a sure hope for the future. It was all uplifting and no schedule of items could add a tithe to the impressiveness felt.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

HENRIETTE PEPIN AT TURNER HALL

Last Sunday afternoon Mme. Pepin added to her Chicago triumphs in a group of songs at North Side Turner Hall with Ballmann's Orchestra accompanying. Her group consisted of "Spring is Here" (Hildach), "Mother Machree" (Ball), and "Old Folks at Home." When Mme. Pepin says she loves to sing and loves her audience, it is not hard to believe her to be absolutely sincere, for her singing is full of friendliness and enthusiasm, such as only a real and sincere artist could successfully convey to her audience. In spite of the fact that Mme. Pepin's experience has been confined to the recital stage, she adapts herself easily to singing with an orchestra and possesses a voice which is entirely adequate for the demands of orchestral singing.

The orchestra, heard in numbers by Chopin, Flotow, Von Weber and Fucik, was in excellent spirit and played artistically under the able direction of Martin Ballmann.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

Van Dusen—Frank Van Dusen gave an organ recital of French compositions to precede Dr. R. A. White's lecture on "France" at People's Liberal Church on Sunday evening, December 8.

It cost considerable money to send our army to France, and it will cost just as much to bring it home—Make good your W. S. S. pledge.

Marcel Journet

French Basso of the Chicago Opera Association Scores a Fine Success in "Faust"

Some press comment:

"Journet again verified my appraising of his Mephisto as a great and laudable reminiscence of Pedro Gailhard's unforgettable Gounod Devil. He is, I think, one of the best Mephistos in our modern stage. His voice was in excellent condition and he acts with all the cleverness of his developed and native talents."—Devriés in the Chicago American.

"Journet was in fine fettle and gave us the Mephistopheles which fitted into the scene. An elegant red devil with a big, luscious voice is the only sort I can believe in."—Hackett in the Evening Post.

"He sings with a resonant fervor and with many inflections of vocal expression, and he shows that he is at home every moment in this trying role. His impersonation of Mephistopheles is in accordance with the French art, as to costuming and also as to acting."—Rosenfeld in the Daily News.

"Marcel Journet was the Mephistopheles, a role which he sang with this company two years ago. Since then he has effected a rejuvenation of voice, which made his singing several degrees better than it was then."—Moore in the Chicago Journal.

KARL BUREN STEIN PUPILS

At Auditorium Recital Hall last Thursday evening a recital was given by pupils of Dr. and Mrs. Karl Buren Stein and Mr. Stephen A. Erst. Dr. and Mrs. Stein have certainly achieved a happy combination in their copartnership and deserve great credit for putting on so widely varied and interesting a program. The program, which was of considerable length, is quoted below:

Over the Fields of Clover.....Giebel
Gladys Grove, Beatrice Nutter
Butterfly.....Grieg
Sylvia Haas
Roses.....Adams
Eleanor O'Conner
O'er the Desert wide.....Foote
Gerald Tuxford
What William Henry Did.....Harbour
Elizabeth Turner
Thora.....Adams
Gladys Grove
The Lark.....Glink-Balakirew
Hazel Quirk
La Fioraja.....Bevignani
Marie Kordo
Drafted.....Tharp
Jane Havens
A Morning Song.....Fearis
Florence Pollak, Sylva Krametbauer
A Winter's Lullaby.....De Koven
Joseph O'Connell
Prelude.....Rachmaninoff
Tatiana Vojan
Spring's Awakening.....Sanderson
Emily Kartak
Una furtixa lagrima (Elisire d'amore).....Donizetti
La donna e mobile (Rigoletto).....Verdi
William Schwartz
A Christmas Chime.....Cameron
Gladys Terril.....Jane Havens
Joseph Terrill.....Grover Haislip
Dolly Wakelee.....Anna O'Malley
Ted Owen.....Ernest Johnson

The vocal work by Gladys Grove, Beatrice Nutter, Eleanor O'Connor, Marie Kordo, Florence Pollak, Sylva Krametbauer, Joseph O'Connell, Emily Kartak and Wm. Schwartz was all done with a parallel degree of excellence, though some of the students were farther advanced than others. Gladys Grove and Beatrice Nutter in the opening duet and later Miss Grove alone in a solo number disclosed sweet girlish voices, unspoiled and perfectly free from affectation both as to tone and enunciation. Miss Kartak, possessing a rich mezzo voice and Mr. Schwartz with a clear tenor of great range represented the more advanced work of the class. Looking forward to their achievements, the other students have much to anticipate in continuing their work.

The dramatic students were equally good. Several recitations were given with excellent diction and style, but especial mention should be made of "A Christmas Chime," a short one act play given at the close of the program. Not only was the piece very amusing in itself, but the young actors carried it off with such assurance and humorous enthusiasm that no one in the audience could have failed to enjoy it to the full.

In addition to these features the piano students of Mr. Erst, assisting, offered a very satisfactory and artistic contribution to the program.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

Reuter—Rudolph Reuter, formerly a teacher of Tamaki Miura in Japan, entertained for the Japanese prima donna during her Chicago stay.

Save for old age and Old Glory—Buy W. S. S.

THIRD WEEK OF OPERA

Opening With "William Tell," John O'Sullivan Again Scores Remarkable Success—In "The Barber of Seville," Galli-Curci Is Again Inimitable; Fernando Carpi Makes Sensational First Appearance and Nicolay Scores as Substitute for Trevisan—Yvonne Gall Makes an Incomparable Marguerite in "Faust" and Again Pleases in "Thais"—Muratore in Both "Carmen" and "Faust" Repeats His Former Triumphs—Rosa Raisa plays "La Gioconda" for First Time and Proves Again Her Wonderful Dramatic Ability—Bouilliez, Rimini, Stracciari, Journet, Lamont Steadily Add to Their Fame—Carolina Lazzari Creates a Thoroughly Fine Impression in "La Gioconda"—a Splendid Sunday Concert —Fine Bills for This Week and Many Novelties in Prospect

WILLIAM TELL

The third week of the opera season opened with a fine attendance and a lot of enthusiasm for a somewhat curtailed performance of "William Tell," which, in spite of its dreary moments, is yet distinctly worth occasional performance when so su-premely fine an Arnold can be secured as is John O'Sullivan. The impression made by this artistic French-Irish tenor is so favorable that we await impatiently other appearances, and there is no question that he will score heavily in whatever he sings.

FLORENCE MACBETH

Mme. Gall has so little to do in "William Tell" that the part becomes a negligible one for her—but, even so, she accomplishes the one big solo with a skill that but few singers could attain.

Warren Proctor again created a sensation with the beauty of his opening act solo, and the fine array of men—Bouilliez, Nicolay, Journet, Huberdeau—again carried the ensembles to splendid climax time and again.

Charlier again demonstrated his entire ability to bring out all that is best in the "Tell" score.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

THE BARBER OF SEVILLE

Of all the enchanting things in the repertoire of Opera there is nothing, to my mind, so full of grace, merriment and musical charm as "The Barber of Seville." It stands in a category by itself, and of all Rossini's works it is certainly the best beloved. In the opinion of many time-seasoned critics there was never a better performance given at the Auditorium than occurred last Tuesday night. It was sparkling to a degree under the magnetic baton of Campanini and with a distinguished cast, including Galli-Curci, Carpi, Stracciari, Nicolay and Arimondi.

Galli-Curci, at all times sweet and satisfying, was doubly so on Tuesday night and repeated her supreme success of last year as Rosina. She sang "Una voce poca fa" with exquisite delicacy and in the lesson scene, following the Bell Song from "Lakme," which she wisely chose to sing, she was compelled to sing two stanzas of "Home, Sweet Home." Histrionically she was naive and coquettish by turns, and while not a great actress, she is very winning and very natural in her movements.

The hero in the conquest of the evening was Fernando Carpi, a Metropolitan Almaviva, heard for the first time here, and not even a Galli-Curci was able to overshadow for an instant the supremacy of his art. To me his voice had more appeal than that of any tenor heard here in many a day, and the skill with which he carried through the difficult dramatic requirements of the role was positively uncanny. It gave the whole performance a sweep which could be attributed to no one else, while his management of the tricky coloratura vocal score was positively wizardly. He was absolutely and dependably true to pitch, and whether his tone were soft or loud, it unfailingly contained the same beautiful, sympathetic quality.

An excellent co-partner with Carpi was Stracciari as Figaro. He was in fine mettle and the audience was lost in admiration of the richness of his voice, which was in excellent condition. From the beginning of the "Largo al fac Totum" to the end the audience felt assured that he was fully in the spirit of the part and a splendid asset to the cast both vocally and histrionically.

Tuesday night seemed to be abounding in victories. Another was that of Nicolay, who was called upon almost extemporaneously to fill the place of Trevisan, who was ill, in singing "Bartholo," and he certainly did it with a remarkable degree of success. It is no easy matter to instill into this role all the humor and foolishness which is necessary, but considering the fact that Mr. Nicolay had never sung the part before, it was astonishing in facility and ease.

Arimondi was amusingly bluff and "buffoonerish" as Don Basilio, and the smaller parts were done with satisfactory acumen.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

♮ ♮ ♮

FAUST

It is an open question whether so typically French a performance of "Faust" could be given anywhere in the world as that which was on view at the Auditorium last Wednesday night.

And it was a glorious performance, you may be sure. Muratore was so fine at this time as to call for nothing but the most unqualified of praise. Such acting and such singing as was shown in this performance are not only monumental but they are epochal as well and are therefore on view but rarely.

Journet was the Mephistopheles and he brought to the part all of the best of the traditions of the French stage, as well as a glorious voice and perfect musicianship.

Alfred Maguenat, always artistic and always picturesque, was the Valentine, and

MARGUERITE NAMARA
As Madame Butterfly, Repeated on Last Sunday the Great Success Attained at the First International Concert

these three, in the magnificent trio of the third act, rose to an eloquence which is exhibited even in the Auditorium only a few times in each season.

Irene Pavloska was an unbelievably credible boy. The part of Siebel is a nuisance usually in spite of its one fine song—for scarcely ever can a grown woman typify the pretty boy in looks and figure.

Pavloska, however, not only sang the solo much better than we usually have it, but in looks and action was ideal for the part.

We have had Marguerites of so many kinds and such variety of dresses that it seems impossible that there should still have been a characteristic Marguerite we had not seen.

But when Mlle. Yvonne Gall came upon the stage we knew at once that she was different, and by the same token she was immensely better than most of the long procession of sopranos who wended their way across the Auditorium stage as the unsophisticated but willing to be taught Marguerite.

She sang the music delightfully and she acted every episode with such charm as to thoroughly endear her to the splendid audience.

Charlier conducted with that poise and authority he has long displayed in the Gounod work. There was some nice dancing, the stage was managed beautifully and the smaller parts were acceptably filled by Berat and Defrere. C. E. W.

♯♯♯

CARMEN

The repetition of "Carmen" was made particularly notable through the eleventh hour introduction of Florence Macbeth, who, on very short notice, consented to take the place of Myrna Sharlow, indisposed.

Miss Macbeth is not only a fine singer of any part she has ever done in Chicago (and they are many), but her Micaela is absolutely ideal both in looks and in the vocal equipment.

In the first act scene she was charming and she sang the music also with utmost nicety of musicianship and style, and in the famous aria of the third act she rose to an eloquence which has not been surpassed in that part at any time and very seldom equaled.

Of course, Muratore was incomparable, and equally, of course, he received an ovation after the "Flower Song," which was a marvelous testimony to his popularity.

The beautiful work of the three Gypsy girls—Sylva, Peterson, Pavloska—was again a great feature, and all other parts were cast as before and there was the same unbroken chain of artistry.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

LA GIOCONDA

"La Gioconda" on Saturday afternoon drew the usual capacity house of that day and was applauded to the echo, principally because of the presence in the cast of Rosa Raisa and Carolina Lazzari.

The former showed herself to Chicago in the tragic soprano role of La Gioconda for the first time and again did she score heavily. Miss Raisa is so wonderful a singer and so consummate an artist that there seems no limit to her capacity and her achievement, and "La Gioconda" will, doubtless, because of her, be sung again by our company.

Carolina Lazzari, of marvelous voice and dramatic ability which covers such a difficult character role as La Cieca with absolute ease and a fine show of style, sang the fine aria of the part with vocal opulence and inimitable finish and throughout proved again her great powers and effectiveness.

Cyrena Van Gordon as Laura also stepped into a new and very important role, and she likewise walked away with a splendid success. Fitted for the part to a nicety by natural gifts of figure, face and voice, she encompassed every demand of the role with entire conviction to the audience that she has grown to very fine artistic stature.

Enzo was well done by Dolci and the splendid character part of Barnaba, one of the most difficult in operatic lore, was presented by Rimini so well as to make him again a thoroughly dependable and always effective artist.

Nicolay was the Zuane and other parts were filled as in past years. Mr. Lazzari made an excellent Alvise.

"La Gioconda" furnishes an unusually fine opportunity for the ballet, and in this instance Sylvia Tell and the rest of them rose nobly to the occasion and again proved that this year we shall have splendid dancing.

Polacco conducted. C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

THAIS

Those who love Mary Garden (and the number is legion) love her so devotedly that they do not care (usually) to see any one else in her special parts. For this reason the presenting of "Thais" the past two years by other singing-actresses was heartily resented.

But in the case of Mlle. Gall it is entirely different. She is not the least bit like Mary Garden in the part, and, beyond peradventure, in her own artistic and charming way she is equally if not more effective.

Her Thais is not so brazen as that of Garden. The acceptance of the decree of the Monk that she must renounce her fast life and retire to a convent is much more easily acceptable than in the cases of other characterizations of the part, and throughout she plays with such tastefulness as to endear the part to every one who sees her.

And in the vocal score she has found one which suits her better than any other yet presented in Chicago and therefore her triumph in the part is a complete one.

Opposite the astute and clever Journet she does many bits of beautiful acting, and he alone, at the end of the third act, rises to an impassioned eloquence in his abandon of grief at the loss of Thais.

Forrest Lamont is the best-looking Nicias we have yet had and acts the part so much more naturally than the former interpreter as to be notable. His dress is tasteful, his action wholly fine, and his singing up to the best tradition of the Auditorium stage.

Alma Peterson and Irene Pavloska were lovely both in appearance and voice as the two attendants, and the other parts were well done, especially the Slave of Nicolay, which is a distinct bit of genre picturing.

Louis Hasselmans was the conductor, and he at once ingratiated himself with the large and enthusiastic Saturday evening audience. He made the orchestral score to glow with unwonted beauty, he managed all the vocal forces on the stage superbly, and he presented the "Meditation" with such skill as to rehabilitate it.

A little faster than usual was his reading and extremely colorful and temperamental—factors he was able to conserve without break through the alert and artistic response of the violin soloist (who bowed to the resultant applause) and of Mme. Amelia Conti, who, at the harp, proved again her splendid artistry.

C. E. W.

♯♯♯

THE SUNDAY CONCERT

Another big audience last Sunday testified to the popularity of the idea of operatic concerts on that day and, probably, the habit now so well formed will be kept in operation.

The program was, fortunately, not so long as the first, but it bristled with interest and musical beauty and was enjoyed to the limit by the thoroughly appreciative people present.

Margery Maxwell opened the program with a neat reading of two French songs, and was followed by Forrest Lamont, who gave as exquisite a piece of vocalization as the afternoon afforded.

His number was the well-known tenor aria from "Andrea Chenier," and he gave it with a wealth of vocal charm and musical artistry.

Marguerite Namara, fresh from a successful joint appearance with Caruso in concert in New York, followed with "Ah, si les fleurs aviant des yeux" (Massenet), "La Colomba" (Schindler), and "Loch Lomond," arranged by Kreisler.

She was greeted as a well-remembered favorite, and at the close of her group was forced to add an encore.

Her voice is beautiful and her style very fine, while in musicianship and intelligence of reading she is impeccable.

Her reading of the Massenet composition was particularly good, being as pleasing as any remembered reading of this dainty lyric.

Alfred Maguenat, in splended voice and with his usual distinctive style, made strong appeal in a group composed also exclusively of French works, and he was followed by the local harpist, Salvi, who also scored a success.

Myrna Sharlow, happily recovered from her indisposition of Friday, came next, singing "Deep River" (Burleigh), "The Year's at the Spring" (Beach), and (for encore) "Oh no, John."

Guido Ciccolini, he of the beautiful voice and nice personality, came next, but, seemingly, was not in the best of condition and failed to score as heavily as before.

Cyrena Van Gordon, magnificent in vocal power and with a wonderfully well-chosen group, sang her way straight into the heart of the big audience, and for encore gave a rather impotent poem of James P. McAvoy, set to the Carrie Jacobs Bond music for "A Perfect Day." Even as a patriotic exercise the Bond words are preferable to those of Mr. McAvoy.

Marcel Journet, superb artist and great favorite with the audience, sang "The Two Grenadiers" with much unction and made also a splendid success with the well-known bass aria from Gounod's "Philemon et Baucis." For encore he gave Faure's "Palms" so magnificently that he had to repeat it.

The program ended with the Sextette from "Lucia," which, in spite of the fact that it enlisted the services of such artists as Lamont, Maguenat, and Journet, lacked good ensemble, the soprano being distinctly inadequate to her task.

The accompanists were again Arnoldo Conti, H. S. Johnson, and Frank St. Leger, all doing effective work.

C. E. W.

IMPRESSIONS OF THE BARBER OF SEVILLE

Sung at the Chicago Opera — Fernando Carpi as Almaviva, Constantin Nicolay as Don Bartolo

By JOSEPH DE VALDOR

Because every mortal has his operatic weakness, I confess mine for Rossini's "Barber of Seville." This jewel will remain immortal. Every scene and every act shows the supreme work of a genius. Even when sung by small companies (never have I missed a passable performance), where the cast proved to be mediocre, my attention was turned toward the score executed by the orchestra, but happily the performance on December 3, given at the Auditorium, was notable in every respect through the excellent artistic powers of all its interpreters.

So much has been said of Galli-Curci's Rosina that it would be unnecessary to again dwell extensively on her charming acting and her beautiful singing. I will, therefore, comment on Fernando Carpi's Almaviva, concluding with Nicolay's unexpected appearance as Dr. Bartolo. I have heard the Metropolitan tenor sing in New York this role of Almaviva, and at each and every appearance my admiration was unstinted. Chicago may be proud of possessing a theater whose acoustics have no rival in this country. It is also grateful for a singer of such excellence in the demonstrating of his vocal powers. This was the case with Fernando Carpi. His voice sounded to me fresher and younger. The size of the Auditorium proves disastrous to insignificant voices, and some tenor voices heard in the Auditorium sound like the voices for the salon. In other words, some tenors of the past have been inadequate to appear at the magnificent Auditorium, but Carpi's voice carried the tones far into the foyer of the theater. If anyone knows of a more beautiful upper register of a tenore leggiero, I should be glad to hear the name of the singer.

Rossini was the composer of fioratura music. He had no consideration for the human voice. "William Tell" requires a dramatic tenor of rare powers, and in "The Barber of Seville" only a very few leggiero tenors have ever gone through a satisfactory test. From the serenades of the first act to the last sound the tenor must really sing.

Devoid of fantastic exaggeration, Fernando Carpi gave a capital exposition of singing. His exquisite art of rendering the difficult Rossini passages was marvelous, and in every scene he brought home the feelings, the expression and the meaning of the composer. Here is a tenor whose voice is beautiful, whose ability of knowing how to sing stands as an example for his colleagues; and with these two rare assets he combines the routine of the stage—the perfect and correct acting.

The applause which spontaneously followed his work was never so well deserved as on this occasion.

Constantin Nicolay appeared a l'improvisto in the capital role of Dr. Bartolo in place of Vittorio Trevisan, who was cast for the part but was taken ill. The management rushed for Nicolay, and the fact of what he achieved will stand unique in the annals of opera, for he learned the part in four hours and did it magnificently. We all know what Nicolay is capable of doing, but we never suspected him of possessing the unheard-of ability of learning a capital characteristic classic comedy in four hours. At the performance he proved not only that Bartolo could be sung (a rarity with the buffo), but he acted also in such manner as to compel great admiration.

Maestro Campanini knew his man, otherwise he would never have entrusted the role to Nicolay. The aria of the second act was remarkably well sung by the Greek basso. We have seen him in the French repertoire and we have often commented upon his excellent work, but never did he

CONSTANTIN NICOLAY
Who Scored Success in "The Barber of Seville"

FERNANDO CARPI
Tenor of the New York Metropolitan Opera, Specially Engaged for "The Barber of Seville" in Chicago and Milwaukee do better than as Dr. Bartolo; and this role is far different from the parts he usually interprets. Good action, voice, and school of singing—all were in evidence, and certainly no one would deny that he was an inspiration to his colleagues.

OTHER OPERAS

"Romeo and Juliet" on Monday, "Tosca" on Tuesday, and "La Traviata" on Wednesday, all repetitions, were, each one, highly successful.

Tonight comes the first repetition of "Linda." On Saturday afternoon the bill is "Werther" (Muratore), and in the evening "Il Trovatore" (Raisa).

The program for next Sunday will be given by the Societe des Instruments Anciens, with John O'Sullivan as assistant artist, and will have the following program:

Quartet of violas—Maurice Hewitt, Quinton; Jean Charron, Viola de Gambe; Henri Casadesus, Viola d'Amour; Maurice Devilliers, bass viola.
Harp-Luth—Mrs. M. L. Henri Casadesus.
Le pays du Tendre.....Destouches (1672-1749)
Cortege; gavotte de precieuses; billet doux; menuet
Quartet of Violas and Luth
Recitative and Aria.....Halevy
John O'Sullivan
Sonatine .....Francoeur (1738-1804)
Allegretto; menuet; rondo
Quinton and Luth
Maurice Hewitt and Mrs. H. Casadesus
Divertisement for Viola d'Amour.....
.....J. B. Borghi (1760-1826
Introduction; allegretto; aria; gigue
Henri Casadesus
Irish Melodies—
Mavourneen Roaming .....O'Neill
Oh! to See the Cabin Smoke.....Craxton
The Song of Erin's Sons.....Holmes
John O'Sullivan
Pieces en Concert.....Mondonville (1711-1772)
Menuet grave; canzone; musette; rigandon
Quartet of Violas and Luth
(Harp-luth from Pleyel, Paris)
Marcel Charlier at the piano for Mr. O'Sullivan

On Monday of next week we shall have "Barber of Seville"; Tuesday, "Samson and Delilah"; Wednesday, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Pagliacci"; Friday, "La Gioconda," and Saturday matinee, "Hamlet."

SCHOOL MUSIC TEACHERS' CLUB

The music teachers of the Chicago high schools have banded together in a club for mutual improvement and the better placing of their particular work before the public, especially the music profession of the community. Mr. O. E. Robinson of Hyde Park high school is the first president of the club, and Miss Eleanor Schweitzer of Lake View, secretary-treasurer. Committees have been appointed to plan aggressively for the season and lay the foundation for future activity. One of these is to arrange for publicity, the making known what is actually being done at the various schools. Another is to seek fraternal relations with other musical organizations, including those patronized by the professionals, whose notice will be solicited of matters that are thought sufficiently dignified from a musical viewpoint to attract the attention of the worthy and more eminent of the profession. Still another is to seek to co-operate with the board of education in whatever may be undertaken for mutual benefit. The recent appointment of Principal Armstrong of Englewood to the assistant superintendency, with particular assignment to the high school field, gives the club a happy medium thru which to make known its aspirations, ambitions and needs. (And it is not forgotten that the other party to the contract may have wants of its own that the club needs must recognize.) The press and public of Chicago are asked to take cognizance of the fact that music work of a high order is being done in Chicago, which has little relationship with the former desultory efforts which the alumnae may distinctly remember, even yet. A spirit of helpfulness and co-operation all round may bring this body of educators a recognition little short of the popularity enjoyed, and deservedly, by the Civic Music Association and other bodies seeking to get in touch with the public in the community sings and like enterprises.

HERBERT GOULD

Herbert Gould, basso-cantante, who is Navy Department song leader at Great Lakes, has been able to do a number of engagements this fall in spite of the fact that he works six days a week at the Naval Training Station. Besides a community sing every Sunday night in Evanston, he has fulfilled the following engagements:

Rogers Park Woman's Club—Part program.

Gary (Ind.) Musical Club—Full program.

Jochanna Lodge (Sinai Temple)—Full program.

Mr. Gould led the big Victory sing at Peoria, Ill., at which the whole team turned out to celebrate the end of the war.

He also led Chicago's great Victory sing at the Coliseum with 10,000 people accompanied by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and a band from Great Lakes.

Stein—Joseph O'Connell, baritone, pupil of Karl Buren Stein, was the soloist at the Sunday afternoon opening reception of the Columbus Hotel, established by the Catholic Woman's Club for sailors and soldiers.

YVONNE GALL

Entrances a Large Audience at the Chicago Opera with Her Work in Rossini's "William Tell"—Helps to Make This a Memorable Performance

Comment of the Daily Press:

"Miss Gall was in it, singing better than any other French soprano who comes to mind."—Frederick Donaghey in the Chicago Tribune, December 1, 1918.

"Here the delightful French artist revealed her genuine qualities of style, diction and distinction. Her singing held all the poise, smoothness, suavity and refinement that characterize the ideal of the French type of singing. She has the simple, honest, clean art that typifies the genuine French school, whether it be in the lyric or dramatic work. Mlle. Gall is an artist of the first rank."—Herman Devries in the Chicago Evening American, November 27, 1918.

YVONNE GALL SCORES:

"Yvonne Gall made a brilliant and effective Mathilda."—Henriette Weber in the Chicago Herald and Examiner, November 27, 1918.

"Miss Yvonne Gall sang excellently."—Karleton Hackett in the Chicago Evening Post, November 27, 1918.

R. MILLS SILBY

A newcomer to the musical field of Chicago is R. Mills Silby, who, as the accompanying picture shows, was an officer in the British Army.

Mr. Silby, who is an expert on the subject of choir boys' work and has written much ecclesiastical music, will take up the work of conducting as also of organ playing and teaching in Chicago, and as he will certainly be much in the public eye in the future a brief biographical sketch will be interesting.

R. MILLS SILBY

Mr. Silby was born in London in March, 1884, and as a boy was choirister at St. Alban's, Holborn, and at the Brompton Oratory. Played his first service at Oratory when fourteen years of age. Received his early instruction from his mother and studied, afterward, with Thomas Adams and Munroe Davidson, and also had lessons in choir training under Dr. R. R. Terry, Westminster Cathedral.

As a boy sang in the most important oratories and masses and also at many concerts. He was engaged at Westminster Cathedral from 1902 to 1909 and received special instruction in Gregorian music from Dom Endine, the Benedictine Monk, who is an excellent authority on the Solesmes Edition, the only authorized one.

Mr. Silby was appointed professor of singing at London College of Music and became a great student of polyphonic music of the twelfth to seventeenth centuries. He copied many manuscripts from the British Museum, a fine example being Tallis' Lamentations, for five voices.

Mr. Silby studied composition under Henry Wardale and set the Proper of the Mass to Falsibordoni and figured music, composed six Lamentations for Holy Week and also the Passion According to St. Matthew, and several songs, twelve Benediction Services, four Masses, a set of eight Falsibordoni for men's voices to be sung to alternate verses of the Psalms, for the eight Gregorian modes and several Offertory motets.

He was appointed to St. Patrick's Church at Washington, D. C., which position he held from 1909 to 1918, giving also lectures on Church Music and Gregorian Chant at the Catholic University of America and being Professor of Ecclesiastical Song at Holy Cross College.

Here he also organized the Polyphonic Club of mixed voices to perform the early English Madrigals, giving also during these years many choral and orchestral concerts.

Mr. Silby was married in 1916. He volunteered for the Canadian Army and entered the Officers' Training Camp at Toronto, from which work he has just now received his release.

———♯♯♯———

A RECITAL AT THE KNUPFER STUDIOS

At the last of the weekly studio recitals at the Knupfer Studios a program was given for the Rexinger Tourists. Among those participating were Dorothy Eichenlaub, Anna Daze, Agnes Blafka, Verness Fraser, Myrtie Peterson, all members of Mr. Knupfer's Artists Class.

The piano numbers were:

Concerto, A minor, First Movement.....MacDowell
Dance of the Gnomes.....Liszt
Rhapsodie No. 11.....Liszt
Papillons.....Schumann
Vienna Carnaval Pranks.....Schumann
Invitation to the Dance.....Weber-Tausig

Mrs. Schofield, pupil of Mr. Burnetti, sang a group of songs.

This program was listened to by a large and very enthusiastic audience who found again in the work of the Knupfer students all those elements of correct technical equipment and musicianship which, combined with fine musical readings, insures, always, at the Knupfer studio functions programs of great value and interest.

The make-up of the program, with its contrast of attractive song, was such as to give great pleasure.

M. C.

———♯♯♯———

Birmingham—The name of the accompanist in the successful studio recital given by Lucie Roberts Lenox's pupil, Frances Coates, is Alma Birmingham, and not as printed in Music News last week.

———♯♯♯———

Better than money because they earn money—Buy W. S. S.

CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

The program of the Chicago Musical College tomorrow (Saturday) morning at 11 o'clock in Ziegfeld Theater will be given by the children's department. The following compositions will be performed:

Piano—The Blacksmith.....Mokrejs
Naomi Goldblatt
(Student of Anna Sevin)
Piano—Whispering Pines.....Dutton
Gertrude Towbin
(Student of Mabel Wrede)
Piano—Allegro from Sonatina.....Kuhlau
Philip Kaplan
(Student of Mrs. Anna Ring Clauson)
Piano—Etude Mignonne.....Schuett
Leonard Shure
(Student of Karl Reckzeh)
Piano—Preamble.....Bach
Mildred Friedman
(Student of Mrs. Inga Nelson Brown)
Violin—Tyrolienne.....Alard
Walter Monarch
(Student of Max Fischel)
Piano—Moment Musical in F minor.....Schubert
Vivian Glenn
(Student of Maurice Aaronson)
Piano—Little Prelude and Fugue.....Bach
Esther Cooperman
(Student of Jeanette Coyne)
Piano—Sonata, E minor, First Movement.....Haydn
Vivian Drozdowitz
(Student of Anna Sevin)
Piano—Valse Arabesque.....Lack
Madeline Quan
(Student of Mrs. Anna Ring Clauson)
Violin—
The Swan.....Saint-Saens
Gavotte.....Gossec
Norman Gast
(Student of Leon Sametini)
Piano—
Solfeggietto.....Bach
Sonata, D major, First Movement.....Haydn
Ida Kogan
(Student of Alma W. Anderson)
Piano—Harmonies du Soir.....Wilson Smith
Mary Evans
(Student of Karl Reckzeh)
Piano—Butterfly.....Grieg
Aileen York
(Student of Hilma Enander)
Piano—Scherzo.....Schelle
Dorothy Adams
(Student of Mrs. Eudora B. Harbers)
Piano—Waltz, E minor.....Chopin
Bessie Sher
(Student of Jeanette Coyne)
Violin—Concerto, G major, First Movement.....Viotti
David Herstein
(Student of Max Fischel)
Piano—Polichinelle.....Rachmaninow
Mollie Rosenthal

Auguste Bouilliez

The New Baritone of the Chicago Opera Association, Who Has Been Very Successful in Every Role He Has Undertaken, Made an Especially Fine Impression in the Name Part of "William Tell"

Extracts from press comments are as follows:

Auguste Bouilliez as Tell had much to do and did it well.—Henriette Weber, Herald and Examiner.

Mr. Bouilliez made an excellent William Tell, playing the part with understanding and singing well.—Karleton Hackett, Evening Post.

There was a lot of good singing besides O'Sullivan's. The most constant contributor was Auguste Bouilliez in the title role. He was present in nearly all of the principal scenes and did them all well. In the second act he was joined by Marcel Journet, who added a resonant basso to the Bouilliez baritone and the O'Sullivan tenor in the trio which is the most striking number of the score.—Edward Moore, the Journal.

YVONNE GALL

This writer left Chicago with the conviction that if one wishes to hear opera sung and acted at its very best he must direct his steps to the Auditorium Theater in Chicago.

As for New York, let the music lovers of the metropolis not forget that the Chicago Opera Association is due in this city at the end of January at the Lexington Theater, and we predict without fear of being called false prophet that the company, as it is now, will create a furore and it will prove that the greatest array of artists are those around Cleofonte Campanini.

We have spoken of Lucien Muratore's "Don Jose" and in this issue we are devoting a tribute to the leading French woman star of the Chicago Opera Association. The great artist has always been modest—never will a distinguished singer speak of himself—this is left to the public.

It would be unnecessary to enumerate the appearances of this soprano in the European capitals in order to give weight to her position in the operatic world and it is sufficient to add that Yvonne Gall was the idol of the Paris opera and the Colon of Buenos Ayres. These two opera houses are veritable temples of operatic singing. It is from the latter that she came to Chicago. Although we could not attend all the performances in which the French soprano was cast—for instance "Thais" and "Marguerite"—her work as Mathilde in revival of "William Tell" was witnessed with supreme pleasure. "William Tell" was performed expressly to give John O'Sullivan, the Irish-French tenor, an opportunity, and of his work we will speak in a future issue. Mathilde in "William Tell" is the principal woman's part and while not an exhaustive role in itself, there is ample opportunity either to make good or to fail. The second act is the soprano's vehicle and it took only five minutes to define Yvonne Gall as a unique mistress of song. As a rule reviewers dwell on the upper register, so we will follow precedent and speak of it first.

Yvonne Gall has one of the most perfect voices that ever came from a French throat or from any other. It is singularly beautiful, clear, vibrant and warm. From the lower to the upper it is a voice which reminds one of the pure tones emanating from a reed instrument, particularly the clarinet. The voice is round, large and appealing. With such a voice her aria of the second act was sung as no one has ever before been able to sing it.

YVONNE GALL

We could then imagine what her Juliet could be. Her Juliet would inevitably be great, for Yvonne Gall knows how to sing, how to enunciate, and how to act. We noted one particular feature which has been absent even with many others of the greatest: the well-taught gestures, movements and poses are almost unique with Mlle. Gall. She has studied them so carefully that this French soprano is the aristocrat of singers. She has also a marvelous flexibility throughout her range. This flexibility, as well as the warmth and the gusto and the expression put into her aria, won her legions of admirers among the most refined of her hearers.

Her acting also was brilliant, characteristic and artistic. She has the personality of the typical Parisienne—subdued to her art, serious minded in all her actions. She sings with due respect for the composer, and she is always the honest interpreter of art. She is a lyric soprano, with sufficient range also to be called a brilliant coloratura, but with a repertoire covering much more than the usual coloratura range. She proved that in "William Tell."

She dresses as the typical and great French comedienne. She is good to look at—a round, Mignon face, a brunette with brown and expressive eyes and beautiful rich dark hair. She is the most dignified French singer who ever came to our continent. With such an artist the French repertoire gains in quality, for with Yvonne Gall, Gounod, Massenet and Charpentier are immortalized. When she comes to New York her Louise and Manon will be a treat for opera-lovers—and what an inspiration for Muratore as Romeo!

In my brief stay in Chicago I had the fortune to hear Gall, Muratore, Journet, Dolci, Raisa, Galli-Curci, Stracciari and Carpi (as guest). Can anyone point out where such artists can be assembled in one single opera house? I left Chicago on the day for which "Faust" was announced, with Gall as Marguerite, Muratore as the Doctor, Journet as the Devil, and Maguenat as Valentin. Over in the Avenue de l'Opera they couldn't bill such a magnificent quartet, but Campanini has them because he knows what they represent. Hammerstein once showed New York how operas should be given. Chicago is today the greatest city in the world for grand opera because of the presence in its opera company of so many consummate artists, including Yvonne Gall.

New York JOSEPH DE VALDOR.

###

CHICAGO CONCERT ENSEMBLE

At the concert of the Chicago Concert Ensemble at Fullerton Hall on last Sunday afternoon a very large audience heard the fine work of the players under the direction of George Dasch.

Gertrude Raymond, an artist pupil of Louis Victor Saar, made a fine impression in a group of piano numbers by Chicago composers, the two by her teacher scoring an emphatic success. The program in full was as follows:

Overture—Raymond ..... Thomas
Adagio ..... Ries-Quensel
Gavotte ..... Ries-Dasch
A Group of Piano Solos by Chicago Composers—
Airs Galants, Op. 89, No. 1 ..... Louis Victor Saar
Bluette, Dialogue, Op. 75, No. 3 .. Louis Victor Saar
Legend ..... Rossetter G. Cole
Polonaise Americaine ..... John Alden Carpenter
Gertrude Rosemond
Serenade for Flute and Cello ..... Titl
(By request)
March from Suite Algerienne ..... Saint-Saens

PHYLLIS LA FOND
Soprano
CONCERTS OPERAS RECITALS
Management ANTONIA SAWYER, Aeolian Hall, New York

KATHRYN LEE
CONCERTS-RECITALS-OPERAS
Lyric-Coloratura Soprano
Principal Soprano Creatore Opera Company
Season 1918-19. Management Raoul Basil
1425 Broadway, Room 73, New York

ADDISON BRISCOE
Teacher Artistic Piano Playing
Home Tel. Midway 188

Metropolitan Conservatory
1328 Kimball Hall
Tel. Wabash 5883

LILLIAN THOMAS JOHNSTON
Voice Building—Coaching
Home Tel. Garfield 7672

RAFAELO DIAZ
TENOR
Metropolitan Opera Company
Available for RECITAL, ORATORIO, FESTIVAL
Mgt. Metropolitan Musical Bureau, Aeolian Hall, 33 W. 42d St., New York

Lucien Muratore

Repeats His Former Triumphs As Faust

Thrills an Auditorium full of people with his performance on December 4, with the Chicago Opera

Press Comments:

The unsurpassable Faust of Muratore was an artistic pillar upon which the entire operatic edifice rested, and his "Salut Demeure" was, as usual, the signal for a vociferous demand to repeat it. He gave an intrepretation of the most popular of all French operas in the true French tradition and made it a distinct triumph for himself and Maestro Campanini.—Henriette Weber in the Herald and Examiner.

We can dismiss with few words the aristocratic interpretation Muratore gives to the title role of Gounod's musical version of Goethe's "Faust." That it is one of the finest of operatic impersonations both as to dramatic conception and vocal rendition all music connoisseurs have long agreed.—Maurice Rosenfeld in the Daily News.

We have known for a long time what Muratore could make of Faust, even when he had to go his way without aid. Last evening he did not have to urge himself on, for the sentiment was evoked by the spirit that pervaded the stage. The first act he sang finely, and in the garden scene was at the top of his powers. A few years ago we had quite outgrown Faust and Gounod and all the rest of romance, but now happily we have discovered that we're not so old and worldly wise as we thought. We have a great deal to thank these French artists for.—Karleton Hackett in the Evening Post.

Of Muratore's Faust I can find only the highest praise. The first act prologue, so different from the rather lyric episodes that follow, was delivered with a fullness and depth of tone that revealed all the dynamic possibilities of Muratore's glowing voice, and all the tender love-music was shaded with a rare feeling of finesse and exquisite poetry. His Cavatine, "Salut, demeure chaste et pure," was an individual example of this great gift, sung with inimitable style and taste, and calling forth plaudits that in other days would have forced a double encore. Physically, Muratore is a genuine picture in the Faust costumes, for this year he shows the result of careful attention to his measurements; and his figure has grown more shapely and more elastic.—Herman Devries in the Chicago American.

It would be difficult to imagine anything more exquisite than his phrasing, more lovely than the tone of his voice in the love music of the same garden scene. It may have been reminiscence—Mme. Gall is said to have made her debut at the Paris Opera as Marguerite to Muratore's Faust immediately after her graduation from the Conservatoire—but the scene proceeded a little more delicately, a little more poignantly than it is in the habit of doing.—Edward Moore in the Chicago Journal.

The tenor's Faust was in his best manner; and when he is so in this part he sends the memory back to De Reszke for the fit comparison. Muratore's was lovely singing, as in other seasons, throughout the second act; and he put fervor and the right note of drama into the trio before the duel. He is, when like last night, a matchless somebody of the opera stage.—Frederick Donaghey in the Chicago Tribune.

METROPOLITAIN CONSERVATORY CONCERT

The most important item of the concert given at Kimball Hall on Tuesday evening by advanced pupils of the Metropolitan Conservatory was the piano playing of Miss Aeolia Martin, a student of Max Kramm, who has just been accepted as one of the young American artists to appear at the festival at Lockport, N. Y., next September.

Miss Martin, still in her teens, I judge, is a very attractive young lady and her appearance at the piano is particularly good.

She has technic in abundance (as have all of the Kramm advanced pupils), and the purely mechanical parts of her numbers did not bother her at all, although one of them was the difficult and scintillant "Dance of the Gnomes" (Liszt) which, to be played properly (as she certainly played it), requires technic of the transcendant variety.

But, admirable and necessary as is clear, rapid and well colored technic, this is not so uncommon an attribute of the young artist as is the ability to produce pure, sweet tone, well modulated and well sustained and Miss Martin, most certainly, has the latter as well as the former asset.

In a Chopin Nocturne she emphatically provided proof that her gift is a most gracious one and that her tonal quality is so unusual and so altogether fine as to mark her for the greatest of success.

Her pedaling is so good also as to add vastly to the tonal excellence of her work and her all-around musicianship and abiding good taste in interpretations mark her again as exceptional.

She is a pupil of whom Mr. Kramm may well be proud and of whom he may expect good things even as in the case of another pupil—Miss Jessie Comlossy, who played at Lockport last September and scored success.

Other pupils of Mr. Kramm who appeared on Tuesday evening were Lucy Gelb, Dorothy More and Dorothy Soper.

Lucy (a small girl) was accurate and clever in her manipulation of a Solfegietto (Bach) and an Air of Pergolesi, the first Dorothy played the Etude de Concert op. 103 (Sternberg) with accuracy and sparkle, as was the case also with the second Dorothy, whose number was the Vogrich Staccato Caprice.

These young players, seemingly about sixteen or seventeen years old, both have great clarity, accuracy and speed and both have a budding musicianship and style which promise splendid results.

Two violin pupils of Harry Dimond played so well as to do him much credit. Miss Conrad was definite in the Mendelssohn Concerto and Philip Kaufman, a small boy who played a concerto and some small pieces, was good in both, though much the better in the last named.

The young woman (not programmed) who played for them was excellent.

Leroy Wetzel, who is also a first-class accompanist, presented Blanche Baxter Johnson and Laurine Olesen in vocal numbers, the first showing good musicianship in a very dull group of Debussy and Fontainelles and the latter proving much flexibility of voice in the "Bell Song" (Lakme).

Grace French, a pupil of Albert Ruff, displayed power and considerable style in an Aria from "Aida" and would have done better with a more accurate support from the piano.

Elizabeth Porch, a young woman with light, clear and sweet soprano voice, a pupil of Mary Hesselgren Vance, was charming in manner and style and sang in a way to give much promise for the future.

Her interpretation of a song by Masini was classically pure and correct and her reading of an Aria from "La Boheme" was full of merit.

C. E. W.

THE KNUPFER STUDIOS

Miss Myrtle Peterson, a professional pupil of Walter Knupfer, will take part in a program to be given next Tuesday at the installation ceremonies of the Paragon Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star at Temple Hall, Masonic Temple.

Pupils of Mr. Knupfer will give the following program at the next Studio Recital of the Knupfer Studios on Tuesday, December 17:

Sonata, B flat minor ..... Chopin
Dorothy Eichenlaub

Rhapsody, No. 11 ..... Liszt
Mildred Schooler

Polonaise, A flat ..... Chopin
Agnes Blafka

Nocturne ..... Scambati
Alice Stoddar

Bouree ..... Bach-Saint-Saens
Polly Gerts

Cantique d'Amour ..... Chopin
Polonaise, E major ..... Liszt
Myrtie Peterson

Dream of Love ..... Liszt
Melodie ..... Gluck-Sgambati
Mrs. Delafield

Fantasie, C minor ..... Mozart
Etude, F minor ..... Chopin
Mollie Friedman

Etude, D flat ..... Liszt
Valse, A flat major ..... Chopin
Loula Schneidt-Nussbaum

Anna Wieboldt, soprano pupil of Augusta Lenska, will sing a group of songs. This will be the last Studio Recital until January 7.

CHICAGO COLLEGE CLUB

A musical program will be given Sunday afternoon, December 15, at the Chicago College Club, where the Women's Advertising Club will be hostess to fifty Jackies from Great Lakes.

The singers and instrumentalists who will entertain the boys on this occasion are Grant Hadley, baritone; Laura Thiel, soprano; Carl Craven, tenor; Mattylee Lippard, saxophonist and soprano; Lillian Parks, pianist; Carl Coleman, pianist, and Lorraine Ernest, violinist, who will be accompanied by Jane Anderson.

PRESS AT LARGE

May Pfeiffer

Following is some comment of the press on the appearance in that city of Miss May Pfeiffer, contralto with the Century Opera Company.

As Lola, Miss Pfeiffer displayed a rich contralto voice and lovely appearance.—Peoria (Ill.) Star.

May Pfeiffer, who was the Carmen of the performance, sang the vivid, colorful music well, her mellow, luscious contralto lending new beauty to the dashing Spanish cadences of Bizet's charming score.—Peoria (Ill.) Transcript.

Miss May Pfeiffer's name "doesn't mean anything" to most people now, but to those who heard her rich and vibrant voice in Bizet's music Miss Pfeiffer's name hereafter will mean a good deal. Her supple youth, her wicked prettiness, added to a voice of compelling beauty, would in themselves have kept the audience interested. But this young contralto has learned about Carmen from several sources. If she collected some of the impudence with which she endows her impersonations from Geraldine Farrar, she has modified it, and besides there is this important difference—that Miss Pfeiffer's vocal range and vocal quality fit the music. She is youthfully inclined to overplay the dramatic scenes and neglect opportunities to lighten the dare-devil role, but there were many evidences that she has in her the stuff Carmens are made of.—Kansas City (Mo.) Times.

A Letter to Chicago Evening Post

Chicago, Nov. 20.—To the Editor of The Post. Sir: In addressing this article for publication I wish to emphasize that I am in no way connected with the Chicago Opera Association, but I wish to express my sincere admiration for the splendid forces which that association comprises.

I am a New Yorker. I happened to participate in many of the Metropolitan Opera performances in New York, and I had many reasons to be disillusioned about the work and the cast of that opera house. Everybody is under the impression that the Broadway operatic house is a typical temple of art It is not so.

The forces of the Chicago Opera Association are characterized by their youth, fresh voices and healthy timbres. If time would permit, I should spend many a night in the Auditorium Theater, the only place where opera is being heard in the proper spirit and atmosphere.

Let me congratulate Chicago for acquiring such brilliant forces, through which the city has become the foremost operatic center of the world.

JOSEPH DE VALDOR.

Alma Gluck Presents Husband With a Son

New York, Dec. 1.—[Special.]—A son was born Saturday morning to Alma Gluck, the concert singer, formerly of the Metropolitan Opera and the wife of Efrem Zimbalist, the violinist, at her home here. They have a daughter, Marie Virginia, who is 3 years old.—Chicago Tribune.

MARGUERITE NAMARA
Soprano
Chicago Opera Association

THE MOODY BIBLE INSTITUTE MUSIC COURSE
D. B. TOWNER, Director
Warren C. Coffin, Voice Foss L. Fellers, Piano Guy C. Latchaw, Voice George S. Schuler, Piano
Mrs. M. Lee Storrs, Voice Edyth E. Carlson, Piano
Alfred Holsworth, Theory
Catalogue Sent Upon Request 153 INSTITUTE PLACE

CHARLES LA BERGE
VOCAL INSTRUCTOR
American Conservatory
Advanced students will give scenes from "Thais" and "Tales of Hoffman" January 25
KIMBALL HALL, CHICAGO

Music in New York

1 W. Thirty-fourth St.

By JOSEPH DE VALDOR

Notes of the Correspondent

My recent sojourn in Chicago, though brief, was a most pleasurable one, as the opportunity was presented to hear the presentations of the Chicago Opera, most notable among them being "William Tell," "La Tosca," "Carmen," "The Barber of Seville," "Madame Butterfly" and "Aida." My comments on the star performers will appear at intervals, and I can add without exaggeration that Maestro Campanini has assembled at the Auditorium in Chicago the best elements for the French and Italian repertoire, and that their arrival in New York will create nothing less than a sensation.

♯ ♯ ♯

In my absence from New York my assistant reports only mild events. Still, I am informed that the following artists have created a sympathetic atmosphere in musical circles: Hulda Lashanska and Merle Alcock, the latter having appeared twice—once as soloist with the Symphony Society of New York, replacing Lucy Gates; and I am informed of Mrs. Edna Blanche Robinson's success in recital, on which I will comment in the future.

The Metropolitan had nothing exciting save the successful re-entry of Martinelli, the tenor, as Faust. Margaret Romaine and Montesanti, baritone, are reported as successful debutantes.

The Park Theater attracts larger audiences since the American Society of Singers revived the comic operas of Gilbert and Sullivan.

Henri Rabaud of Paris conducted the Boston Symphony with success in two appearances at Carnegie Hall. He also was the guest at a performance of his opera, "Marouf," at the Brooklyn Academy.

♯ ♯ ♯

As usual, we will inform our readers of musical events in France and other European centers, translated from La Rampe of Paris, the writer being the New York correspondent of that paper.

Marseilles

The Municipal Opera opened on October 8 under the management of M. Audisio. The first opera presented was "Le roi d'Ys" (Edouard Lalo), with Trantooul, tenor; Rouard, baritone; Billot, bass, and Mlles. Abby, Richardson and Heilbronner.

The Opera-Plage in the last days of September gave "Werther," with Edmond Clement and Mme. Sonnelly; "William Tell," with Charat, Rouard and Mlle. Chambelan Peral Legras.

Milan

The Lirico opened a series of operas and opera comique, among the presentations being "La Boheme," "Aida," "Othello" and "Carmen." The reappearance of Bonci, the tenor, is expected soon.

The Novelli enterprise opened at the Manzoni a series of operas, and at the Carcano "Madame Butterfly" was given.

♯ ♯ ♯

Aurore La Croix Plays in Boston

The remarkable American girl whose two recent recitals attracted wide attention in New York gave a recital in Boston on Saturday afternoon, December 7. Her program consisted of Bach's B flat major, No. 1, "Partita"; Schubert's Sonata, Opus 42; Chopin's Scherzo, Etude E major, Etude A minor, and compositions by Blanchet, Weber, Liszt and Edward Royce. The recital was given in Jordan Hall.

♯ ♯ ♯

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE

Martha

Except when Flotow's opera is revived for Caruso's sake, and he makes his appearance in it, "Martha" is so shopworn that frequent performances are becoming a bore. When the Metropolitan sings "Martha" by Flotow and announces a revival of "Oberon" by Weber, why not Wagner in English? The Metropolitan repertoire offers little excitement. The management offers no French opera for the week ending December 15, at a time when one of the finest French baritones adorns the Metropolitan cast—Robert Couzinon, whose appearance last week as Valentin in "Faust" aroused enthusiasm—coming back to "Martha"! Caruso's singing in "La Forza del Destino" was admirable, while as Lionel in "Martha" he was far from being admirable. Frieda Hempel was Lady Harriet, alias Martha.

Adamo Didur has not yet recovered from his cold, but acted well. Louise Homer as Nancy was not satisfactory. Her voice sounded colorless. A note of praise for Mr. Laurenti, who as the Sheriff disclosed an agreeable baritone voice. Malatesta and Reschiglian completed the cast. Arthur Bodansky conducted.

♯ ♯ ♯

The Philharmonic in a Czecho-Slovak Program

To celebrate the foundation of the new Czecho-Slovak republic Mr. Stransky offered a special program, enlisting only this nationality. In spite of the event this concert, given at Carnegie Hall on Saturday evening, December 7, did not attract a full house as it should on such occasions. The concert opened with the "Star Spangled Banner," followed by the new anthem of the Czecho-Slovaks. The principal offering was Dvorak's symphony, "The New World." If nothing else, the largo received a splendid rendition, for which Mr. Stransky is to be praised. As a whole the symphony was well played. Smetana was on the program with three compositions, the most popular being the "Vetava," well rendered. The others were "Vyschrad" and from Bohemia's "Woods and Fields." The English anthem was also rendered.

The concert concluded with an idyll called "An Evening" by Fibich, one of Mr. Stransky's teachers, according to program notes.

♯ ♯ ♯

Attention of Musical Managers

The correspondent is most grateful to the musical managers whose courtesy of sending seats with war tax paid proved to him that this journal has gained its deserved recognition—I will at intervals review their events. But while nearly all the musical agencies and orchestral organizations have showed high esteem for the correspondent, some isolated agencies have indulged in sending merely coupons without war tax paid—others (they are very few) have sent no seats at all. In such cases the writer will absolutely remain indifferent to their concerts and recitals. No attention will be given to any one whose lack of courtesy compels such attitude.

♯ ♯ ♯

Raoul Vidas Reappears at the Carnegie Hall

The French-Roumainian violinist made his second appearance at Carnegie Hall on Sunday afternoon, December 8, scoring another great success. Failure of the Music League of America (Vidas' representaives) to send seats for this event compels the writer to eliminate any extended comments. Walter Golde was at the piano.

♯ ♯ ♯

The Virgil Conservatory Presents Pupils in Recital

Regretting my inability to attend this event, I make it my duty to report this recital without extended comments. It took place at the recital hall of the school on Saturday afternoon, December 7, under the personal direction of the capable director of the conservatory, Mrs. A. M. Virgil. The recital was opened by Lucille Oliver, one of the most talented young pianists (I say talented because of my previous knowledge). Her numbers were as follows: Etude Heroique (Leschetisky), Partorale (Scarlatti), Fugue (Guilmant-Rive King), Waltz in A flat (Chopin) and Three Etudes by the same composer. Miss Oliver concluded the program with two numbers by Cyril Scott—"Danse Negre" and "Lotus Land" and Moskowski's "Caprice Espagnol."

Charlotte Regneas, child pianist, was also featured with "Knight Rupert" and "Wild Rider" by Schumann and MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose." Other numbers executed by the youngster were: Berceuse (Munkelt) and two compositions from the pen of the excellent director, Mrs. A. M. Virgil, "Distant Chimes," and Tarantelle. It was a distinctly pleasurable afternoon for the audience. It is not out of place to add that the writer's acquaintance with Mrs. Virgil has given him conclusive proofs that this active woman pianist is one of the most interesting personalities in the musical circles of New York. Her reputation is national, her pianistic inventions in mechanical devices and her gifted compositions have sent the name of Virgil not only broadcast in America, but throughout the old continent as well.

♯ ♯ ♯

Chicago Musical College—The Chicago Musical College School of Opera will present the whole of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" in Ziegfeld Theater, December 21.

♯ ♯ ♯

Mann—Ellen Kinsman Mann, soprano, gave a group of Russian songs at the River Forest Woman's Club late in November.

Myrtle Thornburgh

SOPRANO

After a successful tour of sixteen weeks through the Western and Southern States, is available for Concerts, Oratorio and Recitals

PERSONAL ADDRESS

72 West 68th St., New York

LAZAR S. SAMOILOFF

Baritone

Director of the Bel Canto School

The Art of Singing

Indorsed by Chaliapiu, Brogi, Sammarco, Ruffo, Didur, Zerola and Others

STUDIO: CARNEGIE HALL, NEW YORK CITY

Constance Balfour

AMERICAN SOPRANO

Season of 1918-1919 Booking Now

MANAGEMENT

DANIEL MAYER, Aeolian Hall, New York

HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager.

VIRGIL PIANO CONSERVATORY

MRS. A. M. VIRGIL, Director

(An Authorized Authority on Technic)

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF SUCCESSFUL RESULTS HAVE PROVEN

The Efficiency of the VIRGIL Method

VIRGIL P. S. CO., 11 WEST 68th STREET, NEW YORK

Russian Symphony Orchestra

MODEST ALTSCHULER, Conductor

Season of 1918-19 is Booking Now

Management

DANIEL MAYER - Aeolian Hall, New York

HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager.

THE STIEFF PIANO USED

IDA MAY BORNCAMP

ACCOMPANIST - - COACH

TEACHER OF PIANO

418 Hamilton St., - - - Evanston Ill.

Phones Evanston 4723 and Wabash 83 35

CHICAGO SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The concerts of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra of last week were much discussed because of the introduction of Serge Prokofieff, a young Russian composer and pianist, but Music News did not find his work in the former field worthy of much consideration.

He is, as the daily papers have said, "an anarchist in music," and this distinction seems without charm to us.

Everything he had to say was crude, rough and (apparently) without logical form or sequence.

There is no beauty in it, nothing to hold attention, and altogether it seems but a lot of empty sound, brutally ugly and tiresome in reiteration.

His piano concerto is particularly unlovely and uninteresting, and while listening to him play it one could not escape the thought that it was a consummate pity to waste such gifts and acquirements as are his on such utter trash.

For, unquestionably, he has, in his playing, a great feeling for contrast and style, and his technical equipment can be characterized by but one word—superb.

It is remembered that when Ornstein first played here and gave a program of his own works exclusively he was found very trying and wholly tiresome, but when later he appeared at the Ziegfeld Theater under Mr. Kinsey's direction he opened his program with some Scarlatti, Mendelssohn and Chopin, which he played exquisitely.

So, similarly, this writer at least very much desires to hear Prokofieff, not in his own extravagantly ugly compositions, but in something worthy his musical feeling and his wonderful technical development.

Aside from the Prokofieff Piano Concerto and the Sythian Suite, the program contained a Haydn Symphony, very gracefully conducted by Mr. De Lamarter; a Symphonic Legend by D'Indy, and the "Espana" Rhapsody of Charbrier, both also very effective under the same baton.

♮ ♮ ♮

The program of this week enlists the services of the splendid American soprano, Miss May Peterson, and reads as follows:

Overture—Le Baruffe Chiozzotte, Op. 32.....Sinigaglia
Aria—Allelujah from the Motet Exsultate.....Mozart
Aria—Care Selve from Atalanta.....Handel
Symphony No. 8.....Glazounow
Allegro moderato; mesto; allegro; finale
Symphonic Poem No. 2, Les Eolides.....Franck
Aria—Depuis le jour from Louise.....Charpentier
Rhapsody—Italia .....Casella

C. E. W.

♯♯♯

JEANNE BOYD

Miss Boyd appeared before the Matinee Musicale Club of Ann Arbor, Mich., November 21, on an American composers' program, giving five of her songs: "Wind from the South," "Invitation," "Invocation," "Canzonetta" and "At Morning." Miss Lois Johnston, soprano, of Detroit, Mich., presented these numbers, with Miss Boyd at the piano.

♯♯♯

The Crusaders—"The Crusaders" will be sung at the Ebenezer Lutheran Church on December 15 under direction of David Nyvall. Among the soloists will be Charles E. Lutton.

♯♯♯

Latchaw—Guy Latchaw of the Moody Bible Institute School of Music will be soloist at the concert of the Madrigal Club on December 19.

Fernando Carpi

TENOR

Guest Artist from the Metropolitan Opera House scores a fine success in "The Barber of Seville" with the Chicago Opera Association at the Auditorium on Dec. 3

Press comment was as follows:

"Fernando Carpi was the best Almaviva we have heard with our company during its existence. He has a very smooth and flexible tenor. It has a fine quality which is used with uncommon intelligence though it is not particularly high. He also is a good looking person and has some dramatic talent. His solo in the first act was very well sung and he made an important figure through the entire performance."—Daily News.

"Carpi was a most agreeable surprise. His entrance was achieved with the proper dash and spirit of the Spanish gentleman cavalier. He was costumed with much taste and wore his clothes like an 'elegant.' This same grace and distinction are also the chief characteristics of his vocation. He has a small tenor voice, but his manner of phrasing as well as the coloratura execution were a veritable singing lesson. After his serenade, which he modulated into the most delicate mezzo-voce and shaded to perfection, he received a salvo of applause, leaving no doubt as to his welcome among us. I must add that he is very much at home upon the stage and has an ingratiating pantomime and command of facial gesture."—American.

"Fernando Carpi, a guest artist from the Metropolitan, sang in a voice of agreeable quality and with luscious ease the music assigned to the Count. He made a good impression and proved himself to be well versed in the conventional ideas of the role."—Herald and Examiner.

"Fernando Carpi, long in possession of the role and its traditions, came on from the Metropolitan to do Almaviva; and he was bully, with the precise style and touch the part required."—Tribune.

"Carpi, the new Almaviva, was the artist selected to sing the role during the company's autumn tour. Influenza intervening, he was able to appear only once, in St. Paul. The company will now attempt to fill its deferred engagements in Milwaukee, Des Moines and other near-by communities on the Thursday nights that no performances are scheduled here. That is one reason to account for the presence of Carpi. Another is that he is an extremely good Almaviva, and that in the face of the corps of fine tenors that the organization claims as its own this season. Almaviva is a role of remarkable difficulty. It makes nearly as many demands upon the tenor as the role of Rosina does upon the soprano. Many have been called, but very few have ever been chosen as suitable for the part. There was once a performance in this same company when a peculiarly unfortunate selection for the role managed to throw a group of expert singers so far off pitch at the end of the second act that only the fall of the curtain assuaged the agony inflicted on the ears of the audience. There was never any danger of that sort with Carpi. It was a delight to hear the certainty with which he rippled out the florid passages of the serenade. There was never any question of his ability to negotiate them, and this with a quality of voice that was very nearly ideal. He did not bang and yell quite enough as the disguised military inebriate to extract all the comedy that there is in the scene, but in the next act as the bogus music master he was once again fully in the picture. No one in the history of the company has struck so high an average in the role."—Journal.

"Barber of Seville" was repeated by the Chicago Company in Milwaukee on Dec. 5 with Mr. Carpi again as guest artist and at this time also he roused the audience to great enthusiasm

STORY OF THREE NEW OPERAS BY PUCCINI, TO BE GIVEN AT THE METROPOLITAN IN NEW YORK ON DEC. 14

A Puccini world premiere is ever an event of interest, and before the Italian composer's ill-starred venture into pseudo-modernism in "The Girl of the Golden West," invariably an event productive of pleasure. Now Puccini presents himself to us again, this time with three one-act operas, the contrasting spirits of which will put their composer's versatility to a test such as he never before encountered. The three operas will be given for the first time on any stage at the Metropolitan Opera House on Saturday night. All three works will be conducted by Robert Moranzoni, the chorus trained by Giulio Setti, the staging accomplished by Richard Ordynski.

The prices for the premiere have been raised to $7. If the announcement made by the Metropolitan's management is borne out, that Puccini has gone back to the spirit of his earlier works and has given free rein to his melodic genius, no one will regret the raise. The promise of a new "Boheme" would be worth double $7.

The first opera is entitled "Il Tabarro" (The Cloak) and is founded on a Grand Guignol thriller by Didier Gold, the Italian libretto being by Giuseppe Adami. It tells a pleasant tale quite equal to any of the most bloodthirsty compositions of the Veritists.

The scene of "Il Tabarro" is Michele's barge on the Seine. Giorgetta, Michele's young wife, is in love with Luigi, a longshoreman, and Michele, who for some time had noticed Giorgetta's coldness toward him, by an accident guesses the truth. Having overheard his wife giving an appointment to Luigi on the barge, Michele waits for him, surprises him as he jumps on the barge, grabs him by the neck, compels him to admit he is his wife's lover and then strangles him. He hides the body under his cloak, and when Giorgetta comes on deck and asks Michele if he does not wish her to rest near him under his cloak, her husband throws it open, and Giorgetta utters a shriek of horror as her lover's body rolls at her feet.

♮ ♮ ♮

"Suor Angelica" (Sister Angelica) is a far different tale. It has evident kinship with Maeterlinck's "Sister Beatrice," and was written by Giochino Forzano

Sister Angelica, a daughter of the Florentine nobility, has been compelled by her family to take the veil, following a youthful error, and for seven years has been waiting to hear from her family or friends. The abbess announces that Angelica's aunt, the princess, has come to call on her and warns her to be full of submission and humility in her conversation with the old lady. The princess coldly tells Angelica that she has come in order that she may sign a certain act of release which is made necessary by the coming wedding of the nun's younger sister. She adds that one course of action only is open to Angelica, and that course is lifelong expiation. Finally, in answer to Angelica's question, the princess informs her that her child, "the baby whom she had seen and kissed once only," had died two years previously. Thereupon Angelica, seized by a sudden frenzy, swallows poison. Overcome by remorse at her act, she implores the Virgin not to let her die in mortal sin, whereupon the Virgin suddenly appears on the threshold of the little church, enveloped in heavenly radiance. A child walks in front of her, and with a gesture of ineffable benevolence she gently pushes the boy into the arms of his dying mother, whilst a choir of nuns and angels sing "Thou art saved."

It will be of interest to see what Puccini, whose triumphs have hitherto been entirely in the world of the sensuous, in whose music the erotic note has always predominated, will do with this spiritual subject.

♮ ♮ ♮

The third opera, "Gianni Schicchi," the libretto also by Giochino Forzano, is suggested as an incident in Dante and also by a French play, "Le Mariage du Pere Lelen."

Gianni Schicchi, a keen, shrewd Tuscan peasant of the thirteenth century, who has succeeded in making his way in Florence in spite of many handicaps, is called by Rinuccio, a young fellow madly in love with Lauretta, Schicchi's daughter, so that he may give his advice to Rinuccio's family in connection with a certain will. Buoso Donati, having died without direct descendants, had left all his fortune to a monastery, much against the hopes of his relatives, who had gathered around his deathbed. Schicchi says there is one remedy only: he can impersonate the dead man—whose demise has not yet been announced—and dictate a new will, assuring the relatives that each of them will get just what he wants. The relatives are delighted at this idea and send for a notary. The notary comes and Gianni Schicchi, in Buoso Donati's sickbed, dictates his will; but, after bequeathing a few minor pieces of property to the relatives, he leaves the bulk of Donati's fortune to himself. The relatives do not dare protest for fear of the law. The young lovers, however, are made happy, for Schicchi's portion will fall to Lauretta.

♮ ♮ ♮

The casts of the three operas will be as follows:

IL TABARRO (THE CLOAK)

| | |
|---|---|
| Giorgetta | Claudia Muzio |
| Luigi | Giulio Crimi |
| Michele | Luigi Montesanto |
| Il Tinca | Giordano Paltrinieri |
| Il Talpa | Adamo Didur |
| Venditore di Canzoni | Pietro Audisio |
| La Frugola | Alice Gentle |
| L'Innamorata | Marie Tiffany |
| L'Innamorato | Albert Reiss |

SUOR ANGELICA

| | |
|---|---|
| Suor Angelica | Geraldine Farrar |
| La Principessa | Flora Perini |
| La Zelatrice | Marie Sundelius |
| La Badessa | Rita Fornia |
| La Maestra Delle Novizie | Cecil Arden |
| Una Conversa | Marie Tiffany |
| Altra Conversa | Veni Warwick |
| Suor Osmina | Marguerite Belleri |
| Una Novizia | Phyllis White |
| Suor Genovieffa | Mary Ellis |
| Sorella Infermiera | Lenora Sparkes |
| Suor Dolcina | Marie Mattfeld |
| Prima Sorella Cercatrice | Kitty Beale |
| Seconda Sorella Cercatrice | Minnie Egener |

GIANNI SCHICCHI

| | |
|---|---|
| Gianni Schicchi | Giuseppe De Luca |
| Rinuccio | Giulio Crimi |
| Lauretta | Florence Easton |
| Naciesca | Marie Sundelius |
| Nella | Marie Tiffany |
| La Vecchia | Kathleen Howard |
| Gherado | Giordano Paltrinieri |
| Gherardino | Mario Malatesta |
| Marco | Louis D'Angelo |
| Betto | Paolo Ananian |
| Simone | Adamo Didur |
| Ser Amantio di Nicolao | Andrea De Segurola |
| Pinellino | Vincenzo Reschiglian |
| Guccio | Carl Schlegel |
| Spinelloccio | Pompilio Malatesta |

Conductor, Robert Moranzoni

♮ ♮ ♮

THE RIVIERA

At the Riviera on November 30 one of the most splendid and beautifully arranged photoplays ever shown was put on with all the superlative accoutrements with which the Riviera is capable of surrounding its plays. On the screen was Nazimova in "Eye for Eye," a romance of "a child of the desert," and a splendid picture, one of the best in which this wonderful actress has appeared. The music was splendid both in composition and execution, synchronized with great skill and conducted by Mr. Kohls with keen insight.

In addition Ruth Lowenberg was featured as the soloist. She sang in costume Spross' "Ishtar," a very suitable song and a suitable voice for the occasion, lending, together with the wonderful color effect, just the right Oriental atmosphere to the overture.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

THELMA GIVEN

Violinist

Management:
Metropolitan Musical Bureau
35 West 42nd Street, New York, N. Y.

TEW

WORLD'S GREATEST VOCAL TEACHER

Engages to equip every pupil with an understanding of the Art of Singing, which insures a natural, unforced compass of from three octaves upwards of PURE, BEAUTIFUL, FLEXIBLE, and POWERFUL tone. (a) Principle of Co-ordination Applied to Vocal Mechanism, possible only through reversal of all modern Vocal Orthodox Methods. (b) Understanding of Principle (Logos), the Only Teacher.

JOHN A. ALCOTT, ASSISTANT TEACHER

SUITE 612 AND 613, FINE ARTS BUILDING, CHICAGO

TELEPHONE—WABASH 6990

ROSA RAISA

The Greatest of Dramatic Sopranos

Makes Sensational First Appearance in "La Gioconda" at the Chicago Opera on December 7

From the unanimously favorable opinion of the press we select the following:

"Often, when I have written of Raisa as the most gifted of the dramatic women in opera, am I asked if I remember Destinn; and always do I wonder why anybody, having heard the former, should regard the latter as concerned in the comparison. Nobody else is able to take a role like the ballad singer of this piece and in all ways make so much of it as does Raisa. Saturday's was her first encounter with it; and she was immense in song and in drama, and an enchanting person to see. She vitalized every scene she touched."—Frederick Donaghey in Chicago Tribune.

"Miss Rosa Raisa was very fine all afternoon and the final act was for her a vocal and histrionic triumph. She sang the trying music with a vocal control, a richness of tone and a variety of color that made it a remarkable display." —Karleton Hackett in Evening Post.

"Rosa Raisa in the title role was superb. She sang with such great dramatic warmth, with such remarkable vocal opulence and with such perfect musical style that she substantiated the right to be called one of the great dramatic sopranos of the day. She was not less noteworthy as a tragedienne than as a singer in this role."—Maurice Rosenfeld in Daily News.

"The next time 'La Gioconda' is billed, get a seat and stay until the end. You will see Rosa Raisa at the height of her dramatic and vocal powers—inasmuch as she makes of her physical resources a means of expression more poignantly emotional, more tragically intense than any we have ever before witnessed from her rich treasure of talents."—Herman Devries in Chicago American.

LELA LOWE-PIERSON
VIOLINIST
Tel. Rogers Pk. 4701. 6807 Wayne Av.

FLORENCE CARO LINDLEY
SOPRANO
Tel. Edgewater 1095. 1216 Rosedale Ave.

Tina Mae Haines Teacher, Coach Lectures, Recitals
4452 SIDNEY AVE. Tel. KENWOOD 5003

FRANK VanDusen PIANO ORGAN
American Conservatory Kimball Hall

ALTA MILLER
CITALS MEZZO-SOPRANO PUPILS
1707 Hinman Av., Evanston Tel. Evanston 318

WALTER WHEATLEY
TENOR
Western Address: Lincoln, Neb.

ROWLAND LEACH
VIOLINIST BUSH CONSERVATORY

Mary Bower, B. M. With Chicago Musical College
Teacher of Piano, Harmony, Organ and Psychology of Music
1953 Sunnyside Ave. Phone Ravenswood 6287

Virna Harman Walker
STUDIO OF DANCING
Ballroom Ballet Pantomime Phones:
206 S. Wabash Av., Suite 200. Wab. 2460; Hay'k't 4347

MILON R. HARRIS, Tenor
Voice Development and Artistic Singing
STUDIO, 929 KIMBALL HALL CHICAGO

FREDA STARR
AMERICAN LYRIC SOPRANO
Management Lincoln Bureau 1257 So. 27th St., Lincoln, Nebr.

Thomas REMINGTON Basso
ROOM 610 KIMBALL BUILDING

Veada K. Hatfield
SOPRANO CHURCH, CONCERT, TEACHING
361 Forest Ave., River Forest, Ill.

ANNA GROFF-BRYANT
Dean of the School of Three Arts of Lombard College
Galesburg, Ill. Send for latest bulletin.
Chicago Studio. 707 Fine Arts Building.

Adelaide PIERCE
CONTRALTO
Warren Concert Bureau, Schiffmann Bldg. St. Paul, Minn.

Cora ANDERSON
PIANIST Kimball Hall

LILLIAN AMMALE
Pianist Care of MUSIC NEWS

THE ART OF LUCIEN MURATORE IN "DON JOSE"

By JOSEPH DE VALDOR

After an absence of two years from the Windy City, I have been making a brief visit to my old adopted town, and was indeed happy to be here and to hear the greatest artists of the world now assembled in the Auditorium Theater, to the delight of the opera lovers.

I have heard not only one opera, but several, and after listening to some of the performances I join with Mr. Herman Devries, the eminent critic of the Chicago Evening American, in saying that Chicago shelters to-day the greatest stars of the operatic world. I will speak especially of that memorable evening of November 26, when "Carmen" was given with the electrifying singing-actor, Lucien Muratore. No matter who is cast for the gypsy girl, the presence of this French tenor in the opera makes the part of Don Jose the one and the only one worthy of the highest attention. Orchestra and perfect ensemble otherwise do not compensate when Muratore is not singing the part of the brigadier, but where the performance enlists his voice and supreme artistry the rest matters little. There has been no complaint so far that "Carmen" is given too often, for the Bizet opera is a favorite as well as unique opera—but alas! how many "Carmen" performances have been lamentably poor! Without Muratore, Bizet remains inadequately interpreted, but he shares in the double geniality when the French tenor undertakes the part of the unhappy lover.

MURATORE AS DON JOSE

Many a tenor with a tolerable voice has lacked the art of "Savoir Chanter"—and what tenor can be admitted to the gallery of celebrities if his lack of artistry is in evidence?

Lucien Muratore has four assets to make his playing of this part a memorable event—the voice, the art of singing, the action, and the makeup, although there are other elements which make him the man "sans-rival." The "Flower Song," for instance, is invested with a mezza-voce unknown to any others of the tenors, and the climax of the Aria shows clearly the extent of his dramatic powers. The duos with Micaela disclose his admirable lyricism. In the third act, with Carmen, Muratore is the Rafaele Sanzio of the operatic stage. The last act is a climax in dramatic fire. In all he does nothing is clumsy, for he never indicates prematurely what his ultimate effects are to be, and therefore interest and expectation are constantly maintained. What singing actor today can make the text of an opera as understandable as can Lucien Muratore? Veterans of opera attendance are at a loss to point out any one else who can disclose such perfect diction. On last Tuesday I sat spellbound, concentrating all my senses on his every movement and, though for twenty-two years I have never missed one "Carmen" performance, I am certain that at no time has there ever been experienced so great a thrill as at this time. And as long as he retains his magnificent powers he will continue to move every auditor to the point of ecstasy. As Louise sings to Lucien, so does Lucien Muratore sing to his audience—"Depuis le jour on tu chantais—aucun Don Jose he t 'a pas rivalise." The Muratore audience is always an audience of enthusiasts which never economizes in its ovation, and the cheers, the bravos, and the bis are always in full evidence. Since Lucien Muratore has embellished the Chicago opera cast, this Auditorium audience has been Latinized—from a phlegmatic to one of the typical Anglo-Saxonian type—his listeners have been taught to be expansive in approval, and no one deserves such glorious encomiums more than does the French tenor. The evening of November 26 at the Auditorium Theater in Chicago will remain engraved in my mind and is an earnest of many similar demonstrations of acting and singing.

COSMOPOLITAN SCHOOL OF
Music and Dramatic Art
Dr. Carver Williams, President
Edwin L. Stephen, Manager
16th Floor, Kimball Building, Chicago, Ill.
THE SCHOOL FOR SERIOUS STUDENTS
ASK WHY!

MAX GEGNA
THE BRILLIANT CELLIST
Season 1918-19 Booking Now
Management
JULIUS DAIBER
Aeolian Hall New York
Kranich & Bach Piano Used

Else Harthan Arendt
Dramatic Soprano
300 Fine Arts Building Wabash 6267

CENTRALIZING SCHOOL OF MUSIC

The following program was given with much success on Saturday, November 23:

Warriors' Song ..... Heller
Reverie ..... Huerter
Anna Hagberg
Pomponette ..... Durand
Harriet Shearer
Uncle Remus ..... Cadman
The Return ..... Burgmuller
Eleanor Stewart
Polonaise ..... MacDowell
Gail Wickoff Rosenow
Interpretative Dance—The Fairies .....
Harriet Lundgren
The Water Lily ..... MacDowell
Mrs. C. R. Whitworth
Tarantelle ..... Lomas
Doris Reynolds
Nocturne ..... Chopin
Helene Scott
Elfin Dance ..... Goodrich
Little Major ..... Goodrich
Leo Sagal
Reading—Current Topics .....
Charlotte Sparberg
Fawns ..... Chaminade
Helen Ritsch
Waltz ..... Cameron
Margaret Fetzer
Rhapsodie No. 12 ..... Liszt
Wilmarie Hosier

###

Boyd—Jeanne Boyd was accompanist for Sybil Comer, soprano, at the Austin Woman's Club on December 9, presenting "Wind from the South," "Canzonetta" and "In Italy," songs by Miss Boyd.

LESSONS IN RHYTHM
BY
JOHN MOKREJS
Price 75 Cents

A most comprehensive work on this all engrossing subject.

Practical in its application to all classes of music teaching.

Nothing more stimulating nor more helpfully educative could be introduced into the school room.

Send for a fully descriptive circular.

CLAYTON F. SUMMY CO.
Publishers
64 E. Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill.

For Peace Celebrations

Lord of All Majesty ..... Ralph Kinder
(With piano, organ or orchestral accompaniment editions)
For Male Voices ..... net 20c
For Mixed Voices ..... net 20c
America, the Beautiful..R. Nathaniel Dett
For Unison or Mixed Voices ..... 6c
The Americans Come! ..... Fay Foster
A Victory Song
As Vocal Solo ..... net 40c
Four Keys—High, B flat; Medium-High, A flat; Medium, G; Low, F.
Part-Song Arrangements—Unison or two parts; Women, Male and Mixed Voices ..... 12c
The above mentioned publications may be obtained from your regular dealer or from the publishers.

J. FISCHER & BRO.
NEW YORK
Fourth Avenue and Eighth Street (Astor Place)

HINSDALE, ILL.

The program given at the meeting of the Woman's Club of Hinsdale on Tuesday afternoon, December 3, under the supervision of the chairman of the music department, Miss Florence Beckett, and presented by Mrs. Monica Graham Stults, assisted by Mrs. Violet Martens Link at the piano, was one of artistic merit. The chairman, in introducing Mrs. Stults, said that on a previous occasion the charm of Mrs. Stults' voice recalled to her mind the lines once sent to Mme. Patti by Abbe Liszt. Translated they read:

"Being a man and Christian,
I love to hear you;
But, were I a bird,
I'd envy and fear you."

With the exception of two groups of French and Italian songs the program was made up of compositions by American song writers.

Mrs. Stults added to the interest in each group by prefacing her vocal interpretation with information about the composer and his evident intention in writing the song. She spoke of the impression that existed until the recent world war: that no program of worth could be presented without including compositions by Schubert, Schumann, Strauss and other German song writers, and said that the war at least had pushed American writers of vocal music to the front and helped establish the artistic value of their work.

Mrs. Stults' program, ranging from an aria, "Pace, Pace, Dio," by Verdi, and a cycle of Persian love songs by Harling to the entrancing "Cradle Song," by MacFayden, and the saucy ballad of Mrs. Beach, "Wouldn't It Be Queer?" was sufficiently diversified to offer a wide range of possibilities for her splendid voice. Her intelligent interpretation, her natural temperament controlled by the unerring judgment of real musicianship, and the warmth of her full, round tones awakened the audience to genuine enthusiasm. Mrs. Stults responded with unaffected graciousness to repeated encores. At the close of the appended program she was obliged to sing again Tours' setting to Lieut. Col. John D. McCrae's matchless war poem, "In Flanders Fields."

The program:

The Wind's in the South ..... Scott
Cradle Song ..... MacFayden
Twilight Dreams ..... Sibella
Wouldn't It Be Queer ..... Beach
Pace, Pace Dio (La Forza del Destino) ..... Verdi
Carnaval ..... Fourdrain
Chanson Norvegienne ..... Fourdrain
L'oiseau bleu ..... Dalcroze
Chere Nuit ..... Bachelet
In Flanders Fields ..... Tours
The Shadow of the Bamboo Fence ..... Foster
Danny Boy ..... Weatherby
The Divan of Hafiz ..... Harling
Heart, Have You Heard the News
Oh Love, the Beauty of the Morn Is Thine
Wind of the East
Love If for Nothing Else

F. B.

###

Ferrari—Leonora Ferrari, soprano, was soloist with the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra at the Auditorium in Milwaukee on Sunday afternoon, December 1. Her numbers were "Il est doux" (Massenet) and encores.

###

Hadley—Mrs. W. N. Northcott, artist pupil of Grant Hadley, sang last week in Indianapolis and on December 16 will give a program for the Dearborn Street Y. M. C. A. in Chicago.

READ The Musical Observer
the best music monthly published. Too little space to tell you about the many good things it contains. Send for a copy of current issue free. MUSICAL OBSERVER CO., Cooper Square, NEW YORK.

ANNA E. GEORGE
PIANIST COMPOSER
Teaching at Bush Conservatory

Esther Fricke-Green Accompanist
Organist Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist
625 Lyon & Healy Building

Mrs. Charles L. Krum
SOPRANO
Studio, 621 Fine Arts Bldg. Res. 5000 Harper Av. Tel. Drexel 2986

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Buren Stein
Auditorium Musical-Dramatic Conservatory
AUDITORIUM BLDG. CHICAGO

CLARA EDMUNDS-HEMINGWAY
Contralto-Whistler-Reader-Pianist,
ORIGINAL Composition Recitals. ORATORIO, Concert, Recital CHURCH. 568 Madison, Gary, Ind. Phone 1224

SILVIO SCIONTI
PIANIST
American Conservatory, Kimball Hall

FREDERICA GERHARDT DOWNING
CONTRALTO
Oratorio - Concert - Recital
709 South Harvey Av., Oak Park, Ill. Phone O. P. 1478

Allen W. Bogen
CONCERT ORGANIST PUPILS
5429 Harper Ave. Tel. Blackstone 1913

MRS. EDWARD MacDOWELL
Programs of MacDowell Music Steinway Piano
Management: Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway, New York
Proceeds of these recitals revert unreservedly to the MacDowell Memorial Association

IRVING C. HANCOCK
Organist and Choirmaster, Trinity Episcopal Church
PUPILS—PIANO AND ORGAN Phone Drexel 6903

Frances Frothingham
PIANO—HARMONY
605 KIMBALL BUILDING

Jessie Nichols Baldwin
Soprano Teacher of Singing Recitals
617 Kimball Hall and Orchard School

Olive Nevin, Soprano
"A Nevin Worthy of the Name"
325 WEST 57th STREET NEW YORK

GRAHAM HARRIS, Violinist
Winner Nat'l Contest N.F.M.C. Biennial Convention
240 E. Tremont Av. NEW YORK

Palmer Christian
Concert Organist

CHRISTINE LANGENHAN

The well-known Dramatic Soprano was the soloist with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra on December 8 in Minneapolis, Minn.

KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN PAYS TRIBUTE TO SCHUMANN-HEINK

It surely must be wonderful to be a Schumann-Heink and to inspire such a tribute as this from the pen of so gifted an authoress and such a great patron of music as Kate Douglas Wiggin. It was at the recent Maine Musical Festival, where Mme. Schumann-Heink opened her triumphant season, that Mrs. Wiggin heard her and the following day sent this appreciation to one of the Portland papers:

"What a woman! What a singer! What an artist! When she stood on the stage last night proclaiming her fifty-seven years, forty-one of them passed in singing, every human being in the audience loved and gloried in her. For myself, I could only look and listen and marvel at her simplicity, her dignity, her pathos and her power; at the matchless way in which she surmounted technical difficulties and touched all springs of emotion; above all, at her abundance! I bethought me of the old New England woman, bred on an island farm, when first confronted with the Atlantic Ocean. She gave one long sigh of wonder, delight and content before she exclaimed: 'Well, I'm glad for once to see something there's enough of!' Schumann-Heink is a royal giver of herself, and she has an infinity of rare and noble talents to give. What other singer could interpret so magnificently the tragic 'Cry of Rachel'? As for 'The Lord Is Mindful of His Own,' you sit spellbound in silent reverence till her singing mandate, 'Bow down before Him' almost brings you to your knees. Affection, admiration and applause were lavished upon her last night, and she deserved them all as much by the richness of her bounty as the beauty of her art."

THIRTY-THIRD SEASON

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

JOHN J. HATTSTAEDT, President

CHICAGO'S FOREMOST SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Offers modern courses in Piano, Voice, Violin, Organ, Public School Music, Harmony, Composition, Orchestral Instruments, School of Opera, etc. 90 eminent artists. Superior Normal Training School supplies teachers for Colleges. Teachers' Certificates, Diplomas and Degrees. Dormitory accommodations. Unrivaled free advantages.

SCHOOL OF ACTING AND EXPRESSION

Stage Training, Public Reading. Students may enter at any time. New Catalog mailed free.

500 KIMBALL HALL Chicago, Illinois

Phillips—William Phillips, baritone, has been in charge of the S. A. T. C. song work at Lake Forest University, at Lake Forest, Ill., and has made a success of it. Popular songs of the type used in the camps were employed, and the men came to look forward to the brief but frequent periods of singing under Mr. Phillips with great enthusiasm. The work has been of the greatest importance in stimulating morale, according to the military authorities of the institution.

Oak Forest—Miss Celia Bender, soprano; Miss Rose Lyon, pianist, and Miss Irene Stolofsky, violinist, will give the program at the Oak Forest Infirmary Sunday afternoon, December 15.

"Barber" in Milwaukee—The Chicago Opera Company, with Fernando Carpi as guest tenor, sang "Barber of Seville" at Milwaukee on last Thursday evening.

More or less—buy W. S. S. A $5 War Savings Stamp costs only $4.23.

CHAPEK MUSIC SCHOOL

The following recital by violin pupils of Joseph H. Chapek and vocal and piano pupils of Mrs. Augusta H. Chapek will be given Sunday afternoon, December 15, at 2:30 o'clock at the Chapek Music School, 3452 Broadway.

Piano—
Crossing the Bridge ..... Friml
Gipsy Dance ..... Williams
Violet Orminski

Violin—Minuet ..... Danbe
Anna Schneider

Piano—Castanet Dance ..... Dennee
Matilda Rubinoff

Violin—Matinka ..... Althaus
Elsie Orminski

Piano—Roundelay ..... Lemont
George Hand

Vocal—
Where Blossoms Grow ..... San Souci
And I? ..... Gaynor
Blanche Chmelik

Violin—Charit sans Paroles ..... Tschaikowsky
Ladislav Smutny

Piano—
Through the Woods ..... Gronow
Second Polketta ..... Fradel
Helen Ward

Violin—Slavonian Dance ..... Bohm
Rudolph Charous

Piano—
Romance ..... Wilm
Evelyn Hamer

Violin—Souvenir de Wieniawski ..... Haesche
Alice Young

Piano—Tarantelle ..... Dennee
Elsie Carl

Violin—Mazurka ..... Mlynarski
Jaroslav Tetrev

Piano—Cabaletta ..... Lack
Mildred Young

Violin—Zephyr ..... Hubay
Leon Shalla

Piano—Butterfly ..... Grieg
Marguerite Schuberth

Violin—Canzonetta ..... D'Ambrosio
Josephine Platka

Piano—Staccatto Etude ..... Rubinstein
Josephine Pelikan

THE CONCERTS OF THE HUMANITARIAN CULT

I have, on various occasions, reported some of the musical entertainments given under the auspices of the Humanitarian Cult of New York.

Some of the concerts were extensively commented upon, others only briefly, for obvious reasons. The Humanitarian Cult is also the publisher of a magazine by the same name — the semi-monthly concerts given either at Carnegie or the Hippodrome are attractive because some of the best artists are presented and their work is always paid for as it should be. But Mr. Mischa Appelbaum, the leader of the cult, at other times encroaches upon artists and musicians for free services, and what makes this more lamentable is the fact that Mr. Appelbaum pays not those who badly need money, but those already making large sums. Again, I repeat that none of the artists who appeared gratis under the auspices of the cult have ever received either an engagement or acquired fame because of this appearance. It is a most discouraging feature to have one artist receive nothing and the other to receive pay. This has been the case with Mr. Appelbaum, the founder of the cult. He encroaches upon the artist who naively serves the organization's purpose without betterment of his own position. The writer also has been asked to collaborate with musical articles to the Humanitarian Magazine, but my answer was "Nothing for Nothing." When will the artists wake up?

JOSEPH DE VALDOR.

New York.

THE PREMIER OF THE SYMPHONIC POEM BY HAROLD MORRIS, A YOUNG AMERICAN, AS PRESENTED BY THE CINCINNATI SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The fact that three of the leading Symphony Orchestras of the country play Mr. Morris' poem this season; that Mr. Diez, a Metropolitan tenor, sings two of his songs; that Oliver Denton played his Scherzo at Acolian Hall November 30, and the audience insisted on its repetition; that the New York McDowell Club has asked him to give an evening of his works, declare Mr. Morris' compositions to be attracting unique attention, especially as they are the product of an American youth in his twenties.

The theme of the Symphonic poem was suggested by Rabindranath Tagore's poem Gitanjali. The especial idea which furnished inspiration to Mr. Morris is the similarity of the principles of life underlying all forms of creation, and hence unifying into a common family all living objects. This is a favorite Oriental doctrine, no less than is the belief in a distinct purpose to be accomplished by all forms of life, and having accomplished it, a gradual decadence begins until the created thing or sentient being passes away.

Mr. Morris finds a parallelism between the life work of creations and the motive of his poem, and because nothing that exists finds the object of its existence at the beginning of life, nor is it accomplished to any degree of perfection until about midway of its life, Mr. Morris places the motive of this work near the middle of the composition.

A careful attention evidences that this young composer has eliminated the personal element. He eschews the bringing of himself into the limelight, instead of his music and the message he wishes to bring to the public thought. There is no appeal to plaudit by means of the crashing of instruments, and this must have taken strength of character, because the temptation was logically a strong one. Some of the most eminent composers in Cincinnati are emphatic in their commendations of Mr. Morris' work, and declare the orchestration remarkable for the first attempt, the sense of melody to be deep, and the harmonies unusual.

When Lsaye bade Mr. Morris goodby, he said, "Son, send me some other manuscripts. I wish to see more of your work." And this leads me to speak of the great master's courtesy to the young composer. After the performance, he energetically shook both of Mr. Morris' hands. A rare experience, indeed, this, to an Emery Auditorium audience. For some years they have not been accustomed to see such courtly courtesy shown to young American artists. It demonstrates Ysaye to possess a bigness, bigger than his virtuosity with all its bigness.

Mr. Morris was graduated from the class of 1913 under Hans Richard, formerly of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. His educator in composition work is Edgar Stillman Kelley, who Mr. Morris asserts has been no less his inspiration. For the past several years Mr. Morris has made his residence in New York, but he is a native Texan.

I hope Music News will allow me to add a postscript. I wish to prepare all those who will be fortunate enough to hear the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra this season, for the delightful treat in store for them. Where I a down South darky, I should say, "Dat orchestry dun got religion," so radical is the change under the present regime; so manifest is the improvement in the balance of the volume of tones of the various choirs, so delightful is the improvement in the brasses, and the cello choir. And I have no reason for making the above statement, excepting my instinctive love of telling the truth and of giving honor to whom honor is due.

It is worth while to add a remark made to me by a prominent member of the music world of Cincinnati. It carries its own suggestiveness:

"If Mr. Morris had signed a foreign name to his Symphony poem, it would be boosted by those who now wish to run it down because it was written by an American."

LEIGH GORDON.

---

Turner Hall—Ballmann's Orchestra, Martin Ballmann conducting, will give its regular Sunday afternoon concert at North Side Turner Hall on Sunday, December 15, at 3 p. m. Special program of popular American music will be rendered. Soloists are The Chicago Quartet, consisting of the four Swedish gentlemen, John Chellman, Henry Cornell, N. W. Anthony, H. J. Hibbeson. They will sing American and Swedish folksongs and the Sextet from Lucia.

---

The fellow who feels best feels a War Savings Certificate in his pocket.

American Piano Music by Louis Victor Saar

for Studio and Recital

Selected from the catalogues of our leading publishers

Twenty Successful Numbers for Piano Solo

| | |
|---|---|
| Ballad, Op. 18, No. 1 | G. Schirmer |
| Rhapsody, Op. 23, No. 5 | A. P. Schmidt |
| Serenade, Op. 24, No. 3 | G. Schirmer |
| Berceuse Mignonne, Op. 24, No. 4 | G. Schirmer |
| A la Valse, Op. 25, No. 4 | Schuberth & Co. |
| Etude, Op. 28, No. 3 | G. Schirmer |
| Gondoliera, Op. 52, No. 3 | C. Fischer |
| Chant d'Amour, Op. 60, No. 2 | C. Fischer |
| Gavotte Intermezzo, Op. 75, No. 2 | C. Fischer |
| Bluette Dialogue, Op. 75, No. 3 | C. Fischer |
| Gavotte et Musette, Op. 84, No. 2 | G. Schirmer |
| Airs Galante, Op. 89, No. 1 | Willis Music Co. |
| Canzonette Mignonne, Op. 89, No. 2 | Willis Music Co. |
| Serenade Caprice, Op. 89a | Oliver Ditson Co. |
| En Route, Op. 90, No. 1 | John Church Co. |
| The Lake at Sunset, Op. 90, No. 3 | John Church Co. |
| Toccatina, Op. 91, No. 2 | John Church Co. |
| Valse-Elegy, Op. 91, No. 3 | John Church Co. |
| In a Gondola | Art Publishing Society, St. Louis (1st Prize, 1913) |
| Hunter's Song | Art Publishing Society, St. Louis (1st Prize, 1913) |

for Two Pianos Four Hands

| | |
|---|---|
| Gavotte Intermezzo, Op. 75, No. 2 | Carl Fischer |
| Butterfly (Grieg) | John Church Co. |
| Menuet a l'antique (Seeboeck) | John Church Co. |
| March of the Dwarfs (Grieg) | John Church Co. |

for Piano-Duets

| | |
|---|---|
| Suite "Roccoco," Op. 27 | G. Schirmer |
| In Hours of Recreation, Op. 89c | Carl Fischer |

a, Festive Progression; b, First Valse; c, When Grandma Danced.

THE NEW STUDY WORK

The Proficient Pianist

Endorsed and used by the most authoritative instructors.
Invaluable for teachers of Beginners and Medium Grade Pupils

Fifty Progressive Studies
for the equal development of the hands, prefaced by Ten short Duets for pupil and teacher.

BOOK I — Beginners' Grade
BOOK II — Intermediate Grade

The Willis Music Co.
Cincinnati

MILWAUKEE, WIS.

Mr. Richard Koebner presented Leo Ornstein, pianist; Olive Nevin, soprano, in the first concert of his series last evening.

Mr. Ornstein gave the first half of the program and presented numbers all the way down musical history from Scarlatti to Ornstein, which means more than just a passing glance might convey. While a stranger to Milwaukee, pianists were prepared for an exponent of things modern and extreme, both of contemporary composers as well as his own compositions. Perhaps the fact that this element was just barely represented caused a disappointment, which made them fail to appreciate the old masters as he presented them. Such a buzzing and discussing pro and con one seldom hears and is doubtless the fact he desires to create, being more or less a law unto himself. Miss Nevin is possessed of a brilliant soprano voice and expressive face, together with a very clear diction, which were great points in her favor as an artist. Her program was a splendidly arranged one.

The first concert of the season by the A Cappella Chorus took place on Tuesday evening. Finlay Campbell, baritone, and Pearl Brice, violinist, were solo attractions.

William Boeppler is conductor as usual. Milwaukee is very little given to appreciating its own artists as a rule and far too seldom gives its own people a chance to be heard in the right kind of a way. A large audience was present and unanimously felt this to be one of the most restful and really entertaining concerts given in a long time, and just now we are hearing many of the best from everywhere. Two-thirds of this program was right from Milwaukee, the chorus and Miss Brice.

Always an admirer of Mr. Boeppler's work, I found myself wondering, as I sat there, if any one would have or could have done better work with the forces he had in hand. Many young people have had little if any vocal training and the men's section has been diminished by the war. The pianissimo effects attained in spite of of this were as artistic as anything I am able to imagine.

Miss Brice and her accompanist, Miss Imogene Hewitt, do splendid work and were at their best. Mr. Campbell has a most beautiful bass baritone voice, which he uses in a very finished manner. The lovely baritone quality of the middle and upper voice gives one a decided surprise when he chooses to make effects in the low register where most true baritones cease to live. His service in the war has exacted a heavy toll and one feels so glad for him that he has this extraordinary gift to come to his aid in life,

The second of the Twilight Musicales under the direction of Margaret Rice took place last Sunday. Mme. Olga Samaroff, pianist, was assisted by Alma Peterson of the Chicago Opera Company. Mme. Samaroff is as radiant in personality as ever and radiates all imaginable color in whatever she plays. In fact one only thinks of technique after the concert is over as an afterthought when one realizes it must have been there in order to make one forget it or its necessity. Mme. Peterson has a brilliant soprano, under good control, and her appearance in an opportunity all her own will be awaited with pleasure.

CLEVELAND, OHIO

The Cleveland Music School Settlement, charmingly situated in a fine old Euclid avenue house, has just remodeled "the barn" behind the house and will use it hereafter for all dancing and ensemble classes, giving frequent concerts there. The first rehearsal of the orchestra there (Walter Logan, director) was held on Monday, and the occasion was made a social one. The Settlement and its splendid sponsors are looking forward to many good times in "the barn."

L. M.

———♯♯♯———

North Shore School of Music — On last Thursday evening a program was given by the Young Woman's Choral Class of the North Shore School of Music, when they sang "Lo! How a Rose" (Praetorius), Gavotte (Czbulka), "To the Spirit of Music" (Percy R. Stevens), "Shoogy Shoo" (Grace Mayhew), "Deep River" (arr. by William Arms Fisher) and "The Years at the Spring" (Mrs. H. H. A. Beach). The assisting artists were Gertrude Hemken, reader; Gertrude Dunn, contralto, and Rollin M. Pease, bass-baritone.

———♯♯♯———

Pittsburgh—The Pittsburgh Musical Institute sends us several attractive programs given recently. One was a recital of English and American songs of the past and present by Charles Edward Mayhew, baritone, with Mrs. Mayhew at the piano. The second is a program of music for two pianos, played by William H. Oetting and Charles N. Boyd, and the third a violin-song program by Margaret Horne and Mr. Mayhew.

John O'Sullivan

TENOR

Triumphs in the Second Performance of "William Tell"

A line or two from some of the reviews is here given:

"His singing was better, if anything, than at the first performance."—Tribune.

"He took the old Rossini music and played with it like a vocal acrobat, juggled it about with the greatest apparent ease, hitting the high notes plumb in the middle. In fact, when hitting high C's, O'Sullivan's batting average is about 100, so you may see that the large and brilliant Monday night audience got its due share of thrills."—Herald and Examiner.

"Last night Mr. O'Sullivan repeated his performance as Arnold and convinced me that I did not overpraise last week."—American.

"William Tell is musical multiplication, piled up with arias, ensembles and choruses. . . . O'Sullivan as Arnold had much to do vocally and much of it is in the upper ranges of voice, taxing the power and endurance of the singer to the utmost. . . . Mr. O'Sullivan was equal to the task.—Daily News

"John O'Sullivan once again worked marvels of tenor singing."—Journal.

"Mr. O'Sullivan felt himself at home and scaled those Alpine crags of vocalism like a tenor chamois."—Evening Post.

NEW HAVEN, CONN.

For those music auditors who enjoy an evening replete with invigorating and contrasting evolutions at their feast of music we prescribe any concert given by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, any place and any performance.

Last Tuesday this city had the opportunity of hearing the Philharmonic, with Max Rosen, violinist, as soloist. There was a large and enthusiastic audience in attendance. The auditorium was Woolsey Hall. The program, a well-chosen one, was delightfully played, and was conducted by Mr. Stransky in his usual authoritative fashion.

Beginning with "The Star Spangled Banner," inspiringly done, and the "Pathetique" by Tschaikowsky, together with Saint-Saens' B minor Violin Concerto, and concluding with the interesting "Capriccio Espagnol" of Rimsky-Korsakoff, the assemblage on Tuesday evening derived much pleasure from the concert.

Max Rosen, a stranger in this locale, discovered that he had many friends before he had finished playing the first movement of the concerto.

He did more than justice to the Saint-Saens number, and his next New Haven appearance will be anticipated.

There were many recalls for both soloist and conductor.

♮ ♮ ♮

An announcement of importance to the followers of the New Haven Symphony Orchestra, Dr. Horatio W. Parker conductor, that a new composition, Fugato-Humoresque on the theme "Dixie," by the gifted young American girl composer, Mana-Zucca, is to be given its first presentation in Connecticut by the local orchestra at one of its three concerts, will be of more than passing interest.

To Miss Zucca will go the honor of being the first female composer to whom the distinguished composer, Dr. Parker, has paid homage at a regular symphony concert.

It is said that he is most enthusiastic and intensely interested in the new Zucca number. The orchestra will soon begin rehearsals for the Fugato-Humoresque.

♮ ♮ ♮

The concert last week by Josef Rosenblatt, tenor, was well attended. The tenor sang several arias and a group of Jewish folk songs, all of which found favor and were warmly applauded. The concert was given in the Shubert Theater.

ARTHUR TROOSTWYK.

———♯♯♯———

Nevin—George B. Nevin's new anthem for Christmas, "Sing and Rejoice" (Oliver Ditson Company), has met with such a friendly reception that it is safe to predict that it will be heard from coast to coast. It is full of the Christmas spirit and is effective for quartet or chorus. The anthem contains a solo, "Thou Art Fairer Than the Children of Men," which will be a delight to that rare bird, the tenor.

———♯♯♯———

Langenhan—The Columbia Graphophone Company sends out a catalogue of Bohemian records made for the company by Christine Langenhan, this comprising, probably, the biggest list of songs in this language ever put into records by any artist.

THE MINNEAPOLIS ORCHESTRA WAR CONTRIBUTIONS

During the week of December 2-7 a campaign was conducted in Minneapolis, Minn., for a "War Chest," which is to take care of all contributions to the Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus and kindred war funds and local charities for the entire year of 1919.

E. A. Stein, assistant manager of the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra and a member of the campaign committee, had the orchestra assigned to him as his particular field to work upon and after the rehearsal on the first day turned in to headquarters pledges to the amount of $1,745 as a 100 per cent subscription for the eighty-one members, making an average of $21.50 per man.

The orchestra was one of the first of Minneapolis firms and organizations to "go over the top" and has received many congratulations from the authorities.

Counting three Liberty Loan campaigns (there was no drive made on the First Liberty Loan, as the orchestra was disbanded for the summer at that time), the War Savings Stamps campaign and the "War Chest," Mr. Stein has figured that the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra has subscribed to over $42,000 in the various war funds in one year's time.

———♯♯♯———

Martinelli—Giovanni Martinelli, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York, is at Lakewood, N. J., recovering from an attack of influenza.

VAN YORX
THEO. Tenor
Studio: 22 West 39th Street New York

Fernando Carpi
Tenor
Metropolitan Opera House
Available for Concerts, Recitals and Festivals
Address Metropolitan Opera House

GALLI-CURCI SOPRANO
STEINWAY PIANO
HOMER SAMUELS, Accompanist MANUEL BERENGUER, Flutist
Management Chas. L. Wagner. D. F. McSweeney, Associate Manager. 511 Fifth Avenue, N. Y

SCHUMANN-HEINK
3672 Michigan Ave.
CHICAGO
Steinway Piano MANAGEMENT HAENSEL & JONES, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK

CONTRALTO
Pupil of
Pauline Viardot Garcia
and Mathilde Marchesi
Mrs. W. S. BRACKEN
Teaching at
Cosmopolitan School
16th Floor
New Kimball Bldg.

AT THE WHITNEY TEW STUDIOS

On Monday evening of last week a very great musical treat was provided at the Whitney Tew Studios when, with Mrs. William O'Brien as hostess dispensing cordial hospitality, a large number of people spent the evening in this artistic environment.

The following program was sung:

A Summer Night.....Thomas
Shadow Song.....Dinorah
Mlle. d'Oex
Song of Thanksgiving.....Allitsen
Miss Ardath Johnson
Berceuse (Jocelyn).....Godard
Mrs. Yseult Thorlius
Prayer (Frieschutz).....Von Weber
Miss Hazel Renninger
Farewell, Ye Hills (Joan d'Arc).....Tschaikowsky
Cookoo.....Lehmann
Mrs. Colbran-Melius
Ruddier Than the Cherry (Acis).....Handel
To Myra.....Clutsam
John A. Alcott
Migron.....Thomas
Visi d'Arte.....Puccini
Miss Pauline Bernstein
O del mie dolce ardor.....Gluck
Sei tu mami.....Pergolese
Miss Alice Schaffner
Nymphs and Shepherds.....Purcell
Robin Adair.....Old Scotch
Miss Emma Berg
Just As I Am.....Danks
Charmant Oiseau (original key).....David
Miss Jean Sutherland
(Two Swedish folk songs)
Miss Werra Schuette

Other concert duties kept this writer from hearing all of the program, but there was keen enjoyment in every number which came to hearing.

Not to be partial, but merely by way of passing remark and emphasizing the statement that all numbers were excellent, it may be said that Mr. Alcott proved again that his voice has grown to remarkable range and powers; that Mrs. Alcott showed extraordinary skill and style in her work; that Mlle. d'Oex proved that she certainly has a vocal equipment which will carry her far in her chosen field and that on Monday other numbers, singers who pleased greatly (among those heard by the writer), were Mrs. Calibran-Melius, Miss Pauline Bernstein and (very particularly) Miss Jean Sutherland.

C. E. W.

A constant attendant at the functions in the Tew Studios, one who understands fully the Tew principles and results, has prepared the following data for Music News:

Following his custom at the At Homes, the teacher explained the points of the principle upon which his pupils work, and which is at variance with the formula adopted by modern vocal execution.

Mr. Tew stated that the process which gave rise to that art which was known as bel canto is now reversed in principle and detail; that in the potential factors, viz.: the operation of the vocal instrument itself, and the mode of controlling the breath, the art of the great singers and that of the moderns are as far apart as the east is from the west; that they are, in short, direct opposites.

Aside from the paramount fact that the utterance, pure tone, is contingent upon a process which makes three or four octaves the easy compass of the voice, there are many other reasons why such a range is the one object which must be sought by all who would lay claim to the title of artist.

The operas and music of the older age demands it—Mozart, Bellini, Donizetti, Paiesiello and others cannot be produced today.

The instrument, furthermore, which does not easily produce from three octaves upwards, is forced, mishandled, and misunderstood.

A short range, say of two octaves, is proof in itself of an entire misconception of the nature of the mechanism, and of how it should be used.

Mr. Tew then demonstrated these points by the examples of a number of pupils. Mrs. Alcott sang one of the Saratro arias from the "Magic Flute," descending to the Contra C, and followed this by Caro Nome from "Rigoletto" in the original key.

Mr. Tew's interest in his pupils and the work of restoring the one position scale is exceptional and to all appearances untiring.

He has, besides two hours devoted on Wednesdays to the Class Lectures, which is in effect Teacher's Instruction, recently inaugurated the practice of giving the class on Saturday evenings the practical demonstration of the Law of Co-ordination in its operation of the vocal mechanism.

On these occasions the teacher presents thirty or more songs, ballads, arias from oratorios and operas with a view to instructing as well in the traditions of the standard works, musical phrasing, expression and interpretation.

Mr. Tew, on these evenings, intersperses songs which require the basso-profundo, cantata and tenor timbres, proving therewith his assertion that the voice handled upon the true principle of emission deals as easily with high as low songs.

———♯♯♯———

Athletic Club—Grant Hadley, May Barron of the Century Opera Company, Laura Thiel and Carl Craven will sing at the Chicago Athletic Club Saturday night, December 14. The Hadley Quartet is very popular with the men at the stag vaudevilles, these artists having sung for the club twice last winter.

———♯♯♯———

America must help police the world—Buy all the W. S. S. you can.

PRINTING
FOR EVERY SOCIAL AND COMMERCIAL NEED
Cards, Announcements, Stationery, Programs, Etc.
Correct Form. Artistic Work. Moderate Prices.
SAMPLES AND SCHEDULE OF PRICES SENT UPON REQUEST
THE REGAL PRESS 3614 W. Lake Street CHICAGO, ILL. Phone Austin 670

COMMUNITY HALL
118 MARION ST., OAK PARK
Beautiful new recital hall. Seats 200. Acoustics perfect.
New Mason-Hamlin Grand. For terms and bookings address
GEO. R. HEMINGWAY 121 Marion St., Oak Park

WANT ADVERTISEMENTS

(Advertisements under this head will hereafter be accepted at 20 cents a line.)

WANTED—Low alto for company preparing for Chautauqua. Write for appointment, stating qualifications. Address B, Music News.

WANTED—Music teachers and supervisors of public school music; city, county, state. Federated chain plan (co-operative). Information free. Results assured. Write P. H. Thomas, 109-W-45-N. Y. C.

DIRECTORY

Addresses are Chicago unless otherwise stated

ACCOMPANISTS

Bodholdt Agnes (Pianist) 6722 Chappel Av. (Hyde Park 1485)
Borncamp Ida May (Phone Evanston 4723 418 Hamilton St., Evanston, Ill.
Boyd Jeanne (Midway 763) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Harrison 2074)
Bradley Ruth (Graceland 5697) 859 Cornelia Avenue
Browne Helen M. (Graceland 7714) 4308 Greenview Av.
Campbell Gordon (Rogers Park 4072) Cosmopolitan School of Music
Campbell Helen (Oak Park 3747-J) 604 Lyman Av., Oak Park
Cartwright Harriet (Res. Phone Drexel 697) 1204 E. 47th and 612 Fine Arts Bldg
Coleman Esther (Haymarket 1888) 625 Lyon & Healy Building
Gilbert Harry M. (New York) 61 W. 50th St.
Grandland Florence M. (Maywood 320) 217 N. 3rd Av., Maywood, Ill.
Grove Grace (Wabash 8324) 400 Fine Arts Bldg.
Henry Edith (Graceland 9601) 721½ Barry Av.
Kittilsby Katharine (Rogers Park 2551) 1533 Sherwin St.
Kurtz George Ralf (Organist) 4609 Dover st. (Edgewater 2959)
Lester William (Midway 8888) 419 Fine Arts Bldg.
Lewis Pauline (Home Ph., Blackstone 1883) 5558 Ellis Av.
Link Violet Martens (Graceland 4816) 846 Oakdale Av.
Lychenheim Marion (Rogers Park 1207) (Ensemble) 2030 Kenilworth
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Lakeview 528) 3623 Pine Grove Av.
McAllister Bessie (Chicago Piano College) 4308 Greenview Av. (Graceland 7714)
McShane Eugenia (Sunnyside 3966) (Organist) 4609 Dover St.
Meagley Mary Willing (Toledo, Ohio) 2307 Monroe St.
Nelson Edgar A. (Edgewater 9332) Bush Conservatory
Olson Mabel W. (512 Fine Arts Bldg.) Summer Address: Galva, Ill
Orchard Mrs. Charles (Blackstone 1789) 1535 Hyde Park Av.
Porter Beulah Taylor (Rogers Park 1679) 429 Fine Arts Bldg.
Pullis Mabel A. (Drexel 1985) 4312 Lake Park Av.
Ryan Helen Victoria (Oak Park 1201) 330 Washington Blvd., Oak Park, Ill.
Scheib Eleanor (Care Wolfsohn Bureau) 1 West 34th St., New York
Shaw Mrs. George L. (Sunnyside 9828) 4600 Dover St.
Simpson Corinne (Pianist and Reader) Touring in Lyceum work
Stewart Marchia Kelley (Pianist) 7025 Merrill Av. (Midway 722)
Stout Alice Brown (Tel. R. F. 8450) (Soprano) 266 Park av., River Forest, Ill.
Stumpf Aimee C. (Weilington 1855) (Pianist) 3608 Maple Square Av.
Van Grove Isaac 6793 Wabash) 630 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wallace Alma (Organist) (New York) Chg. Music News, 1 W. 34th St.
Williamson Gavin (Home Tel., S. Chgo. 2585) 523 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har.3766)

CHOIR BOY TRAINING.

Thompson Nance D. (Hm. ph., Edgewater 6296) Ly. Arts Cons., Lyon & Healy Bldg.

CLUBS

Mendelssohn Mgt. Harriet M. Snow 64 E. Van Buren St. (Wab. 8740)

COMMUNITY SINGING & PAGEANTRY

Smith Mr. & Mrs. H. Augustine, Boston Univ. or 37 Claflin Rd., Brookline, Mass.

COMPOSERS

Gilberte Hallette (New York) 135 W 47th St.
White Lida Browning 818 Monroe St., Gary, Ind.

COMPOSERS RECITALS

Hemingway Clara Edmunds (Gary, Ind.) 568 Madison St. (Gary 1224)
MacDowell Mrs. Edward (New York) Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway

CONDUCTORS

Ballmann M. (Orchestra and Band) 1257 Foster Ave.
Conti Arnoldo (Chicago Opera Association) Opera Coach, 1528 Kimball Hall
Erb J. Warren, Conductor—Song Coach Accompanist, 220 Madison Av. (New York)
Gennaro Giovanni 1103 Kimball Hall
Gingrich Irving. 614 Fine Arts Bldg. 646 Belden Av. (Lincoln 1290)
Oberhoffer Emil (Minn. Symphony Orch.) The Auditorium, Minneapolis, Minn.
Silby R. Mills (Res., Superior 6660) 1528 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8538)

DANCING

Pryor Ruth (Classic Dancer) Ballatine Bureau (Wabash 8538)
Walker Virna Harman (Haymarket 4347) 206 S. Wabash Av., Suite 200 (Wab. 2460)
Yung Marie (Wabash 7342) 400 Fine Arts Bldg.

DRAMATIC ART

Barnum Letitia V. Fine Arts Bldg.
Cornick Frances E. (Reader) Ballantine-Rice Mgt., Kimball Hall
Liten Carlo (New York) Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall
Ricker Bessie Bown (St. Louis) Artists' Guild, Union Av.
Stein Mrs. Karl Buren (Wabash 9070) 55 Auditorium Bldg.
Stokes Kate Pfeltzer Harrison 5965) 1140 Morse Av., Rogers Park, Chicago

DUET PROGRAMS

Eastlake-Keirnan Eleanor and Kathryn American Conservatory
Sullivan Josephine & Eugene (Milwaukee) 233 Mason st.

ENSEMBLES

Chicago Chamber Music Trio 522 Fine Arts Bldg. (Edgewater 8361)
Murdock Trio (Rogers Park 6286) 1316 Albion Av.
Russian Symphony Orchestra, Dan'l Mayer Aeolian Hall, New York
Tollefsen Trio 946 President St. Brooklyn, New York

HARP

Conti Mme. Amelia (Calumet 2710) (Instruction) New Southern Hotel
De Lone Loretta (Sym., Orch., Recital) 308 Lyric Bldg., Omaha, Neb.
Lerando Leo Zelenko (The Gables) Swarthmore, Pa.

LANGUAGES

Berlitz School of Languages Auditorium Building

MANAGERS

Ballantine Bureau (Wabash 8538) 1528 Kimball Hall
Bazarozy Anthony (New York) 1495 Broadway
Choir Bureau. (Harriet Martin Snow, Dir.) 64 E. Van Buren St. (Wabash 8740)
Haensel & Jones New York Aeolian Hall
Hall Jessie B. (Bureau of Fine Arts) 425 Fine Arts Bldg. (Harrison 228)
Hanson M. H. (New York) 437 Fifth Ave.
Hawley James, Concert Director Cable Bldg. (Wabash 1853)
Mayer Daniel. New York Aeolian Hall
Music League OF AMERICA. 1 W. 34th St., New York
Rice Ethel M. (Wab. 1260) 1536 Kimball Hall
Shipman Vera Brady (Salina, Kan.) Care of Daily Union
Wagner Charles (New York) 511 Fifth Ave.
Wolfsohn Musical Bureau 1 W. 34th St., New York

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS

Baldwin Piano Co. (Wabash 4884) 323 S. Wabash Av.
Cable Piano Co. (Mason & Hamlin Pianos) Wabash Av. and Jackson Blvd.
Friedrich John & Bro (Violins) 279 Fifth Av., New York

ORGAN

Barnes George W. (Salina, Kan.) Christ Cathedral
Birch Robert R. (Oak Park 6846) Church of Redeemer.
Bogen Allen W. (Blackstone 1913) 5429 Harper Av.
Browne J. Lewis (Monroe 5550) St. Patrick's Church, 130 S. Desplaines
Christian Palmer (Kenwood 7509) Kenwood Evangelical Church
Conger Sylvia (La Grange 995-W) 29 S. Sixth Av., La Grange, Ill.
Cook Frances Anne (Douglas 3908) 644 Woodland Park (6th Pres. Church)
Cotsworth Albert (Main 2611) South Cong' Church
Courboin Chas. M. (Organist, Sp'field, Mass.) Syr. Musical Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Deal Alice R. 4359 West End Av. (Garfield 2856)
Eddy New First Congregational Church Clarence (Concert Organist) 2021 California St., San Francisco
Edwards Marie (Kedzie 228) Congregational Church, Wilmette, Ill.
Fickett Elizabeth Dean (Edgewater 3459) (Accompanist) Edgewater Pres. Church
Francis J. Henry (Choral Conductor, Composer) St. John's, Charleston, W. Va.
Fraser Arthur Randolph (Oak Park 5749) Grace Church, Oak Park, Ill.
Gallup Emory L. (Superior 7474) St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church
Goodwin Hugo (Superior 7283) St. James Episcopal Church
Groom Lester W. (1916 Lincoln Av.) Church of the Ascension
Haines Tina Mae (Kenwood 5003) Organist St. James M. E. Church
Hancock Irving (Drexel 6903) Trinity Episcopal Church
Hemington Francis (Home Ph. Oak Park 2464) Church of the Epiphany
Hodge Florence (Christ Reformed Episcopal) 4717 Sheridan Road (Edgewater 106)
Holmes A. Alfred McClurg Bldg.
Holzworth Alfred (Lincoln 4395) 2594 Orchard St.
Hyde Herbert E. (637 Fine Arts Bldg.) St. Peter's Ch., Dir. Musical Art Society
Ickes Clara M. (accompanist) (Diversey 2510) 2727 Mildred Av. (Ravenswood Baptist)
Keller Walter (300 Fine Arts Bldg.) Sherwood Music School
Knight Florence (Wabash 7217) Kimball Hall
Knodle Walter St. Clare Philadelphia, Pa
Mattison Myrtle E. California Av. Congregational Church
Moline Lily Wadhams (Diversey 8470) 1st Church of Christ, Scientist, Oak Park
Norton John W. (Superior 7283) St. James Episcopal Church
Polk Harry T. Valparaiso, Ind. 1st Pres. Ch. and Schelling Theater
Porter Hugh (Hyde Park 2461) Hyde Park Presbyterian Church
Pruyn-Hall Edythe (Drexel 4763) 4326 Greenwood Av.
Ross Helen Worswick (Home Tel. Oak Park 4405) Chicago Musical College.
Scheve Edward B. (Grinnell, Ia.) Iowa College School of Music
Seder Edwin Stanley (126 E. Chestnut St.) First Cong'l Church, Oak Park
Slade Mason (Christ Episcopal) 65th and Woodlawn Av.
Thompson John Winter (Galesburg, Ill.) Central Congregational Church
Van Dusen Frank W. American Conservatory
Wedertz C. Gordon Chicago Musical College
Wild Harrison M. 1203 Kimball Hall
Zaring Irene Belden (New Eng. Cong'l Church) 4451 Winchester Av. (Ravenswood 1418)

PIANO

Abernethy Patricia (Manhattan, Kan.) State Agricultural College
Adler Lois (Drexel 396) 1364 47th Place
Ammalee Lillian Care of Music News
Amsbury Theo (Piano-Theory) Douglas 2723 American Conservatory
Anderson Cora American Conservatory
Austin Electa (Sunnyside 9555) (Northwestern Univ.) Evanston
Barber Lvell Bush Conservatory
Birdsall Edna J. (Lincoln 4635) 2315 Seminary Av.
Blood Blanche (Piano and Violin) 9th Floor, Auditorium Bldg.
Bohnet Cleveland (Home Tel., Oakland 5240) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Bower Mary (Ravenswood 6287) 1953 Sunnyside Av.
Brillhart G. Davis (Gunnison, Colo.) Colorado State Normal School
Briscoe Addison (Home Phone Midway 188) 1328 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Brown Roy David (Wabash 1761) 905-906 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Brumbaugh Frances Pierson (Home, Oak.2470) 707 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8151)
Clark Helen Drummond (Midway 9608) Studio 6239 Ellis Ave.
Cleophas Mrs. Kirsti (Piano and Voice) Kensett, Iowa
Cleophas Gertrude, care Music News
Cleveland Wyoneta (Chicago Musical College) Y. W. C. A., 830 S. Michigan Av.
Clough Vierlyn (Lakeview 4045) 4144 Clarendon Av.
Detweiler Harry Chicago Musical College
Doelling Mae (Concert Pianist) 2912 Burling St.
Durno Jeannette (Oakland 4638) 907 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Ehrhardt Edward V. (Graceland 5717) 523 Oakdale Av. (721 Fine Arts Bldg.)
Eidam Clarence 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Fox Albert E. (Garfield 8277) Residence 4208 Wilcox Av.
Francis-Du Val Irene (Beverly 931) (Organ) 2140 W. 103d St.
Frazer Arthur (Superior 8414) 116 E. Oak St.
Ganz Rudolph (Mgt. Charles L. Wagner) 511 Fifth Av., New York
Garwood Victor (Wabash 5388) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Gemmer Edwin J. (814 Kimball Hall) 6109 Evans Av. (Normal 3997)
George Anna E. (867 N. Dearborn St.) Bush Conservatory
Godfrey Eleanor F. (Kimball Hall) Chicago Piano College
Godowsky Leopold (New York) Haensel & Jones, Aeolian Hall.
Granquist Arthur Columbia School of Music
Haake Charles J. (Northwestern Univ., Evanston) Fine Arts Bldg., Chicago
Haake Gail Martin (Northwest'n Univ., Evanston) North Shore School of Music, Chicago
Hanapel Rose (Kenwood 523) 4740 Prairie Av.
Howland Betsy M. (Home Tel. Rav. 951) Chicago Piano College (Wabash 4805)
Irons Myrtle Tyler (822 Kimball Hall) 6034 Stony Island Av. (Hyde Park 9942)
Kelly Elizabeth Lee (Wellington 7383) 4028 Sheridan Road
Kelpsch Marguerite (Tel. Harrison 2074) Lyceum Arts Conservatory
Kenney Cady (Laramie) University Wyoming
Kimball (Pianist and Teacher), De Pauw Uv'sty. Minnie Murdoff (Greencastle, Ind.)
Kober Georgia (Sherwood Music School) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
La Roche Pearle (Wentworth 2630) 5528 Indiana Av.
Lapham Agnes (Hyde Park 4969) 6042 Kenwood Av.
Le Claire Florence (Diversey 1603) 2021 Bissell St.
Levitzki Mischa (Management Daniel Mayer) Aeolian Hall, New York
Levy Heniot (Kimball Hall) American Conservatory
Lewis George G. (Teacher) (Harrison 4868) Cosmopolitan School
Lobel Sophine (Lawndale 8538) 1543 S. Clifton Park Av.
Loomis Clarence (Pianist-Composer) American Conservatory (Oak Park 7727)
Lyon Rose (Belmont 7247) 922 Kimball Hall
Magnuson Lillian Cosmopolitan School of Music
Marshall Caroline E. (Garfield 9470) 417 S. Central Park Av.
Paine Sarah E. (Piano and Flute) 1226 Kimball Hall (Kenwood 8021)
Park Ralph Munroe (Wabash 1761) 905-6 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Pendry Charlotte S. Centralizing School of Music
Persson Frederick (Superior 1074) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Peterson Agnes (Kedzie 9035) 411 S. Homan Av.
Peterson Edna Gunnar (La Crosse, Wis.) 325 S. Seventeenth St.
Prahl Earl Victor (Superior 8700) Bush Conservatory
Prindiville Helen (Wentworth 6547) 5934 Calumet Av.
Raab Alexander 624 S. Michigan Av.
Reckzeh Karl (Res. 2042 Bradley Pl.) Chicago Musical College
Redding Edwyl (Gunnison, Colo.) Colorado State Normal School
Reuter Rudolph 624 S. Michigan Av.
Robinson Carol (Wabash 5883) 1328 Kimball Building
Ryder Mme. Sturkow (Drexel 3300) 4715 Lake Park Av.
Scionti Silvio Kimball Hall
Seifert Myra C. (Lakeview 29) 585 Hawthorne Place
Shattuck Arthur (Milwaukee, Wis.) 325 Oakland Av.
Smith Lura Schuler (Lincoln, Neb.) University School of Music
Spencer Allen (Pianist-Teacher) American Conservatory
Spry Walter (Chicago) Columbia School of Music
Stead Mabel Riggs Peoria, Ill.
Stephen Daisy Waller (Pullman 244) Cosmopolitan School of Music

Stephens Clyde (Coe College) Cedar Rapids, Iowa
Stumpf Mrs. L. C. (Wellington 1855) 8608 Maple Sq. Av.
Thompson Frank Olin Wisconsin Conservatory, Milwaukee
Tomlinson Anna (Harrison 6267) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wagner Oscar (Kimball Hall) Oscar (Harrison 4868)
Wanieck Kurt (Graceland 831) American Conservatory
Warren Minnette (St. Paul) Schiffmann Bldg.
Watt Harmon H. (Kimball Hall) Chicago Piano College
Weed Myrtle (St. Paul, Minn.) 802 Pittsburgh Bldg.
Wells Howard (Kenwood 651) 4958 Blackstone Av.
Willard Carolyn Louise 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Williams Anne (Columbus 1760) 28 Latrobe Av.
Wilson Raymond (Syracuse University) Syr. Mus. Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Zygman Flora G. (Concert Pianist) 825-7 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5013)

PIPE ORGANS

Casavant Bros. Organ Builders South Haven. Mich.

PUBLISHERS

Bingham Helena (Illinois Music Co.) 2622 Marino St., Los Angeles, Cal.
Bond Carrie Jacobs & Son 744 S. Michigan Av.
Fearis (J. S.) & Bro., Chicago 4547 N. St. Louis Av.
Fischer (J.) & Bro., New York 7 and 11 Bible House
Gamble Hinged Music Co. 57 E. Van Buren St.
Gilbert Music Co. (Irving 359) 3924 Irving Pk. Blvd.
MacDermid James G. Fine Arts Bldg.
Summy Clayton F. (Co.) 64 E. Van Buren St.
Witmark M. & Sons (New York) 144 W. 37th St.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC

McConathy Osbourne (Theory, Conducting) Northwestern Univ. Sch'l of Music
Robinson O. E., American Conservatory 6518 Kenwood Av. (Hyde Pk. 3377)
Votaw Lyravine, 10th flr. Audit. Bldg.(Wab.8238) 6026 Kenwood av. (Hyde Park 6738)

SCHOOLS

American Consevatory (Wabash 5388) Kimball Hall
Auditorium Conservatory. Mus. & Dr'm'tic Art 55 Auditor'm Bldg. (Wabash 9070)
Balatka Acad. Musical Art (Anna Balatka, Dir.) 819 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 612)
Bintliff Mrs. Elizabeth Battie School of Music, Ripon, Wis.
Brail School of Violin (Florence Brail) 812 Kimball Hall and 403 E. 61st St.
Centralizing School of Music (Wabash 6349) 20 E. Jackson Blvd.
Chapek Music School. 3452 Broadway I. H. Chapek, Dir. (Graceland 2621)
Chicago Kindergarten Inst. C. C. Cronise, Sec. 701 Rush St.
Chicago Piano College 910 Kimball Hall (Wabash 4805)
Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art Fine Arts Bldg. (Harrison 5965)
Columbia School of Music. 509 S. Wabash Av. (Clare Osborne Reed, Dir.)
Cosmopolitan Sch'l of Music (Harrison 4868) 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Dearborn School of Lyceum Arts Auditorium Bldg. (Wabash 6867)
Doney A. M. Musical College 2820 W. 36th St.
Grinnell College (George L. Pierce, Dir.) Grinnell, Iowa
Heizer Music Sch.(1215 Douglas St., Sioux City, Ia.) Dir. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Heizer
Hinshaw Conservatory of Music 1110 Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 8335)
Knox Conservatory of Music (Wm. F. Bentley, Dir.) Galesburg, Ill.
Knupfer Walter R. School of Fine Arts Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8793)
Loudon The Jennette (Studios) 614 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8806)
Lyceum Arts Conservatory (Harrison 2074) 600-10 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Mandy School of Music (Wabash 8173) 817-19 Kimball Hall
M. A. Monzel Musical College 911 Kimball Hall
Moody Bible Institute of Chicago 153 Institute Pl.
Musin Virtuoso School for Violin 51 W. 76th St., New York
Northwestern University School of Music Evanston, Ill.
Orchard School of Music and Expression 1537 Hyde Park Blvd.(Blackstone 1789)
Preiser School of Music (Austin 2541) (Fannie B. Preiser, Dir.) 530 Pine Av.
Sherwood Music School (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg.
Saint Cecilia Conservatory Winona, Minn.
Tone-Color Studios. Music, etc. (E. Larrabee, Dir.)Aud. Bldg.& 602 Arlington Pl.
Valparaiso University School of Music Valparaiso, Indiana
Virgil Piano Conservatory 11 W. 68th St., New York
Western Conservatory. (E. H. Scott, Pres.) Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 3506)

SOLFEGE, HARMONY, COMPOSITION

Lagourgue Charles, 616 S. Michigan Ave. (Harrison 1719)

TEACHERS' AGENCIES

Allen J. E. (Musical Artist Teachers' Agency) 101 Park Av., New York.

THEORY

Andersen Arthur Olaf (Home Phone H. P. 5783) American Conservatory
Butler Lester S. Worcester, Mass.
Cole Rossetter (Res. Phone Midway 118) 719 Fine Arts Bldg.
Frothingham Frances (Piano) 605 Kimball Bldg.
Graham A. Cyril (Harrison 2580) 509 Wabash Av.
Lutkin Peter C. Evanston, Ill.
Watt Harmon H. Kimball Hall
Wrightson Herbert J. (Piano, Organ) 610 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 2583)

TEACHERS' CLASSES

Mr. & Mrs. Crosby Adams Montreat,N.C.
Dunning Carrie Louise 8 W. 40th St., New York City
Long Carrie Munger (Dunning System) Congress Hotel
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Dunning System) 3623 Pine Grove av. (L. V. 9037)
Perfield Efa Ellis (950 McClurg Bldg.) National Conservatory of Music

VIOLIN

Barker John (Austin 2541 ; Home, Elmhurst 43-R) Preiser School of Music, Austin
Barron Robert Louis (Eugene, Ore.) University School of Music
Brambach John M. (Irving 5717) 4045 N. St. Louis Ave.
Breytspraak Ruth (West 738) Knupfer Studio, 630 Fine Arts Bldg
Brokaw Ralph Wichita, Kan.
Brown Mildred (Ravenswood 8448) 2120 Wilson Av.
De Vore Jessie (Blackstone 1789 ; Drexel 6071) Orchard School, 1535 Hyde Park Blvd.
Durkee Corrol B. (Home Tel. Garfield 2149) 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Western Cons.)
Dyson Lois F. (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg. (Sherwood School)
Fischel Max I. Chicago Musical College
Frederiksen Frederik (Hm. Ph. Graceland 9166) Studio 600, Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Garagusi Nicholas (New York) Mgt Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St.
Ginsburg Ralph (Wabash 8335) Hinshaw Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Given Thelma (New York) Metropolitan Musical Bureau
Goldblatt Maurice H. Chicago Musical College
Harris Graham (New York) 240 E. Tremont Av.
Heymar Wally (Sunnyside 1995) 5683 Ridge Av.
Konecny Josef Care of Music News
Kortschak Hugo (New York) 850 Park av.
Kribben Bertha (St. Louis, Mo.) 1050 Thornby St.
Leach Rowland Bush Conservatory
Lipschultz George Milton (Lawndale 5402) 212 Grand Av., Milwaukee, Wis.
Lowe-Pierson Lela (Rogers Park 4701) 6807 Wayne Av.
Lynch Rhea Dorothy (Columbus 2452) 242 N. Mason St.
Michaelis Ralph (Hyde Park 966) 914 Kimball Hall
Mixer Chas. Mitchell (Home Ph. Rogers Pk. 9543) American Conservatory. Kimball Hall
Neill Amy Emerson (Hyde Park 6322) 1446 E. Marquette Road
Welge Gladys (Home Ph., Austin 3417) Preiser Sch. Music, 530 N. Pine av.
Yost Gaylord, 824 N. Pennsylvania St. Indianapolis, Ind.
Zebrowska-Perlowska Antoinette 7812 S. Shore Dr.

VIOLONCELLO

Gegna Max (Julius Daiber) Aeolian Hall, New York
Hess Hans (Edgewater 8361) Fine Arts Bldg.
Slack Anne (Home Ph. Lawndale 3668) American Conservatory

VOICE

Aaron Miriam (Los Angeles, Cal.) 155 S. Kingsley Drive
Annette-Gifford Ethel (Tel. Wentworth 5892) 6237 South Park Av.
Arden Cecil (Metropolitan Opera Co.) Mgt. Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St., New York
Arendt Else Harthan (Graceland 4997) 819 Sheridan Rd.
Arnd Margaret Louise (Lake View 1637) 3814 Sheffield Av.
Bailey Mr. and Mrs. Herbert (Huron, S. D.) Dir. of Music, Huron College
Baldwin Jessie Nichols (Home Ph. Oakland 8585) Orchard School. 1535 Hyde Park Blvd.
Balfour Constance (New York) Mgt. Daniel Mayer
Barradell Kennard 624 S. Michigan Av.
Bastedo Orrin (New York) 257 W. 86th St.
Beatty Wilbur (Columbus 5032) (Baritone), 331 N. Central Av.
Bender Celia (Piano) (Armitage 4397) Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Berger Emily E. (Contralto) Oak Park 5163) 418 W. Lake St., Oak Park
Bibb Kathleen Hart (Minneapolis, Minn.) Metropolitan Music Bldg.
Boardman Arthur (Hyde Park 6137) (Tenor) 1536 E. 65th Place
Bowman Mrs. Hatswell (Evanston, Ill.) Northwestern Univ. School of Music
Brashear Roberta (Kedzie 2167) (Soprano) 139 N. Homan Av.
Braun Anna C. (Montecello 5050) 4937 N. Drake Av.
Breed Liela A. 523 Fine Arts Bldg.
Brenk Ethel (Milwaukee, Wis.) 137—20th St.
Brittan Louise (Harrison 6267) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
Browne Kathryn E. (Soprano) 6945 Stewart Av. (Normal 3162)
Burmeister Anna (Soprano) (Ravenswood 4527) 4527 Greenview Av.
Burton Arthur (Harrison 5802) 618 Fine Arts Bldg.
Burton Louise (Wabash 8703) 800 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Butler Hanna (Wabash 4870) 512 Fine Arts Bldg. (Soprano)
Calkins Elton (Summerdale Cons.) 1209 Morse Av. (Rogers Park 2928)
Campbell Sara Irene (Austin 6201) Chicago Musical College
Carpenter Allen Ray (Hyde Park 7604) 816 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8700)
Carpi Fernando (New York) Metropolitan Opera Co.
Case Anna (New York) Aeolian Hall, Met. Musical Bureau
Caspers Bertha (Soprano) (Kenwood 870) 4748 Champlain Av.
Castle Lester Hugo (Blackstone 1359) (Basso) 6434 Ellis Av.
Caton Louis (Calumet 459) 728 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har. 6528)
Chaiser Florence (Rogers Park 2034)
Chalmers Thomas J. (Baritone) New York Metropolitan Opera Co.
Clark Charles W. (Superior 8700) 839 N. Dearborn St.
Clarke Edward (Res. Ph. Edgewater 9133) (Baritone) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Clippinger D. A. 617-18 Kimball Hall
Clissold Edward T., 327 S. La Salle St.(Baritone) Con. Men's Fall Festival since 1908
Cook Dwight Edrus (Grinnell, Ia.) (Tenor) Grinnell College
Cook John Loring (Tenor) 817 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8173)
Comer Sybil (Harrison 2074) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Crabbs Elmer J. (Park Ridge 2111) (Tenor) Park Ridge, Ill.
Craven Carl (Tenor), 421 Fine Arts Bldg. 305 E. 54th St. (Oakland 6451)
Dahlstrom Margaret (Western Conservatory) 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Irving 5613)
De Lima Edna (New York) 158 Madison Av.
De Luca Giuseppe (Metropolitan Bureau) Aeolian Hall, New York
Devries Herman 518-528 Fine Arts Bldg.
Diaz Rafaelo (Tenor) Metropolitan Opera, New York
Dickey Annabelle MacIntyre (Res., Hyde Pk. 7397) (Contralto) 422 Fine Arts Bldg.
Diederich Walter (Austin 2111) (Tenor) 5526 W. Monroe St.
Doak Saba (Superior 2680) Plaza Hotel
Donath Kurt (Tenor) 613-614 Lyon & Healy Bldg.

AMERICA FIRST

NOTICE TO READER
When you finish reading this magazine, place a 1-cent stamp on this notice, mail the magazine, and it will be placed in the hands of our soldiers or sailors destined to proceed overseas.
No wrapping—no address.

CHICAGO, AMERICA
DECEMBER 20, 1918

Music News

15 CENTS A COPY
BY THE YEAR $2.50

HARRIET BACON MacDONALD

CARRIE MUNGER LONG

Normal Teachers of the Dunning System of Improved Music Study

Valparaiso University School of Music

(Accredited)

VALPARAISO, INDIANA

The University School of Music offers courses in Piano, Voice, Violin, Organ, Theory, and Public School Music.

Students may attend the Music School and also take the regular work at the University.

The Expenses are the Lowest

Tuition, $36.00 per quarter of twelve weeks. Board with Furnished Room, $39.00 to $51.00 per quarter. Catalog will be mailed free. Address

HENRY B. BROWN, President
or OLIVER P. KINSEY, Vice President
45th YEAR

Lyravine Votaw

CONTRALTO
DEARBORN SCHOOL OF LYCEUM ARTS
10th Floor Auditorium Bldg.
Theory for Singers
PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC
6026 Kenwood Ave.
Phone Hyde Park 6738

Silas Wright Mountz

Vocal Culture and Art of Singing
Lecture Song Recitals
CONCERT and ORATORIO BASSO CANTANTE
Hotel Sherman, Los Angeles, Calif.

For Concert Engagements Address

MURDOCK TRIO

1316 ALBION AV. CHICAGO

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

ADAMS AND DESPLAINES STS.
FIVE MINUTES FROM THE LOOP
High Mass 10:45—Choir of 100 Voices
STRICTLY LITURGICAL SERVICE
CLASSICAL REPERTOIRE
J. Lewis Browne, Organist and Choirmaster

DONALD CAMERON BEIDLER
PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITURE
LYON & HEALY BUILDING
CHICAGO
HARRISON 1237

KENNARD BARRADELL

TENOR, 624 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago

VITTORIO BARITONE TREVISAN Chicago Opera Association
Teacher of Singing
904 Kimball Hall Harrison 4480

MAESTRO ARNOLDO CONTI
Assistant Director to Sig. Campanini
Chicago Opera Association
OPERA COACH—Studio, 1528 Kimball Hall
Phone Wabash 8538

Music News

Vol. 10 No. 51

CHARLES E. WATT, Editor and Publisher

Published Every Friday at 850 McClurg Bldg., 218 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.
Tel. Wabash 5595

Entered as Second Class Matter November 24, 1908, at the Postoffice at Chicago, Illinois, under the Act of March 3, 1879

CHICAGO, DECEMBER 20, 1918

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTIONS
United States, per year, postpaid.....$2.50
Foreign, per year, postpaid..... 3.50
Single Copies, 15 Cents

Every authorized representative of Music News has a properly signed representative card.

On failure to receive The Music News regularly, subscribers should notify the office promptly.

Copies of the paper for sale at the news counter of Lyon & Healy, Gamble Hinged Company, Summy's music stores, McClurg's book store and at The Fair; or may be ordered through any of our correspondents in other cities.

In New York at Brentano's, Fifth avenue and Twenty-seventh street.

Advertising rate card will be sent on application.

Changes in advertisements must be ordered one week in advance.

All cuts made for advertisers are charged to their accounts.

BUSINESS REPRESENTATIVES
Thomas A. Fannell, Eleanore Capps Hostler, Lester Hugo Castle, Mary Carver Williams

SPECIAL WRITERS
Albert Cotsworth, Lyravine Votaw, Herbert J. Wrightson

List of Correspondents

New York
Joseph De Valdor
Foreign Editor
1 W. Thirty-fourth St.

Boston
Lester S. Butler
Steinert Hall

Cleveland
Louise Morris
Idlewood Av.

Indianapolis
Gaylord Yost
824 N. Pennsylvania St.

Pittsburgh
Mr. and Mrs. R. Knotts
Cameraphone Building

Denver
Mrs. James M. Tracy
Liszt School of Music
905 Downing St.

St. Paul, Minn.
Myrtle Weed
802 Pittsburgh Bldg.

Wichita, Kan.
Ralph Brokaw

Worcester, Mass.
Lester S. Butler
441 Day Bldg.
For Sale at
Bernard and Sumner's

Milwaukee
Iva Bigelow Weaver
Mack Block

Philadelphia
Charles W. H. Bancroft
4042 N. Darion St.

New Haven, Conn.
Arthur Troostwyk
849 Chapel

Los Angeles, Cal.
S. W. Mountz
Hotel Sherman

Erie, Pa.
Albert H. Dowling, Jr.
456 E. Seventh St.

Charleston, W. Va.
J. Henry Francis
St. John's Church

Minneapolis
Kate Mork Twitchell
3244 2nd Ave. S.
Minneapolis, Minn.

Winnipeg, Canada
Charlotte Ellen Powers
317 Birk Bldg.

KURT DONATH

LEADING TENOR IN GRAND OPERA—EUROPE AND AMERICA

Director of Vocal and Operatic Department BALATKA ACADEMY OF MUSICAL ART, Chicago, Lyon & Healy Bldg.

Artists—

We have to rent the most desirable studios in the loop—large, light and airy.
Act now; reasonable rents.

McClurg Building

218 S. Wabash Ave.

Apply to

Willoughby & Co.

7 W. Madison St., Chicago Savings Bank Bldg.
or
Chief Janitor on Premises

Telephone Central 418

CENTRAL MUSIC HALL
64-66 East Van Buren St., Chicago
Chicago's most attractive hall, devoted exclusively to concerts, recitals and other high-class entertainments
Seating Capacity 700 Rent Reasonable
For Terms and Dates, Address,
HARRIET MARTIN SNOW, Mgr
64 East Van Buren Street, Chicago
(In Summy's Music Store) TELEPHONE WABASH 8740

GRINNELL COLLEGE
Grinnell School of Music
Courses leading to
Bachelor of Music—Bachelor of Arts—Diploma
George L. Pierce, Director, Grinnell, Ia.

M. BARBEREUX-PARRY

ORIGINATOR AND FOUNDER OF THE BARBEREUX SYSTEM OF CONSTRUCTIVE VOICE PRODUCTION AND UNIFIED DICTION, director of the Vocal Department of the National Conservatory of Music, will conduct Summer Normal Classes in New York City June 17th to July 6th, in Chicago July 8th to 31st, in Asheville, North Carolina, August 15th to 31st.

A course of written lessons is arranged to assist the student and teacher. This course can be used either for preparatory or supplementary study, and can be obtained by mail for a minimum sum.

Teachers are wanted to teach this system in every locality. On application addresses will be given of teachers in all parts of the United States who are using this system with great success.

EDOUARD DUFRESNE

FRENCH BARITONE
823-24 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 6743)

FREDERICK VANCE EVANS

BASSO CANTANTE
Dean Lawrence Conservatory
APPLETON WISCONSIN

Music News

Vol. 10 Chicago, December 20, 1918 No. 51

Editorial

PASSING COMMENT

When President Wilson was invited to visit Germany during his stay abroad, his reply was that given as our little sermon for today in the center of this page.

His words constitute a guide to action for all Americans and they should be taken particularly to heart by young American musicians.

Even today—after all we have endured at the hands of Germany—there are young musicians who are thinking that within a comparatively short time they will resume their music (some as teachers, some as students) in Germany.

Not in this generation at least should any American even dream of music study in Germany.

And—by the next generation we will have learned to laugh at the idea so long prevalent in this country that Germany had ever been the only place in which one could study properly.

The influence of Germany on the music development of this country was definite and extensive—many Americans have, by going to Germany, developed much musicianship. But that is now all a thing of the past. We are today stronger than our former teacher in every way, including music, and we have no need to take up any further study abroad (in any country) except in the most general of cultural sense, and, most emphatically, we can afford to ignore Germany entirely from this time forward.

We shall revert to the classics of the German music repertoire for our concert programs, doubtless, but, please God, let it be in the spirit of using this literature in its proper place in relation to the music literature of the whole world and never again with the admission or the thought that it is the supreme or the essential music of the world.

♮ ♮ ♮

And again we repeat—the time has come when the music of America (like everything else of this country) should be first.

In our choice of programs and of artists our motto should be now "America first," and while we must be so broad as to include everything which has been developed by the whole world, we must give our own product first preference—first place.

♮ ♮ ♮

"It is not," said a musician to me, "that the music of Serge Prokofieff is so outre—so informal—that I dislike it so much. It is because it is so sickeningly banal, so utterly commonplace in the freaky things it attempts to say."

> "Only by long years of repentance can Germany atone for her crimes and show her sincerity. No true American could think of visiting Germany unless forced to do so by strictly official obligations."
>
> President Wilson.

♮ ♮ ♮

The concerts given at Orchestra Hall last week by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and the Duo-Art piano were thoroughly interesting and good concerts in so far as the orchestra was concerned, adding, practically, two concerts to the Popular Series, which is doing so much to raise the musical status of Chicago.

In so far, however, as the self-playing piano was concerned, while the use of it at this time was a little more elaborate than usual, there was still the same feeling of cut-and-dried mechanism and the same utter absence of personality in the music which makes all "canned music" so inferior to the genuine article.

♮ ♮ ♮

The colored supplement of the Herald-Examiner of Sunday, December 8, contained a photograph which was taken in 1888 of the sharpshooters of the First Infantry, I. N. G., with Lieutenant Colonel Florenz Ziegfeld, then Inspector of Rifle Practice, First Brigade (also President of the Chicago Musical College, of which institution he now is President Emeritus).

Colonel Ziegfeld served for many years on General Fitzsimmons' staff as Inspector of Rifle Practice, later as Assistant Inspector General, and in 1890 the officers of the Second Infantry unanimously elected him as their Colonel.

♮ ♮ ♮

If "Mephisto" of Musical America could ever get it out of his head that New York is the center not only of the music of the United States but also that it is the absolute hub of the Entire Universe, his writings would take on an even added glow of piquancy and interest.

The latest exhibition of his smug assertiveness as to New York occurred in the issue of Musical America for December 7, in which he patronizingly tells of the fact that the Chicago critics have at once accepted Polacco as a fine conductor at the opera, and condescendingly even adds some sentences from Messrs. Donaghey, Moore, Devries and Hackett, calling attention to the fact that their comment is surprisingly good.

To quote "Mephisto's" own supercillious words:

"There are those, I know, who smile sardonically when you speak of the Chicago music critics, and yet not only now, but in former times, there have been a number of writers on music for the leading Chicago papers who were distinguished by the broadness of their judgment, the knowledge they displayed of their subject and the brightness of their writing. In fact, the whole standard of journalism in Chicago has been rising steadily. The same may be said of other cities. As I told you long ago, the standard of journalism in Philadelphia, for instance, and other cities outside of New York is very high."

We know, in Chicago, of course, that there are some wonderfully fine writers on the New York dailies, and we know equally well that there is some astonishingly asinine stuff from their pens occasionally printed.

We also know that we have good, bad and indifferent writing in Chicago now, and that we have had all these kinds in the past. But, to refer to our development—whatever it is, as recent and surprisingly "better" is to reveal profound ignorance of the exact case.

When the editor of Music News came to Chicago twenty-seven years ago George P. Upton was just concluding, for the Chicago Tribune, a term of musical criticism which had extended over a period of many years and was acknowledged everywhere as the best in America at that time.

We have had many good writers since then (both on the Tribune and other papers), and the fact that some of these today do not hold to the standard set up years ago is merely the exception which proves the rule that the matter of good musical criticism in Chicago is no new thing and that, in fact, it extends back much further than does the accurate knowledge of "Mephisto" of Musical America.

* * *

We have before us six letters, received within a week—three of them are from Chicago boys in France and three deal with various questions of policy.

The soldier letters are too long for entire reproduction, but we gladly give you some sentences.

The first is from Music News' office manager, Harry Porter, who has been in Hospital Unit 14 for a year. He writes from France:

"Many things have happened since the day I left Music News office and started on the long journey which landed me on this side of the earth. . . . The copies of Music News which arrive are certainly bright spots in the day's work and are devoured by eager eyes and read and reread by soldiers from all parts of the country; and the comment is always, 'There is a friend from home, one we knew before we came.' . . .

"'Hurrah for Music News' was heard on all sides the day your 'Victory' copy reached us."

(Signed) HARRY W. PORTER.

The second is from Sergeant Horace L. Davis, a young tenor first met at Ann Arbor and who afterward was just beginning to come to attention in Chicago when he enlisted for service a year ago.

Mr. Davis says, in part:

Just a line to let you know that I am still on earth. Have intended writing you long ere this, yet have not had the facilities; then too we have been changing our location quite frequently.

On November 10 at 1:30 p. m. I witnessed a very wonderful yet grewsome spectacle. Our guns brought down a German aeroplane from a height of 10,000 feet. The pilot was shot through the head and fell out of the machine while the observer jumped out in a parachute and floated safely to the ground. He was captured by one of our officers.

Am doing quite a deal of singing over here, which keeps my voice in fair shape. Lieutenant Persson, our band director, and I have given joint concerts at homes and in the Y. M. C. A. huts

When I return to dear old Chicago will drop in and have a long talk with you.

(Signed) HORACE L. DAVIS,
Sergeant.

The next letter is from Frederick Persson, Chicago pianist, now bandmaster in the army in France, who is referred to in the letter of Mr. Davis.

Mr. Persson writes at considerable and very interesting length as follows:

We have been almost constantly on the go since arriving in France last August, leaving the States the latter part of July. Have been in the advanced zone for some time before the armistice was signed, and while never being under direct fire, to my knowledge, except aerial, and sleeping through several bombardments, we have "enjoyed" the usual privileges of soldiering in the world war—sleeping in chateau and stable, on mountain top and in dugout—dining with count and peasant, or not at all—hard tack one day and partridge the next.

My band of forty-three men, who were recruited mostly from Michigan, have been doing some very good work. We have done considerable hospital and Y. M. C. A. entertaining as well as playing troops up and back from the lines. Last week we shared the program at a near-by hospital with Miss Margaret Wilson, who is over here entertaining. We have some very excellent and versatile talent in the band and one of our most valued members is Sergt. Horace Davis, formerly with the Imperial Quartet of Chicago, and a singer of the finest attainments. Also have popular entertainers, dancers, etc., so that our programs do not lack variety.

Our repertoire includes practically all the standard band overtures, operatic and light opera selections, in addition to the usual stand-bys. Mrs. Bond's "Perfect Day" is as popular as always and I believe has been heard and hummed by probably every nation represented in the war—the French soldiers being particularly fond of it. A Music News drops in on us every now and then and I can assure you it is read innumerable times from cover to cover by all to whom it is accessible.

(Signed) FREDERIC J. PERSSON.

The fourth letter is from Irving Hamlin of the University School of Music of Northwestern University, Evanston, and serves as an addenda to our Opera Editorial of last week:

Your editorial of this date says "and (I believe) the Apollo Club."

I was in the chorus that dedicated the Auditorium—it was a chorus of about six hundred, of which the Apollo Club may have been a part—not as a club but as members, and was led by Silas G. Pratt, that busy ultra-American whose unbounded enthusiasm created the Opera Festival Association—the forerunner of the movement to build the Auditorium.

(Signed) IRVING HAMLIN.

Clara Edmunds-Hemingway, composer-contralto, of Gary, Ind., and a true patriot through and through, says in the course of her interesting letter:

Now about your stand for American music and musicians. I have felt as proud of it as though the News had been in a battle and had come out victorious. Truly I believe that it has. You have made a very determined stand and I believe that it has been one of the big influences in the attitude of the public in Chicago and vicinity toward German music. I feel that you have, from the beginning, been unfaltering in your loyalty to all things American. It has been a needed lesson to the wavering, to the passive and to the pro-German, and I want to thank you for the stand you have taken and held! It was a mental battle and your editorials were big shells that were carefully aimed and hit every time.

(Signed) CLARA EDMUNDS-HEMINGWAY.

The last letter is from the manager of the Olin School of Music of Kansas City, inclosing a clipping from the Kansas City Journal, which is reproduced today in our Press at Large section. The letter itself reads as follows:

It indeed gives me pleasure to read your editorials in Music News. You have certainly carried on a campaign of patriotism, not only for our country but for musical America.

I am therefore inclosing a clipping from the Kansas City Journal of this city, which if reproduced in your most interesting paper may serve to stimulate some young American composer, whose enthusiasm has perhaps been checked by someone who felt that American composers should not be encouraged. Nevertheless, our school is going to extend to them the hand of friendship and say, Come on boys, let's see what can be accomplished.

I wish you, Mr. Watt, all the success that your efforts deserve and I know that your paper is a movement for good.

(Signed) S. T. C. BEHRUEGET.

TURNER HALL

Ballmann's Orchestra will give its regular Sunday afternoon concert at North Side Turner Hall on Sunday, December 22, at 3 o'clock. Soloists are Miss F. M. Mack, Henry Machetti, zither, and William E. Van Doren, cornet. A program of popular music will be rendered, including the latest popular hits.

The whole and very interesting program is as follows:

Star Spangled Banner
Grand March from Aida ..... Verdi
Overture—If I Were Ruler ..... Adam
Siamesian Patrol ..... Lincke
Suite—Peer Gynt ..... Grieg
In the Morning
Anitra's Dance
In the Hall of the Mountain King
Soprano solo by Miss Freya Maria Mack
Carmena Waltz ..... Wilson
When You Are a Long, Long Way from Home ..... Meyers
La Serenate, Valse Espagnole ..... Metra
Celebrated Menuet ..... Bocherini
Grand Scenes from Faust ..... Gounod
Soprano solo—
Kiss Me Again (Mlle. Modiste) ..... Herbert
Silver Threads Among the Gold ..... Danks
Miss Freya Maria Mack
Zither solo by Henry Machetti
Waltz—Children of the Mountains ..... Ziehrer
Tyrolian Boys of the Forest ..... Wagner
Zither obligato by Heinrich Machetti
Dream Picture Fantasie ..... Lumbye
Zither solo by Heinrich Machetti
America

###

WILL GIVE "THE MESSIAH"

The Messiah Chorus of sixty voices of the Buena Memorial Presbyterian Church, Chicago (De Witt Durgin Lash, conductor), will sing "The Messiah," by George Frederick Handel, on Christmas night, December 25, 1918, at 8:15 o'clock, at the church, point of Sheridan road and Broadway, with the following soloists: Lucile Stevenson, soprano; Wilma Thomas, contralto; Grant Kimbell, tenor; Frank Johnson, basso-cantante; Florence Hodge, organist; Mathilda Rose, pianist. The public is cordially invited.

###

Garden—Mary Garden is now en route to Chicago and the Auditorium.

EDISON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
MORGAN L. EASTMAN, CONDUCTOR
Popular Concerts—Orchestra Hall
FIRST THURSDAY OF EACH MONTH
NOVEMBER TO MAY

Edwin Stanley SEDER F. A. G. O.
Organ—Piano—Pupils. 126 E. Chestnut St.

THE BATON CLUB

A special service of church music was held in the Woodlawn Baptist Church on Thursday evening, December 5, by the Baton Club.

Mrs. Harold B. Maryott played the Dubois Fiat Lux and Benediction Nuptiale as a prelude. After the organ offertory the Woodlawn Baptist Choir, under the direction of Harold B. Maryott, sang Woodman's "A Song in the Night." The choir next gave Blair's cantata "Harvest Tide" with a distinctly individualistic rendition.

Under the direction of Dr. Juan C. Maclean the united choirs of ten different churches gave a program of special music. It is worthy of more than passing mention that, although less than half an hour's rehearsal was possible, Dr. Maclean so co-ordinated the several groups of singers as to produce a remarkable impression of unity.

This, too, despite the fact that the united choirs were grouped in two different lofts some fifty feet apart. During the first number, Maunder's "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem," some difficulty was experienced in bringing up to the beat the choir group farthest removed from the baton.

However, Dr. Maclean did it and finished the anthem with the two groups absolutely together. The two succeeding numbers, "Christian, the Morn Breaks Sweetly O'er Thee," by Shelley, and the "Hallelujah Chorus," were sung with fine spirit and with remarkable response to the baton.

George Schuler, president of the club, gave an address on "Co-operation from the Viewpoint of the Choir Director." He said, in brief: "The success or failure of a choir director is largely due to his relationship with the pastor. The director needs first of all to be a well-schooled musician with a dominating personality. Such a one has power of conviction, inspiring confidence in both choir and congregation.

"The church service is essentially one of worship, the pastor presiding. By constantly consulting the pastor, the director can so arrange his musical program as to be entirely in harmony with the spirit of any particular service, thus aiding in the spiritual uplift of the congregation."

The Baton Club is to be congratulated upon the spirit which prompts it to bring into closer relationship the choirs, directors, pastors and congregations of Chicago's nonliturgical churches. Incidentally it is doing much to stimulate a keener appreciation of church music by the public, which in turn tends to elevate the quality of special church music.

IRVING GINGRICH.

———♯♯♯———

Hyde—Herbert E. Hyde is to dedicate the new organ at Lawrence Conservatory, Appleton, Wis., on next Tuesday evening and will play a recital at Trinity Episcopal Church, Oshkosh, Wis., on Wednesday.

———♯♯♯———

Gale—Permelia Gale, contralto, and Vera Poppe, cello, appeared at Bloomington on last Tuesday evening (Mrs. Shipman, accompanist) in the third of the Shipman series of concerts.

———♯♯♯———

Kern-Mullen—Marie Kern-Mullen has organized a class in euphonic speaking at the International College of Music.

EARL VICTOR PRAHL IN PROGRAM OF ORIGINAL COMPOSITIONS

Despite the pouring rain, a large audience was present to greet Earl Victor Prahl in a program of original compositions which he presented in Recital Hall at the Bush Conservatory on Thursday evening, December 12.

The program consisted of two groups of songs for soprano, one for mezzo-soprano, and two groups for violin.

Mr. Prahl is prolific, he has much knowledge and imagination, and his compositions are all well constructed. There was considerable variety. All were thoroughly modern, but one must surely be a student of theory and composition before attempting to perform them, on account of the intricacy of intervals and construction. It was a most interesting program, however, and Mr. Prahl and his assistants are to be congratulated upon the success of the evening.

EARL VICTOR PRAHL

The group, "Montserrat," "Rewards" and "Autumn Twilight," poems by Arthur Symons, was rendered in a charming manner by Miss Hazel Silver, soprano. "A Japanese Print," poem by John Gould Fletcher; "A Page's Road Song" and "A Page Sings," by William A. Percy, were sung superbly by Miss Gladys Swarthout, mezzo-soprano. "The Masterless Man," poem by James Stephens; "The Moon" and "The Wind," by William H. Davies, were given a splendid interpretation by Miss Helen Daniels.

Miss Silver is not new to Chicago audiences, having appeared many times in concerts and other affairs with much success. She is a steadily growing artist.

Miss Swarthout is a pupil of Charles W. Clark and has been in Chicago about a year. She has a beautiful mezzo-soprano voice, excellent poise, and is doing remarkably good work.

Miss Daniels is a newcomer. She has a lovely lyric soprano voice, which is well placed, and has a charming stage presence. She gives promise of a brilliant future.

The violin numbers, "Tango," "Reverie" and "Melody and Dance," were played by Rachel Steinman Clarke. Mrs. Clarke draws a splendidly virile tone. She has unlimited technic and plays with much dash and skill.

One cannot fail to recognize in these compositions a splendid future for Mr. Prahl in creative music, and we shall hope that he will always be as fortunate in having them interpreted as he was upon this occasion. Mr. Prahl was himself a mountain of strength at the piano during the entire evening.

ELEANORE CAPPS-HOSTLER.

———♯♯♯———

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

The music of Boston is not of startling interest. Of course the symphony concerts, Mr. Rebaud conductor, excites criticism and more or less enthusiasm and surprise that any but German talent can readily perform and interpret music.

The Paris Orchestra, which has toured the country, met with deserved applause at its appearance here and in Worcester. In the latter city it was sponsored by the Worcester County Musical Association. After the concert an informal reception to the members was given in the ballroom of the Bancroft Hotel.

Boston is having its share of the new fad, "community" sings, which seems to mean a huge concourse of people singing enthusiastically, if not tunefully, to the accompaniment of instruments, whistling, stamping of feet, and other sound-makers, under the direction of an excited leader who, before the war, had given the subject of singing by the masses little consideration, and the cultivation of the voice, personally, none.

True community music and singing should be carried on in a much less flamboyant way; in neighborhood homes, small church vestries, in rural communities. Let's start the slogan Back to the Home, the basic foundation-stone of civilization.

The music-lovers of Worcester have had Mme. Schumann-Heink and Arthur Hackett in the Ellis course, both artists adding to their enviable reputations; Miss Roberts and the local baritone, Milton C. Snyder, with Arthur J. Bassett, pianist, at a concert for the war chest fund, and will have heard Rachmaninoff, who was a program-giver of the second Ellis concert Tuesday the 17th.

The annual production of the "Messiah," J. Vernon Butler, conductor of the Worcester Oratorio Society, promoter, will give Arthur J. Hackett another deserved appearance in Worcester at an early date.

Monday night, the 16th, the Ladies' Philharmonic Orchestra, Miss Hazel Clark conductor, gave the program in the Worcester County Mechanics' Association course. The organization is from Boston.

LESTER BUTLER.

Charles E. Lutton
BARITONE
Concerts Recitals
Special Sunday Evening Services
Telephone Harrison 1277 and Blackstone 3384

Buy YOUR Piano at Piano Headquarters

We wish that you might visit our piano sales rooms for an entire day merely as a spectator.

Here, when in need of a Mason & Hamlin for concert or studio use, come many of the greatest musicians of our time—Bauer, Gabrilowitsch, Melba, Kubelik, Muratore or their personal representatives.

You will see in one room the largest showing of grand pianos in America. And in others, more moderately priced Conover, Cable, Kingsbury and Wellington Pianos. Choose YOUR piano here and take advantage of our Easy Payment Plan.

Cable Piano Company

Cable Corner, Wabash and Jackson

WILLIAMS AND EIDAM

The following program was given on November 24 by Dr. Carver Williams, basso; Clarence Eidam, pianist, and Louis Zander, violinist, at Hammond, these artists being members of the faculty of the Hammond Musical College. The audience was large and the performance a great success:

Polonaise, A flat
Nocturne, F minor
Valse, E minor ..... Chopin

Mr. Eidam

The Horn ..... Flegier
The House of Memories ..... Aylward
Tom O. Devon ..... Russell

Dr. Williams

Romanze ..... Svedsen
Rondino ..... Vieuxtemps

Mr. Zander

Melodrama (with piano accompaniment) .....
King Robert of Sicily ..... Longfellow
Music ..... Rossiter Cole

Mrs. Robertson

Somber Woods ..... Lully
Three Comrades ..... Herman
Irish—Names ..... Hilton-Turney

Dr. Williams

Concerto, D minor ..... Wieniawski

Mr. Zander

Hunting Song ..... Mendelssohn
Spring Song ..... Mendelssohn
La Campanella ..... Paganini-Liszt

Mr. Eidam

###

THE CHICAGO PIANO COLLEGE

Recital at college rooms on Saturday, December 21, at 2:30. Program:

Adagio from C Major Concerto ..... Weber
Allegro from G Major Suite ..... Bargiel

Miss Thelma Simons

Papillons (Scenes at a Ball) ..... Schumann

Richard Schweitzer

Valse—At Springtide ..... Harmon H. Watt

Mrs. Hazel Bryant

Concerto, Op. 69, Last Movement ..... Hiller

Miss Dorothy Linker

Humoreske ..... Tschaikowsky
Pasquinade ..... Gottschalk-Joseffy

Miss Nellie Fisk

With Mr. Watt at second piano

Music in Chicago

LESTER GROOM

Having heard the good old Johnson organ once at the Church of the Ascension, under the capable management of Lester Groom, it was natural to expect a good deal of him on the evening of December 10 in his last of a series of recitals at this organ. And that he fully lived up to these expectations is a decided "feather in his cap," inasmuch as it is not every artist who can be at his best in three successive recitals. But Mr. Groom was not one to disappoint us, and he fully insured our opinion of his high type of musicianship and his mechanical skill in organ playing. His program, which is appended, was thoroughly up to artistic requirements in selection as well as in the final outcome. He was assisted by Master Charles Kraeckmann, a boy alto, who showed very definite ability and excellent training.

The program:

Finale, Second Symphony ..... Widor
Nocturne from Midsummer Night's Dream ..... Mendelssohn
Finale ..... Franck
Solo—O Rest in the Lord (Elijah) ..... Mendelssohn

Master Charles Kraeckmann

Prelude and Fugue in E minor ..... Bach
Romance in D flat ..... Sibelius
Pastorale ..... Horatio Parker
Solo—Then Shall the King Say Come (Holy City) ..... Gaul

Master Charles Kraeckmann

Suite in Miniature ..... De Lamarter
Prelude; adagietto; march
At Evening ..... Kinder
March Religieuse ..... Guilmant

In both the Widor and the Franck Finales it was evident that Mr. Groom's particular genius lies in the building up of novel and impressive climaxes. The Bach E minor Fugue was a severe enough test of his comprehension of contrapuntal treatment, and in the Sibelius Romance his ability was shown in handling compositions of just the opposite character. Some of the soft effects which he produced and his method of bringing out the lovely, plaintive strain of the melody were unique and masterly. Equally skillful was his management of the Horatio Parker Pastorale, though why this particular composition should ever have been called a Pastorale I cannot understand. The De Lamarter Suite, "Miniature," was saucy and original to a degree, and the soloist had caught the spirit of it perfectly.

Mr. Groom has just cause to feel well rewarded for his efforts in this series of recitals.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

###

F. WIGHT NEUMANN ANNOUNCEMENTS

Ossip Gabrilowitsch will give a piano recital Sunday afternoon, January 19, at 3:30, at Kimball Hall, under the direction of F. Wight Neumann.

♮ ♮ ♮

Guiomar Novaes, the Brazilian pianist, will be heard for the first time in Chicago in recital on Sunday afternoon, January 12 at 3:30, at Kimball Hall, under the direction of F. Wight Neumann. Mlle. Novaes' program will contain compositions by Cesar Franck, Chopin, Faure, Phillip and Debussy.

MUSIC TO COME

Friday, December 20

Orchestra Hall—2:30, Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

New First Congregational Church—8:15, "Coming of the King."

Auditorium—8:00, "La Gioconda."

Saturday, December 21

Ziegfeld Theater—11 a. m., Chicago Musical College concert.

Chicago Piano College (Kimball Hall)—2:30, pupils' recital.

Kimball Hall—3:00, American Conservatory concert.

Auditorium—2:00, "Linda."

Orchestra Hall—8:15, Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Auditorium—8:00, "Romeo and Juliet."

Sunday, December 22

Fullerton Hall—3:00 and 4:15, Chicago Concert Ensemble.

Turner Hall—3:00, Ballmann's Orchestra.

Auditorium—3:30, French Orchestra.

Grace Church (Oak Park)—4:00, "The Messiah."

First Congregational Church (Oak Park)—8:15, "The Messiah."

Auditrium—8:15, French Orchestra.

Monday, December 23

Auditorium—8:00, opera.

Tuesday, December 24

Auditorium—8:00, opera.

Wednesday, December 25

Auditorium—8:00, opera.

Thursday, December 26

Fourth Presbyterian Church—4:30, organ recital (Seder).

Auditorium—8:00, "Stabat Mater" (Rossini), Chicago Opera Association.

Sunday, December 29

Auditorium—3:30, Apollo Club, "The Messiah." Soloists: Orpha Kendell Holstman, Frederica Gerhardt-Downing, Robert Loren Quait and Arthur Middleton.

JOHN

McCormack

In America Entire Season 1918-19

EDWIN SCHNEIDER, Accompanist

CHARLES L. WAGNER, Mgr.

D. F. McSWEENEY, Associate Manager

511 Fifth Avenue (Postal Life Building)
New York

STEINWAY PIANO USED

GEORGE L. TENNEY

TENOR

Teacher of Voice. Studio Room 30, Lewis Institute. Phone West 793

ESTELLE L. RUSSELL

The Art of Singing

807-808 Lyon and Healy Bldg.
Telephone Oak Park 3506-W.

"ELIJAH" AT CENTRAL MUSIC HALL

The Haydn Choral Society, under direction of H. W. Owens, moved over to Central Music Hall on last Thursday night and there found an appropriate and altogether fine sanctuary for their musical virtues.

Like all Choral bodies, the Haydn has suffered from the absence of a large per cent of its male members, but on Thursday night there was a very satisfactory filling in of parts and the totality of ensemble was entirely satisfactory throughout and, at times, it rose to positive eloquence.

THOMAS REMINGTON

Mr. Owens, an adept in conducting Oratorio and particularly facile with "Elijah," was much at home at the conductor's stand and led his forces to a success which, considering that all the Choral singers were amateur, can be counted as nothing short of remarkable.

The work of such a man as Mr. Owens in the exploiting of young singers in standard choral works is beyond computation as to value and it should have, at all times, sincere support.

There is no organ at Central Music Hall, but the acoustics are so perfect and the size of the hall so admirable for the purpose that a medium sized chorus, such as that presented by Mr. Owens at this time, has full and satisfactory support from a grand piano alone, which was certainly the case at this time.

This writer heard Thomas Remington sing the part of "Elijah" at Winona Lake last August and has no hesitation in saying that here is an interpreter not only with voice sufficient for the great role, but also with an interpretative intelligence which covers it very adequately and at times rises to positive eloquence.

Without going into specific details it is yet in place to say that Mr. Remington sang each of the solos with good style and effect and that constantly he held to a dramatic as well as musical reading of the entire text.

Lucy Hartman, a Chicago singer with many important successes to her credit, was chosen as the Contralto Soloist of the evening and beyond question rose to very definite and very pleasing artistic heights.

Her presence and poise are so unmistakably good, her voice so rich and free and her interpretative feeling so unfailingly fine that she scored at this time—as always—success.

Mathilde Turnock, who was heard in "Elijah" at Elkhart, Ind., some months ago and whose work was at that time very highly commended in Music News, was the Soprano Soloist of last Thursday evening and again showed all the excellencies of the former occasion.

Harlan Haines, a thoroughly pleasing personality and voice, who sings each Sunday at the New England Congregational Church, was the tenor soloist at this time and he too rose to eloquent interpretation of the text. His voice is of unusual beauty and his feeling for oratorio very satisfactory.

C. E. W.

———###———

FREDERICK GUNSTER

The American tenor, who has been actively engaged on the staff of the Y. M. C. A. war work council since Summer as associate director of the Music Bureau, will soon be available for concerts now that the war is over. Mr. Gunster canceled or postponed his engagements the early part of the season, as his full attention was needed by the Y. M. C. A. His managers, Haensel & Jones, are now booking him for the new year.

Mr. Gunster sang at Camp Mills Thursday evening to many of the returning soldiers, and Sunday afternoon at the Hoboken Y. M. C. A. for the dedication of the new Hudson Hut.

———###———

Boyd—Jeanne Boyd was accompanist for Helen Grahame Wait, soprano, in recital at the Three Arts Club, Sunday, December 15. Miss Wait sings two songs by Miss Boyd, "Invitation" and "The Lost Road."

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC CREDITS

Constructive Drill Book No. 1 and 2, one dollar each, over 400 constructive drills in each.

EARN MORE — Teach adults and children partly in classes, one-half hour private lesson, one hour class lesson per week.

HELP YOURSELF — Improvise, Play and Write 95220 Modulations from one given tone. Develop Musical Memory, Intellectual Memory and Fore Feeling. Create Keyboard and Written Harmony. Teach with Scientific Pedagogy. Prices $10.00 to $220.00. Teachers may join a class any time.

Address EFFA ELLIS PERFIELD
Chicago, Ill. 218 S. Wabash Ave.
New York City, 109 W. 45th St.
St. James Hotel

LYCEUM ARTS CONSERVATORY
(INCORPORATED)
ELIAS DAY, Director
EDWARD CLARKE, Associate
"DEFINITE PREPARATION FOR A DEFINITE WORK"

Our faculty includes such well known names as Elias Day, Sibyl Sammis-MacDermid, Louis Kreidler, Frederick Morley, Katherine Howard-Ward, Charles Edward Clark, Jeanne Boyd, Frederik Frederiksen, Tor Van Pyk, Ora Padget-Langer, Louise Cozad, Carl Kiamsteiner, Thirza Mosher, Frank H. Borstadt, Jr., Will H. Bickett, Rachel Steinman Clarke, Oranne Truitt Day, Mary R. Fitch, Marguerite Kelpsch, Willis A. Behrens, Irma Montgomery Gibson and Nance D. Thompson.

A thorough education is offered in music and dramatic art, leading to diploma and degree.

More than 300 young people have secured positions in our concert companies during the last five years. For Free Catalog Address

FRANK A. MORGAN, MANAGER
Box M. N. 600-610 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Chicago, Ill.

MINNETTE WARREN
COMPOSER-PIANIST
Mgt. Warren Concert Bureau
305 SCHIFFMANN BLDG. ST. PAUL, MINN.

WILHELMINE LANG
DRAMATIC SOPRANO
Concert - Oratorio - Recital Pupils
2054 W. Chicago Avenue Phone Humboldt 24

MME. BRUNE-MARCUSSON
SOPRANO Concert—Oratorio—Pupils
400 Fine Arts Bldg Phone West 611

LESTER MARGARET Soprano WILLIAM Composer-Accompanist
5211 BLACKSTONE AV. PHONE MIDWAY 8888

Melba Mae French-Barr
LYRIC SOPRANO
Studio 1530 Kimball Building Phone Edgewater 8322

MAE Doelling Pianist Teacher
2912 Burling Street

Eugene F. Dressler
NAVY

Hazel Dell Neff
Coloratura Soprano 4263 5th Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ruth Lowenberg
SOPRANO
4236 Grand Boulevard Drexel 1863

GEORGE RALF KURTZ
Organ Piano Accompanying
Sherwood Music School Fine Arts Bldg. Annex

ROLLIN Bass-Baritone PEASE
910 Colfax St., Evanston, Ill. Phone Evanston 6522

Orchard School Music and Expression
Piano, Voice, Violin, Cello, Theory, Dancing
1537 Hyde Park Boulevard. Phone Blackstone 1789

LYELL BARBER
PIANIST
Bush Conservatory Superior 8700

ETHEL BRENK
137 20th Street SOPRANO Milwaukee, Wis.

Anne Williams Teacher of Piano and Harmony
STUDIO: 28 Latrobe Avenue
PHONE: Columbus 1760

Tollefsen Trio
CONCERTS - MUSICALES
MGT. WINTON & LIVINGSTON, NEW YORK

Marian Coryell Accompanist Composer Pupils
STUDIO: 72 West 68th St., New York

MARIE KERN-MULLEN
CONTRALTO
CLUBS—CONCERT—ORATORIO—RECITALS
International College of Music
63 Auditorium Bldg. Res. Tel., Edgewater 438

MAY PETERSON SCORES HEAVILY AT ORCHESTRA CONCERT

Periodically, to the regular concert goer, comes an episode which startles him with satisfaction, taking the accepted commonplace out of its groove of complacent evenness and stirring sluggish good nature into boisterous enthusiasm. The conventional orchestra patrons were roused to such fervor on Saturday night that what they gave Miss May Peterson amounted to an ovation. In stage parlance "she stopped the show" to answer recall after recall, from an audience which recognized her superior merit and ability, and the charm with which she invested the offerings she made.

The best observance of a good rule is in its breach, and by all measurements the "no encore" rule could have been laid aside legitimately on this occasion and an eager desire to hear more of the exquisite singing been gratified.

The short biographical note in the program book and Miss Peterson's own agreeable personality were contributing factors in the event. The Americans worship success. They even spell it with a big S. Curiously, also, we recognize it, and tag it, when it comes within our ken and the recipient is fully ready to make use of it. There are many flashes in the pan, caused by endeavors of the audiences to launch something immature and unripe. These ephemeral incidents come and go and we laugh good naturedly at the effort, our own part in the deception and the falling rocket sticks. The musical profession is crowded with candidates for our favor. There is everything from exalted merit to exalted self-duplicity. We give them all a fair chance, but warily withhold the overwhelming tribute for the one who knows how to hold talent in check and make it a well trained servant, for a healthy mind, straightforward energy, controlling ideality, and a sane attitude toward the personal equation. We like, with an affectionate tinge, those who have made their own way, have encountered difficulties, surmounted them, fought sturdily and confidently, and yet pushed no one else aside; have had high ambitions and worked toward them, but in all the stress of circumstances and competition have kept straight ahead on a line of unalterable, courageous serenity and sweetness, preserved unconquerable self-respect, and valued health and honest endeavor to be more vital, for the ultimate goal, than any short cut which left them out. Some way we size up these, and their companions, admirable qualities, for all that they are worth and put them in the scale as important elements in any permanent artistic success. If we sought for one comprehensive word to voice the sentiment it would probably be the word healthy.

The prompt tribute went to May Peterson, on Saturday night, because the audience felt that here was just that sort of excellent personality. They liked her, because she had known the humble beginning of an itinerant minister's home; that she had been obedient and subservient even to using her voice as an evangel to "win souls to Christ," as the term runs; that she had also reaped benefit and health from that service, which enlarged her vision beyond the merely artistic use of her talents; that the vision of a wider field grew with her years and the customary sacrifices were made by her, and those who could help her, to develop the natural gifts; that she had made friends by her industry, her energy, her patience, her study, and sturdily built her career on just such foundations—then waited determinedly for a logical outcome; that she had endured the reverses, the temptations, the unkindnesses, the neglect with a wholesome cheerfulness which may have had its root in the training her childhood knew, and best of all, that the welcome acknowledgment when it did come found her serene in wholesome balance and ensuing determination to courageously try for even farther steps onward.

MAY PETERSON

All this and a good deal more was in the music filtered through the fine personality of the woman who won the unstinted approval on Satudray night. We have words which we use unguarded many times, but those who called Miss Peterson's music "charming" and "lovely" expressed themselves advisedly. Only, it may be, that all may not have discerned that under the charm and loveliness was a sterling grain of character which was the basis of what was seen and heard. It is, after all, the essentially permanent trait if an artist builds for permanent success. And it simply must be there in ample measure before the artistry wins its place. Those who heard Miss Peterson a few years ago were not surprised at the reception of Saturday.

The voice is of luscious quality, warm, rich, pulsating. The range is phenomenal and the scale of even texture. It has all the indications of proper training, but there is still that delicious thrill of naturalness for a cementing force. She sings easily even when very earnest. In the delicate movements it seems to breathe itself into expression. In the fine embroidery of that "Alleluia" of Mozart, where only one word is used for text, she had the requisite color to illuminate each utterance of it with peculiar fidelity of contrast. The voice bubbled and soared through it, only to melt in elusive tenderness and a legato of sinuous mellowness in the Handel "Care Selve." The "Louise" aria was made a lyric joy, suave and impassioned by turns, but never breaking away from a musical wholeness which was virtually ideal. In no operatic performance has it ever had such effective and persuasive presentation. Power and delicacy were united in this excellent delineation and in its completeness there was eminent satisfaction.

The orchestra did not give her altogether happy accompaniments. The Glazanouv Symphony hardly deserved the displeasure vented upon it by the generality of review. It is quite believable that, with further time for study of its possibilities, Mr. Delamarter could make of the third movement one of those scintillant moments which Russian music holds in its meshes. The work may suffer from over instrumentation—but it abounds with good material, perhaps not fully absorbed on this occasion.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

———♯♯♯———

Rollin M. Pease—Rollin M. Pease, baritone, will fill the following engagements: December 18, Men's Club, Oak Park (Arthur Fraser, accompanist); December 20, Pageant at New First Congregational Church, George L. Tenney, director; December 22, afternoon, "Messiah," Grace Church, Oak Park; evening, Pageant at New First; December 25, Army and Navy Center, Highland Park; December 27, the role of Sharpless in "Mme. Butterfly" at Ziegfeld Theater.

———♯♯♯———

Summy—At a piano recital given by Alice Powers Ruthof of Columbus, Ohio, at Pittsburgh on December 6 two compositions by Adolph M. Foerster were played, "Homage to Rubinstein" and "Exultation," the last named one of the best from the Foerster pen, being published by Clayton F. Summy of Chicago.

———♯♯♯———

Edgewater Beach Hotel—At the Edgewater Beach Hotel Musicale on next Sunday afternoon, direction of Jessie B. Hall, the artists will be Eleanor Eastlake and Kathryn Kiernan, duet singers; Dan Denton, tenor, and Helen Campbell and Grace Grove, accompanists.

———♯♯♯———

Chicago Musical College—The performance of Puccini's "Madame Butterfly," originally scheduled to have been given tomorrow (Saturday) has been postponed until January 4. There will be no concert in Ziegfeld Theater Saturday, December 28.

MRS. ELLEN KINSMAN MANN
429 Fine Arts Bldg. Res. Phone Midway 1289

WALKER Studio of VIRNA HARMAN DANCING
Suite 1509-11 Lakeview Bldg.

FLORA ZYGMAN, PIANIST
827 KIMBALL HALL
TELEPHONE WABASH 5013

CHICAGO WOMAN'S MUSICAL CLUB

The annual organ recital of the Chicago Woman's Musical Club was held at the First Presbyterian Church, Grand boulevard and Forty-first street, on Thursday, December 5.

This is a beautiful building, and the acoustic properties are splendid. The organ is a fairly good two-manual, not the ideal recital organ, by any means, but which answered the purpose very well.

Marie Edwards Von Ritter was on the bench, and that is sufficient proof that it was an interesting program. She again proved that she is able to cope with anything in organ literature. She has unbounded technic, unusual temperament and imagination which enables her to render a program for organ with understanding and skill.

The organ numbers included were "Introduction Choral" and "Menuet," from "Gothique Suite" (Boellman) Garotte, from 12th Sanata for Organ (Padre Martini); "Reverie" (Lamont-Edwards), "Toccata," from "Oedipe a Thebes" (Mereaux), and "Variations on an American Air" (Flagier).

Mrs. Von Ritter proved a mountain of strength in the ensemble numbers for harp, violin and organ, played by Marie Theresa Morgott, harpist; Adymae Hatheway, violinist, and Mrs. Von Ritter, organist, also in accompanying the solo numbers. These enlisted the services of Emma Sollitt Sherman, soprano, who sang with good voice and pleasing style "Until" (Sanderson), "Day Is Gone" (Lang), and "Land of Mine" (MacDermid), and Anna Bauld Ayers, contralto, who sang "An Evening Song" (Gilberte), and "Morning Hymn" or "Victory Song" (Henschel). Mrs. Ayers has a beautiful voice and sang with good taste and much refinement. Each of the singers were forced to respond to encores.

Miss Morgott was also heard in two interesting numbers for the harp—"Sweet Remembrance" (Hahn) and "Song Without Words" (Dubez).

ELEANORE CAPPS-HOSTLER.

♯♯♯

Roberts—Miss Roby Roberts, a very talented pupil of Mrs. O. L. Fox at the Chicago Musical College, who was soloist at the Englewood Baptist Church, died at her home in Chicago last Sunday. Mr. Fairbank, the organist and director of music in this church, writes to Music News that he considered Miss Roberts one of the most promising young singers he had ever known. Her enunciation, he says, was so perfect as to have been remarkable, and it enabled her to give especial significance to spiritual songs. A week or two ago she sang for Offertory James MacDermid's "In My Father's House Are Many Mansions," and he says "it seemed to the entire congregation that she sang like one inspired."

♯♯♯

American Conservatory—The concert of next Saturday afternoon at Kimball Hall will be given by the American Conservatory Students' Orchestra, assisted by Ruth M. Freeman, pianist; Elizabeth Walsh, contralto, and Samuel Frankel, violin.

J. WARREN ERB
CONDUCTOR SONG COACH
ARTISTS ACCOMPANIST
Permanently at
TUDIO HALL, 220 MADISON AVENUE
NEW YORK

RUSSELL CHORAL CLUB

A well filled church at a dollar a seat greeted the Russell Choral Club Monday evening, December 9, at the Wesley M. E. Church. The club had the assistance of Madeline Armstead in dramatic characterization, Bernice Austin, pianist, and the Russell Trio.

Mrs. D. I. Martin, organist of the church, opened the program with Borowski's First Organ Sonata and Baldwin's "Burlesca e Melodia." One always expects artistic results when hearing Mrs. Martin, but on this occasion she surpassed herself. She also gave a spirited rendition of the Coronation March by Reginald Barrett.

The choral club, which is under the direction of Mrs. Estelle L. Russell, sang the "Bridal Chorus" (Cowen), "Boat Song" (Ware), "Twilight" (Friml), "Catechist" (Hadley) "Nursery Rhymes" (Constance), "Lullaby" (Brahms), and the cantata "Lady of Shalott," by Bendell.

The young ladies presented a charming appearance, and their singing brought enthusiastic response from the audience.

The trio, composed of Lucile Hale, Leah Gehri, and Mabel Hatton, gave delight in Speaks' "Morning" and Jensen's "Murmuring Breezes." In tonal quality and blend this ensemble left little to be desired.

In the cantata the Misses Baumgarten, Gehri, Solomon and Link had the incidental solos.

As a director Mrs. Russell calls forth the best efforts of her forces, and her interpretations are most satisfying.

IRVING GINGRICH.

♯♯♯

ILLNESS OF MURATORE—OTHER LATE OPERA NEWS

The severe illness of Lucien Muratore has caused cancellations of all his immediate engagements, much to the regret of the opera clientele.

It is sincerely hoped that a week or two of rest will restore his health sufficiently that he can again appear.

♮ ♮ ♮

Forrest Lamont sang on Wednesday evening in "Pagliacci" in place of Muratore.

♮ ♮ ♮

Charles Fontaine, from Paris, arrived in Chicago on Wednesday and will make his first appearance Monday night in "Manon."

♮ ♮ ♮

Mary Garden is momentarily expected.

♮ ♮ ♮

Visitors

Constance Balfour of New York, who appeared very successfully in Buffalo on Monday, was a visitor at Music News office on Tuesday. She will remain in Chicago a week or more.

Christine Langenhan, another fine singer from New York, visited us en route to Minneapolis, where she appeared with the orchestra.

Helen Levy, associate manager with Daniel Mayer in New York, and Vera Brady Shipman, lately removed from Chicago to Kansas City, where she is in the managerial field, are both in Chicago for attendance at the opera and have been welcome callers at Music News office.

♯♯♯

Peterson-Barth—Helen Peterson-Barth, contralto, sang very successfully at a meeting of the W. O. R. Drug Club at the Hotel La Salle on December 10. Amanda Closius Burhop furnished accompaniments.

CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

The program that will be presented by the Chicago Musical College in Ziegfeld Theater Saturday, December 21, at 11 o'clock will comprise the following works, which will be interpreted by students in the piano, vocal and violin departments:

Piano—Concert Etude, D flat major.....Liszt
Corrine Thompson, Oak Park, Ill.
(Student of C. Gordon Wedertz)
Vocal—Bell Song (Lakme).....Delibes
Leona Kramer, Chicago
(Student of Burton Thatcher)
Piano—The Two Larks.....Lechitizky
Mrs. Valeria Brown, Geneva, Ill.
(Student of C. Gordon Wedertz)
Vocal—Aria from Leonora.....Kapry
Helen Hagen, Newton, Kan.
(Student of Mrs. O. L. Fox)
Piano—Scherzo .....Pirani
Adelyne Morrison, Chicago
(Student of Karl Reckzeh)
Vocal—They Call Me Mimi.....Puccini
Mrs. Janet Allen, Chicago
(Student of Edoardo Sacerdote)
Violin—
Orientale .....Cui
Spanish Dance .....Rehfeld
Gladys Weige, Chicago
(Student of Leon Sametini)
Vocal—Prelude—Love, I Have Won You.....Ronald Jane Kimball, Chicago
(Student of Edoardo Sacerdote)
Piano—Nocturne .....Paderewski
Polonaise .....Paderewski
Mrs. E. Y. Culbreath, White Pine, Tenn.
(Student of Alexander Raab)

♯♯♯

BEULAH TAYLOR PORTER

Beulah Taylor Porter, accompanist, has filled the following engagements:

November 26—River Forest Woman's Club, with Ellen Kinsman Mann, soprano.

December 4—Oak Park Club, with Orpha Kendall Holstman, soprano.

December 10—Austin Three O'Clock Club, with Sara Irene Campbell, soprano.

December 16—Musicians' Club program, with Louise Harrison Slade, contralto, and Helen Hagen.

December 19—Accompanist for Maude Chandler, soprano, and Wally George, violinist.

December 20—Accompanist for Alice Brown Stout, soprano, at banquet for Baptists' convention at La Salle Hotel.

R. Mills Silby Mus. Doc.
ORCHESTRAL AND CHORAL CONDUCTING
TEACHER OF SINGING AND THEORY
1528 Kimball Hall. Tel. Wabash 8538, Superior 6660

MAY PFEIFFER
CONTRALTO
Ph. Austin 9798 4718 Washington Blvd.

CARLO LITEN
FAMOUS BELGIAN TRAGEDIAN
NOW IN AMERICA Dramatic Recitals and Recitations
Exclusive Management
DANIEL MAYER Aeolian Hall, New York

The Jennette Loudon Studios
PIANO :: THEORY :: ENSEMBLE
614 FINE ARTS BUILDING

WESTERN Conservatory
E. H. SCOTT Pres.
KIMBALL HALL . . . CHICAGO

GEORGE R. GARNER Celebrated Colored American Tenor
4405 CHAMPLAIN AVENUE

CHICAGO MENDELSSOHN CLUB

The usual bad, rainy weather greeted the occasion of the Mendelssohn Club concert last Thursday night and in spite of it the usual capacity house gave its usual warm reception to one of the club's never-failing good concerts. In fact, no one of the concerts has ever been more stirring or more appropriate. I am quoting the program in full in order that its dramatic and patriotic significance may be rightfully appreciated. The program:

We'll Keep Old Glory Flying.....A. Louis Scarmolin
God Be With Our Boys Tonight....Wilfrid Sanderson
At the Wind's Call.....R. Huntington Woodman
Worship of God in Nature, Op. 48, No. 4..Beethoven
Aubade (Le Roi d'Ys).....Edouard Lalo
Nell .....Gabriel Faure
D'Une Prison .....Reynaldo Hahn
Dansons la Gigue.....M. Poldowski
Arthur Hackett
At Dawning.....Charles Wakefield Cadman
Six Full Fathom of Men.....C. Linn Seiler
The Two Angels.....W. Franke Harling
Solo by Mr. Hackett
Drontheim, Op. 76.....Daniel Protheroe
Air d'Azael (L'Enfant Prodigue).....Claude Debussy
Mr. Hackett
The Rosary .....Ethelbert Nevin
Carmena .....H. Lane Wilson
Three Mystic Ships.....Gena Branscombe
Do Not Go, My Love.....Richard Hageman
Ye Moanin' Mountains.....F. W. Vanderpool
The Bells of Rheims.....Edwin H. Lemare
Mr. Hackett
The Home Road.....John Alden Carpenter
Home, Sweet Home.....Henry R. Bishop
Land of Hope and Glory.....Edward Elgar
The Star Spangled Banner.....

Mr. Wild was in splendid spirits and conducted with vigor and enthusiasm. Mr. Lampert was as always a brilliant asset at the piano and Allen Bogen gave more than adequate support at the organ.

The Club was in the best of tune and sang the opening group with exuberance and feeling. The Sanderson song is very much less sentimental and more telling in the chorus arrangement. Beethoven's "The Heavens Are Telling" was sung with all the dignity and grandeur appropriate to it and group four showed great skill in color contrast. "Drontheim" was duly dramatic and "The Rosary" and "Carmena" equally graceful. The Club as a whole seems to me to possess more magnetism than any other singing body ever heard. For the audience could not possibly get more enjoyment out of their singing than the men do themselves. The spirit of solid joy and love of the task pervaded everything and makes the atmosphere of the whole program decidedly unique. The last group was electrifying in patriotic fervor. Carpenter's "Home Road" contained a surprise—a new verse in honor of the armistice, and a very good one too. "Home, Sweet Home" gave just the needed touch of pathos and Elgar's "Land of Hope and Glory" added a concluding note of red-blooded country-love and pride.

ARTHUR HACKETT

Not a word so far has been said of Arthur Hackett, the soloist assisting. This is not a case, however, of deferring a distasteful task, but rather one of saving the choicest morsel till the end, like a child surrounded by a varied collection of sweets.

Arthur Hackett is the true competitor of that tenor who has been advertised as the golden-throated, whoever he may be, for truly no one has ever sung in Chicago with a greater degree of perfection than did Mr. Hackett. His tone is rich and resplendent in the lower register, ascending with absolute ease to high notes which are beautifully liquid. His enunciation, both French and English, is flawless and his interpretative artistry on Thursday night was of the most masterful description, refined and intimate. His French songs were chosen from the more unobtrusively modern group, with plenty of atmosphere and impressionistic color, but not too ethereal to "tie to." The only thing to be regretted on the program is the fact that Mr. Hackett was asked to sing a ridiculously small part in the symphonic ballad, "The Two Angels," by W. Franke Harling, an exceedingly uninteresting work, and during the singing of which Mr. Hackett was obliged to stand an indeterminably long time after the completion of his own few lines.

HARRISON WILD

But if Mr. Hackett won his audience completely in the French groups, it is unnecessary to comment upon the impression which he made in the charming group of English songs which followed. "Three Mystic Ships" carried with it an enchanting finesse, while Richard Hageman's Tagore setting was given expression equally sympathetic. His final song, "The Bells of Rheims" (Lemare), is a veritably great victory song which bears with it a promise of long life. Mr. Hackett made it superbly dramatic and glorious. The words, by Henry de Vere Stacpoole, are so impressive that I cannot refrain from inserting them at the close of this article:

HERBERT J. WRIGHTSON
PIANO THEORY ORGAN
610 FINE ARTS BLDG.
WABASH 2583
Residence Phone, Wilmette 2082

LEOPOLD GODOWSKY
World-Famed Pianist Season 1918-19
KNABE PIANO USED
HAENSEL & JONES
Aeolian Hall
New York

Iva Bigelow Weaver
SOPRANO Oratorio & Recitals
MARY WOOD CHASE SCHOOL,
Fine Arts Building, Chicago
Mack Block, MILWAUKEE, WIS.

LENORA SPARKES
Lyric Soprano of the Metropolitan Opera House
Concerts, Oratorio, Festivals, Recitals
DANIEL MAYER, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK CITY
HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager

Yeatman Griffith
Teacher of FLORENCE MACBETH, Prima Donna Coloratura, and many other Artists and Teachers
318 W. 82nd St., New York. Tel. Schuyler 8537

HUGO GOODWIN
CONCERT ORGANIST Pupils Accepted 19 W. Delaware Pl., Tel. Superior 1558

THOMAS NOBLE MACBURNEY
609 Fine Arts Building BARITONE Phone Wabash 8988

Centralizing School of Music | Centralizing School of Acting
GERTRUDE RADLE-PARADIS, President | WILLIAM OWEN, Director
Departments: Piano, Theory, Voice, Violin, Violoncello, Expression. SEND FOR BOOKLET
Box 27, 20 East Jackson Blvd., CHICAGO, ILL.

THE BELLS OF RHEIMS

Long have they swung across the vineyards fair,
Yet sweeter now across the world of dreams,
Those shattered bells, whose voice once filled the air,
Call us to worship at the shrine of Rheims.

Across the war, the world, the pleasures gone,
Assured and sweet the bells of Rheims ring on.

Ages ago, when pilgrims wandered there,
Forth to the shrine of One whose blood redeems,
Robber, and King, and mendicant footbare,
Pausing, have heard the far-off bells of Rheims.
Faint on the wind, across the summer's glow,
On Winter blind, their tale ran long ago,—

"Though man he dies, though bells down-shattered be,
There in the skies the soul finds Victory."

So will they ring, and from the future's sky
Above the city where the maiden dreams,
Across the fields where our beloved lie,
The wind will bring the far-off bells of Rheims.
Through all the years when we from earth have gone,
Assured and sweet those bells will still ring on,—

"Though States may rise, and Kings and Empires be,
There in the skies alone stands Victory."

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

———###———

Hofmann—Josef Hofmann is to be the soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra in Boston on December 20 and 21, after which he returns to his winter home at Aikens, S. C., for the Christmas holidays. On January 4 he begins his regular tour when he plays with the New York Symphony Orchestra in New York. From then until the middle of April Mr. Hofmann will have the busiest months of his career. It will include a Pacific Coast tour.

AEOLIA MARTIN

Aeolia Martin, the young pianist who played so exceptionally well at the concert of the Metropolitan Conservatory of Music last week and whose success was recorded in the last issue of Music News, is being congratulated by her friends on the fact that she has been accepted as one of the young American artists to appear at the Festival of American Music at Lockport, N. Y., next September.

AEOLIA MARTIN

Miss Martin is a pupil of Max Kramm and in her playing reflects the same careful training which has been in evidence in the work of many others of his artist pupils.

Chicagoans will remember the two piano recitals given by another Kramm pupil—Jessie Comlossy, at Central Music Hall in Chicago—and readers of Music News will recall the fact that she appeared successfully at Lockport last September.

Both Miss Martin and Miss Comlossy have been selected for appearances there next September.

C. E. W.

———###———

Clarke—Edward Clarke has accepted the position of soloist at the Memorial and First Baptist Church, Oakwood boulevard. Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Clarke, assisted by Easter Hirschberg, gave a program at the Vognilds Studios. Together with Earl Victor Prahl, these artists entertained the children of the Off the Street Club recently. They will appear for the jackies at the Great Lakes Training Station next Monday evening.

———###———

Hinshaw—Marvin Hinshaw of the Hinshaw Conservatory, Chicago, was the teacher of Greek Evans, a Baritone (American), who made a very successful debut with the Creatore Opera Company in "Aida" at Brooklyn. Musical America said of him that "he measures fully up to the standards which obtain, or should obtain, in the opera houses in this country."

ANTONETTE
ZEBROWSKA-PERLOWSKA Concert Violinist
7812 SOUTH SHORE DRIVE
Tel. So. Chicago 4885

Blanche E. Snider
LYRIC SOPRANO
429 Fine Arts Bldg. On tour with Cathedral Quartette

Letitia V. Barnum, Director
CHICAGO SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION AND DRAMATIC ART
Fine Arts Bldg. 410 Michigan Ave., Chicago

LENOX LUCIE ROBERTS Soprano—Pupils
519 FINE ARTS BUILDING, WED. AND SAT. A. M.
1019 Superior St., OAK PARK. Phone O. P. 3530-J

Hanna Butler
Soprano PUPILS RECITAL ORATORIO
512 Fine Arts Bldg. Tel. Wabash 4878

Arthur Shattuck, Pianist
Management Margaret Rice, Secretary, 325 Oakland Avenue, Milwaukee
The Steinway Piano

Marie Edwards
PIANIST AND ORGANIST. Ill. College of Music. 2831 Washington Blvd.
907-8 Lyon & Healy Bldg. Phone Wabash 6841

BASSO Dr. Carver Williams
Cosmopolitan School Kimball Hall

ALMA HAYS REED
SOPRANO
6543 GLENWOOD AVENUE

Alexander RAAB
PIANIST
CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

Nicholas Garagusi
THE AMERICAN VIOLINIST For Concerts and Recitals.
Management EMIL REICH, 1 W. 34th St., New York

Clyde Stephens
PIANIST
Faculty Appointment, Coe College Cedar Rapids, Ia.

MASON SLADE
Organ Lawrence Conservatory, Appleton, Wis.
Christ Episcopal Church, Chicago
Phone Midway 930

JENNIE F. W. JOHNSON
CONTRALTO
American Conservatory. 700 Oakwood Blvd., Chicago

Edgar Nelson
BUSH CONSERVATORY

Chant Sans Paroles
A New Composition for Piano and Violin by BENIOT LEVY
Published by - - The Clayton F. Summy Co.

Hertha E. Johnson
PUPILS SOPRANO CONCERTS
1207 Kimball Hall Phone Harrison 7949

DR. FRANCIS HEMINGTON
Concert Organist Pupils Received
Phone Oak Park 2464

CARL J. WATERMAN
TENOR
Teacher of Singing and Public School Music
Lawrence Conservatory Appleton, Wisconsin

HARRY DETWEILER PIANIST
TEACHING
Chicago Musical College
Pres. Columbia Conservatory, Aurora, Ill.

HAZEL SILVER Lyric Soprano
Bush Conservatory Tel. Superior 8700

Cleveland Bohnet
PIANIST, AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

REGINA HASSLER-FOX
AMERICAN MEZZO-CONTRALTO
Personal Representative, L. S. FOX, 133 Fifth Ave., N.Y.

GRANT HADLEY
BARITONE
KIMBALL BLDG.

MONICA GRAHAM Mary Wood Chase School
STULTS SOPRANO BASS
WALTER ALLEN -- 1306 KIMBALL HALL

THE BURNS SCHOOL OF MUSIC
PHYSICAL EXPRESSION AND ETIQUETTE
M. Rose Burns, President
725 Lyon & Healy Bldg. and 401 W. 63d St.

BERNIECE SEABURY
SOPRANO
2914 Ellis Ave. Douglas 3584

Churches

PEOPLE'S LIBERAL CHURCH

Stewart avenue and Sixty-fifth street; Rev. R. A. White, D. D., pastor, Sunday morning service, 10:30 o'clock, Dec. 22.

Mrs. Bertha Lotta Sorensen, contralto; Miss Mildred Brown, soprano; Miss Norma Altermalt, violinist; Mr. Frank VanDusen, organist.

Organ Prelude—Offertory on Two Christmas Hymns ..... Guilmant
Offertory—March of the Magi ..... Dubois
Soprano Solo—Birthday of the King ..... Neidlinger
Miss Brown
Violin Solo—Melody in E flat ..... Tschaikowsky
Miss Altermalt
Contralto Solo—Ave Maria (violin obligato) ..... Schubert
Mrs. Sorensen
Soprano Solo—Under the Silent Stars ..... Coombs
Miss Brown
Violin Solo—Legende ..... Wieniawski
Miss Altermalt
Duet—The Dawn of Hope ..... Coombs
Miss Brown and Mrs. Sorensen
Sermon—The Imponderable
Postlude—Hallelujah Chorus (from Messiah) ..... Handel

St. Chrysostom's Church

1424 North Dearborn Parkway, Sunday, December 22, 1918. Children's festival service afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. (This service will consist of a pageant in five tableaux with the singing of traditional Christmas carols and the candle light procession.)

Christmas Day, Wednesday, December 25. Holy communion 11:00 o'clock.

Prelude—Pastorale ..... Cesar Franck
Processional—Hymn 49, O Come All Ye Faithful ..... Reading
Introit—Hymn 54, While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks ..... Tansur
Kyrie, Gloria and Gratia Tibi ..... Hyde
Offertory Anthem—Three Kings Have Journeyed ..... Cornelius
Anthem at the Presentation—Hallelujah Chorus (from "The Messiah") ..... Handel
Sanctus in F ..... Gounod
Gloria in Excelsis ..... Chant
Recessional—Hymn 51, Hark! the Herald Angels Sing ..... Mendelssohn
Postlude—Allegro (from Symphony Four) ..... Vierne

The Christmas Day service will be repeated on Sunday, December 29, at 11:00 o'clock, and at 4:00 o'clock of the same day there will be given the festival service of the choir.

Soloists: Miss Maude Lewis, soprano; Mr. Walter Chambers, tenor; George Gordon Beck, bass, and chorus of twenty mixed voices.

EMORY L. GALLUP,
Organist and Choir Master.

New England Congregational, Dec. 22

Mina Taylor Bonney, soprano; Annabelle MacIntyre Dickey, contralto; Harlan Haines, tenor; Guy C. Latchaw, bass; Irene Belden Zaring, organist-director, assisted by Wally Heymar, violin; Lillian Pringle, cello; Helena Stone Torgerson, harp, will render the following program as 10:45:

Prelude—Invocation ..... Hugo Grimm
Violin, Cello, Harp and Organ
Anthem—Angel Voices Ever Singing ..... MacFarlane
Harp Obligato
Solo—Adore and Be Still ..... Gounod
Mrs. Bonney
With Violin, Harp and Organ
Offertory—Romance ..... Saint-Saens
Violin, Harp, Organ
Anthem—Calm on the Listening Ear of Night ..... Harker
With Cello, Violin, Harp and Organ
Postlude—Hallelujah Chorus (Messiah) ..... Handel

Calvary Presbyterian Church

Keeler avenue and Jackson boulevard.

Choir of fifty voices; Milan R. Harris, director; Bessie M. McAllister, organist; Mrs. H. E. Martling, soprano; Mrs. R. B. Griess, contralto; Mr. M. M. Hamlin, tenor; Mr. J. G. Grabau, baritone.

Morning Service, 10:30 — Recitation, "Comfort Ye My People"; aria, "Every Valley," Mr. Hamlin, and the glory, "For Unto Us a Child Is Born"; Offertory, Pastoral, Symphony, all from "The Messiah."

Evening, 7:45—Prelude, Christmas carols, "Silent Night" and "The Birthday of a King"; cantata, "Promise and Fulfillment" (Ashford). Soloists and full choir.

Fifth United Presbyterian Church

Ethel Annette Gifford, who is soloist and choir director of the Fifth United Presbyterian Church, will give two Christmas songs next Sunday morning, "There Were Shepherds" (Foster), chorus and solo, and the trio from the oratorio "Christmas."

Miss Grace Samuels, soprano, pupil of Mrs. Gifford, will be the soloist at a new church in Marquette Manor, Hope Church, and will sing a Christmas song by Oley Speakes, "There's a Song in the Air."

Hyde Park Baptist Church

The choir of the Hyde Park Baptist Church, under the direction of Frank Parker, will present Matthews' cantata, "The Story of Christmas," Sunday night, Dec. 22, at 8 o'clock. The solo parts will be taken by Julia Morse, soprano; Mildred Smith, contralto; George B. Simons, tenor, and Mr. Parker, baritone. Miss Frances A. Cook is the organist.

First Presbyterian Church, Oak Park

Following is the program of music to be given at the First Presbyterian Church of Oak Park on Sunday, December 22. The regular quartet, consisting of Mable Corlew Smith, soprano; Edna Swanson Ver Haar, contralto; Hardy Williamson, tenor, and Gustaf Holmquist, bass, will be assisted by Amy Emerson Neill, violinist, and Clara Thurston, harpist. The music will be under the direction of Edgar Nelson, organist:

Organ—Christmas ..... Gaston Dethier
Organ, harp and violin—Adoration ..... Gounod
Misses Neill, Thurston and Mr. Nelson
Anthem—All Hail, the Virgin's Son ..... Dickenson
Mr. Williamson and the Quartet
Violin and harp obligato, Misses Neill and Thurston
Carol—The Earth Has Grown Old ..... Bairstow
Duet—Noel of the Bressan Waits ..... Darcioux
Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Ver Haar
Scene—Pastorale Symphony (Messiah) ..... Handel
Recitative—There Were Shepherds
Recitative—And Lo, the Angel
Recitative—And the Angel Said
Recitative—And Suddenly There Was Quartet—Glory to God
Anthem—Jesu, Thou Dear Babe ..... (Traditional from Hayti)
Trio—My Soul Doth Magnify (Christmas Oratorio) ..... Saint-Saens
Mrs. Smith and Messrs. Williamson and Holmquist. (Harp obligato)
Organ Postlude—Hosanna ..... Dubois
Mr. Nelson

At 4:30 p. m. a pageant will be given under the direction of Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Easte. The music, under the direction of Edgar Nelson, will consist of selections from the cantata "Story of Christmas" (Matthews), "The Coming of the King" (Buck) and selections by Pergolese and Gounod. The regular quartet, assisted by Mrs. Lillian Barr Johnson, soprano, will sing, and Miss Amy Neill, violinist, will play.

Church of the Epiphany

Ashland Boulevard and Adams street

Christmas Day festival services, with music under the direction of Dr. Francis Hemington, organist and choirmaster. Soloists: Miss Gladys Ziegler, soprano; Miss Lilian Knowles, contralto; Ralph W. Elliott, tenor; Ernest Barber, bass. Program:

7 A. M.

Prelude—Pastoral Symphony ..... Handel
Processional—Hymn 56, Christians, Awake ..... Wainright
Introit—For Unto Us a Child Is Born ..... Tours
Kyrie—Communion Service in E flat ..... Eyre
Glori Tibi—Communion Service in E flat ..... Eyre
Gratius Tibi—Communion Service in E flat ..... Eyre
Offertorium—Sing and Rejoice, O Daughter of Zion ..... Ambrose
Sursum Corda ..... Eyre
Sanctus ..... Eyre
Communion—Hymn 54, While Shepherds Watched ..... Traditional
Gloria in Excelsis ..... Old Chant
Recessional—O Come, All Ye Faithful ..... Reading
Postlude—Christmas Fantasie ..... Guilmant

10 A. M.—FESTIVAL EUCHARIST

Processional—Hymn 51, Hark, the Herald Angels Sing ..... Mendelssohn
Introit—Sing, Oh Sing, This Blessed Morn ..... Rogers
Kyrie ..... Winter
Gloria Tibi—Communion Service in E flat ..... Eyre
Oratius Tibi—Communion Service in E flat ..... Eyre
Nicene Creed—Communion Service in E flat ..... Eyre
Hymn No. 49—O Come, All Ye Faithful ..... Reading
Solo—O Thou That Tellest Glad Tidings (Messiah) ..... Handel
Offertorium Anthem—O Come, Redeemer of Mankind ..... West
Sursum Corda ..... Eyre
Sanctus ..... Eyre
Benedictus ..... Eyre
Agnus Dei ..... Eyre
Gloria in Excelsis ..... Eyre
Orison—Hymn 540, Once in Royal David's City ..... Gauntlett
Recessional—Hymn 59, It Came Upon a Midnight Clear ..... Willis
Postlude—Tollite Hostias ..... Saint-Saens

Grace Church, Oak Park

The Rev. F. R. Godolphin, rector.

Arthur Randolph Fraser, choirmaster and organist.

Christmas music:

Sunday, December 22, "The Messiah," at 4 p. m.

Handel's Oratorio, "The Messiah," will be sung by the full vested choir of sixty men and boys Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock under the direction of Arthur Randolph Fraser, choirmaster and organist. The choir will be assisted by Orpha Kendall Holstman, soprano; Permelia Gale, contralto; Robert Loren Quait, tenor, and Rollin Pease, basso. The seats are all free. Silver offering to help defray the expenses of the service.

Christmas eve midnight service, December 24, 11:15 p. m.

Carol singing by the congregation, 11 p. m.

Holy communion, 11:15 p. m.

Service sung by men's choir.

Processional—Hymn 49, Adeste Fideles ..... Gruber
Introit—Silent Night ..... Tallis
Kyrie Eleison ..... Merbecke
Communion Service in F ..... Redner
Offertory—Hymn 28, O Little Town of Bethlehem ..... Old Chant
Gloria in Excelsis ..... Willis
Recessional—Hymn 51

Choral eucharist and sermon Christmas Day, 10:30 a. m.

Organ Prelude—Offertoire on Two Christmas Hymns ..... Guilmant
Processional—Hymn 49, Adeste Fideles .....
Introit—Psalm 8, Chant 11 ..... Elvey
Kyrie Eleison (Shorter) ..... Tallis
Gloria Tibi ..... Tours
Gratias Tibi ..... Tours
Credo ..... W. S. Hoyte
Sermon—Hymn 59, It Came Upon a Midnight Clear ..... Smart
Offertorium—We Have Seen His Star ..... Kinder
Sursum Corda ..... Tours
Sanctus ..... Tours
Benedictus Qui Venit ..... Tours
Agnes Dei ..... Tours
Solo voices, Mr. Richard C. Anson, baritone, and Mr. Harry Slater, tenor
Gloria in Excelsis ..... W. S. Hoyte
Solo voice, Mr. Harry Slater, tenor
Recessional—Hymn 51, Hark the Herald Angels Sing ..... Willis
Organ Postlude—Christmas March ..... Merkel

♮ ♮ ♮

Church of the Holy Spirit

Christmas program will be given by the following: Miss Anna Burmeister, soprano; Clarence W. Howe, tenor; Arthur Ranous, baritone and director; Mrs. Alice Emmons McBride, organist.

♮ ♮ ♮

Trinity Church

Christmas program by the following: Mrs. C. H. Aufhammer, soprano; Miss Alice Farnham, soprano; Mrs. Donald W. Riddle, contralto; Samuel H. Newhall, tenor; Robert C. Long, bass; Miss Clarissa Greig, organist and director.

♮ ♮ ♮

St. Patrick's Church

Adams and Desplaines streets. Rev. William J. McNamee, P. R.

Christmas Day, 1919—Masses at 3:30, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 10:45, and 12 o'clock. Solemn High Masses at 5 and 10:45 o'clock.

Order of music:

Prelude (organ)—Christmas in Sicily ..... Yon
Processional—Hark! What Mean Those Holy Voices? ..... J. Lewis Browne
Introit (5 o'clock)—Lux Fulgebit ..... Chant
Introit (10:45 o'clock)—Puer Natus ..... Chant
Kyrie ..... Ashmall
Gloria ..... Ashmall
Gradual (5 o'clock)—Benedictus Qui Venit ..... Chant
Gradual (10:45 o'clock)—Viderunt Omnes ..... Chant
Credo ..... Ashmall
Offertorium (5 o'clock)—Deus Firmavit ..... Chant
Offertorium (10 o'clock)—Tui Sunt Coeli ..... Chant
Offertorium (at both masses)—Adeste Fideles .. Novello
Sanctus ..... Ashmall
Benedictus ..... Ashmall
Agnus Dei ..... Ashmall
Communio (5 o'clock)—Exsulta Filia Sion ..... Chant
Communio (10:45 o'clock)—Viderunt Omnes .... Chant
Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament—
O Salutaris ..... Auber
Tantum Ergo ..... Chant
The Divine Praises ..... Browne
Laudate Dominum ..... Chant

The combined choirs of 150 voices at 10:45 o'clock. Principal choristers: M. Carter, F. Keller, W. M. Kent, J. Daly, E. D. Messinger, J. A. Monahan, N. Gerber, J. W. Barney. J. Lewis Browne, organist and choirmaster.

♮ ♮ ♮

St. Paul's on the Midway

Sixtieth and Dorchester avenue. 11 a. m. Rev. L. Ward Brigham, pastor.

Carl E. Craven, director of music and tenor soloist.

Miss Ella Smith, organist.

Prelude—In Thee Is Joy ..... Bach
Anthem—Sing O Heavens ..... Tours
Solo—Miss Elizabeth Switzner
Soprano solo—Come Unto Me ..... Handel
Mrs. Mary Troyman
Chorus—Cherubim Song, No. 3 ..... Tschaikowsky
Contralto solo—O Thou That Tellest ..... Handel
Francis Grund
Chorus—Shout O Daughters of Jerusalem ..... Ashford
Tenor solo—The Babe in Manger Lowly ..... Kroeger
Mr. Craven
Postlude—Hallelujah ..... Handel

♮ ♮ ♮

First Baptist of Evanston

William Lester, organist and director. Quartet: Marjorie Dodge Warner, Ruth Simmons, Lawrence Dodd, Herbert Gould.

Program:

Organ Prelude—Allegro Maestoso ..... Dubois
Anthems—
Behold the Lord of All Mankind ..... Marchand
Calm in the Listening Ear of Night ..... Manney
Offertory—Bethlehem ..... Malling
Anthem—The Virgin and Child ..... Butcher
Postlude—Festival Toccata ..... Fletcher

♮ ♮ ♮

McCabe Memorial, 54th and Blackstone

Miss Mabel Wagner, organist. Quartet, Mrs. Margaret Lester, soprano and director. Program:

Prelude on Two Christmas Carols ..... Guilmant
Anthem—Sing, O Heavens ..... Tours
Mrs. Lester and Chorus Choir
Solo—Christmas Lullaby ..... William Lester
Mrs. Lester
Postlude—Pastorale ..... Manney
P. M.
Organ Prelude—Pastorale Symphony ..... Handel
Cantata—Bethlehem ..... Maunder
Postlude—March of the Magi Kings ..... Dubois

♯ ♯ ♯

RUTH ALLENE PRYOR DANCES FOR ALLIED CLUB AT HOTEL LA SALLE

This flourishing club is made up principally of persons employed in the Quartermaster's Department. It is only a few months old, but on Saturday evening it filled both ballrooms in the Hotel La Salle. Captain Bonniewell seemed to be the moving spirit, with Paul Sanders in charge of the program.

A short program, which consisted chiefly of interpretative dancing by Ruth Allene Pryor, was interspersed between the dancing of the members, and alternated between the two ballrooms.

The dances used by Miss Pryor were "Lancelot" (My New Bonnet), by Owen; "Pizzicato" and "Dance Circassian" (Oriental), by Delibes, and "American Patrol." Miss Pryor is a very young girl, but she has accomplished much in interpretative dancing. She has been likened by many to Gennee, and at this time it would seem that she has a brilliant future before her.

She is a charming girl, intelligent and graceful, and has gone a long way in the acquirement of dancing technic and repertoire.

Other numbers on the program were a cornet solo by Alfred Claudy, with Miss Florence Claudy as accompanist, and a piano solo by Mrs. J. P. Meyers.

ELEANORE CAPPS-HOSTLER.

HARRIET BACON MacDONALD, CARRIE MUNGER LONG, AND THE DUNNING SYSTEM OF IMPROVED MUSIC STUDY

Not only has Carrie Louise Dunning evolved a very original as well as immensely effective system of Improved Music Study for Beginners—one which has been tested and proved in all parts of the United States, but also she has shown that she has the greatest of intuition and skill in the selection of teachers to present this work to the public at large.

Harriet Bacon MacDonald and Carrie Munger Long—two teachers who are first of all thoroughly intelligent and artistic women, and who, secondly, are thorough and enthusiastic exponents of the Dunning system—are pictured today on the cover page of Music News.

Both these highly successful teachers live in Chicago and both are to hold Normal Classes here in the spring, Mrs. MacDonald being dated for March and Mrs. Long for May.

Meantime Mrs. MacDonald will hold a class at Tulsa, Okla. (January 6), which is already so well filled up that its success is abundantly insured.

She has taught many classes in all parts of the country and has been particularly successful in the Southwest.

Mrs. Long, before coming to Chicago, will have classes as follows: New Orleans, January 10, and Birmingham, Ala., March 1.

Further details of the Dunning System, as well as of the work of both Mrs. MacDonald and Mrs. Long, will shortly find place in these columns.

♯ ♯ ♯

MARY RICKARD FITCH

Mary Rickard Fitch, soprano, was soloist on December 10 at the Human Welfare Banquet.

On December 6 she led community singing for the Third District Federation of Women's Clubs at Hamilton Park.

She has used a great deal recently the new song by Mme. Hopekirk to text by Henry Van Dyke—"Home Again."

♯ ♯ ♯

Kern-Mullen—Marie Kern-Mullen, contralto, has been engaged as special soloist for December 22 at the Lake View Presbyterian Church, singing morning and afternoon. Her offertory number will be "Star of the Orient" (Rowe-Shelley).

♯ ♯ ♯

Craven—The corrected program of the numbers sung by Carl E. Craven at Bethany Lutheran Church last Sunday night reads as follows: "Then Shall the Righteous Shine" (Elijah), "How Long Wilt Thou Forget Me?" (Buck), and "The Lord Is My Light" (Allitsen).

♯ ♯ ♯

Mosher-Parmenter—Thirza Mosher-Parmenter sang at the West End Woman's Club on December 6 and at the Great Lakes on the 10th.

TEW

WORLD'S GREATEST VOCAL TEACHER

Engages to equip every pupil with an understanding of the Art of Singing, which insures a natural, unforced compass of from three octaves upwards of PURE, BEAUTIFUL, FLEXIBLE, and POWERFUL tone. (a) Principle of Co-ordination Applied to Vocal Mechanism, possible only through reversal of all modern Vocal Orthodox Methods. (b) Understanding of Principle (Logos), the Only Teacher.

JOHN A. ALCOTT, ASSISTANT TEACHER

SUITE 612 AND 613, FINE ARTS BUILDING, CHICAGO

TELEPHONE—WABASH 6990

The Elderly Person

"You are not nervous at all," said the physician. "You have only a nasty disposition and think only of your disagreeable self." He prescribed on that basis and she grew well and blessed him.

The man who does not keep Christmas with a glad heart this year needs to be sent to the same shop for the same treatment. We are all considerably battered by what has been happening. Some have given more than others and given without the asking. Others have had to be told what to do and shown that they had to do it, willy nilly. Out of the duties performed either cheerfully or grudgingly has come victory and the days of peace are at hand. The spirit which is not grateful is badly warped and does not count.

When one is grateful he is apt to show it. One thing which the war has done, beyond question, is to make visible the democracy of giving. Throughout it has been learned that the small giving of the many produces more satisfactory and lasting results than the large giving of the few. The Government set the pace by bond issues in small amount and small payments. The various drives carried it still further and, by organizing the work in military fashion, reached the farthest tips of the people who were needed. An army is commanded by a general, but the divisions run down to a squad of eight men under the orders of a corporal, and he can further reduce his section to a file of two men, one of whom is in charge. It was amazing to find how every one "chipped in" when there was a definite avenue through which to reach him. The democracy of the plan made ready appeal. A commendable pride quickens the humblest giver when he feels that he is a decisive part in a large movement.

Just how generally the majority of human beings accept this excellent new order of things observation of the multiplied "Tag Days" emphasizes. When the same sort of a tag is fastened to the giver of a penny as goes to the dollar donor, he is a foolish fellow who don't get into the game quickly. For, whether just or no, people are now sized up and have to fear the hurting title of "slacker" if they do not fall in line and be in on everything that makes worthy demand. A noticeable odium makes itself felt because events have proved that the suffering, the hurts, the needs of the distressed, are the affairs of all and that help must come from all, not from the few. The local charities of a large city for many years have had to depend upon the liberal gifts of the wealthy for maintenance. Many wealthy people have been excoriated for accumulating profits unfairly and assuaging any probings of conscience by charities. And "society women" have organized and arranged fetes and concerts and bazaars for pet benevolences depending upon their cajoleries and tact to worm the needed funds from reluctant nabobs who only give "something for nothing" under such circumstances.

But under the new plan a methodical districting of the city with an army of willing workers results in the "tagging" of a multitude of men and women who feel the worth of the plea made and give of their substance in a way to bring more net results than charity balls or bazaars ever did. The tag day is a giant stride towards the universality of obligation to the needs of those who have met disaster or misfortune.

The Elderly Person's Christmas meditation runs towards these symbols of gratitude. Our giving and giving and giving again comes primarily from a spirit of gratitude that we are here and can do something for others when they need us. That's the War Spirit. And that's the Christmas Spirit, too. To that spirit every call for help signals an eager response. There are chances in plenty now that the Birthday is here. One can drop money down the painted chimneys of the Salvation Army; send a check to the United Charities; slip something into the grating to keep the pot boiling for the Volunteers; whisper to the visiting nurses; shake hands and leave a coin with the preacher—he'll know where to put it; remember how good the Sunday School candy was a long time ago, and help keep alive the taste in mission schools; buy a tree for a crippled children's home; the church visitor can use anything from a ton of coal to a child's toy and make it serviceable; certified milk saves babies' lives and the Child Welfare Society knows how to distribute it; flowers in hospitals never cease to bring comfort and cheer; any employe in your office building can tell you of some one patiently enduring hard luck and saying nothing about it who would enjoy a Christmas dinner and the Good Fellow lists are long as ever.

These are the small sections of the standard set by the Great Example which has perfection in the ideal: "Greater love hath no man than this—that he lay down his life for his friends." Quite suddenly the conviction dawns that in that sense the world is religious beyond belief.

Harriet Vittum tells exquisitely how she found this in her talks with the soldiers about going "over the top." One young foreigner expressed, with broken words and many motions, his sensations. He said serving long in the trenches made one become a part of them. When the order to go into "No Man's Land" sounds the men climb the ladder to the sand bags, then find foothold among these until the summit is reached. For an instant there is the quiver of fear, as if alone unprotected amid danger. But only for an instant. Then he feels that he has left his body in the trenches and his soul takes control and that all about his unafraid spirit is the great company of the noble who have gone before. He knows he is not alone, but surrounded by something much greater than himself—something which welcomes him as a part of itself and spurs him to be strong of arm, brave of heart, ready to do worthily and be glad to be counted fit for such a task and such a company. . . .

Amid the arches of the great church the shadows gathered and played. In the groined spaces the music thrilled and thundered. The dipping colors of the flags caught and reflected the lights. The spoken word of the officer called the lads he praised "noble souls." His eyes were moist and his lips trembled with emotion, however, not with sadness or mourning. And the vested minister added his tribute, repeating again and again the sentence about that greater love which men had shown for men, even to giving up of life's sweetest joys and to the supreme gift of life itself. The boys and men's voices were tense with fervor as they sang of the golden evening brightening in the west where to faithful warriors cometh rest, or soared to exalted heights with the ascriptions of glory and paeans of hallelujah or breathed serenity in the restful "Nunc Dimittis." And into the silence crept the bugler's note of "Taps"—that same bugler whom the laughing lads sang about murdering some day because of his all too early and inevitable reveille. The notes stole into the faraway with reluctant vibrations. There was a lingering tenderness about them which caused the sounds to remain in the ears long after the echoes had ceased. Like unto the flower's fragrance in the room after the vase has been carried from it. . . . While the delicate, almost intangible, vibrations hesitated among the darkening arches a flood of light seemed to open the church roof and envelop a poppied

MANAGEMENT R. E. JOHNSTON, 1451 BROADWAY, NEW YORK

Cyrena Van Gordon

Contralto

Chicago Opera Association

Pleases the Critics With Her Laura in "La Gioconda"

Following Are a Few Extracts from the Notices Given Her Work

Cyrena Van Gordon was a stunning Laura and sang with full-throated utterance.—Chicago Daily News.

Miss Van Gordon did better by Laura than any other part she has yet had and hers was lovely singing throughout—correct, clean and with a glow in her tone which had been regarded as lost.—Chicago Tribune.

Cyrena Van Gordon as Laura was unfailingly excellent.—Chicago Daily Journal.

field wherein the crosses stood, "row on row in Flanders," each marking the spot where a splendid soul kept rendezvous with the inevitable, deserted its body and joined the company of that glorious choir invisible. The bright face of the former choir boy hovered over the crosses, gravely changing its youthful lines into the manly ones of his maturity. There was no doubt in his smile. It brooded with tenderness and grateful affection at the tribute his church choir and friends offered his name and deeds. It was happiness to be remembered, to be lovingly spoken of. His head bent low to hear the voices, the music, and his clear eyes sensed the throb of feeling in the great crowd, touched to the core. He waved his hat above the soft hair in token and greeting, his face aglow and shining with love and fellowship. Then slowly he shook his head, happily and with no shadow on the radiant face. A suffusing look of unconquerable satisfaction, a mixture of grateful pride and unquestioned confidence, gave way to one of supreme joy as the figure faded. . . . The look said everything. That life and comradeship were sweet but what had come in place of their surrender far outweighed. That there had been no loss, but tremendous gain which made what had been given up seem of minor importance. It asked for no tears, no regret, no fret, no doubt, no question. Whether it was the Heaven of his childhood or a sphere where progress did not cease was of no moment. His was the companionship of noble souls and that was paradise.

It is good to be alive, to love and work and play, and hope for peace at the gate. But to go through the portals in full flush, counted a worthy follower of the Greater Love—that is Christmas giving to covet.

A HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

The John Marshall High School has lately been enriched by the addition of a beautiful auditorium, the result of constant agitation on the part of the principal, Louis J. Block, who has much reason to be proud of his school and its achievements.

Here, on last Saturday evening, was given a performance of Sheridan's old classic play, "The Rivals," under direction of Miss Alves Long and Miss Theilgaard, with the following cast, made up from students of the school:

| | |
|---|---|
| Fag | Ben Zion Ginsburg |
| Thomas | Leon Racusin |
| Lydia Languish | Dorothy L. Gordon |
| Lucy | Lois M. Watt |
| Mrs. Malaprop | Helen Minium |
| Julia Melville | Beatrice Levin |
| Sir Anthony Absolute | Abner Sideman |
| Captain Absolute | Edward De Koven |
| Faulkland | Maurice Riskind |
| Bob Acres | Lawrence Stevens |
| Boy | Barney Frankel |
| Sir Lucius O'Trigger | Harold Jackson |
| David | Thomas Picker |
| Servant | William Dubow |
| Maid | Maurine Tohms |

And Pinky Panky Poo

While the new auditorium is beautiful and commodious, it has, unfortunately, very imperfect acoustics, and therefore those who speak on its stage must exercise caution if they wish to be heard by the audience.

On last Saturday evening Miss Gordon, Miss Watt, Miss Minium, Mr. Sideman, Mr. De Koven, Mr. Stevens and Mr. Jackson were heard a reasonable percentage of the time, but Miss Levin and Mr. Riskind, as well as some of the smaller parts, were not heard to any advantage at any time.

The play was wonderfully well staged and—in every instance, well acted, and altogether the success of the venture was such as to reflect great credit on the school and the instructors and to prove also that the students have done careful, attentive work.

"The Rivals" is a fine old play—big, dignified and altogether good literature as well as brilliant art, and it was appreciated by every player in a thoroughly satisfactory degree.

It was preceded by the cunning, satirical play by W. D. Howells, "The Mouse Trap," in which good work was done by Leon Sex and Misses Goldie Lasker, Sylvia Wolf, Imogene Wiest, Bessie Feinstein, Pearl Tanenbaum and Edna Hay. In this play also, because of the defective acoustics of the room, a great part of the sparkling dialogue was lost to the audience.

A fine musical program was rendered by the school orchestra under the direction of Mr. Andruss.

C. E. W.

VAN DUSEN STUDIO

The following program was given by organ pupils of Frank Van Dusen at his organ studio at the American Conservatory on Wednesday afternoon, December 11:

| | |
|---|---|
| Gothic Suite | Boellman |
| Miss Hanna Johnson | |
| Grand Chorus | Dubois |
| Miss Radie Brittian | |
| Liebeslied | Harker |
| Miss Paula Janton | |
| Offertoire | Batiste |
| Miss Susan Bell | |
| March of the Magi | Dubois |
| Miss Doris Andrews | |
| Andantino | Lemare |
| Miss Ruth Bishop | |
| Second Sonata | Mendelssohn |
| Miss Emily Roberts | |

YVONNE GALL

"An Ideal Juliet"

Henrietta Weber said in Herald-Examiner—

The Parisian soprano surpassed all the Juliets who ever appeared in America and added another glorious page to her career in her appearance at the Chicago Opera.

"Yvonne Gall was in many respects an ideal Juliet. She sang the music well, even brilliantly. There was classic serenity and a proud reserve in her delineation."

Karleton Hackett wrote for the Evening Post as follows—

"She was an impassioned Juliet, one who had absorbed herself in the spirit of the story and sought only to bring out the meaning. She sang the music with richness of tone color and full volume, yet always according to the French attitude toward singing that its primary purpose is to illustrate the meaning of the word. There was no sense of the display of vocal technic for its own sake nor even to make beautiful tones just for their own sake, but to use the utmost beauty of tone to bring out more clearly the meaning of the tale. It was all done with such simplicity and grace as made it a delight both to the ear and to the eye. Miss Gall is a find for the company, an artiste who can play opposite to Muratore in these French operas and bring out their quality."

With Chicago Opera Association

NEW YORK OPERA

Review by JOSEPH DE VALDOR

Metropolitan Gives Three Operas by Puccini—First Performance on Any Stage—The Operas Are Well Received—"Il Tabarro" (The Cloak), With Crimi and Montesanto—"Suor Angelica" (Sister Angelica) and "Gianni Schicchi," With De Luca, Crimi and Florence Easton.

It was a big night in the Broadway Opera House on Saturday evening, December 14, because something new was offered, and whatever the value of the new works, it afforded a relief to the old repertoire of the Metropolitan, which often is not happily chosen. Composers are in the habit of bestowing the honors on their respective countries, but New York for once was given the special privilege of hearing these works first and thus made subject to either approval or disapproval. Puccini could not have received a better reception at Milan or Rome than the one tendered in New York.

Naturally the cast was secondary to the public, for attention was mainly concentrated on Puccini, and expectations ran high. Puccini never fails to offer something, whether it be in the score or the orchestra or for the voices of the singers. I suspect that the public expected eagerly to hear some aria a la "Che gelida manina" or "Lucevan a le Stelle," and none came to hearing save for one aria prayer in "Gianni Schicchi," sung by Florence Easton. In the "Tabarro," if Puccini had not selected such mediocre stuff as that of "The Girl of the Golden West" (speaking of the text), at least his choice as a libretto will be detrimental to the success of the music. In most of his operas Puccini is one of the few composers whose choice of texts has not been open to criticism, save for Belasco's unfit story, but in the "Tabarro" he came in line with such grim stories as those of his colleagues, Zandonai in "Francesca da Rimini" and Montemezzi's "Love of the Three Kings." The final scene of the "Tabarro" is grim tragedy—the killing of a wife and her lover. Puccini subdues his score through quiet lyrical passages. It is no reminiscence of Scarpia's death. It is a continuation of melodious patches without distinctive individuality. There is a strong reminiscence of Zandonai's own score of the Love Duet of the third act. Especially the aria sung by Luigi (Crimi), the lover of Giorgetta (Muzio), wife of Michele (Montesanto) is something very much alike to a combination of Zandonai and Giordano of "Andrea Chenier" fame. The score is not vulgar. It is sweet. But toward the end of the act it drags into dreadful monotony, especially in the baritone's recitative.

GIUSEPPE DE LUCA

In my humble opinion, since New York had the honor of its first presentation, it will have to stamp it, if not as a failure, at least not a great success.

Giulio Crimi sang with ardor his love aria, bringing his good tenor quality into full force. His singing was excellent, and the applause was bestowed rather on his voice than on Puccini's score. Luigi Montesanto contributed with his excellent baritone voice to make the opera less monotonous.

♮ ♮ ♮

"Suor Angelica"

From tragedy we were transferred to a spiritual plot, the denouement of which takes place in a convent. The score here is of finer fiber. In the beginning Puccini comes back to his beloved theme of "La Boheme" (the last act) and "Tosca" (the third act) and concludes with very beautiful passages of ecclesiastical music. But again we failed to extract anything which would establish the opera in the permanent repertoire. Geraldine Farrar, in the title part, again was open to the advice that a needed rest might restore her vocal powers, which this season are notably bad.

LUIGI MONTESANTO

This opera has no male singers, and it may be that the monotony of the cast was also due to this fact. It is known, especially from books, that the genuine spiritual life of the convent is one of calmness similar to death, but I believe that "Suor Angelica" as an opera is more monotonous than the life of the convent. The best singing was done by Marie Sundelius, whose fresh and lovely voice was a delight to the ear. The few measures afforded to Cecil Arden were also pleasurable—alas! there were only few. There were many names in the cast, but none had much to do.

♮ ♮ ♮

"Gianni Schicchi"

And here we come to comedy—and, curiously enough, Puccini pushed the button of inspiration. It was a relief to hear "Gianni Schicchi" after listening to the other works, and beforehand we can say this one-act opera should be a worthy companion to "Pagliacci" or "Cavalleria." The plot is simple and excellently adapted to music. Gianni Schicchi affects illness so as to be able to change an unpleasant will of a deceased man. Giuseppe De Luca was the hero of the comedy, the music of which is graceful, charming, lively and melodious. It is Puccini in disguise of comedy, with an

Louis Hasselmans

With the

Chicago Opera Association

A Splendid Success in the Direction of

"Werther"

The press says:

"The music, after three years' disuse, sounded well under Mr. Hasselmans."—Chicago Tribune.

"Mr. Hasselmans gave a fine reading of the score."—Chicago Evening Post.

"Conductor Haselmans wrought wonders with his orchestra and singers. There have been few lovelier moments in this or any other season than the duet between O'Sullivan and Miss Pavloska at the end of the first act, with a solo cello in the orchestra interjecting its comments upon the proceedings."—Chicago Daily Journal.

"Louis Hasselmans conducted the opera and put all the light and shade into its reading that the work called for."—Chicago Daily News.

interesting score, and different from what he has written so far. There is one aria, sung by Lauretta, which is beautiful indeed, and the "aria prayer" as sung by Florence Easton had to be encored. The soprano was in perfect vocal trim, and this particular music is finely adapted to her lyric voice. She sang it with brilliance and pure intonation, and interpreted in such fashion that it was an instant success. Therefore the spontaneous applause compelled its repetition.

ROBERTO MORANZONI

De Luca is a master comedian. After his capital inpersonation of Marouf he threw himself into this part with such elan that "Gianni Schicchi" was pronounced a success. Particularly in the mocking of illness he was not less than perfect. His humor was indeed contagious, for every utterance, splendidly vocalized, was effective and bright. The cry of Gianni Schicchi was perfect comedy, and the promise, "Sta bene," tendered to his friend was sufficient to make one not only smile but laugh.

Giulio Crimi reappeared for his share and made the performance pleasurable with his admirable voice. He also was the correct picture in the comedy. Again the cast was large and efficient vocally.

♮ ♮ ♮

In the success of the operas Roberto Moranzoni had his ample share and was included in the recalls after "Suor Angelica." He employed his skill and knowledge and made the orchestra speak. Naturally, having studied these three works with Puccini himself, he gave a flawless exhibition of musicianship. We must commend the beautiful scenery.

In spite of the increased prices the house was sold out and more than 500 people were compelled to stand.

———♯♯♯———

Yung—Pupils of Mme. Marie Yung furnished the entire dancing program last Thursday evening at the Christmas Tree Festival, Coliseum. Solo numbers were rendered by the Misses Agnes and Irene Bossu, Creyce, Blair, Beatrice Groll, Hildegarde Brosnihan, Agnes Ramm, Helen Paden, Wanda Nestman, and Eileen Schofield. The Spanish Finale was the feature number on the program.

———♯♯♯———

Hyde—Herbert E. Hyde's Allegro de Concert is to be played by the Chicago Symphony Orchestra at the next popular concert December 26.

CAMPS LEE AND PETERSBURG

After the long quarantine for "flu" at Camp Lee the renewal of musical activities was greeted with great enthusiasm. Petersburg and Richmond musicians have given freely of their time and talents in giving concerts for the boys at the "Y" huts, which number twenty-two in this camp.

Miss Anna E. Currier, concert manager, resident of Petersburg, now in charge of all music for the War Camp Community, has been untiring in her efforts in arranging programs and conducting concert parties to camp. What a joy it is to do for the boys in khaki!—to give the most one can to please them and to respond to their ever-ready applause and clamor for "more."

Christine Miller spent three days here last month, making a complete circuit of the huts, from the auditorium to the open-air theaters. Earl Mitchel, a young Pittsburgh pianist and former accompanist of Miss Miller, who is in service here, added much to the enjoyment of the programs, which were all interesting, varied and just what the boys like.

On November 11 Maud Powell played for the Convalescent Hospital in the attractive Red Cross room and gave a popular program at the Liberty Theater. The program included the Allegro of De Beriot's Seventh Concerto, Cavatina by Roff, the Finale of the Mendelssohn Concerto, her own arrangement of Beethoven's Minuet in G, Chopin's "Maiden's Wish" and Nocturne in E, "Song of India," by Rimsky-Korsakoff, and the Powell arrangement of Four American Folk Songs; also a piano group: "Danse Negre" (Cyril Scott), "Crystal Spring" (William Mason) and "Ponchinello," by Rachmaninoff, played by Axel Skjerne, a young Norwegian pianist, who proved himself an extremely interesting soloist as well as a splendid accompanist.

Mme. Powell, as always, charmed her audience and was just our own unparalleled Mme. Powell, certainly a great favorite with the boys in khaki.

Claudia Allbright, contralto of the La Scala and Opera Comique, sang in Petersburg for several large benefit meetings for the War Work drive. She also gave programs at Camp Lee, Norfolk and Old Point for War Camp Community. Miss Mary Patteson furnished the accompaniments.

Many music lovers from Petersburg and Camp Lee attended the concert of the Paris Orchestra given in Richmond on the night of the big celebration for the signing of the armistice. The Auditorium was packed with a wildly enthusiastic audience which will surely never forget that momentous night. Incidentally, at the intermission $150,000 was raised for the United War Work. The orchestra was superb. How one does appreciate the beauties of a symphony after a period away from them! The program included "Patrie Overture" by Bizet, "Symphonie en Re Mineur" of Cesar Franck, "L'Apprentier Sorcier" by Paul Dukas, "Predude du Deluge" by Saint-Saens, with the beautiful violin solo played by Alfred Brun, and "Rhapsodie Norwegienne" by Ed Lalo. A stirring rendition of the "Marseillaise" proved a suitable ending to an unusually well spent evening.

Mary Bingham Porter, who is in Petersburg while Lieutenant Porter is at Camp Lee, has given practically her entire time to playing in the "Y" huts for the Army Clubs, War Camp Community, Sunday Sings, etc. Since the "flu" ban was raised she has gone to camp two or three evenings each week, giving from one to three concerts an evening. Mrs. Porter is also possessor of a beautiful soprano voice and is able to vary her programs with song groups. She has made herself a favorite, always being requested to "come again soon." Liza Lehman's "Cuckoo" has proved the most popular song of all—invariably it must be done again—the second time with all the boys joining in the "Cuckoo," which causes much merriment. Mrs. Porter has found that the boys really appreciate good things, though her violin number with a "Story" to be told, or with good rhythm are always most popular.

Sunday "Sings," which during the summer were held in Central Park, are now held in the Academy. Mr. John A. Driscoll, song leader at Camp Lee, conducts the singing. A camp orchestra and one or two soloists furnish an interesting program. Much interest has been manifest and it is hoped that the close of the war will not cause any loss of enthusiasm for such a splendid community affair.

The Army Women's Club in Petersburg has proved itself an invaluable organization. Quartered in the attractive and spacious rooms of St. Paul's parish house, it has been of great benefit to army women. Classes have been conducted in telegraphy, typewriting, shorthand, artificial flower-making and basketing (to be taught as a bedside occupation), and French. One of the interesting and helpful features are the Friday afternoon musical teas. Many artists among the army women and Petersburg musicians contribute to the programs.

On the evening of December 3 Mary Bingham Porter, violinist; Mary Baxter Spooner, soprano, and Miss Mary Patteson, accompanist, gave a program in the War Camp Community Auditorium in Newport News for soldiers and sailors and their families. Mrs. Spooner has a voice of beautiful quality, clear, well rounded and splendidly controlled. Her interpretations were musical, artistic and given with much finish and attention to detail. Mrs. Porter, with charming personality, clear, solid technique, strong yet facile bowing, pure and colorful tone, was a delight to the audience. She is very temperamental and takes her audience into her every mood, from the brilliance and playfulness of a perpetual motion to the softest and most lulling of slumber songs.

Miss Patteson of Petersburg gave both artists splendid support with unusually sympathetic and upholding accompaniments.

A music club composed of twenty-five women of Petersburg had "guest day" last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Witherspoon, who is a beautiful pianist and sponsor of all things musical. The program of miscellaneous composers was most interesting. Three guests assisted: Miss Sally Gray Sheperd of Richmond, who played Schuman's "Carnival," Mary Bingham Porter who gave a violin group including Hauser's "Hungarian Fantasia," "Slumber Song" and "Polish Dance" by Earl Drake, and Earl Mitchell of Pittsburgh, who assisted with several accompaniments. A symphonic poem of Liszt's for two pianos, the well-known "Jubilee Overture" arranged for eight hands, and several piano and vocal solos by club members completed the program.

N. C. Q.

MAC DERMID-GUNN CONCERT

In the presence of a splendid audience at Kimball Hall on last Thursday evening a joint song and piano program of much value was given by Sibyl Sammis MacDermid, Soprano, and Glenn Dillard Gunn, pianist.

Mrs. MacDermid sang three groups, the first (not heard), consisting of an aria of Handel and the "Air de Leonora" (Godard).

The second group was made up of French songs by Hue, Bruneau, Bizet and Foudrain—a genre of works in which Mrs. MacDermid is peculiarly adept and altogether fine.

Her French is excellent and her feeling for the texts perfect. Vocally she has a finesse as well as a richness of quality which leads her to correct and always glowing account of the music and her entire attitude toward both texts and music is typically true and fine.

The last group, in English, was, to this writer, the crowning point of the program, however.

Mrs. MacDermid used her fine legato quality and the rich fullness of her voice to most beautiful effect in a song by James MacDermid "I call to mind a Day," which is truly one of the finest works from that gifted pen.

Carpenter's rather evasive but interesting "Silhouettes" followed this and, to the credit of the audience be it said, was much appreciated.

The list closed with "Fairy Pool" and "La Tarentella" by Jeanne Boyd, whose presence at the piano (not only for this group, but throughout all of Mrs. MacDermid's singing) proved an added inspiration and musical joy.

Miss Boyd is one of the most facile of accompanists and she is also a writer of varied and unusual charm.

The "Fairy Pool" (a child's piece) was definitely pretty and of wholly dainty imaginative content, while the "Tarentella"—heard before with much pleasure—at this time, under the skillful and impassioned manipulation of the two artists, became a thing of scintillant wonder and musical delight.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

Stokes—Kate Pentzer Stokes scored great success in her reading of a group of Browning Poems at the North Shore Woman's Club Meeting at the Edgewater Beach Hotel on December 12.

THE CRUSADERS

At the Ebenezer Lutheran Church on Foster avenue they do musical things in a big way, and the basis of such doing lies primarily in a splendid choral society which studies and rehearses endlessly under the energetic eye and baton of David Nyvall Jr., who is a born conductor.

The most recent example of the work accomplished by these forces was shown on last Sunday night, when "The Crusaders"

CHARLES E. LUTTON

(Gade) was sung with much understanding and fine musical style.

Emil Larson, a good organist, and Arthur Lydell, an equally good pianist, furnished exact and colorful accompaniments, but unfortunately the two instruments were not tuned together to an exact nicety, with the result that the chorus was thereby occasionally thrown off the key.

This did not happen all the time, but often enough to be disconcerting and to suggest the urgent desirability of more exact tuning next time.

The chorus did beautiful work throughout and completely excelled itself in the closing number.

Arthur Kraft (still in khaki) sang the most elaborate of the solo scores (tenor) and did it in his well-remembered artistic and effective way.

Esther E. Pearson sang the soprano part and created a sensation at one moment by the purity and brilliance of her top tone at the end of her most important solo.

Charles E. Lutton had the bass solo score in his care and he managed it excellently. His reading was big and masterful, his musicianship impeccable and his voice broad and musical. His work in the closing scene, in dramatic solo, and with brilliant obligato to the full chorus was that of a sincere and experienced artist.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

Shipman—Vera Brady Shipman has placed the "Choir Boys" at The Hippodrome for the current week.

A Rendezvous for the Elite—Artists and Musicians

PANCRAZI'S

Genuine Italian Restaurant and Rotisserie

486 COLUMBUS AVENUE
BETWEEN 83RD AND 84TH STREETS
NEW YORK

HUGO GOODWIN
ORGANIST AND CHOIRMASTER, ST. JAMES EPISCOPAL CHURCH
DIRECTOR BACH CHORAL SOCIETY. ORGAN, PIANO, VOCAL COACH
WITH INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE 666 RUSH STREET SUPERIOR 7283

ALLEN RAY CARPENTER TENOR Kimball Hall

CHARLES W. CLARK "Master of the Song World" BARITONE J.C. Barker, 893 N. Dearborn St CHICAGO

H. W. OWENS VOCAL DIRECTOR WESTERN CONSERVATORY Voice Teacher Coaching PHONE WABASH 3506

Morgan KINGSTON LEADING TENOR METROPOLITAN OPERA CO., New York Concert Direction Metropolitan Musical Bureau AEOLIAN HALL NEW YORK

Florence Macbeth
PRIMA DONNA COLORATURA
Concert Direction, Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall, New York
Helen L. Levy, Associate Manager

HERMAN DEVRIES VOCAL TEACHER MRS. HERMAN DEVRIES, . . . Associate Vocal Instructor
At Studios, 518-528 Fine Arts Building, Chicago, Ill.
Terms for Mr. Devries Terms for Mrs. Devries
Ten Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each, $50.00 Ten Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each. $30.00

FLORA GUENZBURG-ZYGMAN IN PIANO RECITAL

Those who hear Mme. Flora Zygman play the piano once are always keen to repeat the pleasure, and therefore Kimball Hall was full of the admirers of her art on last Sunday afternoon, and the recital given at that time was greeted with the greatest of enthusiasm.

Mme. Zygman is a charming woman, and her appearance on the stage is exceptionally good.

She approaches her task of piano playing with such very evident sincerity of purpose and such a splendid equipment that there is bound to follow, always—complete satisfaction.

In reviewing a beginner it is necessary to speak in detail of the technical equipment, for almost always there is some detail of this department of the work missing.

In the case of Mme. Zygman, however, it is not necessary to dwell upon technic at all, for so completely is she equipped and so deftly does she use her equipment that the audience simply takes it for granted that she can play anything she chooses with ease and that, therefore, one need only pay attention to the musical message.

This is a comfortable feeling, and it is, besides, the correct one from the art standpoint, and when an artist has attained it, as has Mme. Zygman, it becomes necessary, in a review, only to detail the "story" told by her program.

She has a very complete and satisfactory musicianship, and her feeling for the content of piano compositions is broad and comprehensive.

She is also a great student of piano literature and is able to make her programs glow with novelty and interest.

This was the case on last Sunday when she began with the Beethoven Sonata, Opus 31, as fine a piece of pianistic work as his list contains, and this was followed by the lovely Pastorale by Scarlatti, one of the gems of pianoforte literature, both these being played with classic purity and the most circumspect attention to form and style.

FLORA ZYGMAN

There was also an elaborate Chopin group, including a Prelude, a Mazurka, an Impromptu, and two Etudes, all played in splendid style, and the entire group constituting a fine example of coloring, contrast, and climax, but, to this writer at least, the chief interest of the recital lay in the group which was devoted to some Russians, the Frenchman, Chevillard, and the Chicago pianist and teacher, Mr. Heniot Levy.

The group opened with the Chevillard "Theme et Variations," a distinctly fine piece of writing, a bit academic as to content, but sure, clean and clear.

It was presented by Mme. Zygman in excellent style and served to show her mastery of many shades of tone color and dynamics.

Followed then an Etude and a Gavotte by Seymanowski and Michalowski respectively, and these proved to be piquant and brilliant and expressed in an idiom entirely national and yet of broad appeal.

They were played with intensity and brilliance, and each made its fine impression, as did also the better-known Prelude in E flat minor by Rachmaninoff, a really beautiful piece of pianistic work which seemed to have its particular appeal for the pianist.

The Levy number was the well-known and much-liked Mazurka, a piece of carefully written composition embodying much of novelty and a great deal of charm.

Mme. Zygman played it beautifully, and for this, as indeed after each number of the program, she received the heartiest of commendation.

C. E. W.

———♯♯♯———

Annette Gifford—Ethel Annette Gifford will give a recital the first of the year at Urbana, Ill., at one of the University Houses.

Giulio Crimi

TENOR

METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE

Made a successful debut on Nov. 11th

as Radames in "Aida"

and has achieved brilliant successes also as

Cavaradossi in "La Tosca"
Don Jose in "Carmen," and
Rodolfo in "La Boheme"

He has also appeared in the initial performance of "Il Tabarro" and "Gianni Schicchi," by Puccini, on Saturday Evening, December 14th, 1918

FOURTH WEEK OF OPERA

A Round of Repetitions of Favorite Operas Bring Added Successes to All the Established Artists—At the Saturday Performance of "Werther" Muratore, Who Was Ill, Was Replaced by O'Sullivan, Who Made a Fine Success, Opposite Irene Pavloska, Who, for the First Time in Leading Role, Justified all the Fine Predictions that Have Been Made for Her—The Current Week Full of Interest and Many Novelties Will Soon Come to the Stage

ROMEO AND JULIET

No matter how many times one may have seen Lucien Muratore in "Romeo and Juliet," each fresh performance comes as a solace and a delight. Such beauty and completeness of acting as he displays in this opera are to be seen but few times in a decade, and the vocalism with which he invests it is absolutely without flaw.

So, on Monday night there was again a great throng of people to hear him, and there was in full evidence that enthusiasm which greets his every appearance in the Gounod master work.

But, the approval and the applause was not all for Muratore. Yvonne Gall, appearing for the second time opposite the great tenor as Juliet, reaped the benefit of the great impression she made in the part when she first appeared in it, and she, too, was acclaimed royally.

And not without cause, for she is a Juliet of so many good points that it would be difficult to name them and impossible to say in which respect she is the better—her acting or her singing.

She looks Juliet to the life, and she dresses the part beautifully. She enacts the various episodes of the opera with the rarest sort of skill and throughout builds up, steadily and convincingly, to a splendid climax.

Vocally she is also great. The Waltz Song of the first act was sung with great abandon and facility and the two or three great duets with Romeo were models of elegance and thrilling beauty.

Auguste Bouilliez as Capulet was dignified and altogether adequate to every moment of his part.

His voice is rich, suave and powerful, and his bearing at all times wholly what it should be.

Alfred Maguenat presents, as Mercutio, a splendid picture to the eye and carries through the part in a debonair and altogether convincing manner both as to histrionism and in vocal matters.

Irene Pavloska as the saucy little Stephano again scored in one lovely song, and Nicolay as the Duke was entirely in the picture also.

Marcel Journet as Friar Lawrence sang magnificently and looked and acted the part as it should be.

Charlier, without superior in "Faust" and "Romeo and Juliet" especially, was again the conductor, and again displayed his poise, intelligence and style.

C. E. W.

TOSCA AND LA TRAVIATA

These two repetitions, made on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, drew splendid audiences and again were they acclaimed as models of their kind.

Rosa Raisa is certainly one of the finest Tosca's ever seen on the American stage, and Galli-Curci as Violetta is, of course, incomparable.

The casts throughout both operas were as before, and in both cases they could scarcely have been improved upon.

LINDA

A second hearing of "Linda" convinces us anew of the perspicuity of Director General Campanini in his unearthing of this old opera and also it serves to show again the daintiness as well as the facility and the brilliance of the art of Galli-Curci.

The opera is curiously like "Dinorah" and the two works form companion pictures of the famous prima donna which will long hold a place in Chicago memory.

Forrest Lamont, delightful in every part he essays, is especially well cast in "Linda" and in the big aria of the second act rises to a point of eloquence which even he has rarely attained.

Virgilio Lazzari, a character actor of splendid attainment and a singer who stands with the best of the company, has a splendid part in "Linda."

Trevisan, whom all the critics is calling "the incomparable comedian," has a part in "Linda" which fits him like a glove and which he plays for every iota of its possibilities.

His comedy scene with Galli-Curci in the second act is one of the biggest successes yet attained by any one in the current opera season.

Riccardo Stracciari, who can sing any role for baritone and whose acting is so versatile as to cover every possible part, appears in "Linda" as the old father, and

LUCIEN MURATORE
In "Romeo and Juliet"

AMELITA GALLI-CURCI
As Lucia, one of her greatest parts

in the first act is a model of Old Country simplicity and cordiality.

In the second act, misled by circumstances into believing his daughter to have strayed from the path of rectitude, he rises to a point of frenzied rage which is dramatic to the last degree and wholly effective in its relation to the development of the plot.

RICCARDO STRACCIARI

Grand opera is superficial, of course—but when we can have such faithful dramatic characterizations as those of Galli-Curci, Stracciari, and Trevisan in the opera of "Linda" we are provided with a treat which is distinctly dramatic as well as vocal.

Carolina Lazzari (who will soon be reported in bigger roles) was again as charming as words could possibly tell as Pierotto, the country lover of Linda. Miss Lazzari in this role has one solo to sing which is a gem of its kind and in which she is absolutely unapproachable in beauty of vocal art.

C. E. W.

WERTHER

The illness of Lucien Muratore prevented a big Saturday afternoon audience from witnessing a repetition of his well-remembered and very elegant impersonation of Werther.

Fortunately, however, John O'Sullivan was at hand with a well-prepared reading of the role and therefore no postponement of the bill was necessary.

Mr. O'Sullivan looks the part ideally. He is tall, classic of feature, and elegant in bearing, all these assets helping to make a remarkably fine Werther.

The vocal score also fits him beautifully, and he sang it on Saturday with warmth and passion where these factors were necessary and with classic purity in the many meditative passages of the rather quiet and altogether unexciting opera.

Given her first chance in a really big part, Mme. Irene Pavloska brought to the role of Charlotte all that wealth of physical beauty and that equipment of vocal art which have made her splendidly successful in a multitude of smaller parts.

She has, very evidently, studied Charlotte exhaustively and throughout the opera she played the part with sincerity and with a style which made the role distinctive and appealing.

She sang also with entire conviction as to the requirements of the score and with an ease, power and brilliance in the dramatic moments which proclaimed her an actress of intense feeling.

This role, like that of Werther, is largely meditative, and for scenes at a time quiet, this factor constituting, of course, its great difficulty.

Mme. Pavloska, with her ease and grace as well as constant supply of vocal balance, was able to hold the part to beautiful characterization throughout, and the audience, pleased to the uttermost, had no hesitation in acclaiming her as a distinct and pronounced success.

Gustave Huberdeau made an agreeable

ROSA RAISA
In "Norma," an opera made possible by her presence in the company

Bailiff, and the part of Sophia was sung, as before, by Myrna Sharlow, who is still, for some unexplained reason, singing poorly.

Alfred Maguenat, always in the picture and always wholly vocal, was a good Albert.

Louis Hasselmans, more and more becoming a Chicago favorite, directed the opera and made of the orchestral score a thing of consummate beauty. The Intermezzo in the first act was as charming a piece of orchestral color as has ever been applied to any opera in the Auditorium.

C. E. W.

IL TROVATORE

The repetition of "Il Trovatore" on Saturday was merely the joy of the week before repeated, save for the fact that in Rimini's absence the part of the count was taken by Louis Kreidler, an old and deserving favorite of the company. While his dramatic interpretation of the part was not all that it might have been, it is exceedingly creditable that he should have been able to take it on such short notice, and his voice was in superb condition. No one could have been vocally more at ease or more fully in possession of the role.

Raisa was again supreme as Leonora. Both vocally and histrionically she rose at the climax to heights entirely unexpected from a rather reserved beginning.

Dolci sang at all times with distinction, making no small claims upon the enthusiasm of the audience, especially in the "Di Quella," where he was decidedly at his best.

Van Gordon is perhaps better histrionically in this part than in any other she has attempted. There is ample room, too, to display her rich, resonant voice, which never fails to win.

Emma Noc, Lazzari and Dua in the smaller parts all did more than creditable work.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

SOCIETE DES INSTRUMENTS ANCIENS

Last Sunday afternoon La Societe des Instruments Anciens gave a unique and historically interesting concert at the Auditorium. The instruments used were the antique five-stringed quinton, played by Maurice Hewitt, the famous Troubadour viol d'Amour in the hands of Henri Casadesus, the viola de Gamba, played by Jean Chanon, and a bass viola of ancient date manipulated by Maurice De Villiers. Accompaniment to the solo instruments was furnished by Mme. Casadesus on a relic from Paris in the form of a harp-luth. The program was made up of contemporary compositions dating from the beginning of the seventeenth to the nineteenth century, and the entire plan of the program was so well worked out as to convey unmistakably a true impression of ancient chamber music, with all its delicacy and piquancy. These old instruments are well worth examining at close hand. The quinton is only about half as large but twice as thick as the modern violin, and has five strings. Its tone is small and plaintive. The viol d'Amour has seven gut strings on top sublimated by seven thin wire strings close to the body of the instrument, which is about the size of our viola. The tone is not unlike that of the modern instrument, though more stringent in quality like the string tone of an organ. The viola de Gamba is curiously built with a small body, having a straight face and a rounding back, just the opposite from the present-day 'cello. A high bridge sets the strings very far from the instrument, which is played with a very stubby, curving bow. The compositions (which were all ancient French or Italian) were played with extreme delicacy and finesse by artists who have studied the requirements of the old music and understand perfectly how to interpret it.

JOHN O'SULLIVAN

John O'Sullivan, with Charlier at the piano, added a pleasing contrast to the program in some not too amusing Celtic songs.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

OTHER OPERAS

The bills of the current week have comprised much more of novelty than those of the last one and have read as follows: Monday, "Barber of Seville"; Tuesday, "Samson and Delilah," involving the debut of Carolina Lazzari as Delilah; Wednesday, "I Pagliacci," with Muratore in his wonderful reading of the name part.

Tonight (Friday) we shall have "La Gioconda," with Raisa repeating her big part; on Saturday matinee "Linda," and in the evening "Romeo and Juliet," with O'Sullivan and Gall.

Sundelius—Always a great favorite with the members of the Harlem Philharmonic Society of New York, Mme. Sundelius has now been engaged for her third appearance with them, this time as guest-artist at the annual breakfast, which is to take place at the Waldorf-Astoria January 16.

MARGUERITE RINGO GIVES A SUCCESSFUL CONCERT AT MALDEN, MASS.

Miss Marguerite Ringo, New York soprano, appeared before the Schubert Club of Malden, Mass., last week and scored a pronounced success, as may be seen by reference to the press comment printed in the Press at Large Section in this issue of Music News.

The splendidly chosen songs were as follows:

Over the Hills and Far Away ..... Irish air arranged by Wm. Arnes Fisher
Come Unto These Yellow Sands..... Frank La Forge
My Menagerie ..... Fay Foster
Ah, Love, but a Day..... Hallett Gilberti
Depuis le Jour, from Louise.....
To Whom They Will Ye Liken God.... Horatio Parker
With Club

And for encores:

Ma Little Banjo ..... Dichmont
A Little Dutch Garden ..... Loomis

On November 10 Miss Ringo sang "Gallia" by request with great success at the Central Baptist Church in Manhattan. She is booked for a concert at the Hotel Vanderbilt (New York) December 15, and for "The Messiah" December 22.

Miss Ringo, who was a great artistic and social success at the Lockport, N. Y., festival in September, being called by some one there "the girl with sunshine in her voice," was the first of all the artists to be re-engaged for next fall.

Holmquist—Gustaf Holmquist, the Chicago basso, besides teaching a large class at the Chicago Musical College, is engaged for one day of each week at Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill.

John Loring Cook

ESTABLISHED TWENTY YEARS IN CHICAGO

Special Course in training now offered for Chautauqua and Lyceum engagements.

Openings for the coming Summer and Spring for advanced pupils who sing and play some instrument.

817 Kimball Hall

SHERWOOD MUSIC SCHOOL

Sherwood Recital Hall was comfortably filled Thursday evening by the parents and friends of the younger pupils of the piano class of Miss Mathilde Hansen Raunborg. The anxiety of those present soon gave way to assurance, as the young performers, one by one, proved they had been well schooled, and gave an interesting program of little classics.

The following program was given:

Little Melodies ..... Blake
Bernice Davis
The Little Rogue ..... Hofmann
Ethel McCormick
Marionettes ..... Rohde
Lyla Nelson
Minuet ..... Bach
Charlotte Jenkins
The Curious Story ..... Heller
Milicent Hoover
Old English Melodies ..... Whithorne
Virginia Bradford
La Petite ..... Cowles
Lawrence Johnson
Sonatine ..... Clementi
Hellen Dilles
The Tyrolean Shepherd Boy ..... Oesten
Lucille Webb
Sonatine No. 6 ..... Diabelli
Dorothy Johnson
Waltz Opus 12 ..... Grieg
James Blackburn
Sonatine Opus 36, No. 6 ..... Clementi
Alice Nelson
Summer Pleasures ..... von Koss
Angelica Lewis
Minuet ..... Schubert
Irene Primrose
Gavotte in G Minor ..... Bach
Alice O'Connell
Grandmother's Minuet ..... Grieg
Gladys Darling
The Dance of the Dolls ..... Poldini
Helen Bradford
To Spring ..... Grieg
Frances Kipphut
Sonatine Opus 20, No. 1 ..... Kuhlau
George Hackl
Butterflies ..... Grieg
Elizabeth Smith
Pomponette ..... Durand
Clarice Smith

W. A. H.

A LETTER TO HAENSEL & JONES

Last evening Mme. Matzenauer repeated her triumph of last spring, when she established her reputation here as the greatest of all concert singers. Her regal presence, her glorious voice, her thorough musicianship, and her wonderful artistry form a combination beyond rivalry.

Max Rosen received a remarkable ovation, one of the greatest that Columbus has ever given any artist. The great audience simply went wild, and his name is on everybody's lips today.

It was one of the very greatest concerts which the Women's Music Club has given in its long history. I most sincerely thank you for having made it possible.

(Signed) KATHARINE R. McMAHON,
President.

CONSTANCE BALFOUR A SUCCESSFUL CONCERT SINGER

Constance Balfour, the young soprano, is becoming more popular with her every appearance. On December 8 she appeared at the New York Hippodrome and achieved a big success. On December 13 she sang at Ithaca, N. Y., in joint recital with Elias Breeskin, violinist. She is under the exclusive management of Daniel Mayer of New York.

Lindley—Florence Caro Lindley, soprano, will sing at the Ravenswood Baptist Church next Sunday.

CARRIE JACOBS-BOND AGAIN A WINNER

New York, December 10.

Carrie Jacobs-Bond, composer of "A Perfect Day" and many other songs, scored another triumph today, when she was unanimously declared the winner in a contest to supply a musical setting for William Mill Butler's poem, "Democracy," which has been warmly praised by many prominent persons, including President Poincare of France, Premier Lloyd George of England, former President Taft, four members of President Wilson's cabinet, Speaker Champ Clark, Cardinal Gibbons, Dr. Lyman Abbott, Edwin Markham, Francis E. Clark, founder of the Christian Endeavor Society; Rabbi Krauskopf, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, W. Bourke Cockran, Amelie Rives Troubetzkoy, Geraldine Farrar, Booth Tarkington, Richmond P. Hobson and hundreds of others.

The poem has been printed in thousands of daily, weekly and monthly publications during the past month and is hailed as a new national anthem of world-wide significance which reflects faithfully the spirit of the times. A dozen American composers vied with each other to supply appropriate music for it, and Sigmund Spaeth, a well-known New York musical editor and director of community singing, as chairman of the committee announced today that all the compositions which were submitted, without the names of the composers being known, were of unusual merit and the choice was a difficult one to make.

However, Mrs. Bond's version was placed first and that of Dr. Lee B. Woodcock, Scranton, Pa., was a close second. Among the contestants were a Russian operatic composer and two professors of music in American universities.

SPALDING COMPOSING

Albert Spalding writes from Rome that he is very busy at work every minute that he gets a chance on a number of new compositions. Among these are some new pieces for piano alone and a number for both piano and violin. He has also written some more new songs, and one in which he seems to have considerable confidence was inspired by the well-known phrase of Colonel Lovelace, "I could not love thee, dear, so much, loved I not honor more." Mr. Spalding has also written a new sonata for piano and violin, which will probably be called "Victory." He says: "Never go out to the theater or movies now, because this is so much more fun. Only trouble is that it gets to be morning before you know it, and somehow I never had a Napoleonic or even Edisonian conception of the amount of sleep necessary."

PEACE TRIUMPHAL

One of the most glorious of songs called out by the war is "Peace Triumphal," with words by Samuel Platt, and music by Abbie Gerrish Jones and published in exceptional style by The Gamble Hinged Music Company.

The poem of this song epitomizes all the glory of Nature, all the magnitude and horror of war and all the great results of victorious peace.

It is a great—a very great poem. And the music by Abbie Gerrish Jones is of like kind.

This is a song which will, we believe, have a tremendous vogue immediately.

MATZENAUER TO INTRODUCE NEW ARIA BY UNKNOWN COMPOSER

When Margaret Matzenauer, the renowned Metropolitan Opera prima donna, gives her New York recital this season—after she finishes winning triumphs with various Symphony Orchestras all over the country—she will feature on her program a newly composed dramatic aria depicting the sorrows of war-swept Roumania. The identity of the composer of this work, which has been dedicated to Mme. Matzenauer, must remain a secret for the present, but Madam has this to say about it: "Imagine the desolation of those beautiful grain fields of that country swept as it was by flame, by shells and by all the tragedy of war. This song is fully descriptive of that and it seems to me almost like a cry from the people. It is singularly like a piece of folk music, although it is in the form of an aria. I have always been interested in the Roumanian gypsy and often wondered why the music and the subject did not appeal to playwrights, novelists and composers. The Roumanian gypsy has much of the poetry of the Latin touched with the yearning of the Slav, and gypsies, whether Spanish, Hungarian, Roumanian or anything else, have the same basic characteristics, all of which lend to the subject pathos on the one side and barbaric exultation on the other."

PRIZE WINNERS

The prize winners in the Illinois State Contest under auspices of the N. F. M. C. was as follows:

December 9—Piano. Mrs. Lois Baptiste Harsch, Peoria—pupil of Marie Fannie Bloomfield Zeisler.

December 10—Violin. Miss Ebba Sundstrom, 5331 Kenmore avenue, Chicago—pupil of Mr. Richard Czerwonsky.

December 11—Voice. Miss Charlotte Bergh, 846 Oakdale avenue, Chicago—pupil of Miss Louise St. John Westervelt.

RICHARD HAGEMAN

Conductor Metropolitan Opera House Tenth Consecutive Season

VOCAL COACH—ACCOMPANIST

CONCERT OPERA ORATORIO

In All the Modern Languages

Some of those who have been and are now with Mr. Hageman are:

ALDA, BORI, BRASLAU, CASE, DESTINN, FARRAR, HEMPEL, HOMER, MATZENAUER, MELBA, MASON, RAPPOLD, AMATO, BOTTA, HINSHAW, MARTINELLI, MARTIN, RUYSDAEL, SCOTTI

Mr. Hageman will also accept a limited number of pupils for the study of accompanying.

STUDIO: 304 West 71st St., New York

Mrs. Ellen Kinsman Mann

Fine Arts Building

Mrs. Ellen Kinsman Mann, Fine Arts Building, is now enrolling students for a special course of study designed specifically as an efficient preparatory training for the filling of Chautauqua and Lyceum engagements of the early Spring.

It will be similar to the course offered by Mrs. Mann last Summer, which by its splendid results so fully justified the expectations of the pupils.

For the more advanced pupils there are some openings in view for the first of the year.

THE PRESS AT LARGE

In this division of Music News there will be printed, week by week, comments on various concerts and artists which have appeared in the daily and weekly press of the country. This is done in the belief that this matter will be found to be of great interest to a large number of people. This is in no sense an advertising department, and no items will be accepted for pay

Russian Symphony Orchestra in Mankato

With the peculiar charm and fire always attributed to the Russian temperament, and expected in Russian music, the Russian Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Modest Altschuler, charmed the audiences in attendance at the programs given at Mankato Theater on Saturday afternoon and evening. What the audience lacked in size was made up by keen appreciation, which was evidenced in a storm of applause at the close of each selection played. The Russian Symphony is unlike any symphony that visits Mankato, having a fascinating, rather barbaric and gypsy style of playing that is very captivating and stirring. That such an aggregation of young and talented musicians can be kept together in these times, which have been rather disheartening to artists as a rule, is a splendid proof of the tact and ability of Conductor Altschuler, who has his orchestra under perfect control to obey his slightest suggestion.—Mankato (Minn.) Free Press.

Matzenauer Scores Big Success at Opening of Washington Series

Last season Margaret Matzenauer made her first Washington appearance on T. Arthur Smith's concert series and scored such a triumph that she was at once re-engaged to open the same series this season. Before another distinguished audience, which included Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and party, the great singer of the Metropolitan Opera Company scored her second Washington triumph. Appended are extracts from the notices of this concert in full.

"'God's in His heaven; all's right with the world,' Browning's immortal lines of optimism, forming the climax of an old and familiar song that led the large audience at the New National Theater yesterday afternoon, moved many to tears. They were sung with a triumphant peal by Mme. Margaret Matzenauer."—Washington Star, November 16, 1918.

"Mme. Matzenauer's vocal range is so great and her repertoire so comprehensive that it is a hard matter to classify her, though she calls herself a mezzo-soprano. This classification, however, limits her versatility, for in addition to the roles accredited to the mezzo-soprano she sings all of the big dramatic soprano parts as well as the most exacting contralto roles and is frequently advertised as a contralto."—Washington Herald, November 16, 1918.

"Mme. Matzenauer was in excellent voice and thrilled her hearers with her dramatic art and her wonderful versatility. She has an attractive personality and a remarkable temperament."—Washington Post, November 16, 1918.

"Music of Italy, Scandinavia, France and Russia presented this rich-voiced artist in a varied program that displayed the finish of her art in the old Italian with its sunlight and a soulful 'Pieta' of Caldara, through the Carmenesque 'Shepherdess' of Grieg, given with breadth and subtlety of the dramatist, to two great Russian songs—sung in the dulcet Russian tongue."—Washington Times, November 16, 1918.

Max Rosen in Columbus

"A large audience in Memorial Hall last evening went wild over Max Rosen, the new violinist. Rosen went far beyond even our expectations of him, completely charming everyone with his beauties of tone and interpretation." The above, quoted from the Ohio State Journal following Max Rosen's first appearance in Columbus under the auspices of the Women's Music Club in a joint recital with Mme. Matzenauer, is but one expression of an opinion shared by all of the critics. Following are these opinions in full:

"Mr. Rosen, opening the regular program with Saint-Saens' Concerto in B minor, fascinated his audience at the very start and grew constantly in their favor with every number, until, after his second and last appearance he was obliged to add two encores. A very clear and luscious violin voice attracts one immediately. It is both full and rich and capable of the most delicate niceties. The stroke of his bow is clean and silken—all of his bowing beautiful to see, particularly the freedom of his wrist movement. But his playing reveals a veritable glory of technical skill. More surprising are his interpretations, which are marked by a poetic delicacy, and occasionally a vein of delicious humor was revealed in the tricky little show pieces he gave us toward the last and which seemed to amuse him as well as his audience. But his playing is more often grave and always earnest. And Rosen is said to be only 18. The possibilities of his maturtiy amaze one."—Ohio State Journal, November 22, 1918.

Lakes Quintet to Go to Europe

The Great Lakes Quintet, a sailor orchestra, has been selected by President Wilson to furnish music on board the presidential ship and in Paris during the president's trip abroad next month to attend the peace conference.

The orchestra is composed of five well known musicians who enlisted at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station and have been touring the country for the benefit of the Navy Relief Society. They are John Doane, Randalls Grove, Ohio, organ instructor at Northwestern University, Chicago; Carl Fasshauer, violinist of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra; Herman Felber, Jr., member of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and the Berkshire Quartet, New York City; Walter Brauer, Jersey City, cellist with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra, and Robert Dolepsi, violinist, Chicago, and the second American to receive the Royal State diploma at the Vienna Conservatory of Austria.—Chicago Tribune.

May Peterson With the Orchestra

The soloist was Miss May Peterson, now of the Metropolitan, one of the charming American girls who is steadily making her way into the ranks of artists who are making musical history.

Of engaging personality, the clear, flutelike tones of her lovely soprano voice found a happy medium in the Mozart and Handel arias, which served to introduce her, and in which she showed remarkable composure and breath control and excellent musicianship.

Her singing later of the familiar aria from "Louise" was accomplished with finer regard for its vocal than its dramatic possibilities. Roses and applause were showered upon her.—Herald and Examner.

Marguerite Namara Sings in New York

Margaret Namara, soprano, pleased a discriminating audience drawn to her first recital of the season at Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon, and realized an important artistic success with her brilliantly easy singing of airs from Debussy "L'Enfant Prodigue," Bellini's "Somnambula" and perfectly suitable songs by Dagmar Rybner, Rudolph Ganz, Mana Zucca and her own version of "Bonnie Doon." For encores she gave numbers by Massenet, Giordano, Durante, Tosti and Grieg and wholly captured her hearers with the gracious and graceful manner of her appearance.—New York Morning Telegraph.

The fact that Mr. Campanini has engaged her as a member of the Chicago Opera Company is a fine feather in her cap, a deserved compliment. Her voice is fuller and surer than of yore, and she has learned to enter deeper into the spirit of the songs of several countries. She coped successfully with the difficulties of Bellini's "Ah! Non Credea," but seemed equally at home in lyric songs by Massenet, Grieg, Tosti, Ganz, and others. Some of her best numbers were "Danza, Danza Fanciulla," by Durante; "Ah! Si les Fleurs Avaient des Voux" by Massenet; "Duex Plaisirs," by Mana Zucca, and "La Partida," by Alvarez. Mme. Namara sang two songs by her accompanist, Kurt Schindler, "Jenny Kissed Me" and "Colombia," both of which were received with great applause.—New York Evening Post.

An Innovation in Kansas City

Kansas City will take the lead in a new movement to encourage American composers. The musical directors of the Olin School of Music will undertake to read and produce, on trial, any piece of music in classical form sent them by any American composer under 35 years of age. If the work is regarded as meritorious it will be programmed and full credit given the young artist. The orchestra of the school will produce the composition and give the public an opportunity to pass judgment on it.

This plan is particularly timely in that recently, all over this country, there has been a great reversion to American "made" music, limited though the productions along this line are. This, of course, has stepped over into allied music from Italy, from France, from England, from Russia, from Scandinavia, from Poland, from all the sources which do not rise on Teutonic soil.

But the idea behind this new movement here which might well spread in other places to the eternal advantage of the enrichment of America, is that it will save those "wasting years" which, it was formerly believed, were essential to the development of genius.

America, impatient as she is of time and sustained effort, has yet to find a way to cherish the flame of creative ability which is the center of all national achievement.

Vicarious as her interest in the work of "genius" or "near genius" has been, however, there have been some notable accomplishments which bode well for the future.

This plan of the Olin school offers an opportunity, a beginning.

If, as has been prophesied, the new period following the war will be one of great economic expansion, it is not unreasonable to hope that art will take a placed also.

Someone said recently that now is the time for America to mobilize for the peaceful, economic conquest of the seven seas.

It might be added that the conquest of the five graces awaits her attention at home. However that may be, this is a start.

Young composers, trembling upon something big or only, as Ruskin said, "picking pebbles on a boundless shore," yet may receive some measure of encouragement and support if this idea is logically worked out.

The Olin school at 3133 Main street asks only that compositions submitted be the work of Americans, either born here or naturalized here, and that they be not more than 35 years of age.

Manuscripts should be accompanied by the name of the teacher and postage prepaid.—Kansas City Journal.

Galli-Curci as Linda

"Linda di Chamounix" was sung last night for the second time by Galli-Curci, Trevisan, Stracciari, and the others who were with her in the revival on Thanksgiving. Donizetti's long-unused piece has been revised, edited, cast, and staged into a bright and effective conveyance for the great coloratura, who finds in her part of the score opportunities to exhibit most of the things she does well, including a mad-scene just as melodious and not so long as that of "Lucia." And there is a lovely aria in the first act, known to the trade as "Guiding Star of Love," in which she is vocally glorious. A good show, this! It will be given again a week from today.—Chicago Tribune.

Leginska in Maine

"Music lovers of eastern Maine again paid tribute to the wonderful pianistic skill of Ethel Leginska. The audience sat spellbound under the sway of what is undoubtedly the greatest woman piano player of the century. There is a fiery sweep to her playing that carries all before it and her style has burning intensity. The lights and shadows of her first programmed number, Liszt's Concert in E flat, were rendered with exquisite grace, and finely differentiated graduations between the extremes. She was recalled many times.

Among the stars that have blazed across the musical firmament of eastern Maine none have made a

RAFAELO DIAZ
TENOR
Metropolitan Opera Company
Available for RECITAL, ORATORIO, FESTIVAL
Mgt. Metropolitan Musical Bureau, Aeolian Hall, 33 W. 42d St., New York

MARGUERITE NAMARA
Soprano
Chicago Opera Association

more powerful appeal, achieved greater triumphs or shone with more extraordinary lustre than Ethel Leginska, the pianistic marvel. She is dynamic in energy, a musical Joan of Arc, a genius moved by unseen powers, and only from inborn inspiration could such resistless, dramatic, superplaying emanate. Within all her work there is presented the touch of the master. The accurate sense of dramatic values. Energy raised to the nth power. A delicacy of tone, the ease of perfect knowledge and a power of reflexes that only time and inborn talent combined can ever possibly achieve."—Bangor Daily News, Nov. 20, 1918.

♮ ♮ ♮

Philadelphia Orchestra in Washington

Yesterday's concert by the Philadelphia Orchestra, at the New National Theater, also marked the Washington debut of Mme. Povla Frijsh, Danish soprano.

With so many musical achievements to its credit, there is little wonder that the Philadelphia Orchestra has won an enviable position in the realm of musical organizations. The excellence of its playing, under the masterful direction of Leopold Stokowski, has placed it among the foremost organizations of its kind and its fame is established throughout the country. Each interpretation of Stokowski's, for the most part without notes, reveals careful study and is as interesting as the music he brings out is beautiful.

A better number could scarcely have been chosen to conclude an orchestra concert than Tschaikowsky's "Marche Slave." Military in style throughout, it begins in a minor vein, gradually leading up to a tremendous climax in major, which employs drums and cymbals, bringing out the full orchestra in true "Philadelphia Orchestra" style. Berlioz's "Harold en Italie," heard here for the second time in two weeks, was more interesting because of its repetition and lost none of its attractiveness thereby. The viola obligato of Emile Ferir was excellent, being acknowledged by audience and director. It was fitting that a tribute be played to our fallen soldiers and sailors and it was in good taste that an American composition was chosen, MacDowell's "Dirge" from "Indian Suite."—Washington Star.

♮ ♮ ♮

Mme. Sturkow Ryder at University of Illinois

It has been said that the piano and the organ are the only instruments which give the effects of the orchestra. This effect is rarely achieved, but it can be truly said that Mme. Sturkow-Ryder knows how to do it, for at one moment she is making her instrument thunder out passages by the brasses and heavy instruments of the orchestra, and the next is holding her audience enthralled with the delicacy of the violins. Her ability to do this comes from an excellent technique and a keen sense of tonal values, plus the greatest asset of all—interpretative genius. —Urbana Daily Courier, Nov. 18, 1918. (Lucy Lowe.)

The song, "So Dear," composed by Mme. Sturkow-Ryder and sung by Warren Proctor, was the favorite of the audience at the first concert of the University Course, given at the Auditorium last night. Mme. Sturkow-Ryder is a pianist who combines a delightful personality with exceptional technique. She showed clearly that she understands the spirit of the composer, and her sympathetic interpretation almost justifies the use of the word "re-creation."—The Daily Illini, Nov. 27, 1918.

The first number of the University Concert Course given by Mme. Sturkow-Ryder and Warren Proctor at the Auditorium was greatly appreciated by the music-lovers in attendance. Mme. Sturkow-Ryder is a woman of charming personality and a pianist who displays exceptional technique. . . . The favorite song of the evening was "So Dear," composed by Mme. Sturkow-Ryder and sung by Warren Proctor.—The Champaigne Daily Gazette, Nov. 18, 1918.

♮ ♮ ♮

Orchestra Concert in Minneapolis

Felix Mottl's orchestration of Liszt's piano legend, "St. Francis of Assisi Preaching to the Birds," was the novelty of the popular concert given in the Auditorium yesterday afternoon by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra. Liszt's original piano composition is seldom heard and Mottl's arrangement for orchestra was never played here before.

Mottl attempted and almost achieved the impossible in reproducing the effect of chirping birds in the beginning of the composition, using, of course, chiefly the woodwinds and the harp. The rather unimpressive theme of the saintly discourse is given first to the horn and passes, through the violoncellos, to the full orchestra. The work as a whole is interesting and not without a good deal of individuality and beauty. As not infrequently is the case in other realms of expression, the bird songs are more eloquent than the sermon.

The two sunlit summits of the program were Grieg's string arrangements of his own song, "Spring Tide," and Sibelius' glowing and clarion prayer of racial faith, "Finlandia." In the Grieg number the orchestra once more demonstrated the splendid quality, power and technic of the united string choirs and the tender composition, through which the flooding life of the new year ripples and flows, as in Lowell's "Vision of Sir Launfal," was so exquisitely done that the audience (unusually enthusiastic, by the way, in all of its applause) demanded and secured a repetition. The accompanying string number, "Heartwounds," was also beautifully done.

The syncopated trumpetings of "Finlandia" never shouted their convictions over a more poignant rendering of the declaration of freedom and the prayer of hope voiced by the remainder of the orchestra than yesterday's exceptionally fine concert.

Svendsen's blaring "Coronation March" should not be followed by Dvorak's "Carnival," for Dvorak has done the same kind of thing so incomparably better that Svendsen suffers by contrast. Two of Saint-Saens' sketches from his tourist notebook, "A Night in Lisbon" and "La Jota Aragonnaise," completed the orchestral list and made another repetition necessary.

The assisting soloist, Christie Langenhan, sang in Minneapolis for the first time and created a decidedly favorable impression. She is a genuine artist in feeling and interpretation and sings assuredly and tastefully. Her voice is a dramatic soprano of excellent quality and under good control. "Farewell Ye Forests" from Tschaikowsky's "Joan of Arc," was given with deep feeling, which deepened into its encore, Cadman's "Land of the Sky Blue Water." This ever-lovely American song has never been more artistically sung here than by this songstress from Bohemia. Her second number was the aria, "My Strength Is Spent," from Goetz's unfamiliar opera, "The Taming of the Shrew," and indicates that the composer hardly caught the romping irony of Shakespeare's greatest farce. As an encore another fine American song was given, Vanderpool's "Values."—Caryl B. Storrs in Minneapolis Tribune.

♮ ♮ ♮

Marguerite Ringo at Malden, Mass.

Following is the press comment:

Schubert Club concert pleasing—soloist enjoyed.

Marguerite Ringo assisted the club most pleasingly, first with a series of four songs which well brought out her charming manner and adaptability to various kinds of solo work. Her voice was displayed to its best advantage perhaps in "Depuis le Jour" from "Louise," while of almost equal merit was her solo and obligato in "To Whom, Then, Will Ye Liken God?" which together with the club and organ accompaniment was one of the strongest features of the evening.—Malden Free Press, Malden, Mass., Nov. 29.

Schubert Club concert, Edward MacArthur, conductor.

Margaret Ringo of New York charms audience as soloist.

Miss Ringo favored with a group of four songs which showed that she was master of her voice and was able to do with it what she desired. Her voice is of a wide scope and her middle register is extremely rich in quality. It was pleasing to listen to her upper register, which failed to become dim in the extreme notes as is so often the case. When it became necessary to carry long passages in the upper register her tonal expression was a delight and bespoke a reserve power.

Her phrasing denoted actual control and careful study, while her interpretation was all that could be desired. She had a faculty of taking her audience to the scene of her song, which made them all the more enjoyable. Her rendition of "Depuis le Jour" was the only number not in accord with the American program, but this number was extremely well rendered. She added generously to the program with encores.—Malden Evening News, Nov. 26, 1918.

♯ ♯ ♯

Melba Mae French-Barr—Melba Mae French-Barr was soloist and reader at the installation ceremonies at Equity Masonic Lodge on December 14. Miss Ruth Knapp, pupil of Melba Mae French-Barr, was soloist last Tuesday evening at Millard Chapter of the Eastern Star.

♯ ♯ ♯

Welge—Gladys Louise Welge, violinist, will be soloist at the Christmas services on December 22 of the First Presbyterian Church, Austin.

♯ ♯ ♯

Wynekoop—Mrs. Lucile Wynekoop was soloist at the concert of the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra last Sunday.

♯ ♯ ♯

Craven—Thomas Bason, pupil of Carl E. Craven, has been engaged as tenor soloist at Trinity M. E. Church.

YOST SUCCESS IN ALL-AMERICAN PROGRAM

The following, clipped from the Indianapolis Star of December 6, 1918, testifies to the success of Mr. Yost's "all-American" recital given in Indianapolis December 5:

"An unusual program and one in harmony with the spirit of the times was presented at Hollenbeck Hall last night by Gaylord Yost, assisted by Pasquale Tallarico at the piano. The entire program, one of considerable length, was given over to American composers. Mr. Yost is an American and Mr. Tallarico an American-trained artist. They were well paired in the Carpenter Sonate in G major, the opening number, a very modern, complicated composition in four movements, which depends to an unusual degree upon subtlety of phrasing for its effect. Mr. Yost's purity of tone and restraint were admirably balanced by the singing tone that the piano produced under Mr. Tallarico's touch.

"Second in importance, the first in the approval of the audience, was Cecil Burleigh's Concerto in E minor, of melodious content and designed to show the cello notes of the violin which the sonate neglected. As Mr. Yost played it there was a direct appeal to the emotions, warmth and depth in it, and an opportunity for the display of virtuosity.

"Of the six lighter numbers Mr. Yost's own Serenade was decidedly the best and most interesting and left his hearers with a regret that it stood alone to represent its composer. It is full of grace and spirit and provided with an accompaniment that enriched it as a whole. Arthur Foote's Melody and Albert Stoessel's syncopated American Dance completed that group of numbers. The final group included 'Moment Musical' (Carl Beutel), 'Serenade Negre' (Francis Macmillen) and 'Scherzo Giocoso' (Albert Spalding), all charmingly played.

"Despite the warmth and sincerity of applause, Mr. Yost could not be persuaded to add an encore to his scheduled numbers, although the wish was generally expressed that he would give another of his own compositions. Mr. Yost was fortunate in his accompanist, John Gunder, whose playing is flexible and sympathetic."

♯ ♯ ♯

MRS. CHARLES ORCHARD

Robert Lawrence, director of the Y. M. C. A. Song Leaders' Training School, New York City, gave a very interesting course at the Y. M. C. A. College, Fifty-third and Drexel, last week. Mrs. Orchard was the accompanist.

Mrs. Orchard also accompanied Jennie Bowman Ricketts, reader, and Ora Padget-Langer, contralto, in programs given for soldiers and sailors in Chicago and Waukegan recently.

The Orchard School of Music announces a recital to be given by pupils in intermediate grade on Monday, December 23.

♯ ♯ ♯

Wait—Barbara Wait, who has been many times referred to as the ideal oratorio singer, will sing the contralto solos in Handel's "Messiah" with the Messiah Chorus of the Buena Memorial Presbyterian Church at the new Masonic Temple, Ninety-first street and Exchange avenue, South Chicago, on January 3, 1919, under the auspices of the First Presbyterian Church of South Chicago.

CHRISTIE LANGENHAN

SOPRANO

Oratorios

Concerts

Recitals

MANAGEMENT
HUGO BOUCEK 116 West 39th Street NEW YORK

Alexander Nakutin

TENOR

TEACHER OF SINGING

Endorsed by Mmes. Rosa Raisa, Marie Michaelowa, Mr. Leone Zinovieff and Others. Under Mr. Nakutin's tuition, Miss Genevieve Schrader took the Lake View Musical Society's prize for singing, in competition with 45 pupils of various schools.

823 Kimball Hall Phone Harrison 6701

ALICE SJOSELIUS

SOPRANO

"Mistress of a tone surpassingly exceptional"

Direction, EVELYN HOPPER
Aeolian Hall, New York City STEINWAY PIANO

Ethel M. Rice

MANAGER OF . . . Musical AND Dramatic Artists

CLUB PROGRAMS ARRANGED
CHAUTAUQUA LYCEUM DRAMATIC COACHING

1536 KIMBALL HALL
PHONE WABASH 1260 RES. PHONE EDGEWATER 2719

RINGO

MARGUERITE
SOPRANO
414 W. 121st St., NEW YORK CITY
TELEPHONE MORNINGSIDE 8905

KNUPFER STUDIOS School of Musical Arts
630 Fine Arts Bldg. Walter Knupfer, Director

CECIL ARDEN
METROPOLITAN OPERA COMPANY

MEZZO-CONTRALTO
For Concerts and Recitals
Management
EMIL REICH, 1 W. 34th St., NEW YORK

PUZZLING QUESTIONS REGARDING MUSIC ANSWERED

Letters addressed to this department will be answered by Mary Bower, B. M., who has made an exhaustive study not only of piano playing, but also of music and both the psychology of music and the psychology of teaching.

♮ ♮ ♮

Question: After much study and hard work I am an unusually successful teacher as to getting pupils, holding them and getting results of which the pupils are capable in piano playing. I did not get this ability through studying with any one teacher or adopting any one teacher's method of teaching. I am so situated now as to position that a teacher with "a method" wants me to take a course of lessons from her and makes it unpleasant for me because I do not. What do you advise?

I. W. S.

Answer: The more successful you are the more anxious this teacher will probably be to have you adopt her "method," that she may be given the credit for your success as a teacher.

My advice would be not to let personal feelings enter into the matter. Remember Schumann's maxim was, "Only seek to become an ever greater artist, and all things will come to you of their own accord."

We can "learn from babes," and if not taking the course will make it unpleasant for you, then take it and be big enough not to care as to who claims the credit. Follow this advice if you think it best to retain your present position.

♮ ♮ ♮

Question: Do you think the prevailing belief that musicians have disagreeable dispositions is a correct one?

G. M. B.

Answer: I not only think it, I know it. Of course there are exceptions and unusual ones, but I am speaking of the rule.

They are unreasonable, lack good business judgment and are petty.

You will find among successful business people this rule is reversed.

♮ ♮ ♮

Question: Can you give me any incidents of the therapeutic value of music on individuals that are authentic and of interest?

C. V. S.

Answer: I could give you fifty that are authentic and of interest. I will record three this time. Gladstone used to be cured of neuralgia by having favorite hymns sung or played for him. He did not do this just once; he was subject to neuralgia and made a practice of obtaining relief this way.

On the fourth floor of the Chicago Public Library in the reference room you will find in Electric Magazine 107, page 831, the story of Elizabeth Sellers who, in December, 1801, a student 13 years old in a girls' charity school at Sheffield, lost her voice. In March, 1803, she heard school fellows singing hymns and she wished to join them. She asked Sarah Milner, a schoolmate, to shout down her throat. Sarah finally did so and Elizabeth Sellers then wept and sang as if in a state of mental derangement.

In the same room, if you will read Music, Vol. 15, page 652, you will find recorded the story of a little girl with spinal difficulty, who always had a better appetite for dinner if the hand organ man stopped and played under her window—the child's debilitated system was keyed up, stimulated.

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY CONCERT

On last Saturday afternoon the usual big audience of the American Conservatory Concerts was present and enjoyed to the full the splendid program presented by pupils of Kurt Wanieck, piano; Mme. Ragna Linne, Vocal, and Ramon Girvin, Violin—as follows:

Rigoletto Fantasie ..... Verdi-Liszt
Miss Dorothy Wall
A Birthday Song ..... Cowen
Love Is the Wind ..... MacFayden
Miss Dorothy Jacobi
Sonata for Violin and Piano, D major ..... Handel
Adagio; allegro; larghetto; allegro
David Pollackoff
Minstrels ..... Debussy
Etude, Op. 25, No. 12 ..... Chopin
Margaretha Morris
I've Been Roaming .....
Naomi Nelson
Concerto in A minor, First Movement ..... MacDowell
Miss Alma Stemler
Havanaise ..... Saint-Saens
Swedish Dances ..... Max Bruch
Samuel Morris Dolnick
The Voice of the Rain ..... McCoy
Gypsies' Lullaby ..... Augusta Holmes
Miss Charmian Brictson
Hungarian Fantasia ..... Liszt
Sophie Feldmann
Concert in A minor, Second and Third Movements ..... MacDowell
Jacob Hanneman

It was not possible for this writer to hear all of the work, but beyond any question the piano teaching excellence of Mr. Wanieck was amply proven in the playing of his pupils.

A feature which was of invaluable assistance to them and a distinct artistic pleasure to the audience was the fine performances at the second piano of Mr. Wanieck himself.

David Pollackoff is a very small boy, but he has a fine, big tone and such excellence of violin musicianship as to prove the value of the Girvin teaching.

Mr. Dolnick too is a vast credit to his teacher. He is distinctly in the young artist class and in breadth of technic as well as excellence of musical reading proved his ability and the worth of his teacher.

Miss Brictson, the only singer heard, was pleasing and showed a good voice and very definite style.

C. E. W.

———###———

Miranda—Mr. and Mrs. Max Miranda, (Organist and Soprano), formerly of South Bend, Ind., but now connected with the college at Beloit, Wis., appeared there in Faculty Concert recently with great success.

SINCERITY—THE KEYNOTE OF FLORENCE EASTON'S SUCCESS

"The first impression of Florence Easton at home," said a writer sent to interview the charming Metropolitan Opera soprano, "is the same as the first impression on the stage, sincerity. No one who has witnessed her finished work at the Metropolitan could for a moment doubt this fact. There was a marked earnestness in everything she did that accentuated her splendid art and lifted it into the realm of absolute truth. She clothes all her roles with the robe of sincerity that makes them real, vital and human. Only one who has passed through the fire of experience and linked that experience to a keen mentality and an innate perceptibility of the true and beautiful could achieve so remarkable a blending of the highest artistic values. To sound the intellectual depths of Mme. Easton would require an intellectuality of like caliber, as her conversation is of that wholesome kind that both charms and interests. She has ideas about things, not mere notions. She reasons with the skill of a lawyer and one has to be keen when it comes to a question of debate. She is positive and maintains her position with firmness because based upon truth and sound logic."

MISCHA LEVITZKI — The Genial Russian Pianist
Season 1918-19 Booking Now — Management DANIEL MAYER — HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager
AEOLIAN HALL — Baldwin Piano Used — NEW YORK

LYRIC SOPRANO EDNA DE LIMA — FORMERLY OF THE LONDON COVENT GARDEN
FOR CONCERTS, OPERA, RECITALS
MANAGEMENT HAENSEL AND JONES — AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK

FLORENCE EASTON — Metropolitan Opera, N. Y. / Chicago Opera, Chicago / Covent Garden, London — DUET RECITALS CONCERTS — FRANCIS MACLENNAN
Management: HAENSEL & JONES, Aeolian Hall, New York

Giuseppe De Luca — CELEBRATED Baritone of Metropolitan Opera Co.
Address for Concerts—Metropolitan Musical Bureau, Aeolian Hall, New York City

DONATO A. PARADISO — Voice Specialist and Opera Coach
807-808 Carnegie Hall - - - - - - NEW YORK

Carolina Lazzari — LEADING CONTRALTO
CHICAGO OPERA ASSOCIATION
Management: CHARLES L. WAGNER
D. F. McSweeney, Associate Manager
511 Fifth Avenue, New York

Music in New York

1 W. Thirty-fourth St.

By JOSEPH DE VALDOR

THIRD SUNDAY NIGHT CONCERT AT THE METROPOLITAN. SOPHIE BRASLAU, FLORENCE EASTON, LENORA SPARKES, RAFAELO DIAZ, MORGAN KINGSTON, THOMAS CHALMERS AND OTHERS SING. GENUORO PAPI CONDUCTS.

There is no use in concealing the fact that some of the Metropolitan Opera concerts are better than some of the opera performances for the simple reason that in a concert the best voices are assembled, therefore the singing is uniformly good, while the opera performances drag along in uneven manner. The Puccini-Verdi concert of December 8 brought to the fore the young forces with their fresh voices. In the order of appearance, Mr. Papi conducted effectively the "Manon Lescaut" intermezzo of the third act, followed by Mr. Diaz's singing of Rodolfo's raconto from "La Boheme." I heard this tenor as Nicias in a performance of "Thais" and he acquitted himself well. In my absence he appeared as Tonio in the "Daughter of the Regiment," and I am told that he made a success. I shall speak of it when a repetition of the opera occurs. In his singing of the Aria from "La Boheme" he demonstrated that he could undertake the part at least vocally. Mr. Diaz's voice has improved; it is sweeter, more resonant and more voluminous. If constructive criticism serves the purpose I find faults in his closed Italian enunciation, also in his restraint of vocalization. He should sing more openly and enunciate more broadly. The Raconto was a bit too sentimental. With these three factors avoided he should be of great importance to the Metropolitan. Naturally the development of his artistry should be helped by the management with frequent appearances in capital parts. He is well qualified to undertake leading parts, for Mr. Diaz is musical, intelligent and very studious. He received a warm reception and well deserved.

FLORENCE HINKLE-WITHERSPOON

I do not remember having heard Lenora Sparkes' voice in such splendid form as on this occasion. Her Aria from "La Boheme," "My Name Is Mimi," was better rendered than by those who usually appear in the part. Perfect intonation, a fresh voice, an emotional interpretation and well enunciated were the characteristics of her performance. Mr. Morgan Kingston combines the virtues of Caruso and Martinelli. It is a glorious tenor timbre, truly dramatic when necessary and lyric when adapted to such songs. His "E Lucevan alle stelle," from "Tosca," was gloriously sung in a voice which is equaled by few tenors.

Florence Easton and Sophie Braslau, with their splendid organs, charmed the full house with a beautiful vocalization of the "Butterfly" duet. Their singing was so admirable that they might well take the place of older members of the company. Why these two are shelved by the management is an affair which may be discussed at the proper time. Margaret Romaine sang the Musette Waltz from "La Boheme."

LEONORA SPARKES

Owing to other duties I could not listen to the balance of the program, consisting of the duo from "Butterfly," by Florence Easton and Morgan Kingston; Quartet from "La Boheme," rendered by Sparkes, Romaine, Diaz and Chalmers; Overture, "I Vespri Siciliani," by Verdi, rendered by the orchestra under Papi; "Il lacerato spirito," from "Simon Bocanegra," sung by Jose Mardones; an aria from Verdi's "The Masked Ball," by Sophie Braslau; "Ritorna Vincitor," from "Aida," sung by Florence Easton; "Eri tu," from Verdi's "The Masked Ball," interpreted by Thomas Chalmers; Duo from "Aida," rendered by Florence Easton and Morgan Kingston, and the Quartet from "Rigoletto," rendered by Sparkes, Braslau, Diaz and Chalmers.

Mr. Papi contributed fully to make the concert not only pleasurable but also artistic and was the guiding spirit of the orchestra and soloists. He brings the vitality and energy into the performance which make things go lively.

Brief Notes of Musical Events

On Sunday afternoon, December 8, the co cert by the Symphony Society of New Yo at Aeolian Hall, with Efrem Zimbalist, v linist, as soloist. At the Maxine Elliott T ater, evening recital by Mme. Yvette Guilbe At the Aeolian Hall two talented pianists peared in the afternoon and evening of D cember 9, Edward Morris and Ralph Lawt For the Danish Society, Herman Sandby, c ist, gave a recital at the Aeolian Hall on D cember 10. He was assisted by Gurowit Walter Golde and Ylya Scholnik. The Ph harmonic gave its regular Thursday conc (December 12) at the Carnegie Hall, with soloist. On December 13, Ylya Scholnik ga a violin recital at the Aeolian Hall. On D cember 14, Miss Janacopoulos, a Greek-B zilian soprano, made a successful debut in sc recital at Aeolian Hall. In the evening jo recital of N. Val Peavey, pianist, and Adol Schmidt, violinist. On Sunday afternoon, co cert of the Philharmonic Society at Carne Hall, with Max Rosen as soloist.

♮ ♮ ♮

First Concert of the Russian Society

Modist Altschuler and his Russian Sy phony Society appeared at the Carnegie H on the evening of December 10, and on afternoon of December 11 Sergei Prokopi a Jupiterian pianist, who has no mercy for keyboard, was soloist on both occasions. E tended comment for another issue. On Su day afternoon Schumann-Heink was the so ist with the organization, the event tak place at the Hippodrome.

♮ ♮ ♮

Lillian Heyward Sings Compositions b Roland Farley

It would be impossible to review extensiv the compositions of the blind composer, R land Farley. They need a rehearing and some future opportunity I may be able ne about them. The general impression s good. What made the recital pleasurable s the tasty vocalization of Lillian Heyrd, soprano. As a matter of record, the lowing were featured: "Request," "Canet," "Let Us Drift and Dream," "The Lay May," "Love's Need," "The Tides," "Twiit Is Coming," "The Rose and the Fern," ie White Rose," "The Crimson Petal," rowning Love," "Music," "When Soft ices Die," "Mother, My Love," "The Ring Words," "Romance," "I Linger Still," "The ht Wind," "Wild Is Love," and piano ces, "Gavotte," "Arabesque," "Ballade in A ." The composer officiated at the piano. e recital was given at the fashionable studio Miss Swift.

MORGAN KINGSTON

as Breeskin Plays to a Sold Out House

t is remarkable how this violinist draws a ge audience; in the midst of one of the iest seasons since 1914 the sign "sold out" l not been seen at Aeolian Hall. On evening of December 12 this sign which cles the manager hung out prominently. ere is a reason. Breeskin is a player whose sicianship approaches the standard of sane, id and academic players. Though the first vement of Mendelssohn's Concerto was not cuted with a flawless intonation, in the t one Mr. Breeskin threw in his dash, his sicianship and his good technic. The sec- l movement was given a melodious rendi- . There were other numbers on the pro- m: Suite (Sinding), Meditation (Glazou- v), Serenade (Arensky), Le Deluge (Saint- ns), an old French Gavotte, Introduction l Scherzo Caprice (Kreisler), and Witches' nce (Paganini-Kreisler). Josef Adler was the piano.

mphony Society of New York—Raoul Vidas, Soloist

When Max Rosen made his debut last Jany with the Philharmonic Society of New rk I reiterated upon the ineffective and nspiring Concerto for Violin by Bruch and in when Raoul Vidas, substituting Jascha ifetz, who could not appear for reason of ess, played it on Thursday afternoon, Deber 12, one could realize its monotonous sic. If not for the last movement, this ncerto would be shelved. The youthful ver again exhibited all the great qualities ch were proven at his debut. There was a vless intonation in all the movements and ch rarely was so well treated as at the ds of Raoul Vidas. He was recalled sevl times and the applause was quite demonative. Mr. Damrosch offered Symphony 3 in F (Brahms), "Istar" (Vincent d'Indy) . "Phaeton" (Saint-Saens). And let us e one more note of praise to the conductor for presenting good French music. The same program was repeated on the afternoon of December 15.

Florence Hinkle-Witherspoon in Recital

Is it the rare appearances which make Florence Hinkle welcome in New York recitals or her charming voice? The latter is the probability. We are overflowed with recitals, the majority evenly divided between piano and violin, while the song recitals are fewer and the majority mediocre. Therefore the appearance of Florence Hinkle at Aeolian Hall on December 12 was welcome. You cannot please the discriminative audience with beautiful voice alone. You must possess the power of interpretation and know also how to utilize your voice. These are the assets of this soprano as easily proven in "Les Canaris de Verdun" (Fevrier), a timely war song, and "Trois beaux oiseaux du Paradis" (Ravel). Exquisite in their renditions were the "Walcourt and Mandoline," both new (Szulc). Mrs. Witherspoon's voice is fresh and of excellent quality, especially in the upper range. She enunciates well whether in English or French. There were many new songs on the program, viz., "Little Brother's Lullaby" (Yan Broecx), "The Message" (Blazejewicz), "The Bee," perfectly sung. This song was arranged by Sam Endicott. There was a group of Russian folk songs.

Metropolitan Opera House

On Demember 9 "Madame Butterfly" was repeated with Geraldine Farrar, Rita Forina, Paul Althouse and Thomas Chalmers. Moranzoni conducted.

Morgan Kingston Substitutes Martinelli

Owing to the continued indisposition of Martinelli, Morgan Kingston was called at the eleventh hour to sing the role of Manrico in "Trovatore." He covered himself with new laurels. Owing to the initial performances of Puccini's new operas, extended comment on Kingston's singing is deferred. In the cast, De Luca, Rothier and Gennaro. Papi conducted. On December 12, "L'Elisir d'Amore" was repeated with the usual cast. On December 13, "Boris Godunoff" was repeated with the usual cast, arranged by Kurt Schindler, who was also excellent in accompaniment. Other numbers: Recitative and Aria from Ottone (Handel), "Sweeter Than Roses" (Orpheus Britannicus) (Purcell), Recitative and Aria from "Oedipe a Colone" (Sacchius), L'Heure Exquise (Poldowski), "The Crying of the Water" (Campbell-Tipton), "As the Gloaming Shadows Creep" (MacDowell), "Come Up, Come Up With Streamers" (Carl Deis), "The Dove and the Lily" (Swedish), arranged by Burleigh, a Swedish song called "The Cradle in the Forest" and a Norwegian song entitled "The Shepherd's Return." Mrs. Hinkle-Witherspoon was greeted and welcomed by a large and enthusiastic gathering.

Merle Alcock in Recital

Though a belated review, I could not ignore this event, made interesting by the appearance of Merle Alcock, contralto, in recital at the Aeolian Hall on November 25. Memory can record few successful song recitals by contraltos, for only few of them leave an impression, and with the public sopranos and tenors are preferred. Merle Alcock has an exceptional contralto timbre; it is sweet and colorful, of good range and excellently employed. The writer has heard her in oratorios and she is one of the few versatile artists in this branch of music; but as a recitalist she is no less conspicuous because of her intelligence, musicianship and voice. Particularly charming and notable for exquisite interpretations were the renditions of "Le Jeu d'Eau" (Debussy), "Le Temps des Lilas" (Chausson), "Caecilia" (Vuillermoz), and "La Solitaire" (Saint-Saens). If the French enunciation was not flawless, at least the diction was intelligible. No language needs so much pure diction as the French language, for the sake of feeling and expression, but Mrs. Alcock justified their presence in the program. She sang numbers by Haydn, Handel, Lully, Rossi, old Welsh songs arranged by Somerwell, Irish arranged by Hadow, some by Brockway, and an American group by Sidney Homer. She was given an enthusiastic reception. Mr. Kurt Schindler was at the piano.

MERLE ALCOCK

ORRIN BASTEDO
BARITONE
Appeared Successfully with the Society of American Singers Season 1918
Concerts-Opera
Personal Address 257 W. 86th St., New York

ELIAS BREESKIN
RUSSIAN VIOLINIST
KRANICH & BACH PIANO USED
Sole Management, DANIEL MAYER, Aeolian Hall, New York
ELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager.

LELA LOWE-PIERSON
VIOLINIST
Tel. Ravenswood 679 1615 Granville Av.

FLORENCE CARO LINDLEY
SOPRANO
Tel. Edgewater 1095. 1216 Rosedale Ave.

Tina Mae Haines Teacher, Coach Lectures, Recitals
4452 SIDNEY AVE. Tel. KENWOOD 5602

FRANK W. VanDusen PIANO ORGAN
American Conservatory Kimball Hall

ALTA MILLER
RECITALS MEZZO-SOPRANO PUPILS
1707 Hinman Av., Evanston Tel. Evanston 318

WALTER WHEATLEY
TENOR
Western Address; Lincoln, Neb.

ROWLAND LEACH
VIOLINIST BUSH CONSERVATORY

Mary Bower, B. M. With Chicago Musical College
Teacher of Piano, Harmony, Organ and Psychology of Music
1953 Sunnyside Ave. Phone Ravenswood 6287

MILON R. HARRIS, Tenor
Voice Development and Artistic Singing
STUDIO, 929 KIMBALL HALL CHICAGO

FREDA STARR
AMERICAN LYRIC SOPRANO
Management Lincoln Bureau 1257 So. 27th St., Lincoln, Nebr.

Thomas REMINGTON Basso
ROOM 610 KIMBALL BUILDING

Veada K. Hatfield
SOPRANO CHURCH, CONCERT, TEACHING
361 Forest Ave., River Forest, Ill.

ANNA GROFF-BRYANT
Dean of the School of Three Arts of Lombard College
Galesburg, Ill. Send for latest bulletin.
Chicago Studio. 707 Fine Arts Building.

Adelaide PIERCE
CONTRALTO
Warren Concert Bureau, Schiffmann Bldg. St. Paul, Minn.

Cora ANDERSON
PIANIST Kimball Ha

ARTHUR RANDOLPH FRASER
Choirmaster and Organist, Grace Church, Oak Park
PUPILS—PIANO and ORGAN
TELEPHONE OAK PARK 5749

LILLIAN AMMALE Pianist
Care of MUSIC NEWS

LYCEUM ARTS CONSERVATORY

On Tuesday, December 3, an enchanting program was given at the Lyceum Arts Conservatory by Louis Kreidler, with Jeanne Boyd accompanying. The two artists made an excellent pair, full of enthusiasm and informal magnetism. It is not possible to quote the program, as there was none printed, but Mr. Kreidler wisely chose several old and time-honored favorites, such as "Fungi del caro bene" and "The Hom" (Flegier), and "Autumn" (Massenet). It is characteristic of the really great artist that he does not try to outdo his competitors by the newness of his program, and it is equally characteristic of good audiences that they never tire of hearing the "old chestnuts" supremely done, as they were indeed last Tuesday night.

"Ah, Love, but a Day" (Beach), too much used in pupils' recitals, was made thoroughly fresh and passionate in Mr. Kreidler's artistic reading of it.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

NORTH SHORE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

At the North Shore School of Music, direction of Charles J. Haake, at 4737 Broadway, the following faculty program was given with great success last Wednesday evening:

| | |
|---|---|
| Pastorale, E minor | Scarlatti |
| Vecchio Minuetto | Sgambati |
| Concerto, G minor. Allegro molto vivace | Mendelssohn |
| Sonata (Keltic) Second and third movements | MacDowell |
| Fantasie Brilliante (Carmen) | Bizet-Hubay |
| Barcarolle, A minor | Rubinstein |
| At the Convent | Borodin |
| Polichinelle | Rachmaninoff |
| Village Dance | Cecil Burleigh |
| Summer Idyl | Cecil Burleigh |
| Spinning Song | Popper |

ALEXANDER NAKUTIN PUPIL HAS SUCCESS

Mrs. Rose Pearson-Burgeson, soprano artist pupil of Alexander Nakutin, scored a decided success last Sunday as soloist with the Swedish Orchestra. The Scandinavian press comments were most laudatory, and the Swedish Tribune said:

"The soprano, Mrs. Rose Pearson-Burgeson, sang with a clear, warm voice a series of beautiful songs. Among others to be mentioned are 'My Lover Comes on the Skee' and Solveig's Song (Grieg). The soprano took now, as always, her audience by storm, but refused more than one encore. Later Mrs. Burgeson rendered in fine, artistic style 'Afton Stamming' (Korline)."

ST. JAMES' EPISCOPAL CHURCH

On Sunday afternoon, November 24, the two soloists assisting Mr. Goodwin in the regular Sunday evening musicale were Miss Louise Boedtker, artist pupil of Charles W. Clark, and Harold Triggs, pianist. Miss Boedtker sang "Depuis le jour," from "Louise," and an aria from "L'Enfant Prodigue" (Debussy). Her voice is of a dramatic quality and range and of adequate volume.

Mr. Triggs played two Chopin Etudes, "Lotus Land" (Cyril Scott) and "Staccato Etude" (Vogrich).

Last, but not least, may be mentioned Mr. Goodwin's always artistic playing of two groups, including "Legend" (Wieniawski), Bach's G minor Fugue (the lesser), too seldom heard in our churches; "Cradle Song" (Hayden Wood) and the Finale from Symphony No. 1 (Vieme).

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

MOODY BIBLE INSTITUTE

At the fall term graduation exercises of the Moody Bible Institute on December 5 nineteen men and twenty-nine women were awarded diplomas for having completed the two years' course in Bible study, Gospel music and practical Christian work. They came from sixteen states and two foreign countries, Scotland and Brazil. Many of them will go abroad as foreign missionaries.

At the public exercises in the evening brief addresses were made by Rev. J. M. Page, Rev. B. B. Sutcliffe, Mrs. M. T. Russell, Homer A. Hammontree and Rev. George E. Guille, members of the extension department staff of the institute.

Certificates were awarded to 133 students residing in twenty-nine states and Hawaii and Ireland for having completed correspondence Bible courses.

R. MILLS SILBY

That R. Mills Silby, who has lately come to Chicago for work in his various lines of conducting, composing and teaching—in which he had great success in the past (England and Washington, D. C.), is shown in the following list of successful artists who have been under his care as students.

Rev. John Delaney, Director of Summer School Course in Gregorian Music at Notre Dame University.

Rev. Chas. F. Marshall, Director of Music, Holy Cross Seminary, Notre Dame University.

Earnest Belum, Organist of Holy Trinity, Georgetown.

Mr. Nowell Swain Ferris, Organist of St. Paul's, Washington.

Mr. Christopher Tenley, Organist of St. Peter's Washington.

COLUMBIA SCHOOL OF MUSIC
Clare Osborne Reed, Director. Students May Enter at Any Time
A school for the serious study of music. Faculty of 75 eminent teachers and artists. Courses in Piano, Theory, Voice, Violin, Public School Music Methods, Teachers' Normal Training. Also many special classes.
This School confers Diplomas and Degrees by authority of the State of Illinois.
Many free advantages. Weekly Orchestra rehearsals conducted by students under observation of Orchestra expert. Weekly Chorus rehearsals. Students assisted to positions through school employment bureau. Year book on request.
COLUMBIA SCHOOL OF MUSIC
Box 74 509 S. Wabash Av. Chicago

Lucille Stevenson
Soprano Teacher of Voice
Available for Concerts
Address: R. M., 1625 Kimball Bldg. Chicago

Duet Programs

JOSEPHINE (Soprano) SULLIVAN
EUGENE (Tenor)
Personal Address
233 Mason St., Milwaukee, Wis.
Mgt. Catherine B. Wen
2230 Osgood St., Chicago
Phone Lincoln 6244

MILWAUKEE

The following program was given with eat success under the baton of George pshulz on last Friday evening. His own lo was particularly admired:

erture—Beautiful Galathea ..... Suppe
Orchestra conducted by Hugo Bach lin solo with orchestra accompaniment
psy Melodies ..... Sarasate
George Lipshulz
ace of the Hours ..... Ponchielli
Orchestra conducted by George Lipshulz
enade for Piano, Violin and Cello ..... Oelschloegel
Emil Dereszynski, George Lipshulz, Hugo Bach
dante from Fifth Symphony ..... Tschaikowski se in the Bud (Theme) ..... Foster hild ..... Kistler
rtwounds ..... Grieg
ing ..... Grieg
lude ..... Rachmaninoff
ve Song ..... Vevin
va ..... Reissiger
erie ..... Vieuxtemps

###

Brooks—Mrs. Corinne Dargan Brooks is ring a series of fine organ recitals at the ntral Presbyterian Church, Paris, Texas, d has played also, recently, at the Amern Presbyterian Church at Clarksville, xas.

DUNNING SYSTEM
OF
Improved Music Study
FOR
BEGINNERS
Normal Teachers
HARRIET BACON MacDonald 3623 Pine Grove Ave.
CARRIE HUNGER Long Congress Hotel
Chicago
Mrs. MacDonald's Classes:
Tulsa, Okla., January 6; Chicago, March 9.
Mrs. Long's Classes: New Orleans, La., January 10, 1919; Birmingham, Ala., March 1; Chicago, Ill., May 1.

LESSONS IN RHYTHM
BY
JOHN MOKREJS
Price 75 Cents
A most comprehensive work on this all engrossing subject.
Practical in its application to all classes of music teaching.
Nothing more stimulating nor more helpfully educative could be introduced into the school room.
Send for a fully descriptive circular.
CLAYTON F. SUMMY CO.
Publishers
64 E. Van Buren Street, Chicago, Ill.

Lucy J. Hartman
Contralto
"Ideal Messiah Singer"

A BIT OF PAUL ALTHOUSE'S PAST GETS INTO PRINT

The ubiquitous music reviewer of the New York Evening Mail delved into the past of Paul Althouse, the young American tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, recently and uncovered these interesting facts: "Paul Althouse is an American who has lived the wholesome life of an American boy, and who yet has the temperament, the dramatic power and the genius for self-expression that we always expect of the Latins who come from Europe to sing among us. He has always sung, being a soloist in a Reading church choir when he was ten, but for several years he played football, went to high school and college, and admired Christy Mathewson, who was one of his close friends. He even worked in a bank, just as thousands of regular, business-like tenors have done before they realized that genius has a way of insisting upon its natural rights. Six months after Mr. Althouse's arrival in New York, totally unknown and without any stage experience, he was engaged to sing at the Metropolitan Opera House, the first American tenor without European experience who has ever sung leading roles there. He created the role of Dimitri in 'Boris Godounoff' at the premiere of that magnificent Russian opera, and later that same season was the Duke in Victor Herbert's 'Madeleine.' Since then he has sung in 'Mme. Sans-Gene,' 'Canterbury Pilgrims,' 'Madame Butterfly,' 'Tosca,' 'Cavalleria' and many more operas in which his vibrant tenor voice and the grace and fire of his acting made him a striking figure."

###

MAX ROSEN'S UNKNOWN LITERARY ADMIRER

After every one of his New York concerts last season—and there were nineteen of them in all—Max Rosen, the youthful violinist, found a little volume of verse or prose left in the green room, flatteringly inscribed to him in an unknown hand and signed with the initials O. D. These books comprised a wide range of reading matter—from Shakespeare to Bernard Shaw—but never was there the slightest hint of the sender's identity. "I do not know whether someone thinks I am collecting a library or just what the idea is," says Max Rosen, "but anyway it's very charming and mysterious to have an unknown admirer, and especially one that has such a discriminating literary taste. Am I curious? Well, just a bit—but somehow I don't think it's a She—if it were she wouldn't be able to keep herself secret so long." Quite an observer of feminine frailties is young Max Rosen—age eighteen!

###

PEORIA, ILL.

The following organ recital was given by Franklin Stead at the Peoria Musical College on December 9:

Sonata, D minor ..... Alex. Guilmant
Introduction and allegro; pastorale and finale
Vision Fugitive ..... Frederick Stevenson
Gavotte from Twelfth Sonata ..... Martini 1706-1784
Chromatic Fantasie ..... Louis Thiele
The Magic Harp ..... J. A. Meale
Fantasie Symphonic ..... Rossiter Cole
Suite (In India) ..... R. S. Stoughton
The Grove of Palms
By the Ganges
The Dancing Girls of Delhi
Incantation
In the Palace of the Rajah
Toccata from Fifth Symphony ..... Charles Marie Widor

READ The Musical Observer
the best music monthly published. Too little space to tell you about the many good things it contains. Send for a copy of current issue free. MUSICAL OBSERVER CO., Cooper Square, NEW YORK.

ANNA E. GEORGE
PIANIST COMPOSER
Teaching at Bush Conservatory

Esther Fricke-Green Accompanist
Organist Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist
625 Lyon & Healy Building

Mrs. Charles L. Krum
SOPRANO
Studio, 621 Fine Arts Bldg. Res. 5000 Harper Av. Tel. Drexel 2904

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Buren Stein
Auditorium Musical-Dramatic Conservatory
AUDITORIUM BLDG. CHICAGO

CLARA EDMUNDS-HEMINGWAY
Contralto-Whistler-Reader-Pianist,
ORIGINAL Composition Recitals. ORATORIO, Concert, Recital
CHURCH. 668 Madison, Gary, Ind. Phone 1224

SILVIO SCIONTI
PIANIST
American Conservatory, Kimball Hall

FREDERICA GERHARDT DOWNING
CONTRALTO
Oratorio - Concert - Recital
709 South Harvey Av., Oak Park, Ill. Phone O. P. 1478

Allen W. Bogen
CONCERT ORGANIST PUPILS
5429 Harper Ave. Tel. Blackstone 1913

MRS. EDWARD MacDOWELL
Programs of MacDowell Music Steinway Piano
Management: Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway, New York
Proceeds of these recitals revert unreservedly to the MacDowell Memorial Association

IRVING C. HANCOCK
Organist and Choirmaster, Trinity Episcopal Church
PUPILS—PIANO AND ORGAN Phone Drexel 6903

Frances Frothingham
PIANO—HARMONY
605 KIMBALL BUILDING

Jessie Nichols Baldwin
Soprano Teacher of Singing Recitals
617 Kimball Hall and Orchard School

Olive Nevin, Soprano
"A Nevin Worthy of the Name"
325 WEST 57th STREET NEW YORK

GRAHAM HARRIS, Violinist
Winner Nat'l Contest N.F.M.C. Biennial Convention
240 E. Tremont Av. NEW YORK

Palmer Christian
Concert Organist

FORTIETH ANNUAL MEETING M. T. N. A.

The fortieth annual meeting of the Music Teachers' National Association will be held at Hotel Statler, St. Louis, Monday, December 30; Tuesday, December 31, and Wednesday, January 1, 1919.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 30

10 a. m.—Opening of sessions. Address by the Mayor of St. Louis, Hon. Henry W. Kiel. President's address, "The Musician and the Community." "American Music," Glenn Dillard Gunn, conductor, American Symphony Orchestra, Chicago. "The History of Music in St. Louis," Richard Spamer, music editor, St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "Americans and Music Teachers," Lynn B. Dana, Warren, Ohio.

1:30 p. m.—"An Analysis of the Traits of the Musical Mind," Dean Carl E. Seashore, State University of Iowa, Iowa City.

2 p. m.—Conference. American music. Standing committee, Francis L. York, Detroit, chairman; Messrs. Cady, Clippinger, Lutkin, and Maxwell. "Realism in Indian Music," Dean Charles S. Skilton, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan.

8 p. m.—Recital by St. Louis musicians:

Trio for Piano, Violin and Violoncello in E minor.....W. H. Pommer
Basil Gauntlett, Ellis Levy and Edward Clay
Piano Solos—
Chivalric Poem..... Berenice C. Wyer
Etude in D minor.....Berenice C. Wyer
Miss Wyer
Baritone Solos—
Paolo's Song from Paolo and Francesca.....
.....Berenice C. Wyer
Giovanni's Lament.....Berenice C. Wyer
E. A. Holscher
Sonata quasi una Fantasia for Violin and Piano, in A minor.....Samuel Bollinger
Ellis Levy and Samuel Bollinger
Songs by St. Louis Composers.....
Miss Olga Hambuechen
Quintet for Piano, Two Violins, Viola and Violoncello, in B minor.....Max Gottschalk
Rudolph Gruen and assisting artists

The program will be followed by an informal reception, tendered the visitors by the Associated Musicians of St. Louis, George Enzinger, president.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 31

9 a. m.—Conference—Voice (D. A. Clippinger of Chicago presiding): "Principles and Problems of Voice Teaching," the chairman; "The Relation of the Singer to His Instrument," William John Hall, St. Louis; "What the Voice Teacher Should Know," John C. Wilcox, Denver. Piano (E. R. Kroeger of St. Louis presiding): "Modern Methods of Tone Production in Piano Playing," W. L. Calhoun, Joplin, Mo.; "My Experience in Wager Swayne's Class in Paris," Miss Alice Pettingill, St. Louis; "An Attempt to Standardize Grades of Music in Teaching Material," Ernst C. Krohn Jr., St. Louis; "The Technic of the Arm in Piano Playing," Otto L. Fischer, Wichita, Kan.; "The Piano Hand" (illustrated on screen), E. A. Schubert, St. Charles, Mo.

10 a. m.—"Aesthetics and Anaesthetics in Municipal Music," T. Carl Whitmer, Pittsburgh.

11:30 a. m.—Annual business meeting.

1:30 p. m.—"Music as War Ammunition," Leon R. Maxwell, New Orleans.

2 p. m.—Conference—Community Music. Standing committee, Dean R. G. McCutchan, DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., chairman; Messrs. Benbow, Lutkin, Pratt, and Cole. "Community Music in the Rural Communities," H. D. Tovey, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, Ark.

4 p. m.—Conference—History of Music and Libraries. Standing committee, William Benbow, Buffalo, chairman; Messrs. Erb, Pratt, Boyd, and Sonneck. "A Review of Materials and Methods in Teaching Music Appreciation," George Dickinson, Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; "Spanish Mission Music," Mrs. Lillie Terrell Shaver, State Normal School, San Marcos, Texas; "Popularizing Music Through the Library," Arthur E. Bostwick, librarian, St. Louis Public Library.

8 p. m.—Concert and New Year's Eve Supper, in the Artists' Guild Building, as guests of the Associated Musicians.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 1

9 a. m. — Conference — Standardization. Standing committee, C. H. Farnsworth, Teachers' College, New York City, chairman; Messrs. Macdougall and Swarthout. "Review of the Work of the Committee and Aim Sought," the chairman; "A Standard for Gauging Three Years of Piano Work, With Special Reference to the Granting of Credit by Public Schools for Piano Practice," Hamilton C. Macdougall, Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass.; "Nature and Purpose of the 'School Credit Piano Course'" (Ditson Co.), Clarence G. Hamilton, Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass.; "A Consideration of the 'Progressive Series'" (Art Publication Society), Max L. Swarthout, Millikin Conservatory, Decatur, Ill.; "Standardization, From the Viewpoint of the Association of Presidents and Past Presidents," Dean Charles S. Skilton, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kan.

11 a. m.—"New Citizens' Work in Music," Mrs. David Allen Campbell, editor, The Musical Monitor.

11:30 a. m.—"Modern French Music," Dean H. H. Bellamann, Chicora College School of Music, Columbia, S. C.

1:30 p. m.—"How May the Musical Needs of the Rural Community Be Met?" Max Schoen, State Normal School, Johnson City, Tenn.

2 p. m.—Conference—Public School Music. Standing committee, Karl W. Gehrkens, Oberlin College, chairman; Messrs. McConathy, Birge, and Baldwin. Report of Committee, the chairman; general topic, "Teaching Theory in the Public Schools"; introduction, Osbourne McConathy, Northwestern University; "Theory Teaching in the Grades," Miss M. Teresa Finn, St. Louis; "Theory in the High School," Mrs. James T. Sleeper, Beloit, Wis., Teachers' College; "A Normal School Harmony Class," John Ross Frampton, Iowa State Teachers' College. Conference—Organ and Choral Music. Standing committee, Dean Peter C. Lutkin, Evanston, Ill., chairman; Messrs. Gow, Macdougall, and Boyd. "Certain Aspects of Chorus Singing," Daniel Protheroe, Chicago; "Organ Composition and Organ Playing," Felix Borowski, Chicago; "Musical Art Societies and A Capella Singing," Herbert Hyde, conductor, Musical Art Society, Chicago.

4 p. m.—Conference—The Affiliation Committee. Standing committee, J. Lawrence Erb, University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill., chairman; Messrs. Manchester and Maxwell. "A Survey of the Field," the chairman. Short reports by state presidents. Open discussion.

6 p. m.—Informal Dinner and Social Session.

———###———

Schumann-Heink—Mme. Schumann-Heink appeared in recital at Cleveland on December 17.

A. G. O. SERVICE AT SECOND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The old Second Presbyterian Church stands as a fortress of good music on South Side. Its organ is among the perhaps a little lacking in the lighter, g ful effects, but eminent by reason o splendid sonority and churchly richnes

The quartet includes Orpha Ke Holstman, Louise Harrison Slade, Fran Dunford and a tenor whose name was learned. They used Huntington W man's "Song in the Night," from his Ch mas cantata, an exquisite bit of part wr and having a good bass solo, well negoti by Mr. Dunford, who also filled admi his place in the ensemble.

Mrs. Holstman and Mrs. Slade did superb duet from the Verdi Requiem, ing it opulent with a dramatic intensity fervor.

The guild players represented were S Gruenstein, who showed that his fin are as facile on the keys as they ar the pages of the Diapason. He used a v of Lemmens, with varied movements, was felicitous to a marked degree in ma each one to glow with color and cont His playing is of a peculiar neatness of cerity—easy to listen to and leaving a agreeable impression.

Walter Keller chose two movement Herbert Wrightson's Second Sonat graphic and well-constructed work. themes are engaging and their working full of fascinating variety. The figura in the slow movement in particular is at tively used. Mr. Keller was not in his form, but the work made an undeni good impression.

Miss Florence Hodge used Tertius ble's unusual Melody, which is of the of recent things written for the organ, that the obtruding arpeggios at the are a bit rampant. She plays Bon brilliant compositions with a swee verve and dash, is sure of her intent and able to bring them to completion stirring energy.

There was a very small audience, bu is often the case, the music gained by a tain intimacy and informality, and the ice may stand recorded as one of the pleasant ones in a long list of succe I hope my address did not alter the s ment.

ALBERT COTSWOR

———###———

JOINT RECITAL BY LEMUEL KI BARITONE, AND RUTH BREYT PRAAK, VIOLINIST, AT ILLI NOIS STATE NORMAL UNIVERSITY

The second number of the lecture co given Friday evening, December 6, was attended. The program was very enjoy Mr. Kilby has a very fine voice and a p ing personality, so that his part of the ning's entertainment was decidedly w while.

Miss Breytspraak is a violinist who p with remarkable ease and wonderful res The greatest compliment paid these ar was the attention given by the audie There always must be some holding pc when such attention is given, and that pc was shown Friday evening. We are of the opportunity of having heard su worth-while recital. M.

MUSIC IN CLEVELAND

By LOUISE MORRIS

Large audiences heard the Russian and iladelphia orchestras last week in Cleve-d. And without venturing into the ous, for both concerts were thoroughly hanting, we may say that, having one Monday and the other on Thursday, op-tunity was given for comparisons which e interesting in many ways.

he Russian Symphony Orchestra played Cleveland under the auspices of the man's Club, it being a benefit occasion. s Lila Robeson, claimed and acclaimed Cleveland as well as New York this sea-, sang two numbers with her usual gra-isness and convincing interpretation. ny hearts beat high in friendly pride as ecame evident that Lila Robeson was easuring up" to the test of orchestra cert singing. As the local papers rred, the concert was at every moment resting, beginning with Italian Capriccio chaikowsky) and affording enjoyable, tchy numbers from Vassilenho, Ivanoff Sarasate, in whose "Gypsy Airs" Bese-sky featured as solo violinist. Modest schuler's own adaptations of "In the rth" (Gillette), "Merry-go-round" and njo Picker," from Powell's Suite, and of MacDowell Polonaise met with warm-praise. In addition to their intrinsic ue, such adaptations are always a study the resources of orchestration. Praise s also accorded the composition work of arles T. Ferry, accompanying Miss Robe-. His song, "Storm," is dedicated to s Robeson and was sung by her with at effect.

♮ ♮ ♮

he Thursday concert formed one of Mrs. ghes' ever-popular series, this concert ning veritable storms of applause and sing most enthusiastic and specific com-nt, considering the fact that no soloist s on the program.

schaikowsky was adhered to with won-ful effect. From the "Symphony Pa-tique," "The Nutcracker Suite" and arche Slav" Mr. Stokowski constructed evening of music that was a rounded-out le, expressive of all of Tschaikowsky , we might say, all of humanity as well. celesta was featured in the "Danse la Fee Dragee," an odd coincidence be-the use of the same charming instru-nt in the same selection at the Monday ht concert, when the Russian Symphony hestra played it as an encore number.

♮ ♮ ♮

he musical calendar of Cleveland prom-for December Schumann-Heink, Guio-Novaes, Jacques Thibaud, Harold ter, Boris Saslawsky, Hulda Lashanska, nald Werrenrath, and Nikolai Sokoloff, st conductor with the Chicago Sym-ny Orchestra.

♮ ♮ ♮

he Sun Dial, an undergraduate publica-n at the College for Women of Western erve University, contained the name of ry Carver Williams as having won a e in the College Anthology (Stratford mpany, Boston). Miss Williams' poem, Lullaby," together with several others her classmates, are to be found in this r's Anthology, and were written last r. The "Lullaby" was set to music by s Williams and sung by the College for men Glee Club on the occasion of the Fortnightly Club Jubilee. The poem follows:

LULLABY

Sleep, little child of elfin charms,
Little sunbeam child of the morning light,
Heart of the noonday, dew of the night,
Sleep in my arms.

Rest, little child, my heart's delight,
Little child whose eyes like petals close,
Song of the nightingale, breath of the rose,
Rest through the night.

Dream, little child as I softly sing,
Little snowdrop child of Winter's cold,
Music of Summer, Autumn's gold,
Dream of the Spring.

Wake, little child, my hope, my all,
Little promise child of the star-eyed skies,
Lamb of my bosom, light of my eyes,
Wake when I call.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

♮ ♮ ♮

Through the kindness of Mrs. W. B. Sanders, president of Cleveland's new Chamber Music Society, Music News was represented at the interesting assembly in Hotel Statler ballroom Tuesday evening, when Harold Bauer and Jacques Thibaud were the visiting players. The writer had never heard the Cesar Franck Sonata in A major, but gained a splendid comprehension of its parts under the thoughtful, discriminating music reading which these artists accorded it.

The opening sonata was in C minor, opus 45, of Grieg. Of this the second movement was especially enjoyed, considering that a romanza movement does not always command the respect of the modern audience. The program of the evening contained some short solos of only fair interest and some encore numbers that appealed rather more universally. The affair was of consequence both for its place in the hearing given to chamber music throughout America and for the personnel of this particular gathering, as being representative of Cleveland's first and best.

The large paid chorus at First Methodist Episcopal Church, Cleveland, was given an interesting trial on a recent Sunday evening, when the congregation were instructed to lay down their bulletins containing the words of "The Holy City." After the service they were to report to the choir or the leader, Mr. Griffith J. Jones, whether or not they had understood the words of the cantata.

"Didn't miss a single word," was the unanimous affirmation at the end of the evening.

First Church has a Votteler-Hettche organ which responds movingly to the ever-present genius of Jessie Havill, F. A. G. O. Miss Havill's superiors in age and fame have been heard with not half so good effect in church music, taking the service as a whole, with her delicate harp transitions and the adoring Nicea, done at the end with chimes and vox humana. Sunday morning service saw the reading from score of a good duet, "Just as I Am," written by Mr. Jones and sung with great appeal by Mr. Davies and Mr. Wilson.

A junior choir, vested, and a young people's orchestra are features of this church, and give occasional Sunday recitals.

Surely the small concert has its advantages—to those who get in! And there is an especial charm about the events at the Cleveland Museum of Art for this very reason. Aside from the acoustics, which are wonderful, and the nature of the stage, which acts as a sounding board, the auditorium possesses a cozy, familiar atmosphere, for "everybody has front seats." Mr. Whiting, the director, outlined last Sunday a splendid musical calendar for the year and spoke upon the attempts made in other museums to do the same thing that is being done in Cleveland, namely, to further the appreciation of music and to give good music to the people free of charge. Mr. T. W. Surette was present at the museum during last week and lectured, and on Sunday evening he introduced and accompanied Boris Saslawsky in a recital of rather remarkable folk-songs. Surely there never was a more diverting singer than this young Russian. Preceded by a brief synopsis of their translation on the part of Mr. Surette, the songs, be they Russian or French, had ample message for the most English-confined listener. One was tempted to believe that Saslawsky's interpretation proclaimed sufficient meaning, that announcements could have been dispensed with, but perhaps this was stretching things, for he sang of the most concrete things imaginable, even to buckwheat cakes and red hair! Of the serious numbers "Dissonance," "The Stepper" and the impressive "Christ Is Risen," had an almot electric effect on the hearer. Such wealth of atmospheric feeling is found in few other artists. Perhaps he was most distinctive in the songs of "Little Russia," when he evinced a mastery of explosive consonants and of the art of "singing around the notes," so typical of folk-songs. Several English songs were given in the best American style, displaying as the entire program did, a mellow, well controlled voice of wide range, and oh! so much virile personality.

"Cleveland is waking up," says the long-suffering music enthusiasts, after these many years of hoping, and indeed it appears that at the very time when "the sixth city" is increasing its population to make it the "fourth city," a great advance in the arts is beginning to make itself felt. And the new symphony orchestra now appears, eliciting the highest that the highest hopes of Mr. Sokoloff could have presaged. Real artists, among them Sol Marcusson of Chautauqua fame, and always eager to forward musical developments in Cleveland.

The first concert was swung by St. Ann's Church, rather than the usual local concert managers, but it was held in the city's largest hall and was essentially a public, musical, important affair. People came prepared to overlook faults and were not a little surprised to find very few faults indeed. Among other numbers Liszt's "Les Preludes," a Carmen suite, and Herbert's "American Fantasy" were heard, proving that the new orchestra is not afraid of familiar selections.

Earl Victor Prahl

PIANIST

Bush Conservatory

Chicago

ELLEN KINSMAN MANN

Ellen Kinsman Mann, a teacher whose motto is "Results," is remarkably successful in placing her pupils in actual paying work, as is shown by the following list of those who are this season filling the engagements as indicated:

Beulah Anderson, soprano; Pauline Marshall, mezzo; Ruth Kanaur, alto; Edna Wetzell, alto, ladies' quartet, "The American Girls," southern states.

Mabel Ponthan, soprano; Hester Huff, mezzo, with the Metropolitan Trio, in New England.

Gladys Snowden, soprano, with Del Mar Quartet, in the south.

Hazel Kinniken, soprano; Harriet Niehaus, alto; Virginia Stewart, mezzo, with quartet, "Liberty Bells," in north central states.

Katherine Bauder, alto; Ella Leonard, mezzo; Cecil Nolet, soprano; Hazel Atherton, alto, with the "Five Liberty Belles," on the Pacific Coast.

Helen Westfall, soprano, with the Schubert Trio, in the northwest.

Blanche Snider, soprano, with mixed quartet, in University Extension concerts.

C. S. Porter, baritone; Hazel Mercer, soprano, with the "Porter Concert Party," in the north.

Marjorie Sweetser, soprano; Alice Stanhope, alto; Goulda Horn, mezzo, with the quartet, "Melody Mirths," in Australia.

Inez Kent, mezzo; Barbara Schmidt, alto, with the American Ladies' Quartet, touring Pacific Coast.

La Verne McCrum, soprano; Winnifred Caverly, alto; Edith Schenck, alto, with the Mozart Quartet, in north central states.

Ruth Timme, alto; Vera Thompson, soprano, with the Berkeley Sextet, in north central states.

Hope Hardy, soprano; Edna Loft, soprano, with the Schubert Sextet, in the south.

ELLA KINSMAN MANN

Ruth Zink, soprano, with the Cathedral Quartet, in the middle west.

Ruth Caufield, alto; Wilma Blocher, mezzo; Dorris Strubel, soprano, with the Southern Seas Sextet, in Australia.

———###———

Alcock—Mrs. Merle Alcock was one of the soloists at the Bagby Musicale at the Waldorf Astoria on Monday last, December 16.

WICHITA, KANSAS

The condition brought about by the Sta Board of Health—the "flu" ban—is the cau of absolute quiet in music circles here. T ban was temporarily lifted the latter pa of November, which enabled several co certs to slip through, and plans were bo ing for a big season when the restricti were again placed on gatherings of all kin

The outstanding features of this short p riod were a joint recital by Lucy Gates, p prano, and Yolando Mero, pianist, wh concert opened the Municipal Course; a days' visit by the Century English Op Company, which presented "Cavalle Rusticana," "Pagliacci," "Carmen" "Faust"; and also one Municipal Band co cert at the Forum November 24.

These were crowded into one week's t tivity and were augmented by various lo programs, one a Sunday program by t faculty members of the Wichita College Music, a student recital at the Brokaw St dios, and all arrangements were made b the first Wichita Symphony Orchestra co cert of the season, which concert is yet t be given when theaters, etc., are allowed open. The High School Course has p been able to present one number yet, b it is very probable that the course will postponed indefinitely.

The Brokaw Studios presented Marj Blake, pianist, pupil of Florence You Brokaw, the last week of November. S was assisted by Terry Ferrell, violinist pupil of Ralph Brokaw. Miss Blake's pr cipal numbers were the Grieg Concer Opus 16 (last movement), Beethoven Sc ta, Opus 13; the Schubert-Liszt "Hu Hark, the Lark," Liszt's "Liebestraum and several MacDowell numbers.

Mr. Ferrell presented the Bach Chacon for violin alone, the Wieniawski Sche Tarantelle and the Dvorak-Kreisler Slavo Dance No. 3.

The studios were crowded for this p gram, encores were numerous, and both pils did credit to the work of both Mr. Mrs. Brokaw, who have in the past th years conducted the Brokaw Studios w an ever-increasing clientele.

There is a movement on foot to r funds for a new pipe organ for the For A series of concerts will be the means, p viding the "flu" ban will allow it in tim run a series this season. The Forum ne an organ badly, especially now that community idea has spread so extensiv

Harry Evans conducted the sing at Sunday free concert given by the Munici Band (above referred to), and the audie seemed to enjoy the sing and co-operat beautifully.

John McCormack is announced for J uary 22 and Galli-Curci for April 12.

The minutes of the last Kansas State M sic Teachers' Association show its n meeting will be at Emporia in the sec week of February.

Our music season will be a late one.

———###———

REMOVAL OF THE WALKER DAN ING STUDIOS

Virna Harman Walker announces the moval of her Studio of Dancing from old Lyon & Healy Building, 208 South bash avenue, to Suite 1509-11 Lakev Building, 116 South Michigan avenue, w she will have ideal facilities. She will an opening reception early in January.

Anna Case

LYRIC SOPRANO
of the Metropolitan Opera Co.
Exclusive Management
Metropolitan Musical Bureau
Aeolian Hall, New York City

SHERWOOD MUSIC SCHOOL
PIANO VOICE VIOLIN ORGAN THEORY DRAMATIC ART DANCING
Twenty-second Year. 800 Teachers. 6,000 Pupils. 400 Branches in 18 States. Plan of study saves much time and money
Main School: Fine Arts Building, Chicago

ELEANOR EASTLAKE — KATHRYN KEIRNAN
Costume — DUETTISTS — Classic
American Conservatory

MABLE CORLEW SMITH
HOTEL ALEXANDRIA — SOPRANO — TEL. SUPERIOR 5544

HANS HESS Violoncellist
For Terms and Dates Address 522 FINE ARTS BUILDING

RALPH MUNROE PARK* Pianist
WABASH 1761 — 905-6 LYON & HEALY BLDG

MOORHEAD, MINNESOTA

An enthusiastic reception was accorded Christine Langenhan, the famous dramatic soprano, in Moorhead, Minn., where she gave a most interesting recital before the Concordia College.

Her program was as follows:

Angels Ever Bright and Fair.....Haendel
The Lass With the Delicate Air.....Arne
A Spirit Flower.....Campbell-Tipton
So Great Our Love.....Troostwyk
Values.....Vanderpool
In French—
Aria from Mignon—(Connais tu le pays)....Thomas
Ouvre tes Yeux Bleus.....Massenet
Elegie.....Massenet
Aria from Gioconda (in Italian).....Ponchielli
Lullaby (in Russian).....Gretschaninow
Song My Mother Taught Me (in Bohemian)..Dvorak
I Love Thee (in Norwegian).....Grieg
Allah.....A. Walter Kramer
I Did Not Know.....Vanderpool
A Memory Divine.....Reber-Fish
April Tide.....Cox
Sleep My Darling.....Mana Zucca
The Americans Come.....Fay Foster

She was so heartily applauded that, besides many repetitions, she had to add to each group of songs an encore, such as "Come for a Sail in My Little Boat" (Arthur Troostwyk), "Hills of Dream" (Marion Bauer), "My Love Is a Muleteer" (Francisca di Nogero) and "Ring Out, Sweet Bells of Peace" (Caro Roma).

Miss Edith Quist was an excellent accompanist.

Appended are the comments from the Fargo dailies in full:

"The appearance of Christine Langenhan in recital at Concordia College auditorium on Thursday evening was a marked artistic success. It was the third number of the Artists' Course and was Miss Langenhan's first appearance in Moorhead. Miss Langenhan is a soprano of sterling qualities, who has found a place for herself among the foremost artists of the day. She showed remarkable intelligence in songs of a dramatic nature and infinite grace in songs of lighter vein. The musical public is always interested in artists who make their first appearance in our community, and for this reason, if for no other, the visit of Christine Langenhan deserves more than a passing comment. The audience applauded her heartily, and besides many repetitions she responded with several extras. Mr. Aasgaard, the president of our college, can be congratulated for bringing such an excellent and finished artist to our city."—Fargo Forum, December 6, 1918.

"Christine Langenhan, dramatic soprano, arrived in Moorhead yesterday afternoon and at Concordia Auditorium last evening entertained a large crowd of Moorhead and Clay county people in a program of selected numbers embracing arias from the leading operas, as well as many of the simple heart songs of the famous composers. Miss Langenhan's work was pronounced of a very high order by music lovers, and her recital was one of the big musical treats of the present season."—Courier-News, Fargo, December 6, 1918.

———♯♯♯———

Lapham—Agnes Lapham, pianist, played for the Central Eleanor Club last Sunday, her numbers being Legend (Cole), "Scotch Poem" and "Br'er Rabbit" (MacDowell), Etude, E Major (Chopin) and the Paraphrase on the "Fledermaus" (Strauss-Schuett).

MME. STURKOW-RYDER ENTERTAINED IN MEMPHIS

Mme. Sturkow-Ryder was "held up" by a train wreck, and reached Memphis only 45 minutes before the concert was announced, being over six hours late, with no breakfast.

After the concert she was entertained at a dinner given by the Piano Club, and later at a reception given at St. Agnes Academy, where Mme. Sturkow-Ryder is a great favorite.

———♯♯♯———

CHARLES AND VIOLET LINK

Mr. Link recently made two successful appearances as vocal soloist at Cohan's Grand Opera House.

♮ ♮ ♮

Engagements of Violet Martens-Link as accompanist:

Nov. 25 Lake View Musical Club.
Dec. 3 Woman's Club of Hinsdale.
Dec. 5 Riverside Woman's Club.
Dec. 7 Caxton Club.
Dec. 9 Oak Park Woman's Club.
Dec. 17 Austin Woman's Club.

———♯♯♯———

Berkshire String Quartet—The Berkshire String Quartet has secured the services of Mr. Jacques Gordon to replace Mr. Kortlasky as the second violin of the quartet. As originally announced the three concerts will be given in New York as originally planned, the first taking place Tuesday evening January 14, and the other two on February 25 and March 24. The quartet and Olive Kline, soprano, give a concert before the Outlook Club at Montclair, N. J., on December 20.

VAN YORX THEO.——Tenor
Studio: 22 West 39th Street New York

Fernando Carpi Tenor
Metropolitan Opera House
Available for Concerts, Recitals and Festivals Address Metropolitan Opera House

GALLI-CURCI SOPRANO
STEINWAY PIANO
HOMER SAMUELS, Accompanist MANUEL BERENGUER, Flutist
Management Chas. L. Wagner. D. F. McSweeney, Associate Manager. 511 Fifth Avenue, N. Y

SCHUMANN-HEINK 3672 Michigan Ave. CHICAGO
Steinway Piano MANAGEMENT HAENSEL & JONES, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK

CONTRALTO
Pupil of
Pauline Viardot Garcia
and Mathilde Marchesi
Mrs. W. S. BRACKEN
Teaching at
Cosmopolitan School
16th Floor
New Kimball Bldg.

DICTION

Suppose we bring our mountain friend into the city for a visit. We seat him at a symptuous repast, and note he eats but little. Evidently he does not like the flavor of things.

We take him to our Art Institute. To sculpture he gives but little attention, and that to the muscular development of the gladiator. The portraits he scans with a rapid eye. But note his interest when he observes the landscape scene, especially a brilliant sunset. Undoubtedly our friend is a hunter and has lived much in the woods. We take him to hear a brilliant lecturer. His only comment, perhaps, will be that he is a nice speaker. Take him to a concert. All the finer points are lost on him. Our friend has given no thought to literature, to painting, nor to music, but we do not blame him, for he has had no opportunity. He may even have a dialect at which we smile.

Making an application to the ordinary man and woman of the city who have had every city advantage, and who have enjoyed, perhaps, each one of the above pleasures, yet we find, in their manner of speech in everyday conversation, that they are as ignorant of their own language as our mountain friend is of the pleasures we have tried to give him.

It is simply one of the greatest faults of the American people that we do not give time to the study of our language and our manner of speech. Those of us who have given thought and attention to the subject know that the American voice is the despair of the European teacher, who says our voices are musical, but the organs of speech are lazy.

Looking more deeply into the cause, we find we are not altogether to blame, for few of us have heard but one language, and so have not had naturally developed a keen sensitiveness to the varied inflections of many languages. The consequence is that we express only what the outer ear hears, and have taken no care to develop the inner ear.

European children are familiar with several languages and likely many dialects, and to this unconscious development is to be attributed their keen sensitiveness to the inflections of many languages.

Looking more closely into the matter, we find diction to be really a study of intermediate sounds—the hidden sound to which our ear is not sensitive.

By working for freedom of release in the spoken word, and this freedom is absolutely necessary in order to get at these intermediate sounds, we find it possible to develop what may be termed an "inner ear" for hearing. In other words, we take on a finer perception in the analysis of our language, and the singing quality of its vowels, to the extent that we develop a sensitive plate to the niceties of our language.

Having given thought and attention to this freedom of release of the speaking muscles, we find the study of other languages made easy. We note, too, that this same freedom, when attained in the speaking voice, places the English language in the realm of the singable languages.

What is meant by the "inner ear" is the awakening of the many tiny nerves which lie just inside the ear drum. These nerves can be made so sensitive that they will respond to sounds that the outer ear never hears.

Take our mountain friend and his habitual life in the woods. The fall of a leaf or the slightest stir of a bush he quickly hears, a keen sensitiveness developed as a matter of self-protection. Many sounds of the woods which we pass without notice he detects naturally. Bring him into the city—all noises sound to him like one great crash, whereas his city friend can distinguish between the noise of the "L" and the surface lines of cars, and between the postman's and the traffic officer's whistle.

So much for daily habit, and, too, for that fundamental principle of nature, involuntary action, by reason of which we do things spontaneously.

One can readily see how the European child, hearing daily many languages, has the advantage of the American child, who practically hears but one language.

When we study sound analysis and inflection, all languages will become as easy as the mother tongue, because the "inner ear" will be cultivated to hear the intermediate sounds of all tongues; and we must attain this intelligent hearing before our language can be rightly understood and readily heard.

Realizing that the matter of diction is, strictly speaking, a matter of intelligent hearing of the intermediate sounds of a language, we find this mental grasp eliminates all conscious thought of muscular action in our speech. In other words, when we hear the thing mentally, our organs of speech respond without effort, thereby placing the muscular activity necessary to give out these sounds under involuntary action.

We find, too, that it is by the means of a clear understanding of a language and its vocal inflections that the singing voice may be truly reduced to the speaking voice amplified. Thus is verified the truth of the statement made by Lamperti: "Master the recitative and you have mastered the art of singing."

MARIE GLENN ESTILL,
Associate Teacher of the Barbereaux System.
December, 1918.

COMMUNITY HALL
118 MARION ST., OAK PARK
Beautiful new recital hall. Seats 200. Acoustics perfect.
New Mason-Hamlin Grand. For terms and bookings address
GEO. R. HEMINGWAY 121 Marion St., Oak Park

WANT ADVERTISEMENTS

(Advertisements under this head will hereafter be accepted at 20 cents a line.)

WANTED—Music teachers and supervisors of public school music; city, county, state. Federated chain plan (co-operative). Information free. Results assured. Write P. H. Thomas, 109-W-45-N. Y. C.

DIRECTORY

Addresses are Chicago unless otherwise stated

ACCOMPANISTS

Bergman Marion (Artist Accompanist) 562 Oakwood Blvd. (Tel. Douglas 6506
Borncamp Ida May (Phone Evanston 4723 418 Hamilton St., Evanston, Ill.
Boyd Jeanne (Midway 763) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Harrison 2074)
Bradley Ruth (Graceland 5697) 859 Cornelia Avenue
Browne Helen M. (Graceland 7714) 4308 Greenview Av.
Campbell Gordon (Rogers Park 4072) Cosmopolitan School of Music
Campbell Helen (Oak Park 3747-J) 604 Lyman Av., Oak Park
Cartwright Harriet (Res. Phone Drexel 697) 1204 E. 47th and 612 Fine Arts Bldg
Coleman Carlton E. (Superior 8669) Bush Conservatory
Coryell Marion (New York) 72 W. 68th St.
Chute Delbert (Midway 5288) 419 Fine Arts Bldg.
Fricke-Green Esther (Haymarket 1888) 625 Lyon & Healy Building
Gilbert Harry M. (New York) 61 W. 50th St.
Grandland Florence M. (Maywood 320) 217 N. 3rd Av., Maywood, Ill.
Grove Grace (Wabash 8324) 400 Fine Arts Bldg.
Henry Edith (Graceland 9601) 721½ Barry Av.
Kittilsby Katharine (Rogers Park 2551) 1533 Sherwin St.
Kurtz George Ralf (Organist) 4609 Dover st. (Edgewater 2959)
Lester William (Midway 8888) 419 Fine Arts Bldg.
Lewis Pauline (Home Ph., Blackstone 1883) 5558 Ellis Av.
Link Violet Martens (Graceland 4816) 846 Oakdale Av.
Lychenheim Marion (Rogers Park 1207) (Ensemble) 2030 Kenilworth
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Lakeview 528) 3623 Pine Grove Av.
McAllister Bessie (Chicago Piano College) 4308 Greenview Av. (Graceland 7714)
McShane Eugenia (Sunnyside 3966) (Organist) 4609 Dover St.
Meagley Mary Willing (Toledo, Ohio) 2307 Monroe St.
Nelson Edgar A. (Edgewater 9332) Bush Conservatory
Olson Mabel W. (512 Fine Arts Bldg.) Summer Address: Galva, Ill
Orchard Mrs. Charles (Blackstone 1789) 1535 Hyde Park Av.
Porter Beulah Taylor (Rogers Park 1679) 429 Fine Arts Bldg.
Pullis Mabel A. (Drexel 1985) 4312 Lake Park Av.
Ryan Helen Victoria (Oak Park 1201) 330 Washington Blvd., Oak Park, Ill.
Scheib Eleanor (Care Wolfsohn Bureau) 1 West 34th St., New York
Shaw Mrs. George L. (Sunnyside 9828) 4600 Dover St.
Simpson Corinne (Pianist and Reader) Touring in Lyceum work
Stewart Marchia Kelley (Pianist) 7025 Merrill Av. (Midway 722)
Stout Alice Brown (Tel. R. F. 8450) (Soprano) 266 Park av., River Forest, Ill.
Stumpf Aimee C. (Wellington 1855) (Pianist) 3608 Maple Square Av.
Van Grove Isaac (8793 Wabash) 630 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wallace Alma (Organist) (New York) Chg. Music News, 1 W. 34th St.
Williamson Gavin (Home Tel., S. Chgo. 2585) 523 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har.3766)

CHOIR BOY TRAINING.

Thompson Nance D. (Hm. ph., Edgewater 6296) Ly. Arts Cons., Lyon & Healy Bldg.

CLUBS

Mendelssohn Mgt. Harriet M. Snow 64 E. Van Buren St. (Wab. 8740)

COMMUNITY SINGING & PAGEANTRY

Smith Mr. & Mrs. H. Augustine, Boston Univ. or 37 Claflin Rd., Brookline, Mass.

COMPOSERS

Gilberte Hallette (New York) 135 W. 47th St.
White Lida Browning 818 Monroe St., Gary, Ind.

COMPOSERS RECITALS

Hemingway Clara Edmunds (Gary, Ind.) 568 Madison St. (Gary 1224)
MacDowell Mrs. Edward (New York) Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway

CONDUCTORS

Ballmann M. (Orchestra and Band) 1257 Foster Ave
Conti Arnoldo (Chicago Opera Association) Opera Coach, 1528 Kimball Hall
Erb J. Warren, Conductor—Song Coach Accompanist, 220 Madison Av. (New York)
Gennaro Giovanni 1103 Kimball Hall
Gingrich Irving. 614 Fine Arts Bldg. 646 Belden Av. (Lincoln 1290)

Oberhoffer Emil (Minn. Symphony Orch.) The Auditorium, Minneapolis, Minn.
Silby R. Mills (Res. Phone Superior 6600) 1528 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8538)

DANCING

Pryor Ruth (Classic Dancer) Ballatine Bureau (Wabash 8538)
Walker Virna Harman, 1509-11 Lakeview Bldg., 116 S. Michigan Av.
Yung Marie (Wabash 7342) 400 Fine Arts Bldg.

DRAMATIC ART

Barnum Letitia V. Fine Arts Bldg.
Cornick Frances E. (Reader) Ballantine-Rice Mgt., Kimball Hall
Liten Carlo (New York) Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall
Ricker Bessie Bown (St. Louis) Artists' Guild, Union Av.
Stein Mrs. Karl Buren (Wabash 9070) 55 Auditorium Bldg.
Stokes Kate Pentzer (Harrison 5965) 1140 Morse Av., Rogers Park, Chicago

DUET PROGRAMS

Eastlake-Keirnan Eleanor and Kathryn American Conservatory
Sullivan Josephine & Eugene (Milwaukee) 233 Mason st.

ENSEMBLES

Chicago Chamber Music Trio 522 Fine Arts Bldg. (Edgewater 8361)
Murdock Trio (Rogers Park 6286) 1316 Albion Av.
Russian Symphony Orchestra, Dan'l Mayer
Tollefsen Trio 946 President St. Brooklyn, New York

HARP

Conti Mme. Amelia (Calumet 2710) (Instruction) New Southern Hotel
De Lone Loretta (Sym., Orch., Recital) 308 Lyric Bldg., Omaha, Neb.
Lerando Leo Zelenko (The Gables) Swarthmore, Pa.

LANGUAGES

Berlitz School of Languages Auditorium Building

MANAGERS

Ballantine Bureau (Wabash 8538) 1528 Kimball Hall
Bazarozy Anthony (New York) 1495 Broadway
Choir Bureau. (Harriet Martin Snow, Dir.) 64 E. Van Buren St. (Wabash 8740)
Haensel & Jones New York Aeolian Hall
Hall Jessie B. (Bureau of Fine Arts) 425 Fine Arts Bldg. (Harrison 228)
Hanson M. H. (New York) 437 Fifth Ave.
Hawley James, Concert Director Cable Bldg. (Wabash 1853)
Mayer Daniel. New York Aeolian Hall
Music League OF AMERICA. 1 W. 34th St., New York
Rice Ethel M. (Wabash 1260) 1536 Kimball Hall
Shipman Vera Brady (Salina, Kan.) Care of Daily Union
Wagner Charles (New York) 511 Fifth Ave.
Wolfsohn Musical Bureau 1 W. 34th St., New York

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS

Baldwin Piano Co. (Wabash 4884) 323 S. Wabash Av.
Cable Piano Co. (Mason & Hamlin Pianos) Wabash Av. and Jackson Blvd.
Friedrich John & Bro (Violins) 279 Fifth Av., New York

ORGAN

Barnes George W. (Salina, Kan.) Christ Cathedral
Birch Robert R. (Oak Park 6846) Church of Redeemer.
Bogen Allen W. (Blackstone 1913) 5429 Harper Av.
Browne J. Lewis (Monroe 5550) St. Patrick's Church, 130 S. Desplaines
Christian Palmer (Kenwood 7509) Kenwood Evangelical Church
Conger Sylvia (La Grange 995-W) 29 S. Sixth Av., La Grange, Ill.
Cook Frances Anne (Douglas 3908) 644 Woodland Park (6th Pres. Church)
Cotsworth Albert (Main 2611) South Cong' Church
Courboin Chas. M. (Organist, Sp'field, Mass.) Syr. Musical Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Deal Alice R. 4359 West End Av. (Garfield 2856) New First Congregational Church
Eddy Clarence (Concert Organist) 2021 California St., San Francisco
Edwards Marie (Kedzie 228) Congregational Church, Wilmette, Ill.
Fickett Elizabeth Dean (Edgewater 3459) (Accompanist) Edgewater Pres. Church
Francis J. Henry (Choral Conductor, Composer) St. John's, Charleston, W. Va.
Fraser Arthur Randolph (Oak Park 5749) Grace Church, Oak Park, Ill.
Gallup Emory L. (Superior 7474) St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church
Goodwin Hugo (Superior 7283) St. James Episcopal Church
Groom Lester W. (1916 Lincoln Av.) Church of the Ascension
Haines Tina Mae (Kenwood 5003) Organist St. James M. E. Church
Hancock Irving (Drexel 6903) Trinity Episcopal Church
Hemington Francis (Home Ph. Oak Park 2464) Church of the Epiphany
Hodge Florence (Christ Reformed Episcopal) 4717 Sheridan Road (Edgewater 106)
Holmes A. Alfred McClurg Bldg.
Holzworth Alfred (Lincoln 4395) 2594 Orchard St.
Hyde Herbert E. (637 Fine Arts Bldg.) St. Peter's Ch., Dir. Musical Art Society
Ickes Clara M. (accompanist) (Diversey 2510) 2727 Mildred Av. (Ravenswood Baptist)
Keller Walter (300 Fine Arts Bldg.) Sherwood Music School
Knight Florence (Wabash 7217) Kimball Hall
Knodle Walter St. Clare Philadelphia, Pa.
Mattison Myrtle E. California Av. Congregational Church
Moline Lily Wadhams (Diversey 8470) 1st Church of Christ, Scientist, Oak Park
Norton John W. (Superior 7283) St. James Episcopal Church
Polk Harry T. Valparaiso, Ind. 1st Pres. Ch. and Schelling Theater
Porter Hugh (Hyde Park 2461) Hyde Park Presbyterian Church
Ross Helen Worswick (Home Tel. Oak Park 4405) Chicago Musical College.
Scheve Edward B. (Grinnell, Ia.) Iowa College School of Music
Seder Edwin Stanley (126 E. Chestnut St.) First Cong'l Church, Oak Park
Slade Mason (Christ Episcopal) 65th and Woodlawn Av.
Thompson John Winter (Galesburg, Ill.) Central Congregational Church
Van Dusen Frank W. American Conservatory
Wedertz C. Gordon Chicago Musical College
Wild Harrison M. 1203 Kimball Hall
Zaring Irene Belden (New Eng. Cong'l Church) 4451 Winchester Av. (Ravenswood 1418)

PIANO

Abernethy Patricia (Manhattan, Kan.) State Agricultural College
Adler Lois (Drexel 396) 1364 47th Place
Ammalee Lillian Care of Music News
Amsbury Theo (Piano-Theory) Douglas 2723 American Conservatory
Anderson Cora American Conservatory
Austin Electa (Sunnyside 9555) (Northwestern Univ.) Evanston
Barber Lyell Bush Conservatory
Birdsall Edna J. (Lincoln 4635) 2315 Seminary Av.
Blood Blanche (Piano and Violin) 9th floor, Auditorium Bldg.
Bohnet Cleveland (Home Tel., Oakland 5240) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Bower Mary (Ravenswood 6287) 1953 Sunnyside Av.
Brillhart G. Davis (Gunnison, Colo.) Colorado State Normal School
Briscoe Addison (Home Phone Midway 188) 1328 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Brown Roy David (Wabash 1761) 905-906 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Brumbaugh Frances Pierson (Home, Oak. 2470) 707 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8151)
Clark Helen Drummond (Midway 9608) Studio 6239 Ellis Ave.
Cleophas Mrs. Kirsti (Piano and Voice) Kenseth, Iowa
Cleophas Gertrude, care Music News
Cleveland Wyoneta (Chicago Musical College) 830 S. Michigan Av.
Clough Vierlyn (Lakeview 4515) 4144 Clarendon Av.
Detweiler Harry Chicago Musical College
Doelling Mae (Concert Pianist) 2912 Burling St
Durno Jeannette (Oakland 4638) 907 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Ehrhardt Edward V. (Graceland 5717) 523 Oakdale Av. (721 Fine Arts Bldg.)
Eidam Clarence 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Fox Albert E. (Garfield 8277) Residence 4208 Wilcox Av.
Francis-Du Val Irene (Beverly 931) (Organ) 2140 W. 103d St.
Frazer Arthur (Superior 8414) 116 E. Oak St.
Ganz Rudolph (Mgt. Charles L. Wagner) 511 Fifth Av., New York
Garwood Victor (Wabash 5388) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Gemmer Edwin J. (814 Kimball Hall) 6109 Evans Av. (Normal 3997)
George Anna E. (867 N. Dearborn St.) Bush Conservatory
Godfrey Eleanor F. (Kimball Hall) Chicago Piano College
Godowsky Leopold (New York) Haensel & Jones, Aeolian Hall.
Granquist Arthur Columbia School of Music
Haake Charles J. (Northwestern Univ., Evanston) Fine Arts Bldg., Chicago
Haake Gail Martin (Northwest'n Univ., Evanston) North Shore School of Music, Chicago
Hanapel Rose (Kenwood 523) 4740 Prairie Av.
Howland Betsy M. (Home Tel. Rav. 951) Chicago Piano College (Wabash 4805)
Irons Myrtle Tyler (822 Kimball Hall) 6034 Stony Island Av. (Hyde Park 9942)
Kelly Elizabeth Lee (Wellington 7383) 4028 Sheridan Road
Kelpsch Marguerite (Tel. Harrison 2074) Lyceum Arts Conservatory
Kenney Cady (Laramie) University Wyoming
Kimball (Pianist and Teacher), De Pauw Un'sty. Minnie Murdoff (Greencastle, Ind.)
Kober Georgia (Sherwood Music School) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
La Roche Pearle (Wentworth 2630) 5528 Indiana Av.
Lapham Agnes (Hyde Park 4969) 6042 Kenwood Av.
Le Claire Florence (Diversey 1603) 2021 Bissell St.
Levitzki Mischa (Management Daniel Mayer) Aeolian Hall, New York
Levy Heniot (Kimball Hall) American Conservatory
Lewis George G. (Teacher) (Harrison 4868) Cosmopolitan School
Loomis Clarence (Pianist-Composer) American Conservatory (Oak Park 7727)
Lyon Rose (Belmont 7247) 922 Kimball Hall
Magnuson Lillian Cosmopolitan School of Music
Marshall Caroline E. (Garfield 9470) 417 S. Central Park Av.
Paine Sarah E. (Piano and Flute) 1226 Kimball Hall (Kenwood 8021)
Park Ralph Munroe (Wabash 1761) 905-6 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Pendry Charlotte S. Centralizing School of Music
Persson Frederick (Superior 1074) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Peterson Agnes (Kedzie 9035) 411 S. Homan Av.
Peterson Edna Gunnar (La Crosse, Wis.) 325 S. Seventeenth St.
Prahl Earl Victor (Superior 8700) Bush Conservatory
Prindiville Helen (Wentworth 6547) 5934 Calumet Av.
Raab Alexander 624 S. Michigan Av.
Reckzeh Karl (Res. 2042 Bradley Pl.) Chicago Musical College
Reuter Rudolph 624 S. Michigan Av.
Robinson Carol (Wabash 5883) 1328 Kimball Building
Ryder Mme. Sturkow (Drexel 3300) 4715 Lake Park Av.
Scionti Silvio Kimball Hall
Seifert Myra C. (Lakeview 29) 585 Hawthorne Place
Shattuck Arthur (Milwaukee, Wis.) 325 Oakland Av.
Smith Lura Schuler (Lincoln, Neb.) University School of Music
Spencer Allen (Pianist-Teacher) American Conservatory
Spry Walter (Chicago) Columbia School of Music
Stead Mabel Riggs Peoria, Ill.
Stephen Daisy Waller (Pullman 244) Cosmopolitan School of Music
Stephens Clyde (Coe College) Cedar Rapids, Iowa
Stumpf Mrs. L. C. (Wellington 1855) 8608 Maple Sq. Av.
Thompson Frank Olin Wisconsin Conservatory, Milwaukee
Tomlinson Anna (Harrison 6267) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wagner Oscar (Kimball Hall) Oscar (Harrison 4868)
Wanieck Kurt (Graceland 831) American Conservatory

Warren Minnette (St. Paul) Schiffmann Bldg.
Watt Harmon H. (Kimball Hall) Chicago Piano College
Weed Myrtle (St. Paul, Minn.) 802 Pittsburgh Bldg.
Wells Howard (Kenwood 651) 4958 Blackstone Av.
Willard Carolyn Louise 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Williams Anne (Columbus 1760) 28 Latrobe Av.
Wilson Raymond (Syracuse University) Syr. Mus. Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Zygman Flora G. (Concert Pianist) 825-7 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5013)

PIPE ORGANS

Casavant Bros. Organ Builders South Haven. Mich.

PUBLISHERS

Bingham Helena (Illinois Music Co.) 2622 Marino St., Los Angeles, Cal.
Bond Carrie Jacobs & Son 744 S. Michigan Av.
Fearis (J. S.) & Bro., Chicago 4547 N. St. Louis Av.
Fischer (J.) & Bro., New York 7 and 11 Bible House
Gamble Hinged Music Co. 57 E. Van Buren St.
Gilbert Music Co. (Irving 359) 3924 Irving Pk. Blvd.
MacDermid James G. Fine Arts Bldg.
Summy Clayton F. (Co.) 64 E. Van Buren St.
Witmark M. & Sons (New York) 144 W. 37th St.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC

McConathy Osbourne (Theory, Conducting) Northwestern Univ. Sch'l of Music
Robinson O. E., American Conservatory
Votaw 6518 Kenwood Av. (Hyde Pk. 3377) Lyravine, 10th flr. Audit. Bldg.(Wab.8238) 6026 Kenwood av. (Hyde Park 6738)

SCHOOLS

American Consevatory (Wabash 5388) Kimball Hall
Auditorium Conservatory. Mus. & Dr'm'tic Art 55 Auditor'm Bldg. (Wabash 9070)
Balatka Acad. Musical Art (Anna Balatka, Dir.) 819 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 612)
Bintliff Mrs. Elizabeth Battie School of Music, Ripon, Wis.
Brail School of Music (Florence Brail) 812 Kimball Hall and 403 E. 61st St.
Centralizing School of Music (Wabash 6349) 20 E. Jackson Blvd.
Chapek Music School. 3452 Broadway J. H. Chapek, Dir. (Graceland 2621)
Chicago Kindergarten Inst. C. C. Cronise, Sec. 701 Rush St.
Chicago Piano College 910 Kimball Hall (Wabash 4805)
Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art Fine Arts Bldg. (Harrison 5965)
Columbia School of Music. 509 S. Wabash Av. (Clare Osborne Reed, Dir.)
Cosmopolitan Sch'l of Music (Harrison 4868) 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Dearborn School of Lyceum Arts Auditorium Bldg. (Wabash 6867)
Doney A. M. Musical College 2820 W. 36th St.
Grinnell College (George L. Pierce, Dir.) Grinnell, Iowa.
Heizer Music Sch.(1215 Douglas St., Sioux City, Ia.) Dir. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Heizer
Hinshaw Conservatory of Music 1110 Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 8335)
Knox Conservatory of Music (Wm. F. Bentley, Dir.) Galesburg, Ill.
Knupfer Walter R. (School of Fine Arts) Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8793)
Loudon The Jennette (Studios) 614 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8806)
Lyceum Arts Conservatory (Harrison 2074) 600-10 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Mandy School of Music (Wabash 8173) 817-19 Kimball Hall
M. A. Monzel Musical College 911 Kimball Hall
Moody Bible Institute of Chicago 153 Institute Pl.
Musin Virtuoso School for Violin 51 W. 76th St., New York
Northwestern University School of Music Evanston, Ill.
Orchard School of Music and Expression 1537 Hyde Park Blvd (Blackstone 1789)
Preiser School of Music (Austin 2541) (Fannie B. Preiser, Dir.) 530 Pine Av.
Sherwood Music School (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg.
Saint Cecilia Conservatory Winona, Minn.
Tone-Color Studios. Music, etc. (E. Larrabee, Dir.) Aud. Bldg. & 602 Arlington Pl.
Valparaiso University School of Music Valparaiso, Indiana
Virgil Piano Conservatory 11 W. 68th St., New York
Western Conservatory. (E. H. Scott, Pres.) Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 3506)

SOLFEGE, HARMONY, COMPOSITION

Lagourgue Charles, 616 S. Michigan Ave. (Harrison 1719)

TEACHERS' AGENCIES

Allen J. E. (Musical Artist Teachers' Agency) 101 Park Av., New York.

THEORY

Andersen Arthur Olaf (Home Phone H. P. 5783) American Conservatory
Butler Lester S. Worcester, Mass.
Cole Rossetter (Res. Phone Midway 118) 719 Fine Arts Bldg.
Frothingham Frances (Piano) 605 Kimball Bldg.
Graham A. Cyril (Harrison 2580) 509 Wabash Av.
Lutkin Peter C. Evanston, Ill.
Watt Harmon H. Kimball Hall
Wrightson Herbert J. (Piano, Organ) 610 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 2583)

TEACHERS' CLASSES

Mr. & Mrs. Crosby Adams Montreat, N.C.
Dunning Carrie Louise 8 W. 40th St., New York City
Long Carrie Munger (Dunning System) Congress Hotel
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Dunning System) 3623 Pine Grove av. (L. V. 9037)
Perfield Effa Ellis (950 McClurg Bldg.) National Conservatory of Music

VIOLIN

Barker John (Austin 2541; Home, Elmhurst 43-R) Preiser School of Music, Austin
Barron Robert Louis (Eugene, Ore.) University School of Music
Brambach John M. (Irving 5717) 4045 N. St. Louis Ave.
Breeskin Elias (New York) Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall
Breytspraak Ruth (West 738) Knupfer Studio, 630 Fine Arts Bldg
Brokaw Ralph Wichita, Kan.
Brown Mildred (Ravenswood 8448) 2120 Wilson Av.
De Vore Jessie (Blackstone 1789; Drexel 6071) Orchard School, 1535 Hyde Park Blvd.
Durkee Corrol B. (Home Tel. Garfield 2149) 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Western Cons.)
Dyson Lois F. (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg. (Sherwood School)
Fischel Max I. Chicago Musical College
Frederiksen Frederik (Hm. Ph. Graceland 9166) Studios 600, Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Garagusi Nicholas (New York) M'gt Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St.
Ginsburg Ralph (Wabash 8335) Hinshaw Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Girvin Ramon B. (Albany 2368) American Conservatory
Goldblatt Maurice H. Chicago Musical College
Harris Graham (New York) 240 E. Tremont Av.
Heymar Wally (Sunnyside 1995) 5683 Ridge Av.
Konecny Josef Care of Music News
Kortschak Hugo (New York) 850 Park av.
Kribben Bertha (St. Louis, Mo.) 1050 Thornby St.
Leach Rowland Bush Conservatory
Lipschultz George Milton (Lawndale 5402) 212 Grand Av., Milwaukee. Wis.
Lowe-Pierson Lela (Rogers Park 4701) 6807 Wayne Av.
Lynch Rhea Dorothy (Columbus 2452) 242 N. Mason St.
Michaelis Ralph (Hyde Park 966) 914 Kimball Hall
Mixer Chas. Mitchell (Home Ph. Rogers Pk. 9543) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Neill Amy Emerson (Hyde Park 6322) 1446 E. Marquette Road
Welge Gladys (Home Ph., Austin 3417) Preiser Sch. Music, 530 N. Pine av.
Yost Gaylord, 824 N. Pennsylvania St. Indianapolis, Ind.
Zebrowska-Perlowska Antoinette 7812 S. Shore Dr.

VIOLONCELLO

Gegna Max (Julius Daiber) Aeolian Hall, New York
Hess Hans (Edgewater 8361) Fine Arts Bldg.
Slack Anne (Home Ph. Lawndale 3668) American Conservatory

VOICE

Aaron Miriam (Los Angeles, Cal.) 155 S. Kingsley Drive
Annette-Gifford Ethel (Tel. Wentworth 5892) 6237 South Park Av.
Arden Cecil (Metropolitan Opera Co.) Mgt. Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St., New York
Arendt Else Harthan (Graceland 4997) 819 Sheridan Rd.
Arnd Margaret Louise (Lake View 1657) 3814 Sheffield Av.
Bailey Mr. and Mrs. Herbert (Huron, S. D.) Dir. of Music, Huron College
Baldwin Jessie Nichols(Home Ph. Oakland 8585) Orchard School, 1535 Hyde Park Blvd.
Balfour Constance (New York) Mgt. Daniel Mayer
Barradell Kennard 624 S. Michigan Av.
Bastedo Orrin (New York) 257 W. 86th St.
Beatty Wilbur (Columbus 5032) (Baritone), 331 N. Central Av.
Bender Celia (Piano) (Armitage 4997) Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Berger Emily E. (Contralto) (Oak Park 5163) 418 W. Lake St., Oak Park
Bibb Kathleen Hart (Minneapolis, Minn.) Metropolitan Music Bldg.
Boardman Arthur (Hyde Park 6137) (Tenor) 1536 E. 65th Place
Bowman Mrs. Hatswell (Evanston, Ill.) Northwestern Univ. School of Music
Brashear Roberta (Kedzie 2167) (Soprano) 139 N. Homan Av.
Braun Anna C. (Monticello 5050) 4937 N. Drake Av.
Breed Liela A. 523 Fine Arts Bldg.
Brenk Ethel (Milwaukee, Wis.) 137—20th St.
Brittan Louise (Harrison 6267) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
Browne Kathryn E. (Soprano) 6945 Stewart Av. (Normal 3162)
Burmeister Anna (Soprano) (Ravenswood 4527) 4527 Greenview Av.
Burton Arthur (Harrison 5802) 618 Fine Arts Bldg.
Burton Louise (Wabash 8703) 800 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Butler Hanna (Wabash 4870) 512 Fine Arts Bldg. (Soprano)
Calkins Elton (Summerdale Cons.) 1209 Morse Av. (Rogers Park 2928)
Campbell Sara Irene (Austin 6201) Chicago Musical College
Carpenter Allen Ray (Hyde Park 7604) 816 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8700)
Carpi Fernando (New York) Metropolitan Opera Co.
Case Anna (New York) Aeolian Hall, Met. Musical Bureau
Caspers Bertha (Soprano) (Kenwood 870) 4748 Champlain Av.
Castle Lester Hugo (Blackstone 1359) (Basso) 6434 Ellis Av.
Caton Louis (Calumet 459) 728 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har. 6528)
Chaiser Florence (Rogers Park 2034)
Chalmers Thomas J. (Baritone) New York Metropolitan Opera Co.
Clark Charles W. (Superior 8700) 839 N. Dearborn St.
Clarke Edward (Res. Ph. Edgewater 9133) (Baritone) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Clippinger D. A. 617-18 Kimball Hall
Clissold Edward T., 327 S. La Salle St. (Baritone) Con. Men's Fall Festival since 1908
Cook Dwight Edrus (Grinnell, Ia.) (Tenor) Grinnell College
Cook John Loring (Tenor) 817 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8173)
Comer Sybil (Harrison 2074) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Crabbs Elmer J. (Park Ridge 2111) (Tenor) Park Ridge, Ill.
Craven Carl E. (Tenor), 422 Fine Arts Bldg. 305 E. 54th St. (Oakland 6451)
Crow Ben C. (Tel. Beverly 3121) (Baritone) Morgan Park, Ill.
Dahlstrom Margaret (Western Conservatory) 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Irving 5613)
De Lima Edna (New York) 158 Madison Av.
De Luca Giuseppe (Metropolitan Bureau) Aeolian Hall, New York
Devries Herman 518-528 Fine Arts Bldg.
Diaz Rafaelo (Tenor) Metropolitan Opera, New York
Dickey Annabelle MacIntyre (Res., Hyde Pk. 7397) (Contralto) 422 Fine Arts Bldg.
Diederich Walter (Austin 2111) (Tenor) 5526 W. Monroe St.
Donath Kurt (Tenor) 613-614 Lyon & Healy Bldg
Downing Frederica Gerhardt (Oak Park 1478) 209 S. Harvey Av., Oak Park, Ill.
Dressler Eugene (Ravenswood 3661) 4436 N. Ashland Av.

AMERICA FIRST

NOTICE TO READER
When you finish reading this magazine, place a 1-cent stamp on this notice, mail the magazine, and it will be placed in the hands of our soldiers or sailors destined to proceed overseas.
No wrapping—no address.

CHICAGO, AMERICA
DECEMBER 27, 1918

Music News

15 CENTS A COPY
BY THE YEAR $2.50

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS LIBRARY
DEC 28 1918

ROBERT LOREN QUAIT

TENOR SOLOIST IN "THE MESSIAH" WITH THE APOLLO CLUB
AT THE AUDITORIUM, SUNDAY AFTERNOON, DECEMBER 29

Valparaiso University School of Music

(Accredited)

VALPARAISO, INDIANA

The University School of Music offers courses in Piano, Voice, Violin, Organ, Theory, and Public School Music.

Students may attend the Music School and also take the regular work at the University.

The Expenses are the Lowest

Tuition, $36.00 per quarter of twelve weeks. Board with Furnished Room, $39.00 to $51.00 per quarter. Catalog will be mailed free. Address

HENRY B. BROWN, President
or OLIVER P. KINSEY, Vice President
45th YEAR

Lyravine Votaw

CONTRALTO
DEARBORN SCHOOL OF LYCEUM ARTS
10th Floor Auditorium Bldg.
Theory for Singers
PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC
6026 Kenwood Ave.
Phone Hyde Park 6738

Silas Wright Mountz

Vocal Culture and Art of Singing
Lecture Song Recitals
CONCERT and ORATORIO BASSO CANTANTE
Hotel Sherman, Los Angeles, Calif.

For Concert Engagements Address

MURDOCK TRIO

1316 ALBION AV. CHICAGO

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

ADAMS AND DESPLAINES STS.
FIVE MINUTES FROM THE LOOP
High Mass 10:45—Choir of 100 Voices
STRICTLY LITURGICAL SERVICE
CLASSICAL REPERTOIRE
J. Lewis Browne, Organist and Choirmaster

DONALD CAMERON BEIDLER

PHOTOGRAPHIC PORTRAITURE
LYON & HEALY BUILDING
CHICAGO
HARRISON 1237

KENNARD BARRADELL

TENOR, 624 S. Michigan Ave., Chicago

VITTORIO BARITONE TREVISAN Chicago Opera Association
Teacher of Singing
904 Kimball Hall Harrison 4480

MAESTRO ARNOLDO CONTI
Assistant Director to Sig. Campanini
Chicago Opera Association
OPERA COACH—Studio, 1528 Kimball Hall
Phone Wabash 8538

Music News

Vol. 10 No. 52

CHARLES E. WATT, Editor and Publisher

Published Every Friday at 850 McClurg Bldg., 218 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.
Tel. Wabash 5595

Entered as Second Class Matter November 24, 1908, at the Postoffice at Chicago, Illinois, under the Act of March 3, 1879

CHICAGO, DECEMBER 27, 1918

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTIONS
United States, per year, postpaid.....$2.50
Foreign, per year, postpaid..... 3.50
Single Copies, 15 Cents

Every authorized representative of Music News has a properly signed representative card.

On failure to receive The Music News regularly, subscribers should notify the office promptly.

Copies of the paper for sale at the news counter of Lyon & Healy, Gamble Hinged Company, Summy's music stores, McClurg's book store and at The Fair; or may be ordered through any of our correspondents in other cities.

In New York at Brentano's, Fifth avenue and Twenty-seventh street.

Advertising rate card will be sent on application.

Changes in advertisements must be ordered one week in advance.

All cuts made for advertisers are charged to their accounts.

BUSINESS REPRESENTATIVES
Thomas A. Fannell, Eleanore Capps Hostler, Lester Hugo Castle, Mary Carver Williams

SPECIAL WRITERS
Albert Cotsworth, Lyravine Votaw, Herbert J. Wrightson

List of Correspondents

New York
Joseph De Valdor
Foreign Editor
1 W. Thirty-fourth St.

Boston
Lester S. Butler
Steinert Hall

Cleveland
Louise Morris
Idlewood Av.

Indianapolis
Gaylord Yost
824 N. Pennsylvania St.

Pittsburgh
Mr. and Mrs. R. Knotts
Cameraphone Building

Denver
Mrs. James M. Tracy
Liszt School of Music
905 Downing St.

St. Paul, Minn.
Myrtle Weed
802 Pittsburgh Bldg.

Wichita, Kan.
Ralph Brokaw

Worcester, Mass.
Lester S. Butler
441 Day Bldg.
For Sale at
Bernard and Sumner's

Milwaukee
Iva Bigelow Weaver
Mack Block

Philadelphia
Charles W. H. Bancroft
4042 N. Darion St.

New Haven, Conn.
Arthur Troostwyk
849 Chapel

Los Angeles, Cal.
S. W. Mountz
Hotel Sherman

Erie, Pa.
Albert H. Dowling, Jr.
456 E. Seventh St.

Charleston, W. Va.
J. Henry Francis
St. John's Church

Minneapolis
Kate Mork Twitchell
3244 2nd Ave. S.
Minneapolis, Minn.

Winnipeg, Canada
Charlotte Ellen Powers
317 Birk Bldg.

KURT DONATH

LEADING TENOR IN GRAND OPERA—EUROPE AND AMERICA

Director of Vocal and Operatic Department BALATKA ACADEMY OF MUSICAL ART, Chicago, Lyon & Healy Bldg.

Artists—

We have to rent the most desirable studios in the loop—large, light and airy.
Act now; reasonable rents.

McClurg Building

218 S. Wabash Ave.

Apply to

Willoughby & Co.

7 W. Madison St., Chicago Savings Bank Bldg. or
Chief Janitor on Premises

Telephone Central 418

CENTRAL MUSIC HALL
64-66 East Van Buren St., Chicago

Chicago's most attractive hall, devoted exclusively to concerts, recitals and other high-class entertainments
Seating Capacity 700 Rent Reasonable
For Terms and Dates, Address,
HARRIET MARTIN SNOW, Mgr
64 East Van Buren Street, Chicago
(In Summy's Music Store) TELEPHONE WABASH 8740

GRINNELL COLLEGE
Grinnell School of Music
Courses leading to
Bachelor of Music—Bachelor of Arts—Diploma
George L. Pierce, Director, Grinnell, Ia.

M. BARBEREUX-PARRY

ORIGINATOR AND FOUNDER OF THE BARBEREUX SYSTEM OF CONSTRUCTIVE VOICE PRODUCTION AND UNIFIED DICTION, director of the Vocal Department of the National Conservatory of Music, will conduct Summer Normal Classes in New York City June 17th to July 6th, in Chicago July 8th to 31st, in Asheville, North Carolina, August 15th to 31st.

A course of written lessons is arranged to assist the student and teacher. This course can be used either for preparatory or supplementary study, and can be obtained by mail for a minimum sum.

Teachers are wanted to teach this system in every locality. On application addresses will be given of teachers in all parts of the United States who are using this system with great success.

EDOUARD DUFRESNE

FRENCH BARITONE
823-24 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 6743)

FREDERICK VANCE EVANS

BASSO CANTANTE
Dean Lawrence Conservatory
APPLETON WISCONSIN

RICCARDO STRACCIARI

IN "THE BARBER OF SEVILLE"

Music News

Vol. 10 Chicago, December 27, 1918 No. 52

America First

"For heaven's sake," said a young American composer to this writer at Lockport last fall, "take that 'America First' off your cover page. It is as bad as the old German idea of 'Germany over everything and everybody.' America wants to be ranked with all other nationalities in music, but has no desire to be boomed for 'first' place."

We did not take off the "America First" from our cover page, nor do we intend to do so—for we consider that the aforementioned young American composer is entirely wrong in his estimate of the situation.

Ever since the beginning of musical history in America we have been subservient to the Foreign Idea.

We have been told, always—that the best study was abroad, that the best conductors and composers came from abroad, and that the best performing artists came from abroad.

And—we have swallowed this so long and so persistently that, previous to the war at least, we were saturated with the poison.

Since the war we have begun to feel a little differently and we have been discovering, bit by bit, that the Foreign Idea was a complete myth.

But—so long have we followed it that today our country, musically—is still in the hands of the Foreigner, and we have, as yet, but scant confidence in our own people.

It is for that reason that Music News believes in the slogan, "America First."

We must wake up; we must assert ourselves, and—until we have reached the place where we consider ourselves with as much dignity and regard as we consider the Foreigner, we must overemphasize the matter a little and insist that Americans be given the first chance with everything.

American artists must be engaged throughout the country and they must be paid as much as the Foreigner. We must admit, even more emphatically than we have, that American teachers are best. We must kill the idea completely that Foreign study is necessary.

We must even try to grasp the idea that Americans ought to be given opportunities as Conductors of our Symphony Orchestras, and —when the opening occurs, it ought not to be entirely impossible to imagine that an American might become a Manager of Grand Opera in this country.

Charles E. Watt

JUDGMENT

By SHIRLEY DEAN NEVIN

William of Germany, stand forth
Before My throne.
Bring not thy thousands at thy back
To awe the God of heav'n. Stand forth,
But stand alone.

I know the story of thy deeds—
Thy infamy—
And did I not, these thousands, slain
At thy light word, would speak it—ah,
How piteously!

And this vast army of the Weak—
Poor sports of Fate—
See how they shake their shriveled fists
And mutter curses on thy name:
Ah, how they hate.

But blackest of the deeds that crown
Thy awful shame,
Is this: thou didst thy worst—slew all—
Threw Earth in turmoil—laughed at Peace—
And in My Name.

MUSIC TO COME

Friday, December 27

Orchestra Hall, 2:30—Chicago Symphony Orchestra; Rudolph Ganz, soloist.

The Auditorium, 8—"Lucia."

Saturday, December 28

Auditorium, 2—"Aida."

Auditorium, 8—"La Boheme" and "Hamlet."

Orchestra Hall, 8:15—Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Sunday, December 29

Auditorium, 3:30—Apollo Club in "Messiah."

Monday, December 30

The Auditorium, 8:15—"Samson and Delilah."

Tuesday, December 31

The Auditorium—Opera.

Wednesday, January 1

The Auditorium—Opera.

Thursday, January 2

Fourth Presbyterian Church, 4:30—Organ recital, Seder.

MR. DAY AND MR. MORLEY

The informal programs at the Lyceum Arts Conservatory have proved to be a very delightful and wholly successful series this year. Last Tuesday night Elias Day, president, and Mr. Morley, one of the faculty, entertained the audience. Mr. Day was unfortunately detained by army orders, so Mr. Morley played his part of the program first and very graciously responded to encores. This artist is powerful in personality and graceful in his artistry. His numbers on this occasion were Pastoral (Corelli), Fantasie, F minor (Chopin), Barcarole (Rubinstein), Impromptu (Chopin), Intermezzo (Charlotte), Etude (Chopin).

Mr. Day arrived about 9 o'clock, looking very young and happy, in uniform, rather hoarse from his commanding, but began at once telling funny stories and entertaining very easily. His first number was "Danny" (Day), then a humorous little thing entitled "Columbus Discovered America." Then Miss Jeanne Boyd came out and played the accompaniments, while Mr. Day read "On the Road to Mandalay" (Kipling), "The Man Who Done Wrong to His Parents," "Oh, Memory," and "Tipperary" (Service). His last number was "Good Night" and then a little Swedish story for an encore.

Mr. Day is a consummate artist, and is appreciated by every one who knows him.

H. L. W.

Robert Loren Quait

Robert Loren Quait is a young tenor who is proud of the fact that he has had his entire training in this city and, by the same token, Chicago may well be proud of Mr. Quait, for he is an unqualified success.

For seven years he studied with Mr. D. A. Clippinger of this city, not alone vocal art, but general musicianship, and this has been supplemented by two years with Vilonat and an equal length of time with Isaac Van Grove, whom Mr. Quait considers an absolutely invaluable coach.

In addition to a splendid voice, good range, full and free, Mr. Quait has a personality which has aided greatly in his success, and he is a student of the most intense and indefatigable kind.

His engagement to sing the tenor solos with the Apollo Club at the Auditorium on next Sunday afternoon is but one of the many fine indorsements which have come to him recently.

Elsewhere in this issue of Music News there is a review of his work as tenor in the "Messiah" performance at Grace Church, Oak Park, last Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Quait's record of church singing in Chicago is probably unique; at least it will be difficult for any one else to prove so continuous and successful a service.

For, besides singing as special soloist in "Messiah" and other special services in churches in all parts of the city scores of times, he has the record of twelve years' work in various churches which has been absolutely continuous.

In other words, Mr. Quait has not been without a church engagement a single Sunday in twelve years.

He began his career as a church singer at the McCabe Memorial Church, where he remained but three months, giving it up to take a better position at the Englewood Christian Church.

From here he went to the First M. E. Church of Englewood and then to the Hyde Park Presbyterian, where he has now been for some years.

This record, and the beautiful work he has done in all the churches in which he has sung, has led to many offers in other cities, and just recently he has received a flattering offer from New York City.

Readers of Music News will recall that last summer Mr. Quait gave a song recital which was a very great success and which we found occasion to commend heartily.

The artistic finish and the splendid interpretative abilities displayed at that time—not to mention the fine vocal equipment—were the natural outgrowth of the years of preparation made by Mr. Quait, during which he has sung in numerous functions of all kinds.

Special church service, recitals, concerts and oratorios have all engaged his attention, and he has been abundantly successful in all.

Besides numerous "Messiah" engagements, a partial list of the dates filled by Mr. Quait recently include "Requiem" (Verdi) and "Jubilee Cantata" (Weber) at Howe, Ind.; "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast" with the Hyde Park Choral Club, and at Jacksonville, Ill., and St. Charles, Ill.; "Four Winds" (Busch), at De Kalb and Rochelle; "Tale of Old Japan," Jacksonville, Ill.; "Elijah," Streator, Ill.; "Samson," Freeport, Ill.; "Morning of the Year," Lombard, Ill.; "Persian Garden," Chicago.

Altogether Mr. Quait has proven himself not only the possessor of one of the finest tenor voices ever developed in Chicago, but has also achieved success through personality and an intelligence which has shone through all his work and enabled him, always, to please his audiences to the fullest extent.

C. E. W.

WE wish all our readers a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

SOME CHURCH MUSIC

The regular quartet of the South Congregational Church, assisted by Ada A. Hathaway, violin, and Stella Richards, gave the morning service and assisted in the Sunday School evening service.

The last included Haven's "Manger of Bethlehem," Ambrose's "Come to My Heart, Lord Jesus," and Stainer's "God So Loved," finding fine climax in Helen Buckley Lee's use of Adams' "Cantique de Noel," where the very best French tradition of this noble song was fully preserved.

At First Presbyterian Church Mr. Otis sees to it that some of the Chicago Orchestra men are in the choir loft at Christmas and Easter. By that token the music takes on an air of superiority which no other church can hope to meet. They were there on Sunday morning and added to the richness of the service. The Choral Society did their part also in a new carol, "Dawning Light," the result of combination of Dr. Covert, the pastor, and Mr. Otis, as well as in the "Hallelujah." Mrs. Bracken, in excellent voice, did the old "Nazareth" with abounding style and a full feeling for its Christmas spirit and message.

At Trinity Episcopal the only concession to the Christmas season which Mr. Hancock made was in the Dubois "Magi Kings," which he used for prelude. The Episcopal and Catholic Churches withhold their festival music until the Day itself. Trinity's music was up to grade and thoroughly enjoyable.

WRIGHTSON'S THIRD ORGAN SONATA PLAYED

In our report of the A. G. O. recital in the Second Presbyterian Church last week it was stated in error that Walter Keller played two movements of Herbert Wrightson's Second Organ Sonata. It should have read "Third Sonata"—that in F major.

Lindley—Florence Caro Lindley, soprano, sang at the Ravenswood Baptist Church last Sunday.

Buy YOUR Piano at Piano Headquarters

We wish that you might visit our piano sales rooms for an entire day merely as a spectator.

Here, when in need of a Mason & Hamlin for concert or studio use, come many of the greatest musicians of our time—Bauer, Gabrilowitsch, Melba, Kubelik, Muratore or their personal representatives.

You will see in one room the largest showing of grand pianos in America. And in others, more moderately priced Conover, Cable, Kingsbury and Wellington Pianos. Choose YOUR piano here and take advantage of our Easy Payment Plan.

Cable Piano Company

Cable Corner, Wabash and Jackson

F. WIGHT NEUMANN ANNOUNCEMENTS

Guiomar Novaes, the Brazilian pianist, will be heard in recital Sunday afternoon, January 12 at 3:30 at Kimball Hall, under the management of F. Wight Neumann. Mlle. Novaes has arranged the following program:

Prelude Choral et Fugue.....Cesar Franck

Nocturne
Fantasia, Opus 49
Two Mazurkas
Scherzo, Op. 20 .....Chopin

Nocturne .....G. Faure
Phalenes .....I. Phillip

La Soires dans Grenade
Les Collines d'Anscapri
Minstrels .....Debussy

Other recitals during the month of January under the management of F. Wight Neumann are Ossip Gabrilowitsch, piano recital, Sunday afternoon, 19th; Marcella Craft, soprano, song recital, Sunday afternoon, 26th, and an organ recital by the great French organist, Joseph Bonnet, Tuesday evening, 28th.

Else Harthan Arendt

Dramatic Soprano

300 Fine Arts Building Wabash 6267

HELEN BOYLE HAWORTH

Concert Contralto Oratorio

9 W. GOETHE STREET

Barbara Wait Contralto

632 Fine Arts Bldg. Tel. Wabash 8795

Music in Chicago

CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

The morning musical at the Chicago Musical College on last Saturday was one of much interest and value.

Corinne Thompson and Mrs. Valerie Brown did much credit to their teacher, C. Gordon Wedertz, the first playing an Etude of Liszt and the second the "Two Skylarks" of Leschetizky in good style and with considerable finish.

The vocal department of the College was well represented in the work of Leona Kramer, Helen Hagen, Mrs. Janet Allen and Jane Kimball, all of whom are in the young artist class, and the total of their numbers constituting a fine musical treat.

Adelyne Morrison, a pupil of Karl Reckzeh, and Mrs. E. Y. Culbrath, pupil of Alexander Raab, further proved the fact that the College has a fine piano department, in the ease and intelligence with which they presented their numbers, and the violin department was shown to great advantage in the work of Gladys Welge.

Miss Welge, an attractive and very intelligent girl, has splendid talent for the violin and is a fine student. She played the "Orientale" (Cui) and the "Spanish Dance" (Rehfeld) in a way to prove herself the possessor of a rich tone, a distinct virtuosity of technic and nice interpretative feeling.

———♯♯♯———

FOURTH PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH ORGAN RECITALS

Organ recitals of E. S. Seder at the Fourth Presbyterian Church on Thursdays at 4:30 have the following programs:

THURSDAY, JAN. 2, 4:30 P. M.

Edwin Stanley Seder, assistant organist, Fourth Presbyterian Church.
Sonata II, in C minor.....Mark Andrews
Allegro; evensong; scherzo; finale
Adoratio et Vox Angelica.....Dubois
Humoresque .....Frank E. Ward
Concerto in G minor.....Camidge
Adagio; gavotta
Reverie .....Frysinger
Toccata and Fugue in D minor.....J. S. Bach

THURSDAY, JAN. 9, 4:30 P. M.

Edwin Stanley Seder, assistant organist, Fourth Presbyterian Church.
Sonata V, in C minor.....Guilmant
Allegro appassionato; adagio; scherzo; recitativo; chorale et fugue
Elizabethan Idyl .....Noble
Egyptian Suite .....Stoughton
Pyramids
The Nile
The Song of the Priestesses
Rameses II
Benediction Nuptiale .....Hollins
Grand Choeur in G minor.....Hollins

———♯♯♯———

CHICAGO SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

The program of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra for the current week includes both the Liszt Concertos for piano, with Rudolph Ganz in the solo parts, the Unfinished Symphony (Schubert), and other numbers by Schubert and Berlioz.

———♯♯♯———

LENOX STUDIOS

Hazel Meisterling was soloist at the Christmas entertainment of the I. O. O. F. last Thursday evening at Oak Park. Miss Meisterling's rich dramatic voice and musicianship is giving much promise of a splendid career.

FLORENCE FFRENCH TO APPEAR IN SONG RECITAL

Florence Ffrench, the remarkably gifted daughter of the late Charles Ffrench, will make her Chicago debut at Orchestra Hall on Thursday evening, January 9, assisted by Earl Blair, pianist. Miss Ffrench is a very young girl; in fact, the youngest singer to be engaged by Signor Campanini, and will be heard with the Chicago Opera Association next season. Last winter she made her first formal appearance with Mme. Schumann-Heink at Carnegie Hall, New York, and great things were predicted for her. She possesses a lyric soprano voice of great range, beautiful quality and in a great measure that illusive something, termed, for want of a better word "personality." It is in fact personal magnetism and Miss Ffrench possesses it to a great degree. During the war Miss Ffrench put aside all thoughts of personal advancement for patriotic causes, and has been accounted at headquarters one of the best saleswomen in the various Liberty Loan drives, and in the department of War Savings Stamps as well. She is a beautiful girl with a future before her. Last spring she toured with Lieutenant Sousa and his band when they made their great tour for the Liberty Loan drive.

Edgar Nelson, an accompanist than whom there is no better, will be at the piano for Miss Ffrench.

JOHN

McCormack

In America Entire Season 1918-19

EDWIN SCHNEIDER, Accompanist

CHARLES L. WAGNER, Mgr.

D. F. McSWEENEY, Associate Manager

511 Fifth Avenue (Postal Life Building) New York

STEINWAY PIANO USED

GEORGE L. TENNEY

TENOR

Teacher of Voice. Studio Room 30, Lewis Institute. Phone West 793

ESTELLE L. RUSSELL

The Art of Singing

807-808 Lyon and Healy Bldg.
Telephone Oak Park 3506-W.

KATE PENTZER STOKES

TEACHING—DRAMATIC READER—CLUBS

Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art, 633 Fine Arts Building

HELEN CAMPBELL

PIANIST TEACHER

604 Lyman Av., Oak Park Phone O. P. 3747-J

GEORGE W. BARNES

Choirmaster and Organist Christ Cathedral
Director of Music St. John's Military School
SALINA, KANSAS

D. A. CLIPPINGER AND HIS MADRIGALS

The Madrigal Club has thoroughly come into its own and scored again with definite certainty at its first concert of this season on Thursday night. Kimball Hall fits the compact organization to a nicety, its following filling most of the seats and applauding with a discriminating taste that was a form of education in itself.

D. A. Clippinger is the centralizing force, the mainspring of the music that is elucidated. If it be noted that he has expanded himself in the years that have been speeding along it is only one way of saying that he has the needful vitality and perspicacity to fit him for the enviable place he holds in the musical life of the city and the undoubted regard of his little band of minstrels.

The meat of the program centered around three eminently remarkable compositions, "Sea Sorrow," by Bantock, an Englishman, who is too much snubbed, according to my thinking; R. Nathaniel Dett's "Listen to the Lambs" and our own Mr. Weidig's "'Tis May." Emphasis is to be laid on Mr. Dett's contribution in that, of itself, it is a well-proportioned bit of good writing, with continuous interest in its unfolding color and contrast, and also because it was written by an American Negro, Mr. Dett being at the head of music at Hampton Institute. He has taken a religious "characteristic" of his race and worked it out in anthem form. It is so admirable that very marked praise goes to it. The Bantock song is in nine-part form, with contralto solo, weird and primitive as to material but artistic in the extreme. Mr. Weidig's springtime roundelay is set to spirited words of Frank D. Sherman and catches the flare of its theme to the core.

The club met every sort of interpretative demand which Mr. Clippinger exacted with excellent finish, solidity or lightness of tone and grace of rhythm and phrase. It was part-singing of the highest order and so acceptable that in each case repetition was asked for.

GUY C. LATCHAW

Mrs. Jessie Baldwin Nichols supplied two incidental solos and was amply ready for what they called for, being particularly satisfactory in the way she did what was desired in the Dett number. Josephine Treat also sang well the bits in the Bantock work.

Guy C. Latchaw democratically stepped from the club's ranks and gave two groups of baritone solos so well that encores were demanded. His is a warm, vibrant voice, properly schooled and invariably true as to tone. He used a number of songs of varied character and worked them out so well that there was an adequate color and interpretative sense to make for excellent effect. His use of the seldom heard Serenade from Berlioz' "Faust" was a happy thought. His text utterance in this was especially commendable. Capital was it, too, in the rattling "Fiddler of Dooney" (Homer). Kramer's dramatic "Relief" was altogether good, and the tenderness of Sibella's "Twilight Dreams" was beautifully idealized. Mr. Latchaw is a young man of fine parts, with a future to reckon with and a reasonable surety of finding a well-defined place in our scheme of things.

Miriam Jones, a very young but very good player, was at the piano.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

MAX I. FISCHEL, Violinist
CONCERTS INSTRUCTION RECITALS
Suite 610, Fine Arts Building

COSMOPOLITAN SCHOOL OF
Music and Dramatic Art
Dr. Carver Williams, President
Edwin L. Stephen, Manager
16th Floor, Kimball Building, Chicago, Ill.
THE SCHOOL FOR SERIOUS STUDENTS
ASK WHY!

THIRTY-THIRD SEASON
AMERICAN CONSERVATORY
JOHN J. HATTSTAEDT, President
CHICAGO'S FOREMOST SCHOOL OF MUSIC
Offers modern courses in Piano, Voice, Violin, Organ, Public School Music, Harmony, Composition, Orchestral Instruments, School of Opera, etc. 90 eminent artists. Superior Normal Training School supplies teachers for Colleges. Teachers' Certificates, Diplomas and Degrees. Dormitory accommodations. Unrivaled free advantages.
SCHOOL OF ACTING AND EXPRESSION
Stage Training, Public Reading. Students may enter at any time. New Catalog mailed free.
500 KIMBALL HALL Chicago, Illinois

DUNNING SYSTEM
OF
Improved Music Study
FOR
BEGINNERS
Normal Teachers
HARRIET BACON MacDonald 3623 Pine Grove Ave.
CARRIE MUNGER Long Congress Hotel
Chicago
Mrs. MacDonald's Classes:
Tulsa, Okla., January 6; Chicago, March 9.
Mrs. Long's Classes: New Orleans, La., January 10, 1919; Birmingham, Ala., March 1; Chicago, Ill., May 1.

MINNETTE WARREN
COMPOSER-PIANIST
Mgt. Warren Concert Bureau
305 SCHIFFMANN BLDG. ST. PAUL, MINN.

WILHELMINE LANG
DRAMATIC SOPRANO
Concert - Oratorio - Recital - Pupils
2054 W. Chicago Avenue Phone Humboldt 24

MME. BRUNE-MARCUSSON
SOPRANO Concert—Oratorio—Pupils
400 Fine Arts Bldg Phone West 611

LESTER MARGARET WILLIAM Soprano Composer-Accompanist
5211 BLACKSTONE AV. PHONE MIDWAY 8888

Melba Mae French-Barr
LYRIC SOPRANO
Studio 1530 Kimball Building Phone Edgewater 8322

MAE Doelling Pianist Teacher
2912 Burling Street

Eugene F. Dressler
NAVY

Hazel Dell Neff
Coloratura Soprano 4263 5th Ave., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Ruth Lowenberg
SOPRANO
4236 Grand Boulevard Drexel 1863

GEORGE RALF KURTZ
Organ Piano Accompanying
Sherwood Music School Fine Arts Bldg. Annex

ROLLIN Bass-Baritone PEASE
910 Colfax St., Evanston, Ill. Phone Evanston 6522

Orchard School Music and Expression
Piano, Voice, Violin, Cello, Theory, Dancing
1537 Hyde Park Boulevard. Phone Blackstone 1789

LYELL BARBER
PIANIST
Bush Conservatory Superior 8700

ETHEL BRENK
137 20th Street SOPRANO Milwaukee, Wis.

Anne Williams Teacher of Piano and Harmony
STUDIO: 28 Latrobe Avenue
PHONE: Columbus 1760

Tollefsen Trio
CONCERTS - MUSICALES
MGT. WINTON & LIVINGSTON, NEW YORK

Marian Coryell Accompanist Composer Pupils
STUDIO: 72 West 68th St., New York

MARIE KERN-MULLEN
CONTRALTO
CLUBS—CONCERT—ORATORIO—RECITALS
International College of Music
63 Auditorium Bldg. Res. Tel., Edgewater 438

"MESSIAH" AT GRACE CHURCH IN OAK PARK

Following up the many fine performances of Cantata heard at Grace Church, Oak Park, under the direction of Arthur Fraser, it was no surprise to hear there on last Sunday afternoon one of the finest presentations of "The Messiah" ever encountered in any church in Chicago.

ARTHUR FRASER

The day was a gloomy one, chill and damp, but once inside the beautiful and hospitable Grace Church everything else was forgotten and the capacity audience gave itself up to intense enjoyment of the music and the spirit which having prompted it in the first place seems often—and particularly at this time—to have been brought down to the present day.

The boys at Grace Church are not afraid of anything, for they have back of them the assurance which comes from careful and exhaustive drill, and, also, they feel in Mr. Fraser's presence at the organ an element of helpfulness and strength which is not to be gainsaid.

Therefore there was great variety in the chorus numbers as well as a constant flow of power and beauty.

"And the Glory of the Lord" was sung with fine solidity of tone, as was also "Glory to God," while there was an especial and very pleasing exuberance in "O Thou That Tellest" and "For Unto Us," while "The Hallelujah" was done with that same exultant swing observed on Liberty Day and which made it then a notable achievement.

Mr. Fraser was most happy also in his choice of soloists. Orpha Kendall Holstman, soprano, and Robert Loren Quait, tenor, are of the quartet which is to sing the solos in "The Messiah" at the Auditorium with the Apollo Club next Sunday afternoon. Permelia Gale, the contralto, has appeared in the work many times, singing it, in fact, twice last Sunday, and Mr. Rollin M. Pease, baritone, who was intrusted with the bass solo part in this performance, is a singer of style and distinction.

Mrs. Holstman showed a remarkable beauty of tone and a luscious quality throughout. In "Rejoice Greatly" she was crystal clear, in "Come Unto Him" of beautiful tonal quality, and in the cycle of recitatives following the "Pastoral Symphony" gave an exposition of enunciatory and interpretative powers but rarely put in evidence in "Messiah" performances.

Mrs. Gale, a splendid success in Oak Park always, was in magnificent voice and sang "O Thou That Tellest" with a splendid swing and sentiment and "He Shall Feed His Flock" with unusual tenderness and effect.

Mr. Quait showed a fine amount of technical ability in "Every Valley" and was broadly dramatic in "Thou Shalt Break Them," maintaining always fine quality of tone and good interpretative values.

Mr. Pease, the possessor of a voice which has real quality and real beauty to recommend it, and who, further, understands the niceties of Oratorio presentation, was fine throughout his score, being powerful without too much force in such items as "But Who May Abide" and, being a genuine dramatic dynamo, in "The Nations Shall Rage."

A moment of the afternoon which will not be soon forgotten was that in which Mr. Fraser played the "Pastoral," for his conception of this item is certainly a fine one and his means of presenting it ideal.

C. E. W.

Musical Memory, 54 Exercises.
Intellectual Memory, 10 Exercises.
Fore Feeling, 15 Exercises, the three, $10.00.
How to Memorize Music, 14 Exercises, $10.00.
Information free.
Address

Effa Ellis Perfield Music School

Chicago, Ill. 218 S. Wabash Ave.
Tel. Wabash 4279

ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

One of the three entertainments given last week at St. Patrick's under the direction of Dr. J. Lewis Brown was heard by this writer, namely the program given on Tuesday night by the Boys' Chorus. It included chorus songs, recitations and solos, followed by a clever operetta entitled "The Bogus School Inspector." More extended comment concerning all the performances will be inserted next week.

M. C. W.

ELSE HARTHAN ARENDT, PERMELIA GALE, GRANT KIMBELL, FRANK JOHNSON AND A CHORUS SELECTED FROM THE APOLLO MUSICAL CLUB SING "THE MESSIAH" AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, OAK PARK.

At 7:15 o'clock on Sunday evening the First Congregational Church of Oak Park was filled with people, and others being turned away. Upon being asked if they could find a seat for a Music News reporter, they said they thought they could and a little later brought in some chairs, placing them around the pulpit where a dozen or more persons were seated.

There was an organ recital preceding "The Messiah," by Edwin Stanley Seder, organist and conductor of the choir. Mr. Seder is a thoroughly fine musician, the organ is a wonderful instrument, and he had ample opportunity to prove that he was master of the situation.

His organ numbers included "Noel" (d'Acquin), "March of the Magi" (Dubois), "Pastorale" from "Christmas Sonata" (Dienei), "First Christmas Offertory" (Grison), preceding the service. For offertory he played "Christmas Fantasy" (Rebling), and "Christmas Eve" (Malling), and for Postlude Handel's Largo. The organ responds very effectively to the genius of Mr. Seder, the acoustic properties of the church are perfect, and altogether it is a great privilege to hear an organ service here.

The vocal numbers on the program, which perhaps aroused the greatest interest, were the tenor recitative and aria, "Comfort Ye" and "Every Valley Shall Be Exalted," sung with great purity of tone, sympathetic and yet with much authority by Mr. Kimbell and the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Mrs. Gale sang "O, Thou That Tellest Good Tidings to Zion," "Then Shall the Eyes of the Blind Be Opened" and "He Shall Feed His Flock," with beautiful tone quality, and am sorry that the numbers chosen did not include the ever beautiful "He Was Despised."

The soprano numbers included on the program were the usual recitatives, the arias "Rejoice Greatly," "He Shall Feed His Flock" and 'I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," and were sung by Mrs. Arendt with her usual fine style and artistic effect.

The numbers for bass were the recitative "For Behold Darkness Shall Cover the Earth" and "The People that Walked in Darkness." These were given an excellent interpretation by Mr. Johnson.

The chorus numbers, with the assistance of thirty-two members of the Apollo Musical Club, went with much verve and spirit.

The pastor, Dr. Barton, said they had at last had their dream realized. When they built this magnificent organ it was with the hope that each year they would be able to produce some of the great oratorios, in addition always to giving at Christmas time "The Messiah."

ELEANORE CAPPS-HOSTLER.

HERBERT HYDE TO PLAY BOROWSKI COMPOSITION

Owing to an error in our columns last week it was not clearly understood that Herbert Hyde was to play "Allegro de Concert" for organ by Felix Borowski with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra at the popular concert December 26.

MRS. ELLEN KINSMAN MANN
429 Fine Arts Bldg. Res. Phone Midway 1289

WALKER VIRNA HARMAN Studio of DANCING
Suite 1509-11 Lakeview Bldg.

FLORA ZYGMAN, PIANIST
827 KIMBALL HALL
TELEPHONE WABASH 5013

ST. JAMES' CHURCH

Christmas at St. James' (Cass and Huron.)

On Christmas Day at the 10:45 a. m. service, the Prelude and Postlude consisted of Christmas Carols sung by the choir from the Sacristy. The Anthem was Gounod's "Nazareth" and the Hymns included "Angels from the Realms of Glory" (Smart), "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" (Mendelssohn), "O, Come, All Ye Faithful" (Reading), and "On Our Way Rejoicing" (Havergal), Dudley Buck's "Te Deum" in B Minor were rendered, the solos being sung by Master Roy Abramson, soprano; Mr. Edward Brink, tenor, and Mr. Earle Anderson, baritone. Field's "Benedictus" in A Major was also used.

The Children's Carol Service and the Mystery Play, "When the Master Came" (Dean Bell), will be given on the Sunday after Christmas, beginning in the church at 4 o'clock. After a brief service the Christmas Processional will be formed and will march around the church and into the Parish House for the play. This Processional will be quite an impressive event. It will start with a fanfare by the Heralds. Then all the lights in the church, excepting the low-burning gas jets and the candles borne by the Angel Chorus, will be put out. Following an illuminated star, the procession will march, singing "We Three Kings of Orient Are":

"O, Star of wonder, Star of night,
Star with heavenly beauty bright,
Westward leading, still proceeding,
Guide us by thy perfect light."

Various traditional carols will be sung between the scenes of the play. Colin Taylor's "I Saw Three Ships," will be used in the church service for the offertory.

The play will be presented under the direction of Miss Lucille Ryerson Crane, assisted by Miss Dorothy Channon.

Hugo Goodwin, A. A. G. O., is organist and choirmaster.

###

CHICAGO PIANO COLLEGE

The Chicago Piano College offered the following program in the commodious lecture room of the school last Saturday afternoon:

* Adagio from C major Concerto.....Weber
Allegro from G major Suite.....Bargiel
Miss Thelma Simons
Papillons (Scenes at a Ball).....Schumann
Richard Schweitzer
Valse at Springtide.....Harmon H. Watt
Mrs. Hazel Bryant
* Concerto, Op. 69 (last movement).....Hiller
Miss Dorothy Linker
Humoresque.....Tschaikowsky
Pasquinade.....Gottschalk-Joseffy
Miss Nellie Fisk

* With Mr. Watt.

It is worthy of mention that these programs are among the few student recitals which are not too long. The pupils too are not put on before they are ready, a thing which cannot always be said. All of the students Saturday afternoon showed careful preparation and thoroughly artistic training, as well as good musical feeling individually. It was a little program well worth hearing.

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

J. WARREN ERB
CONDUCTOR SONG COACH
ARTISTS ACCOMPANIST
Permanently at
STUDIO HALL, 220 MADISON AVENUE, NEW YORK

CENTRALIZING SCHOOL OF MUSIC

On Saturday, December 14, a most enchanting little program was given at the Centralizing School in celebration of Christmas time. The sponsors of this lovely entertainment not only understood the spirit of Christmas but they succeeded, through the children, in conveying it to the audience in all its beautiful significance. The Christmas part of the program was preceded by a short recital by the younger students, all of whom played with an earnest interest in their task. Following this there was a cunning dance done by two of the girls and then the Christmas playlet in which the children sang and danced and re-lived the age-old Christmas story. They reminded one of a troup of fairies, so graceful were they and so dainty were their costumes. Then the sweet childish voices of Mrs. Fleming's children's class joined in and completed the pretty picture with two quaint Christmas carols. The program is given below.

Daring Horseman.....Gurlitt
Slumber Song.....Gurlitt
Evelyn Wolf
The Trumpeter's Serenade.....Kullak
The Fairy.....Wing
Dorothy Moeller
March of the Wee Folk.....Gaynor
Hotzel Bode
Uncle Remus.....Cadman
The Return.....Burgmuller
Eleanor Stewart
Little Pussy.....Holst
Swinging So.....Holst
Ruby Johnson
Elfin Play.....Goodrich
Ruth Willis
Grandfather's Birthday.....Gurlitt
In the Garden.....Gurlitt
Duet March.....Smith
Geraldine Wolf
Dancing Daisy Fields.....Mokrejs
Pussy Cat.....Wing
Mary Bode
Mistress Mary.....Swift
Ella May Opel
Ding Dong Bell.....Gaynor
Autumn Leaves.....Gaynor
Catherine Vickers
Chapel of the Woodland Fairies.....Neidlinger
Irene Gordon
Little Major.....Goodrich
Park Lynn Verner

"Without the door let Sorrow be,
And if for cold it hap to die
We'll bury it in a Christmas pie
And ever more be merry."
—From "Old Christmas Sayings."

Dance—Polka Antique
Bonita Eiffert and Dorothy Kane

A PLAYLET
Adapted from "Watching for Santa Claus," by Varney

Mary Bolton.....Ruth Borden
Bess Bolton.....Elvira Patterson
Kate Bolton.....Bonita Eiffert
Nan, a cousin.....Ruth Willis
Santa Claus.....Henrietta Fetzer

Scene—The living room. Time—Shortly before midnight Christmas eve.

Reading—
Why the Chimes Rang.....
Henrietta Fetzer
Spelling Season.....Wells
Bonita Eiffert
Three Scared Little Boys.....
Elvira Patterson
Vocal—My Jerushy.....Gaynor
Bonita Eiffert
Reading—Christmas Bells.....Longfellow
Ruth Borden
Vocal—O Little Child, Come Down.....Hofer
Ruth Willis
Dance of the Fairies.....
Gladys Clare, Iris Stewart, Thelma Hagerman, Irma Ross
Reading—The Spirit of Christmas.....Van Dyke
Marie Barkman
Carols—
At Midnight a Summons Came....Old Alsatian Carol
Sleep, Little One.....Old French Carol
Mrs. Fleming's children's class:

| | |
|---|---|
| Janette Howardson | Laura Howardson |
| Alice Matson | Eugene Howardson |
| Elvira Howardson | Charles Bruce |
| Ruth Willis | |

MARY CARVER WILLIAMS.

###

AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

Saturday afternoon the American Conservatory Students' Orchestra, under the direction of Herbert Butler, gave its annual recital, assisted by Master Samuel Frankel, violinist; Miss Elizabeth Walsh, contralto, and Miss Ruth M. Freeman, pianist. The following program was given:

Symphonie, G major.....Hamerik
(First Movement)
Orchestra
Concerto for violin, E major.....Vieuxtemps
Adagio—Rondo
Master Samuel Frankel
Serenade.....Tschaikowsky
Allegro Moderato
Walzer
Elegie
Finale-Russo
Orchestra
Aria—A Rendimi.....Rossi
Miss Walsh
Concerto for Piano, A minor.....MacDowell
Andante—Presto
Miss Freeman

In the orchestral numbers the ensemble was excellent and the whole interpretation displayed an artistic nuance which could be secured only by the most careful discipline and musical appreciation and ability on the part of the players.

M. C. W.

EDISON SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA
MORGAN L. EASTMAN, CONDUCTOR
Popular Concerts—Orchestra Hall
FIRST THURSDAY OF EACH MONTH
NOVEMBER TO MAY

Edwin Stanley SEDER F. A. G. O.
Organ—Piano—Pupils. 126 E. Chestnut St.

R. Mills Silby Mus. Doc.
ORCHESTRAL AND CHORAL CONDUCTING
TEACHER OF SINGING AND THEORY
1528 Kimball Hall. Tel. Wabash 8538, Superior 6660

MAY PFEIFFER
CONTRALTO
Ph. Austin 9798 4718 Washington Blvd.

CARLO LITEN
FAMOUS BELGIAN TRAGEDIAN
NOW IN AMERICA Dramatic Recitals and Recitations
Exclusive Management
DANIEL MAYER Aeolian Hall, New York

The Jennette Loudon Studios
PIANO :: THEORY :: ENSEMBLE
614 FINE ARTS BUILDING

WESTERN Conservatory
E. H. SCOTT Pres.
KIMBALL HALL . . . CHICAGO

GEORGE R. GARNER Celebrated Colored American Tenor
4405 CHAMPLAIN AVENUE

Virgillio Lazzari

A Brilliant New Member of The Chicago Opera Company Wins the Praise of the Critics in "La Gioconda."

"Virgillio Lazzari, the new basso, made a dignified and vocally eminent Alviso. This young basso is a good addition to the year's roster of singers."—Chicago Daily News.

"Unfailing excellence."—Chicago Daily Journal.

"Mr. Lazzari sang with splendor."—Chicago Tribune.

"Mr. Lazzari sang well."—Chicago Evening Post.

CHICAGO OPERA ASSOCIATION

Yeatman Griffith

Teacher of FLORENCE MACBETH, Prima Donna Coloratura, and many other Artists and Teachers
318 W. 82nd St., New York. Tel. Schuyler 8537

IDA MAY BORNCAMP
ACCOMPANIST - - COACH
TEACHER OF PIANO
418 Hamilton St., - - - Evanston Ill.
Phones Evanston 4723 and Wabash 8353

HERBERT J. WRIGHTSON
PIANO THEORY ORGAN
610 FINE ARTS BLDG.
WABASH 2583
Residence Phone, Wilmette 2082

LEOPOLD GODOWSKY
World-Famed Pianist Season 1918-19
KNABE PIANO USED
HAENSEL & JONES
Aeolian Hall
New York

Iva Bigelow Weaver
SOPRANO Oratorio & Recitals
MARY WOOD CHASE SCHOOL,
Fine Arts Building, Chicago
Mack Block, MILWAUKEE, WIS.

LENORA SPARKES
Lyric Soprano of the Metropolitan Opera House
Concerts, Oratorio, Festivals, Recitals
DANIEL MAYER, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK CITY
HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager

HUGO GOODWIN
CONCERT ORGANIST Pupils Accepted 19 W. Delaware Pl., Tel. Superior 1558

THOMAS NOBLE MACBURNEY
609 Fine Arts Building BARITONE Phone Wabash 8988

Centralizing School of Music
GERTRUDE RADLE-PARADIS, President
Centralizing School of Acting
WILLIAM OWEN, Director
Departments: Piano, Theory, Voice, Violin, Violoncello, Expression. SEND FOR BOOKLET
Box 27, 20 East Jackson Blvd., CHICAGO, ILL.

RAFAELO DIAZ
TENOR
Metropolitan Opera Company
Available for RECITAL, ORATORIO, FESTIVAL
Mgt. Metropolitan Musical Bureau, Aeolian Hall, 33 W. 42d St., New York

CHICAGO ARTISTS' ASSOCIATION

Evidently this organization, in its large majority, does not feel a keen interest in that part of its program which fosters the growth of budding talent. There was a very small audience in attendance at the Children's Day event of last Tuesday. This is a shallow attitude and deserves a scoring. All artists and artist lovers should feel a vital interest in those who are to replace them and should be ready to detect and encourage the young people who are candidates for the future.

Nearly every mature artist complains of the difficulties they were forced to encounter, the neglect and indifference of those who should have discerned and helped. But when they "arrive" they promptly forget (?) to help those who are likely to follow in their footsteps.

It was such a delightful afternoon that the regret is the keener for those who missed it. Hugo Goodwin had about twenty of his choir boys from St. James' Episcopal Church. They gave a program of Christmas carols and songs which was so comprehensive that nearly every period was covered. Not only were the familiar old carols used, but Mr. Goodwin had uncovered Augusta Holmes' lovely "Noel" and found Pietro Yon's modern "Gesu Bambino," Melarten's "Christmas Cradle Song" and Darcieux's "Bressan Waits"—simply exquisite examples.

Everything was capitally and enthusiastically done. There was the usual disposition to rush things along, so essentially an Episcopal trait that it is perhaps superfluous to make note of it. But abidingly pure and lovely tone was in the lads' singing, the pronunciation of text admirable in neatness and clarity, while good, sturdy rhythm and heartiness supplemented technical accuracy of the music's measures.

Without specifying, it is to be said that the solo singing was more than good as done by the following boys: James Baker, Roy Abrahamson, Felix Coune, Fred Stuhlman and Morris Jones.

The rest of the program included piano playing by Nellie Gordon, songs by Charmien Brickson and readings by Ethel Prendergast.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

JOSEPHINE AND EUGENE SULLIVAN

The Sullivans are anticipating a very busy season after January 1. They are booked for a week in Toledo, Ohio, during January, and will sing at the Badger Room, Hotel Wisconsin, Milwaukee, New Year's eve. They have also a return engagement at The Hippodrome in Chicago.

Silver—Hazel Silver, soprano, has recently appeared at the Englewood Sunday Evening Club, the Wilmette Sunday Evening Club, Lake Forest, Howe Military School at Howe, Ind. (Jubilee Cantata, Weber), and will sing on January 3 in "The Messiah" at South Chicago and fill a return engagement at the Englewood Sunday Evening Club on January 5.

MacDonald—Harriet Bacon MacDonald of Chicago gave a musical talk, illustrated with children and with apparatus used in teaching the Dunning System of Improved Music Study for Beginners, on Monday evening, December 16, at Assembly Hall, Public Library, Tulsa, Okla.

For Peace Celebrations

Lord of All Majesty .....Ralph Kinder
(With piano, organ or orchestral accompaniment editions)
For Male Voices.....net 20c
For Mixed Voices.....net 20c
America, the Beautiful..R. Nathaniel Dett
For Unison or Mixed Voices.....6c
The Americans Come!.....Fay Foster
A Victory Song
As Vocal Solo.....net 40c
Four Keys—High, B flat; Medium-High, A flat; Medium, G; Low, F.
Part-Song Arrangements—Unison or two parts; Women, Male and Mixed Voices .....12c

The above mentioned publications may be obtained from your regular dealer or from the publishers.

J. FISCHER & BRO.
NEW YORK
Fourth Avenue and Eighth Street (Astor Place)

MAX GEGNA
THE BRILLIANT CELLIST
Season 1918-19 Booking Now
Management
JULIUS DAIBER
Aeolian Hall New York
Kranich & Bach Piano Used

"The Devil's Love Song"
By HALLETT GILBERTE
is successfully sung by Charles W. Clark, Louis Graveure, Hartridge Whipp, and others.
Address HOTEL FLANDERS, 133 W. 47th St., New York

Blanche E. Snider
LYRIC SOPRANO
429 Fine Arts Bldg. On tour with Cathedral Quartette

Letitia V. Barnum, Director
CHICAGO SCHOOL OF EXPRESSION AND DRAMATIC ART
Fine Arts Bldg. 410 Michigan Ave., Chicago

LENOX LUCIE ROBERTS
Soprano—Pupils
519 FINE ARTS BUILDING, WED. AND SAT. A. M.
1019 Superior St., OAK PARK. Phone O. P. 3530-W

Hanna Butler
Soprano PUPILS RECITAL ORATORIO
512 Fine Arts Bldg. Tel. Wabash 4870

Arthur Shattuck, *Pianist
Management Margaret Rice, Secretary, 325 Oakland Avenue, Milwaukee
The Steinway Piano

Marie Edwards
PIANIST AND ORGANIST. Ill. College of Music. 2831 Washington Blvd.
907-8 Lyon & Healy Bldg. Phone Wabash 6841

BASSO Dr. Carver Williams
Cosmopolitan School Kimball Hall

ALMA HAYS REED
SOPRANO
6543 GLENWOOD AVENUE

MOODY INSTITUTE SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Last week the close of the term at Moody Institute School of Music was celebrated with two excellent concerts, the programs of which are appended.

Whenever this writer goes to hear the work of this School he is impressed anew with the fact that there is present here a sincerity in teaching and a solidity of result which are notable.

A perusal of the programs will show again that the religious element enters largely into the work of this School, but it is supplemented always by good technical development and fine musicianship and the fact of the religious note makes for novelty which is interesting, instructive and also abundantly pleasing.

AUDITORIUM, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 18

Piano solo—Transcription: Nearer, My God, to Thee ..... Warren
Miss Ruth Thiers

Vocal solo—When the World Forgets.....Ackley
F. C. Schaffer

Organ solo—Andantino .....Lemare
H. W. Carlson

Vocal solo—There Is a Land of Pure Delight..Parker
Mrs. O. J. Jenkins

Piano solo—Butterfly .....Grieg
Miss Ruth Lambertson

Vocal solo—The Hills of God.....Nevin
L. R. Grimes

Piano duet—Transcription: Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys Are Marching.....Doerr-Loes
Bugle call; assembly; dirge; victory
Misses Beulah Doerr and Birdie Loes

Vocal solo—Plains of Peace.....Barnard
Mrs. Clarence M. Yates

Piano solo—Bubbling Spring .....Rive-King
Miss Neva Jordan

Vocal duet—The Shepherds of Love.....Reitz
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jollay

Vocal solo—Consider the Lillies.....Gabriel
Mrs. V. H. Martin

AUDITORIUM, THURSDAY, DEC. 19

Organ solo—Postlude in F.....Schuler
Miss Florence Leonard

Vocal solo—Wonderful, Wonderful Friend.....Towner
Mrs. L. R. Becker

Piano solo—Etude .....Lack
Mrs. O. J. Jenkins

Vocal solo—Why Art Thou Cast Down, O My Soul? ..... Spicker
Miss Viola Kachel

Piano Duo—Simple Confession.....Thome
Misses Bessie and Mary Hoffman

Piano solo—Transcription: Whiter Than the Snow (No. 335, Voice of Thanksgiving No. 2).....
..... Gabriel-Doerr
Miss Beulah Doerr

Vocal duet—Grace, Greater Than Our Sin.....Towner
H. P. Wooten and W. A. Hambidge

Vocal solo—The Ninety and Nine.....Campion
Mrs. Ruth Adkins

Vocal duet—There Is a Friend Above All Others.....
..... Nicolai
Misses Junice Clausen and Katherine Niswander

Organ solo—Fugue in G minor (little).....Bach
Mrs. H. W. Carlson

Vocal solo—Fear Not Ye, O Israel.....Buck
Richard Nyberg

Chorus—Awake, My Soul.....Wiegand-Herbert
Ladies' voices

C. E. W.

###

Collins—Edward Collins, Chicago pianist, now in service somewhere in France, writes to Music News that he has lately been commissioned in the Corps of Interpreters—a position he is well able to fill. He says further:

"I composed a military march some time ago and when I played it for the General he was delighted and decided to make it the official march of this division. So I called it 'The March of the 88th Division' and all our bands are playing it. They are going to play it when we march down the streets in the United States."

Alexander RAAB
PIANIST
CHICAGO MUSICAL COLLEGE

Nicholas Garagusi
THE AMERICAN VIOLINIST For Concerts and Recitals.
Management EMIL REICH, 1 W. 34th St., New York

Clyde Stephens
PIANIST
Faculty Appointment, Coe College Cedar Rapids, Ia.

MASON SLADE
Organ Lawrence Conservatory, Appleton, Wis.
Christ Episcopal Church, Chicago
Phone Midway 930

JENNIE F. W. JOHNSON
CONTRALTO
American Conservatory. 700 Oakwood Blvd., Chicago

Edgar Nelson
BUSH CONSERVATORY

Chant Sans Paroles
A New Composition for Piano and Violin by BENIOT LEVY
Published by - - The Clayton F. Summy Co.

Hertha E. Johnson
PUPILS SOPRANO CONCERTS
1207 Kimball Hall Phone Harrison 7949

DR. FRANCIS HEMINGTON
Concert Organist Pupils Received
Phone Oak Park 2464

CARL J. WATERMAN
TENOR
Teacher of Singing and Public School Music
Lawrence Conservatory Appleton, Wisconsin

HARRY DETWEILER PIANIST
TEACHING
Chicago Musical College
Pres. Columbia Conservatory, Aurora, Ill.

Cleveland Bohnet
PIANIST, AMERICAN CONSERVATORY

REGINA HASSLER-FOX
AMERICAN MEZZO-CONTRALTO
Personal Representative, L. S. FOX, 133 Fifth Ave., N.Y.

GRANT HADLEY
BARITONE
KIMBALL BLDG.

MONICA GRAHAM Mary Wood Chase School
STULTS SOPRANO BASS
WALTER ALLEN -- 1306 KIMBALL HALL

THE BURNS SCHOOL OF MUSIC
PHYSICAL EXPRESSION AND ETIQUETTE
M. Rose Burns, President
725 Lyon & Healy Bldg. and 401 W. 63d St.

BERNIECE SEABURY
SOPRANO
2914 Ellis Ave. Douglas 3584

ANTONETTE ZEBROWSKA-PERLOWSKA Concert Violinist
7812 SOUTH SHORE DRIVE
Tel. So. Chicago 4885

A FINE IDEA AND A RESULTANT PROGRAM OF MUCH CHARM

The Bush Conservatory has decided to open its parlors once a week for an informal composers' evening, and there on last Friday was heard a program of the finest significance and effect, all composers and performers being of Chicago.

In the absence of more definite data, this article gives merely impressions, with such definiteness as memory alone can supply.

Earl Victor Prahl presented three of his beautiful songs through a wonderfully gifted young girl whose name I do not know. She is a pupil of Mme. Louise Dotti, however, and most certainly has a future. Her teacher told me that she has great intelligence and industry, and these, coupled with her remarkable voice, will surely bring notable results.

Her voice and style are exactly those of the Rosa Raisa of a year or so ago.

The Prahl songs are not only beautiful but have immense style and character also. They will succeed.

Miss Lee of the Columbia School presented a group of her fine songs, but needed a better singer for their effective exploitation.

The really big number of the evening was the new Sonata for Piano and Violin, by Heniot Levy of the American Conservatory, played by himself and Richard Czerwonky in magnificent fashion.

It is indeed a big work, requiring forty minutes in performance and being filled with every imaginable difficulty.

But, quite aside from this, it is also a work of imagination and fancy and is filled with moments of intensity of musical feeling ranging the full gamut of human feeling.

The make-up of the work is notably good, the contrast of movements superb, and the picture in general is one of clear lines as well as fine shades of tone and color.

C. E. W.

CHARLES COURBOIN

Charles M. Courboin, the Belgian organist, made a short trip west during the week of December 9, playing his first recital in the Hennepin Avenue Methodist Church in Minneapolis. He was greeted by a large and enthusiastic audience, and the local critics gave generous space to accounts of the recital and praised Mr. Courboin's artistry in the most glowing terms.

From Minneapolis he went to Cincinnati, where he played in the Church of the Covenant before the Southern Ohio Chapter, American Guild of Organists. He was greeted here also by a large audience, and played a brilliant program, which was greatly enjoyed by the members of the chapter and their friends. A dinner was tendered Mr. Courboin before the recital and a very enjoyable time was had by the Ohio organists.

On Friday Mr. Courboin played before the St. Cecilia Society in St. Mark's Pro-Cathedral, in Grand Rapids. Unfortunately, the quarantine against influenza had just been restored in that city and Mr. Courboin was greeted by a limited number of people on account of this. This was his second recital in Grand Rapids.

CRAVEN STUDIO NOTES

Miss Corinne Simpson, contralto, who has been touring with "Four American Girls" company, is in Chicago this week, taking work with Mr. Craven during the holidays, and leaves on a tour of the Pacific Coast January 3. Miss Margaret Gilmore, who is holding a position as musical director of the school as well as director of the Christian Church choir of Marshalltown, Iowa, is home for the holidays and taking daily work of Mr. Craven.

Miss Edna Worrell, contralto, was soloist December 15 at Englewood Christian Church.

Miss Evelyn Martha was soprano soloist last Sunday at the Second Baptist Church, singing "O Holy Night" (Adam).

Miss Irene Schroeder, soprano, was special soloist at Belden Avenue Methodist Church last Sunday, and James McKernon, basso, was also soloist in the same church.

Mr. Craven has far the largest class he has had during his years of teaching, and the new year promises to surpass the year just passed.

NEW FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The "Pageant of the Nativity," given at the new First Congregational Church last Friday and Sunday evenings, was beautifully expressive of the season and remarkably effective, both as a spectacle and in the music.

Mr. Tenney now has a firm hold on all the resources at this church and is presenting excellent programs.

Fuller account of the pageant will be printed next week.

IS YOUR NAME IN THE CLASSIFIED DIRECTORY COLUMNS OF MUSIC NEWS?

¶ This is the most comprehensive, as well as the most representative Musicians' Directory published in America.

¶ More and more is it being relied on by those who seek teachers and artists.

The Cost is $15.00 for 52 Insertions

Send us your order today and thus get your name in the recognized list for the coming season.

Elias Breeskin

Again Triumphs in Aeolian Hall Recital on December 12th

THE SUN:

In style he shone to advantage, . . . in technical details he was brilliant. Particularly was this the case with his performance of the first movement of the Sinding Suite, in which his command of staccato was masterly.

THE TIMES:

. . . a stalwart among New York's young violinists now coming before the public daily.

THE TRIBUNE:

His warmth of tone, his command of issuance and of color, and his rhythmic sense were all excellent. His playing of the Sinding Suite was admirable.

THE HERALD:

It was pleasant to hear again Mendelssohn's melodious Concerto, which an audience supersurfeited with modern music found delightful. The slow movement was exquisitely played.

THE AMERICAN:

His tone was pleasing to the ear and of lovely and even quality in the sustained notes. He rushed with tremendous speed through the whirlwind opening measures of Sinding's Suite and compassed the intricacies of double-stopping and bravura passages of the later movements with facility.

THE GLOBE:

Mr. Breeskin's performance was always effective and his facile technic and brilliancy evoked frequent and spontaneous applause. His intonation was always pure and his tone was rich, varied and of ingratiating quality.

THE EVENING SUN:

There is warmth and feeling to his playing, and when he arrived at the presto movement of the Sinding Suite he rose to really splendid heights.

THE EVENING MAIL:

He has a good tone, broad and satisfying, and a great deal of intelligence. He does not confuse sentiment with sentimentality, and he played the Mendelssohn Concerto with a fine restraint. He has a fluent technic, equal to more than average demands, and his profound feeling for the traditions will always give a great deal of pleasure to the discriminating.

THE MORNING TELEGRAPH:

The Kreisler Introduction and Scherzo Caprice for Violin alone advantageously showed the really remarkable virtuosity of the brilliant Breeskin. He played the Mendelssohn Concerto with notable facility. The recital closed with a startling display of the versatility and technical excellence of Breeskin.

Kranich & Bach Piano

For open dates and terms apply to

Management: DANIEL MAYER, Aeolian Hall, New York

FIFTH WEEK OF OPERA

Muratore Temporarily Retires—O'Sullivan Scores in "Romeo and Juliet"—Galli-Curci, in Fine Form, Repeats Great Successes—Stracciari Incomparable in "I Pagliacci" and "Barber of Seville"—Anna Fitziu and Lamont Score Heavily in "I Pagliacci"—Rosa Raisa as Santuzza Again Proves Her Great Artistry—Paris Symphony Orchestra Plays on Sunday—The Sixth Week to Be Crowded With Sensations, Including the Debut of Charles Fontaine

MURATORE'S ILLNESS CONTINUES AND HE HAS TEMPORARILY WITHDRAWN FROM THE COMPANY

The departure of Mr. Muratore for New York, with France as the next move, is a great loss to the Chicago Opera Company, and he will be greatly missed by the public at large.

A superb artist, as well as one of the most glorious of singers, he has given us so many fine performances that we would always remember him with gratitude, even if he did not return to our Company.

But we sincerely hope that his absence is only temporary and that next season we shall surely again partake of his matchless art.

♮ ♮ ♮

The Opera Half Over

As these lines are written the opera season is just half over and in retrospect, we can truthfully say it has been the finest we have ever had while, in prospect, we have five thoroughly brilliant weeks.

CAROLINA LAZZARI

The current week is witnessing the debut of Charles Fontaine, a distinct event—and the first presentation of Galli-Curci in a new part, one which, being comedy, is bound to present her at her best, for she is a born comedienne.

For last night there was announced a glorious performance of Rossini's "Stabat Mater," with Opera and Apollo Club forces in collaboration, and for this (Friday) evening we shall have Galli-Curci (for the last time) in "Lucia"; on Saturday afternoon the performance of "Aida"—made glorious through the participation of Rosa Raisa—and in the evening a fine performance of "La Boheme," supplemented with one act of "Hamlet," in which latter opera Galli-Curci will sing. And this on a Saturday evening!

LUCIEN MURATORE

For the next four weeks we shall have a constant succession of new works and of important revivals, in many of which Mary Garden is to appear.

♮ ♮ ♮

REPETITIONS

On last Friday night, on account of the serious illness of Mme. Dolci, which prevented the Italian tenor from appearing in "La Gioconda," the opera was changed to "Trovatore," and again did Rosa Raisa make an immense success and again did Forrest Lamont prove himself an absolutely invaluable member of the Company by the beauty and power of his work in the part of Manrico. Cyrena Van Gordon, as Azucena, also scoring again very emphatically.

At the Saturday matinee "Linda" was repeated, to the unqualified delight of a large audience, and in the evening "Romeo and Juliet," scheduled for O'Sullivan and Gall, was sung by the former and Myrna Sharlow on account of the illness of the distinguished French soprano.

The experiences of several of the American singers this year, notably Irene Pavloska and Myrna Sharlow, is proof eloquent that there are, occasionally, first rate opportunities for them and that by degrees the public will learn that when they do have opportunity to appear they invariably make a fine impression, and the bigger the part the better the impression.

O'Sullivan—ideal in looks for the part of Romeo, and with a full equipment of voice and acting ability, made on Saturday night one of the finest successes yet attributed to him.

An actor-singer of great routine and versatility, he is able to infuse every part with correct color and mood, and he therefore grows more and more in favor as the days of the season go on.

His Romeo will be heard again with the greatest of pleasure.

♮ ♮ ♮

BARBER OF SEVILLE

Our own version of the "Barber" is a big, healthy, wholesome romp. It is such a marvel of ensemble, from Campanini's electrical reading of the orchestral score down to the last chorister in the effusive serenade, that the only way to write of it is either at great length or not at all. The entire production is team work of the nth degree. Galli-Curci's Rosina is perfection of singing, acting and visualization. Stracciari and Trevisan and Arimondi are uproarious, and the former's singing satisfies every tradition and present exactions.

ANNA FITZIU

Just to see the whole is to be counted a musical event in any lifetime. We are so slow to be confident in such matters here; we wait for someone else to enthuse over us before we allow ourselves to be sure. No one ever saw or heard a more complete representation of the lively and lovely work. See it and tuck away the memory for future browsing and reminiscence.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

♮ ♮ ♮

THE DOUBLE BILL

On Wednesday evening there was given the double bill which has so often engaged

ROSA RAISA

the attention of the Company—"Cavelleria Rusticana" and "I Pagliacci," but never, within memory, has it been given so wonderfully well as at this time.

The cast of the Mascagni work was absolutely ideal.

Rosa Raisa is the best Santuzza in memory. She has the most thrilling dramatic impulse and the most glorious voice one could even imagine, and she goes through the Sicilian tragedy like a whirlwind.

Opposite to her, Dolci was also ideal, and the ensemble of these two, as well as at the moments when the Mama Lucia of Louise Berat was involved, was perfect.

Irene Pavloska repeated the fine performance of Lola, which has already firmly linked her name to that part as a splendid success.

Alfred Maguenat was so fine as Alfio that no one could possibly ask for better. He looked the part and he sang it superbly.

Many performances of this work there have been when the Intermezzo was a distinct bore. It is apt to be so saccharine and so needlessly drawn out that, in most readings, it had long since lost its charm, but Polacco, who conducted, made it again a thing of pulsing, throbbing beauty, and he managed also to get some choral singing from the stage which was magnificent.

In the Leoncavallo work the cast was not so ideally perfect, but in three members, at least, it could not have been better.

Anna Fitziu has made the part of Nedda her very own. She dresses it beautifully and she acts with much tragic significance as well as girlish loveliness.

In the famous bird song she did as fine a piece of work as the current season has put forth in any opera.

Forrest Lamont, substituting for Muratore, made the most sensational success he has yet scored on the Auditorium stage.

He was wonderfully fine in vocal effects and with the asset of glorious voice he coupled sane and effective acting, with the result that the performance stood forth with great distinctiveness and beauty.

Riccardo Stracciari sang the Prologue (Tonio) so remarkably well that the audience was very loth to let the performance proceed without a repetition, and throughout the opera he presented a consistent and forceful picture as the Clown and enriched the score constantly with the charm and wonder of his splendid voice.

Daddi was better as Beppo than in any part this year, and Defrere showed an unbelievable growth in voice, singing the duets with Nedda in splendid style.

Sturani, resourceful and with properly repressed dramatic fire, conducted ideally.

C. E. W.

♮ ♮ ♮

SAMSON AND DELILAH

There is an impression in some quarters that "Samson and Delilah" had not previously been given by the Chicago Opera Company before last Tuesday evening, but as a matter of fact it was given a number of times in the second season, being, in fact, the premiere that year, with the late Mme. Gerville Reache as Delilah and Charles Dalmores as Samson, and it has also been given, at least once, by other singers since then.

But, beyond any question, none of these performances equaled that of last Tuesday in the glorious mise-en-scene, the magnificent playing of the orchestra under Louis Hasselmans or the splendid ballet of the last act, to say nothing of the very fine casting of the principal parts afforded the work at this time.

The production was truly a regal one. Such gorgeousness of scenic investment and dressing and such careful attention to stage groupings, lighting, etc., has rarely been in evidence at the Auditorium.

Hasselmans, splendid in his every performance, was particularly forceful and facile in this one. He made the chorus do wonderfully fine singing, with massive tone where need was apparent, and with the finest of shading and coloring throughout.

MARY GARDEN

And the orchestra, under this scintillant baton, was of such superlative power and charm as has been heard but rarely anywhere.

The ballet was of such brilliance as to be almost unbelievable. Tropical birds, orchids and other exotics were brought to mind in a riot of movement and color which was amazing.

Into this beautifully prepared and sustained environment walked Carolina Lazzari as Delilah, and she walked, too, straight into the hearts of the very big audience which had come to hear her.

It is very likely that many came out of curiosity to see how a debutante would handle so great a task as was hers at this time, but it is equally certain that they all remained to enjoy to the full the opulence of her vocal art and to applaud to the echo her unqualified success.

FORREST LAMONT

Miss Lazzari is the exact figure for Delilah, and she dressed the part beautifully.

It is possible to see that with more experience and after having appeared several times in the opera she will develop a bigger dramatic outlook on the part, but that, of course, is a trite saying, for any young singer in any part for the first time cannot possibly present all the dramatic detail which will grow by repetitions.

But, beyond any question, Carolina Lazzari is the exact personality and figure for Delilah and, just as inevitably, she will grow to be the greatest exponent of the part we have ever had.

And this is all the more certain, because of the gorgeous way in which her voice envelops and ennobles the score.

The lower passages are sung with an unbelievable contralto richness, and in the upper flights of the part she disclosed on Tuesday every attribute and virtue of the dramatic soprano.

Altogether, Miss Lazzari may well feel that she scored a big success and walked away with one of the finest ovations ever accorded a young singer in Chicago.

Opposite the brilliant Delilah figure there must needs be an equally strong and fine Samson, and in the cast of last Tuesday this was provided in the person of John O'Sullivan, who not only disclosed the perfect range and quality of voice for the part, but also made an impressively dramatic as well as thoroughly polished and artistic figure.

Undoubtedly Mr. O'Sullivan has often sung the role in Paris, and just as undoubtedly he brought to the Auditorium on last Tuesday night the results of his extended routine, as well as his fine intuition and musical feeling.

With these two as the outstanding figures, "Samson and Delilah" is one of the really big bills of the season and should be given a number of repetitions.

The High Priest of Dagon is another great part, and Marcel Journet easily made of this a companion piece to the name parts. The score of this part lies exactly in the best range of the Journet glorious voice, and the dramatic possibilities are altogether those which suit his gifts at the best.

He went through the part triumphantly and made a splendid impression on the audience.

MARCEL JOURNET

The short part of Abimilech was exceedingly well done by Constantin Nicolay. An Old Hebrew brought out the best of the Huberdeau gifts, and the three small parts in the cast were done by Dua, Olivero and Defrere.

C. E. W.

IL TROVATORE

As has been stated by the management of the Chicago Opera Association, "Opera is different from anything else; we cannot map out a certain schedule for the season and expect to carry it out to the letter, for singers are human beings and subject to the ills of life."

This answers the questions of subscribers, "Why cannot the Chicago Opera Association tell me what operas I am going to hear every Monday night, or Saturday afternoon," as the case may be, "for ten weeks?" Such was the case on Friday evening, when "La Gioconda" was scheduled, but on account of the serious illness of Dolci's wife, and no other tenor being in readiness for the part, "Il Trovatore" was substituted on short notice and was given a fine portrayal with Rosa Raisa as Leonora and Forrest Lamont substituting in the title role for Dolci.

ANDRE MESSAGER

This is an interesting opera, albeit having been heard many times, but never by anyone who was Rosa Raisa's superior. In "Tacea la notte placida" she rose to heights of unalloyed splendor, and she again made exquisite the "D'Amor" with its appealing beauty.

The work of Forrest Lamont as Manrico was distinguished and proved conclusively that he is a very valuable adjunct to the Chicago Opera Association. His voice has grown more beautiful and he had ample chance to display his histrionic ability and finesse, which he did in no uncertain terms.

At the present it is hard to remember or imagine anyone better than Cyrena Van Gordon in the part of Azucena, the wandering gypsy. Her voice is of a very beautiful quality, a very wide range and powerful. She has very strong dramatic gifts and her portrayal of the gypsy woman, both vocally and histrionically, was little short of marvelous.

Giocomo Rimini certainly looked and acted the part of the Count. He has a particularly beautiful voice, is resourceful, and he repeated his previous successes in this opera.

Smaller parts were exceedingly well done by Emma Noe, Octave Dua and Virgilio Lazzari, and should not be overlooked.

"Il Trovatore" will bear many repetitions, particularly with this cast. Sturani was the conductor and again was supreme.

ELEANORE CAPPS-HOSTLER.

♮ ♮ ♮

LINDA

Witnessing and hearing such a performance as Saturday afternoon forces the conviction upon an unprejudiced mind that the old people were right who have stoutly maintained that the reason why the older operas were put into the discard was because there were no singers to sing them. The fault was not in the operas themselves. My good old mother and I fought many wordy battles on the subject. She had brought me up on first-hand knowledge of many seasons of London opera when Grisi, Marie Alboni, Sentag, Luisa Pyne and Jenny Lind were in their prime. She didn't like my leaning toward the lurid stories and somewhat ugly music of the newer regime, maintaining that the line of melody and tunefulness were necessary adjuncts. I gave her memory willing allegiance during the presentation of Donizetti's "Linda" and the exquisite singing of Galli-Curci, Stracciari, and Lazzari, the fine humor of Trevisan, the enjoyable ensemble and stage pictures and good chorus and orchestra work.

Such a performance justifies itself. It doesn't need any explanation, for it answers the simple question of legitimate entertainment. Galli-Curci's "O Luce" is beyond comment. I knew it would satisfy my mother's standards and didn't care to go further. Miss Lazzari has the world before her by all evidences; Stracciari revealed another side of his great art; Trevisan is unique and unctuous; Vittorio Lazzari was a good Prefect; Forrest Lamont, with not a great deal to do, but all capital, and Sturani a rousing master at the baton.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

♮ ♮ ♮

THE FRENCH ORCHESTRA

Of course, the Sunday preceding Christmas was not the most favorable time in which to bring to Chicago the concerts of the Paris Symphony Orchestra, under direction of Andre Messager, and yet it does seem that this community might have evinced a little more interest than was indicated by the very small audiences of the afternoon and evening at the Auditorium.

For they were magnificent concerts, and the public should have known that they would be.

The orchestra is made up of French musicians of national fame, and the tour is under government auspices.

Messager, very quiet in manner, is yet evidently a mine of emotionalism underneath the quiet surface, else the orchestra could not possibly have played the Beethoven C Minor Symphony so magnificently as they did.

This is one of the really great works of Beethoven, and to hear it played as at this time is a benediction.

It is not that Messager put into it any unusual reading or any eccentricity of color and effect. It was rather through the wonderful tonal quality that the unusual values came.

Every part of the orchestra produced this same hauntingly beautiful quality of tone, and under the Messager baton each part spoke out artistically and musically, as well as with proper dramatic effect.

The "Afternoon of a Faun" (Debussy) was also a master reading, and the Saint-Saens "Spinning Wheel" a breathless bit of virtuosity.

But the big moment, of the evening concert at least, came when Mme. Gabrielle Gills appeared and sang the aria from "Louise," and when the ensemble between herself and the orchestra in this number was something so utterly fine as to be beyond words to tell.

We have heard the "Louise" aria often enough with orchestral accompaniment, but never as it was presented at this time.

C. E. W.

♯♯♯

LATER NEWS OF THE OPERA

Charles Fontaine made his American debut on Monday evening at the Auditorium in "Manon" (Massenet) and scored an unequivocal success.

On the stage, in this opera, Mr. Fontaine gives the impression of exuberant, effervescent youth, and his action bubbles over with spirit and charm.

No finer looking Des Grieux has been seen on our stage. His voice is beautiful, although in this performance it gave no impression of immense power. Nevertheless it is of admirable quality and is used with rare discernment and discretion throughout.

The audience warmed to the newcomer at once and accorded him, throughout the evening, a series of ovations. In these were included invariably Mlle. Gall, who has grown to be a supreme favorite here and who at this time showed us her Manon for the first time. She is beautiful in all parts, but particularly so in this, and she sang it with great sparkle and beauty.

Hasselmans at the baton worked in splendid harmony with these two stars and proved, easily—that the "Manon" score may be made a scintillant delight.

Alfred Maguenat repeated his splendid impersonation of Lescaut (splendid both vocally and histrionically), and Desire Defrere added a fine touch as De Bretigny.

Margery Maxwell, Beryl Brown and Marie Pruzan were charming as Pousetti, Javotte and Rosette, and Gustave Huberdeau again appeared as the Count.

C. E. W.

♯♯♯

MISS HALL'S EDGEWATER BEACH MUSICALE

The word "charming" is overworked, but it is the right one to use concerning the pleasant Sunday afternoons Jessie B. Hall furnishes at Edgewater Beach Hotel. It is music of such agreeable character under such comfortable auspices that charm ensues.

The major portion of the program of last Sunday was given by Eleanor Eastlake and Kathryn Kiernan, two young singers whose duet singing has been the distinct musical novelty of the local season so far, and who are so genuine and meritorious that they will easily outlast anything so fleeting as novelty. They have been wise, for their years, to discern that there is a large and sparsely cultivated field of enjoyable musical literature to be had for the gleaning, that there is an eager following ready to accept and enjoy the form in which it expresses itself, and quick to note the pleasure afforded when the work is as excellently well done as in the case of these young singers. The voices are fresh, well schooled and blend with unusual sympathy. The understanding is unquestioned and the subjection complete. All these things make for an excellent standard, and the interpretative side is in good hands. Salter's "Charm of Spring" seemed almost made for their effervescent mood, Arne's "Lass With a Delicate Air" worked out effectively in its new form, Mendelssohn's "Wings of Music" wound its enticing measures beautifully, and a setting of the Brahm's "Hungarian Dances" was a dashing and brilliant mass of color. That bit of cobwebby music, Hahn's "Exquisite Hour," is too unsubstantial to stand metamorphosis, but D'Hardelot's "I Know a Lovely Garden" distinctly gained. The singers have a most valuable adjunct in Helen Campbell, who almost makes a trio, so thoroughly does she fit the piano part into the ensemble.

Grace Grove played in her impeccable way for Daniel Denton, who added groups of tenor solos.

ALBERT COTSWORTH.

FLORENCE M. GRANDLAND
Coach—Accompanist PIANIST Pupils
217 N. 3rd Ave., Maywood, Ill. Tel. Maywood 320

SOPHIE MILLER
SOPRANO Teacher of Voice and Harmony
931 Kimball Hall Home Phone Graceland 6296

Harriet C. Cartwright
CONCERT PIANISTE AND TEACHER
OFFICIAL HARMONY, THEORY INSTRUCTOR and ACCOMPANIST of the WHITNEY TEW STUDIOS Telephones Wabash 6950 and Drexel 69

Ethel Edith Jones
MEZZO-SOPRANO
848 Sunnyside Ave. Tel. Sunnyside 3448

NANCE D. THOMPSON
Teacher of Boys' Voices, especially for Choir
LYCEUM ARTS CONSERVATORY
Lyon & Healy Building

JEANNE BOYD
COMPOSER—ACCOMPANIST—PUPILS
600 Lyon & Healy Bldg. Tel. Harrison 2074

Thirza Mosher PARMENTER
SOPRANO—TEACHER OF VOICE
Lyceum Arts Conservatory, Lyon & Healy Building

JOSEF KONEČNÝ Violinist
TONE-COLOR STUDIOS, CHICAGO
Phone: Lincoln 2944

Alice Brown Stout
Dramatic Soprano—Accompanist
266 PARK AVE. RIVER FOREST, ILL. Telephone R. F. 8450

RUDOLPH GANZ

First Orchestral Appearance of the Season
Detroit, November 21st

with the NEW YORK SYMPHONY
under WALTER DAMROSCH

"In executive ability, in force and in poetic tenderness, Mr. Ganz has few equals now before the public, and his work Thursday evening was a sample of the playing which has made him a favorite on two continents."
—Roy E. Marcotte, Detroit Times.

Management: CHARLES L. WAGNER
D. F. McSWEENEY, Associate Manager
511 Fifth Avenue, New York

A Rendezvous for the Elite—Artists and Musicians

PANCRAZI'S

Genuine Italian Restaurant and Rotisserie

486 COLUMBUS AVENUE
BETWEEN 83RD AND 84TH STREETS
NEW YORK

HUGO GOODWIN
ORGANIST AND CHOIRMASTER, ST. JAMES EPISCOPAL CHURCH
DIRECTOR BACH CHORAL SOCIETY. ORGAN, PIANO, VOCAL COACH
WITH INTERNATIONAL COLLEGE 666 RUSH STREET SUPERIOR 7283

ALLEN RAY CARPENTER TENOR Kimball Hall

CHARLES W. CLARK "Master of the Song World" BARITONE J.C. Barker, 893 N. Dearborn St CHICAGO

H. W. OWENS VOCAL DIRECTOR WESTERN CONSERVATORY Voice Teacher Coaching PHONE WABASH 3506

Morgan KINGSTON LEADING TENOR METROPOLITAN OPERA CO., New York Concert Direction Metropolitan Musical Bureau AEOLIAN HALL NEW YORK

Florence Macbeth

PRIMA DONNA COLORATURA
Concert Direction, Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall, New York
Helen L. Levy, Associate Manager

HERMAN DEVRIES VOCAL TEACHER MRS. HERMAN DEVRIES, . . . Associate Vocal Instructor
At Studios, 518-528 Fine Arts Building, Chicago, Ill.
Terms for Mr. Devries Terms for Mrs. Devries
Ten Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each, $50.00. Ten Private Lessons of One-half Hour Each, $30.00

ELLEN KINSMAN MANN STUDIO IS ONE THAT PRODUCES RESULTS

Music News printed last week a remarkable list of young artists who had their concert training with Mrs. Ellen Kinsman Mann and are today in actual positions in all parts of the country.

The five weeks' summer course which

ELLEN KINSMAN MANN

Mrs. Ellen Kinsman Mann offered during last July and August has shown excellent results.

Its special purpose was preparation of the pupils for lyceum work, and though Mrs. Mann gave no absolute guarantee of engagements to students, the immense value of her course has been fully demonstrated in actual results.

Some few of Mrs. Mann's class were placed even before finishing the five weeks' course. A majority of the others found engagements at the end of that period, while the rest, after continuing their studies up to October 1, were satisfactorily placed at that time.

Thus the entire rather widely assorted group (for some had studied in the states from California to Massachusetts, and others had had very little preparation at all) found places in their chosen work.

———♯♯♯———

Clark—Louise D. Boedtker, soprano, pupil of Charles W. Clark, sang at the Students' Recital at Bush Conservatory on December 21, her numbers being a group of French songs by Massenet, Duparc and Faure, two songs by Schumann and one of Schubert, a Grieg-Sinding-Lassen group and "The Crying of Water" (Campbell-Tipton), "Aedh Wishes for the Cloths of Heaven" (Fogel), "In the Time of Roses" (Reichart) and "A Toast" (Mary Turner Salter).

———♯♯♯———

Raab—Winifred Lee, student of Alexander Raab, has been appointed teacher at the Jasper Normal Institute, Jasper, Fla.

FLORENCE EASTON

Soprano, Metropolitan Opera House

Receives an ovation in the initial performance of Puccini's "Gianni Schicchi"—Compelled to repeat her aria—Unique record established in annals of the Metropolitan.

FOLLOWING ARE THE PRESS COMMENTS OF HER PERFORMANCE AS LAURETTA:

"Florence Easton, very pretty in her Juliet costume, sang her one aria most artistically."—James Gibbons Huneker in the New York Times, Dec. 15.

"An incident in last night's performance, so unusual that it is doubtful if such a thing ever occurred before at a world's opera premiere, occurred in the performance of 'Gianni Schicchi.' An American singer, Florence Easton, had sung her first aria. The audience so generously and so insistently applauded that Conductor Moranzoni allowed Mme. Easton to repeat this aria."—New York World, Dec. 15.

"The audience, wonder of wonders, insisted on a repetition of the aria, charmingly sung by Mme. Easton, which was the musical hit of the evening."—Reginald DeKoven in the New York Herald, Dec. 15.

"A significant incident is to be noted. The claque had not a hand for the most exquisite bit of melody and singing of the evening—the mock serious appeal to Gianni made by Miss Easton as Lauretta. But the genuine portion of the audience appreciated the song and the singer and kept up its applause until a repetition of the little air was grudgingly granted."—H. E. Krehbiel in the New York Tribune, Dec. 15.

"Mme. Easton did very well in the part of Lauretta."—New York Evening Telegram, Dec. 15.

"Miss Easton sang delightfully and acted well."—New York Globe, Dec. 16.

"Miss Easton's fresh, ravishing voice sent the melody into instant popularity."—New York Evening Mail, Dec. 16.

"Florence Easton, a lovely vision, had the only really melodious aria to sing. She did it so beautifully that she had to repeat it. There was no mistaking the conviction of the audience."—New York Evening World, Dec. 16.

"Miss Easton reaped a triumph and replanted an encore with it. Her beauty of voice and appearance, her comportment throughout, won her the eyes and the ears of the audience at her every entrance."—New York Evening Sun, Dec. 16.

"What Florence Easton did as Lauretta was a revelation as to the treasures in store at the Metropolitan, where they are too often hidden under a bushel. Florence Easton once more gave an exhibition of vocal art which places her in the forefront of the living artists."—New York Evening Post, Dec. 16.

For Concerts—Festivals—Recitals

Management,* HAENSEL & JONES

AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK

THE PRESS AT LARGE

In this division of Music News there will be printed, week by week, comments on various concerts and artists which have appeared in the daily and weekly press of the country. This is done in the belief that this matter will be found to be of great interest to a large number of people. This is in no sense an advertising department, and no items will be accepted for pay

"Piano Wonder Features Close Music Festival"

"Ethel Leginska, the wonderful young pianist, has visited Maine on several occasions. Since her earlier appearances her art has grown and her work is more finished and her perfect assurance is a very convincing factor. The first impression with this unique artist is always amazement at the perfect ease and facility of her technique. Her mastery of the instrument is of course an acknowledged fact and her beautiful liquid tones are a marvel. To describe Leginska's many fine qualities of musicianship and her technical accomplishments is a well-nigh impossible task."—Portland Sunday Telegram, Nov. 24, 1918.

Mrs. MacDowell at Zanesville

One of the most gifted pianists who has appeared before a Zanesville audience in a long time, Mrs. Edward MacDowell, delighted her hearers with her piano recital at the home of Mrs. Charles Francis Chappelear. In playing the MacDowell music Mrs. MacDowell proved herself a pianist of wonderful feeling, splendid technique, and clear, warm tone. In hearing the music as it was played Monday night it seemed like an echo of the past, since many of the numbers were played by the composer himself for us. While it was superfluous to speak of her technique, too much cannot be said of the value to the music student of this opportunity of getting that beautiful and traditional interpretation of the MacDowell music together with Mrs. MacDowell's wonderful rhythm and tone. The large and enthusiastic audience demanded repeated encores, and seven extra numbers were played before the final close of the recital.—The Zanesville, Ohio, Signal, Nov. 26, 1918.

Opera in New Orleans

There is a rumor in musical circles that the New Orleans Opera House may reopen with a short mid-winter season. It is worth while reminding ourselves occasionally that New Orleans was the first American city to establish opera permanently, and the first to introduce French and Italian opera into America, the Nation says. Opera was given in New Orleans when Washington was President. Adelina Patti sang there in "Robert," "Charles VI," "Dinorah" and other operas in 1861, when she was eighteen years old; and according to an advertisement which promises that she will do "Within a Mile of Edinboro' Town" from the lesson scene in the "Barber," prices ranged from 50 cents to $1.50. It is not generally known that most of the important premieres have taken place there, and many operas which are unknown in other American cities have been kept in the repertoire at New Orleans—such as "Cenerentola," "Salammbo," "Siberia," "La Reine de Saba," "Siguard" and "Don Quichotte." The history of opera in New Orleans would require a considerable volume and would be well worth writing. There are not so many centers of spiritual activity in the United States that we can afford to lose the record of one of them, especially one so eminent as the French Opera House in New Orleans.—Chicago Daily News.

Schumann-Heink and Soldier Sons Star at "Hitchy-Koo"

There was an added attraction at last night's performance of "Hitchy-Koo" at the Illinois which did not cost the management a cent. Mme. Schumann-Heink and two of her sons were spotted in a box by Raymond Hitchcock, whereat the comedian halted his usual lines and "business" to greet the singer and introduce her in his homey way to the audience. He spoke of Mme. Schumann-Heink's two sons in the service, and she amended his arithmetic by saying that she actually had four sons in the United States Army and Navy.

Then Mr. Hitchcock allowed that the audience would rather hear her sing than endure his unmusical gutturals. The audience agreed so thoroughly with him as to set up a storm of applause until the famed singer complied. She sang several of her old "favorites," led "The Star Spangled Banner," and an enjoyable time was had by all.—Chicago Tribune.

"Dead Ban German Opera"

Charles Fontaine, Belgian tenor, who has just arrived in Chicago and will take the place of Lucien Muratore in opera roles, preached the funeral of German opera today at the close of his first rehearsal. M. Fontaine completely extirpated modern German music. He came from the wings of the Auditorium Theater in high spirits and bubbling over with pleasure at his American prospects until someone wondered if German opera would be revived in Paris after the war.

"Dead!" he exploded. "Dead, dead, dead. Dead in Paris. Dead in northern France. Dead in Belgium. Who can look at the flattened cities and ruined orchards, can mourn the women and girls violated and dead at German hands and ever want to hear German opera again? I cnnot sing it. Never! Where is my brother? Shot to death by the Germans. Where is my father's brother? Shot to death by the Germans. Where is my cousin? Shot to death by the Germans. Where is my godfather? Shot to death by the Germans. And you talk German opera to me!

"You cannot imagine what we have suffered and what we feel. Wait till Mr. Wilson looks into northern France and Belgium and sees what is there. He will not talk then about fairness to the Germans."—Chicago Daily News.

Graham Harris' Appearance as Soloist with Detroit Symphony Orchestra

"Mr. Harris' work was full of fire and virility; it was well poised, to a large degree authoritative, and in the Adagio was colored with genuine poetic feeling. If possible, Mr. Harris should play at one of the pairs of subscription concerts."—Free Press.

"Graham Harris, a young violinist, made a great impression and his work served to impress upon his hearers something of the class of musicians which make up the personnel of the orchestra. Mr. Harris, however, is a real artist, and the opinion was freely expressed that he would before long rank among the well-known soloists of the country. He played the Vieuxtemps Concerto in D minor, giving to this well-known composition an authoritative interpretation that was full of fire and vitality."—Detroit Times.

"In Mr. Harris, who is an extremely young man, there were further evidences of the high individual musicianship of the orchestra, for he imbued the Vieuxtemps Grand Concerto with new sheens of beauty. He, too, was most cordially complimented by the audience."—Saturday Night.

"Mr. Harris essayed the taxing Vieuxtemps Concerto in D minor and carried it off with splendid effect, winning the most enthusiastic approval from the audience."—Detroit Journal.

"Mr. Harris displayed commendable virtuosity; especially notable was the performance of that passage in the Adagio in which the violin and one cello sing an appealing duet to an accompaniment of chords on the harp and the strings pizzicato. Mr. Harris draws from his violin a clear, limpid tone, and his technic is facile."—Detroit News.

Sibyl Sammis-MacDermid in Chicago Recital

The daily press commented as follows:

"Mrs. MacDermid was heard in a group of French songs. These she sang in a manner characteristic of her best style—her voice clear and lovely throughout its ample range."—Henriette Weber in the Herald-Examiner.

"I arrived in time to hear Mrs. MacDermid sing a group of French songs. Mrs. MacDermid's full-toned, wide-ranged soprano was at its best. The interpretation of the French song is an easy matter to this excellent singer, whose pronunciation is clear and whose understanding of this type of music is intelligent."—Herman Devries in the Evening American.

"Mrs. MacDermid has good voice and good taste, and the knowledge how to apply both to music. She has the further great merit of believing that when English is to be sung it should be pronounced clearly, and she testified to her faith in a group of good songs by James G. MacDermid, Carpenter and her accompanist, Jeanne Boyd. Another group of French composers became a great pleasure, par-

Louis Hasselmans

One of the New Conductors of

THE CHICAGO OPERA

Grows Steadily in Favor

On His Work in "Samson and Delilah" the Daily Press Commented as Follows:

"Mr. Hasselmans had his forces well in hand and did his large share toward making it an extremely successful evening."—Herald-Examiner.

"Mr. Hasselmans was authentic with it and put it through admirably."—Tribune.

"Mr. Hasselmans gave a sympathetic reading of the score, and the music sounded very beautiful."—Evening Post.

"Mr. Hasselmans did some strikingly fine conducting last night. He treated the score with almost reverential care and love and brought warmth and passion from the orchestra pit. It was his highest point of the season."—American.

"Reviewing opera this season has been something in the nature of a continuous tribute, never more so than when one thinks of the part done by Conductor Hasselmans in this performance. It was a very fine thing that he did. In this opera he had not only the soloists under his direction, but some of the finest choruses in all operatic music and an orchestral score that is practically symphonic in character. He is a remarkable interpreter of music in the French style, with all its good taste, good sense, clarity of line, beauty of color and the restraint which is never under any circumstances weakness. There was never a moment last night when the music did not move, and move glowingly. 'Samson and Delilah' can easily be made a very boresome performance. This one was of continuous, unfailing interest." — The Journal.

MARGUERITE NAMARA Soprano Chicago Opera Association

HARRISON M. WILD
Conductor

MESSIAH

One Performance Only

Apollo Musical Club

Chicago Symphony Orchestra

SOLOISTS

ORPHA KENDALL HOLSTMAN ..... Soprano
FREDERICA GERHARDT DOWNING ..... Contralto
ROBERT LOREN QUAIT ..... Tenor
ARTHUR MIDDLETON ..... Bass

Sunday, December 29th, 1918, 3 P. M.

AUDITORIUM

TICKETS ON SALE AT CLUB OFFICE, 243 SOUTH WABASH AVE.—LYON & HEALY BOX OFFICE AND AUDITORIUM THEATRE

ticularly Fourdrain's 'Carnival.' "—Edward C. Moore in the Journal.

"Sibyl Sammis-MacDermid sang with clear, full tone, good control of her voice and understanding of her music. I could not always get the words as distinctly as I wished, and at times the extreme upper notes sounded a bit hard. The lighter numbers, 'I Call to Mind a Day' (MacDermid) and 'Fairy Pool' (Boyd), she sang particularly well, with soft tones that were pure in quality and very sure. Her phrasing was good and everything that she did was musicianly."—Karleton Hackett in the Evening Post.

"Mrs. Sammis-MacDermid in the Handel and Godard pieces put forth a very pleasing lyric soprano voice which is refined in quality and of a comprehensive range. It reflects the emotion of the singer, and in the Godard 'Air de Leonora' took on almost the timbre of a dramatic soprano. This number is on the pretentious order of a ballade, and Mrs. Sammis-MacDermid scored a fine success with this selection."—Maurice Rosenfeld in the Daily News.

♮ ♮ ♮

Max Rosen Proclaimed "One of the Great Ones" in Baltimore

Max Rosen proved to be one of the most engaging young violinists who has appeared here in recent years. He is another of the boys whom Leopold Auer is teaching to play with such mysterious perfection, and in some respects he is the most interesting of the new group in that he combines with incomparable technical prowess a fresh and winning personality and a curiously insistent emotional instinct rare in so young a player, which gives his art a certain suggestion of sophistication that is extremely attractive. His tone is extremely rich and vibrant, his interpretations both graceful and elegant, yet in the more pretentious numbers his indication of sentiment is true, his work delicate and authoritative, his coloring always admirable. His playing not only makes an immediate appeal to the senses but its restraint indicates a mental poise that is very interesting. He played the D minor Concerto of Wieniawski with fine breadth of attack and astonishingly agile fingering, the pure, singing quality of his work in the Romance being an incident of ineffable charm. One hopes that he will soon have an opportunity to hear this new artist with an orchestra. He is one of the "great ones."—Baltimore Evening Sun, Dec. 14, 1918.

An unusual ovation was given Max Rosen, the young violinist, after his recital yesterday at the Peabody. The enthusiasm of the audience knew no bounds for the wonderful musician who has created such a sensation in every city in which he has appeared. They called him back four or five times after every number, and when the concert was over still the music lovers remained applauding and applauding, even cheering, until the virtuoso played an extra number. His style is most brilliant, and his program in the main brought out this striking characteristic.—Baltimore American, Dec. 14, 1918.

♮ ♮ ♮

The Madrigal Club

Those industrious searchers after choral music of the past and present, the Chicago Madrigal Club, appeared in the first concert of the season's series at Kimball Hall last night. According to the club conventions, D. A. Clippinger, the director, had arranged a program consisting of ancient and modern works in about equal proportions. Of the first class there appeared the names of Lefevre, Morley, Calcott and others, to say nothing of a traditional Hebrides sea song as arranged by Granville Bantock in nine parts.

The second part gave opportunities for the women's and men's voices to appear separately as well as together. The choir sang with nice deliberation and more care for enunciation than is customarily the case in choral performances. The Chicago Madrigal Club would seem to have its definite place in the musical life of the season, not only for the kind of music that it sings, but for its manner of performance. This is its eighteenth season, and last night's was its one hundred and thirty-first concert.

Guy C. Latchaw, a member of the organization, was the soloist, displaying a pleasant baritone voice and an enunciation which showed how it is that the club as a whole is able to project its words so clearly.

In the next concert, occurring March 13, a special feature will be made of the performance of the prize-winning madrigal of the year, "The Nights o' Spring," with words by Bertha Ochsner of Chicago and music by Frances McCollin of Philadelphia. —Chicago Journal.

♯ ♯ ♯

Schumann-Heink Charms in War Songs Program

Ernestine Schumann-Heink, refined by life's fires and perfected by the stormy blasts—"Mother Schumann"—thrilled a capacity audience at Gray's Armory Tuesday evening with her war songs, religious songs and songs of love and hope. Every number, except a gay little danza, was touched with the mellowing of experience which has been hers the past three years as mother of thousands of soldiers and sailors. Never before has there been such a deep

(Continued on page 30)

TEW

WORLD'S GREATEST VOCAL TEACHER

Engages to equip every pupil with an understanding of the Art of Singing, which insures a natural, unforced compass of from three octaves upwards of PURE, BEAUTIFUL, FLEXIBLE, and POWERFUL tone. (a) Principle of Co-ordination Applied to Vocal Mechanism, possible only through reversal of all modern Vocal Orthodox Methods. (b) Understanding of Principle (Logos), the Only Teacher.

JOHN A. ALCOTT, ASSISTANT TEACHER

SUITE 612 AND 613, FINE ARTS BUILDING, CHICAGO
TELEPHONE—WABASH 6990

Myrtle Thornburgh

SOPRANO

After a successful tour of sixteen weeks through the Western and Southern States, is available for Concerts, Oratorio and Recitals

PERSONAL ADDRESS

72 West 68th St., New York

PHYLLIS LA FOND

Soprano

CONCERTS OPERAS RECITALS

Management ANTONIA SAWYER, Aeolian Hall, New York

Constance Balfour

AMERICAN SOPRANO

Season of 1918-1919 Booking Now

MANAGEMENT

DANIEL MAYER, Aeolian Hall, New York

HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager.

LAZAR S. SAMOILOFF

Baritone

Director of the Bel Canto School
The Art of Singing
Indorsed by Chaliapiu, Brogi, Sammarco, Ruffo, Didur, Zerola and Others
STUDIO: CARNEGIE HALL, NEW YORK CITY

Russian Symphony Orchestra

MODEST ALTSCHULER, Conductor

Season of 1918-19 is Booking Now

Management
DANIEL MAYER - Aeolian Hall, New York
HELEN L. LEVY, Associate Manager.
THE STIEFF PIANO USED

CECIL ARDEN

METROPOLITAN OPERA COMPANY

MEZZO-CONTRALTO
For Concerts and Recitals
Management
EMIL REICH, 1 W. 34th St., NEW YORK

CONSTANCE BALFOUR—JOSEPH BREIL

Joseph Breil has written an opera especially for the distinguished American soprano, Constance Balfour, and as already told in Music News columns, this work has been accepted for presentation at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York for this season.

The presence in Chicago of both Miss Balfour and Mr. Breil on last Saturday made possible a private hearing of part of this opera, "The Legend."

Suffice now to add that the sample was decidedly pleasant and whetted a vigorous appetite to hear the work in entirety.

Miss Balfour is one of the most delightful singers to come under my observation in many months.

She has personality and poise as well as a definite musical intelligence, and these are supplemented with a voice of rare power and charm.

Dramatic soprano is the proper classification no doubt and in the lower part of the range there is wonderful breadth and sustaining power. But, also, in the manipulation of the upper score Miss Balfour exhibits rare skill. The lovely quality of her tones in this range as well as the infinite skill with which she uses dynamics and tone color is remarkable.

The desire to hear Miss Balfour in a recital is very keen.

C. E. W.

BERKSHIRE STRING QUARTET

The Berkshire Quartet spent the five days, December 9 to 14, at Camp Upton playing for the soldiers. They gave sixteen concerts, every one of the grade of the subjoined program and were appreciated by the boys throughout.

On December 20 they played at Montclair, N. J.; on the 27th will play at Camp Merritt, and on December 30 at Camp Mills.

This ensemble will give a series of concerts at Aeolian Hall in New York on January 14, February 25 and March 24, the program for the first date being as follows:

Quartet in G minor (Peters No. 30).....Haydn
Allegro; largo assai; menuetto; allegretto; finale, allegro con brio

Quartet in F minor (prize-winning composition at Berkshire Festival of Chamber Music, 1918)
.....Tadensz Iarecki
Profondement emotionne; tranquille et mysterieux comme un reve; tres leger, rhythme et joyeux; avec une vigeur jeune et dynamique

Quartet in A major.....Borodin
Moderato; allegro; andante con moto; scherzo; prestissimo; andante; allegro resoluto

TWO SCENES IN THE LIFE OF CHRIST, BY GEORGE B. NEVIN

The Oliver Ditson Company has accepted for publication two compositions by George B. Nevin which represent two scenes in the life of the Savior, "The Witness of John" and "The Vision of Thomas." They are written in cantata form and require about six minutes each for performance. This style of composition, although novel and unhackneyed, does not aim to be anything but an effective and religious presentation of two most interesing and far-reaching events in the life of The Master.

Mr. Nevin's new anthem for Christmas, "Sing and Rejoice," is being presented by a long list of representative choirs throughout the country.

ANNA FITZIU

Soprano Chicago Opera Association

IS ACCLAIMED AS AN IDEAL NEDDA IN "I PAGLIACCI"

The press says of her work:

"Miss Fitziu was in her best role as Nedda."—Tribune.

"Anna Fitziu did the best singing she has ever done here in the 'Bird Song' last evening."—Herald-Examiner.

"Anna Fitziu made a beautiful Nedda and sang the music with a refinement and purity of voice quite exceptional, and she also knows how to make her action convincing."—Daily News.

"Her singing of the 'Ballatella' was a lovely performance."—Daily Journal.

"I have already written at length of her beautiful singing and clever acting as Nedda, but it is always an agreeable task to repeat that her voice was of luscious sweetness and remarkable surety, that her 'Ballatella' was a superbly finished example of vocal art at its best, and that she fascinated by the charm, vivacity and naturalness of her histrionic conception." — Chicago American.

Concerts - Recitals - Festivals

Exclusive Management R. E. JOHNSTON, 1451 Broadway, New York

Luigi Montesanto

BARITONE

Metropolitan Opera House

Makes the initial performance of Puccini's "El Tabarro" notable, through his singing of Michele.

FOLLOWING ARE THE COMMENTS OF THE NEW YORK PRESS:

"Mr. Montesanto quite surprised me by the vigor, force and vocal effectiveness of his impersonation of Michele."—Reginald DeKoven in the New York Herald, Dec. 15.

"The strangling of Luigi by the wronged husband, Michele, wonderfully sung and acted by Luigi Montesanto, is easily the most horrific scene ever enacted upon the Metropolitan opera stage."—New York Telegraph, Dec. 15.

"He disclosed musical and dramatic understanding."—New York World, Dec. 15.

"He sang and acted with vigor and his solo scene was praiseworthy."—James Gibbons Huneker in the New York Times, Dec. 15.

"Luigi Montesanto portrayed with fine artistry the role of Michele."—New York Evening Telegram, Dec. 15.

"Montesanto as Michele was vigorous. He sang with dramatic intensity and he strangled Luigi with a touch of shuddering realism."—New York Evening Mail, Dec. 16.

"His impersonation compelled respect."—New York Evening World, Dec. 16.

"In the husband Mr. Montesanto has a part which is equal in opportunities to that of the father in 'Louise'; he did it well, no doubt."—New York Evening Sun, Dec. 16.

Music in New York

1 W. Thirty-fourth St.

By JOSEPH DE VALDOR

The Metropolitan Concert

Sunday, December 15, was not a monotonous day, in spite of the inclement weather, for not less than seven musical events were programmed and all were interesting, and each drew a huge audience. The Russian Symphony presented Schumann-Heink as soloist. The Philharmonic listed Max Rosen, the violinist. The Symphony Society of New York, Alfred Cortot soloist. At the Hippodrome McCormack gave his first recital of the season. At Maxine Elliott, Yvette Guilbert gave her characteristic song program. Even the Greenwich Theater was not idle, for a Rusisan baritone gave an exhibition of vocalization. With so many events I cannot report them all.

RICHARD HAGEMAN

After a brilliant night of Puccini premieres, many of those present on the evening of December 14 came back to the same old place to listen to a quite unusual concert, but the audience was not a very large one. In spite of that, the applause was more than cordial. The opening number consisting of "Phedre" Overture by Massenet was rendered by the Metropolitan Orchestra and conducted by Richard Hageman, who extracted all the melody which Massenet furnished in the score.

Robert Couzinou, the French baritone, featured some songs which were practically those of the recital room and his renditions were extremely artistic. He proved a great asset to the French repertoire when he interpreted, at the Metropolitan, Le Grand Pretre, Athanael, Valentin and Escamillo, but on this occasion he stood out as the best recitalist of the Metropolitan forces. Employing mezzo-voce, falsettos, and when necessary his full voice, his songs, as rendered, were a delight to the ear. All the characteristics of the fine artist were in evidence and the songs were imbued with grace, feeling, expression, and, what is more, he possesses the grand style for which France's best vocalists are known as past-masters. In the upper register his voice is tenor, while the middle is full, vibrant, warm and powerful. I found him not entirely at his best in "D'une Prison," by Reynaldo Hahn, where he used too much restraint and the vocalization was of the operatic style, not of the concert singer. I can commend him especially for "Plaisir d'Amour," by Martini, and "Berceuse," by Mozart. Excellent singing in the "Promesse de mon avenir," from "Le Roi de Lahore," by Massenet, and truly operatic style in Diaz's "De L'Art splendeur immortelle," from "Benevenuto." "Le Temps des Cerises," by Renard, was also on the program.

Louise Homer, acting as speaker for herself, begged leniency for her cold, so no comments are necessary. She sang the Aria from "Samson and Delilah" and songs by Reichardt, Sidney Homer, Marzials and an encore.

Richard Hageman conducted an effective performance of Georges Enesco's Roumanian Rhapsody No. 1, for which the audience lavished generous applause.

Joseph De Valdor

wishes the Readers of Music News

A Merry, Prosperous and a Happy New Year

Thelma Given appeared for the first time before a Metropolitan audience since her Carnegie debut. She has gained more poise and nervousness was absent. Her intonation, too, was much better and clearer. Her technic has made great strides and there is no doubt that she is beginning to place herself among the best violinists of the younger set. The Concerto and Cadenza for violin in D major, by Paganini, was well rendered and the public did not permit her to leave until an encore was played. But the unpleasant feature, after her rendition, was the boisterous claque which of late has become intolerable. She rendered other pieces by Debussy, Tor Aulin and Achron. No less a factor of the concert was the splendid accompaniment at the piano, heard only rarely on such occasions, by Willfrid Pelletier, a young pianist of 25 and assistant conductor of the opera house. His playing for the vocalists was a treat and in fact as pleasurable as the work of Mme. Homer and Couzinou. French pianists show much superiority and their modesty is remarkable.

♮ ♮ ♮

First Recital by John McCormack

Back home from his great work for the war sufferers, John McCormack returned to his first professional recital on December 15 at the Hippodrome and was greeted by a huge audience of some 6,000 people. I have so often reviewed his singing, his voice and all the details which are his assets that I fear that I have exhausted my vocabulary. He was in fine trim and, as in the past, his program was compelled to be prolonged by a number of encores. One of the greatest ovations ever accorded to a singer was when Judge Dowling announced, in behalf of the 69th Regiment, that John McCormack's vocal work had secured $500,000 for the soldiers. Only General Pershing would receive such a demonstration as that bestowed on McCormack and he deserved it, for we all know that for over a year he gave himself wholly to the great cause of the war. What singer, after appearing year by year in operas and concerts, can show such purity of timbre and freshness of voice as John McCormack? He sings as if he were but a young man. The "father interpreter" of the American songs again thrilled his listeners and again hearts felt his emotional singing. His program included C. Hubert H. Parry, Cesar Franck, Tchaikowsky, Bantock, Saint-Saens, a group of Irish songs and some by his accompanist, Edwin Schneider; William Derrigan Daly, Arthur Foote and a new song by Wilifred Sanderson, "I Shall Meet You." The assisting artist was Mr. Wilkinson, the violinist, not a satisfactory player.

ROBERT COUZINOU

♮ ♮ ♮

Lucien Muratore's Illness Disturbs His Admirers

News reaching New York concerning the illness of the great French tenor has caused a sensation in musical circles. His admirers are much perturbed. The expectation of hearing the magnificent Lucien Muratore is being shattered by nature's trick. It is doubly regrettable if his illness will not enable him to reappear this season. It may also cause a change in Mary Garden's repertoire. The splendid O'Sullivan will perhaps be in Muratore's place, and Charles Fontaine, who arrived from France to undertake French roles, may also be called to the rescue, but the position of Muratore is so unique that, as said before, his absence will be felt. We hope that Providence will take a kind hand in the case of the French tenor and that his illness will be healed soon.

♮ ♮ ♮

BRIEF NOTES FROM ABROAD

Paris

The day after the armistice was concluded the opera opened its doors with the inevitable patriotic outbursts preceding the evening's performance of "Monna Vanna," by Henri Fevrier (the composer will join soon the Chicago Opera—note of the correspondent). Marthe Chenal once again electrified the frantic audience with the singing of the "Marseillaise." Mme. Lubin and Messrs. Note and Gresse rendered the allied hymns. Mlle. Chenal was Monna Vanna, Mr. Darmel, Prinzivalle, Mr. Gresse as Arkel, and Mr. Huberty as Goland. Other operas given during the month of November: "Rebecca," with Mme. Bugg and Lestelly; "Rigoletto," with Maurice Renaud in the cast, Mlle. Vecart and Arne. "Aida" was given with Mlle. Demougeot, under Mr. Arthuro Viga's baton.

The Colonne-Lamoureux concerts opened with performances of compositions by Claude Debussy, conducted alternately by Messrs. Chevillard and Pierne. A novelty was presented by Mr. Florent Schmitt, whose composition, "Dreams," received its initial performance.

At the concerts Ruhlmann gave at the Varietes another novelty was presented—"Variations Surdes Airs de Binion," a suite, orchestrated only lately, originally being a piano composition for four hands.

♮ ♮ ♮

At Blois

The 16th and 17th of November, "Le Chalet" and "Le Fille du Regiment" was given with Mlle. Genevois, from the Opera Comique. Later "La Mascotte" was revived, with Mlle. Boulant from Gaite Lyrique.

♮ ♮ ♮

Pupil of Jacques Thibaut Coming to America to Concertize

The correspondent of Music News is in receipt of a communication from Mlle. Fernande Capelle, pupil violinist of Jacques Thibaut (now touring America), that she intends to leave Paris for America, whence she will tour the country under a management not known yet, but under consideration by a prominent New York agent. Mlle. Capelle is a first prize from the Paris Conservatory and achieved some success in the French capital. Recently she appeared in Paris under the auspices of the American Y. M. C. A. in a concert given by the Brazeau four, consisting of Miss Marie Therese Brazeau, Bostonian pianist, and Mlle. Suzanne Beaumont, from the Paris Opera.

♮ ♮ ♮

Rudolph Ganz Plays for the Humanitarian Cult at Carnegie Hall

In its semi-monthly seance, the Humanitarian Cult presented as soloist for the musical program Mr. Rudolph Ganz, the eminent Swiss pianist, who played a Chopin group and one composition by himself, "Capriccio" (for the right hand alone), also numbers by Grainger, Liszt and Paganini-Liszt. The event took place on Tuesday evening, December 17th.

♮ ♮ ♮

Merle Alcock Is Star Soloist at the 247th Bagby Morning Musicale

The third Albert Morris Bagby morning musicale took place at the fashionable Waldorf-Astoria, on December 16th, in the ballroom of that smart-set hotel. I know of no better contralto since Christine Miller retired than the splendid Merle Alcock, who made her third New York appearance in four weeks. She was in splendid voice, and I suspect that the fastidious music lovers must have been pleased. In spite of the early rising hour, the audience was large. She was splendidly assisted at the piano by Richard Hageman. Jose Mardone's voice was also a delight. Guiomar Novaes and Frieda Hempel were outdistanced by the others.

♮ ♮ ♮

The Selwyn Theatre for Concerts and Recitals

New York is to have one more theatre where suitable concerts and recitals will be presented after January 1. The new theater is owned by Selwyn & Company, theatrical managers. Its name bears that of the owners and it is located on Forty-second street, only a few seconds from Broadway. The first recitals will be given by Leo Ornstein, pianist, and Vera Barstow, violinist, recently arrived from France.

THELMA GIVEN

♮ ♮ ♮

Special Note of the Correspondent

Owing to the holidays, not all events are reported. This will be done in a future correspondence. I am reporting some briefly and others more extensively. More in the next issue.

♮ ♮ ♮

Brief Notes of Recitals and Concerts

On the evening of December 16th Mme. Maria Winetzkaja gave a song recital at Aeolian Hall. In the afternoon Composer-Pianist James Boulter appeared at Aeolian Hall. At Carnegie Hall on December 17th the Philadelphia Symphony gave its second afternoon concert, with Ossip Gabrilowitsch, pianist, as soloist. At Aeolian Hall, on December 17th, Muri Silba, pianist, gave a recital. On December 18th, first appearance of Louis Wins, violinist, and Edouard Gendron, pianist, in Sonata recital at Carnegie Hall, under the auspices of the French-American Association for Musical Art. At Aeolian Hall Miss Greta Masson, soprano, gave her recital on December 20th. The Symphony Society of New York gave two special concerts on December 19th and 21st at Carnegie Hall, with Jascha Heifetz, soloist, on both occasions. The Philharmonic gave, on December 19th, evening, and December 20th, afternoon, two concerts, with Mischa Elman as soloist on both occasions. On Saturday, December 21st, Serge Rachmaninoff, pianist-composer, gave his recital at Carnegie Hall.

♮ ♮ ♮

The Metropolitan

On Monday evening, December 16th, "Marouf," by Henri Rabaud, was repeated with the previous cast. On Wednesday evening, December 18th, "Lodoletta" was repeated for the first time since its last year premiere. The cast enlisted Caruso, Florence Easton, Didur, and Moranzoni conducted. On December 19th "Aida" was repeated, with the previous cast. On December 20th "Faust" was repeated, with the previous cast. On December 21st, matinee, "La Forza del Destino" was repeated, with the previous cast, save for Sophie Braslau's appearance in place of Alice Gentle. In the evening "La Boheme" was given at popular prices with the previous cast.

♮ ♮ ♮

My Interview With Oscar Hammerstein

Oscar's hat will again be in the ring. "I am not dead yet. I am very much alive, and I shall give New York the best in operas and singers." This said the valiant Oscar Hammerstein to me when requested to give a statement of his future opera plans. The old man—but still young in spirit—said that his opera injunction, which is to be a dead letter in January, 1920, will enable him to produce operas, and not alone in the field, but with Morris Gest, the well-known producer of New York. We applaud Oscar's re-entry in the arena—he will make many people take notice and will certainly, if he gives it at all, give good opera.

———♯♯♯———

TRINITY CHURCH

The Christmas Cantata given at Trinity Church, under direction of Irving Hancock, last Sunday afternoon was one of the most beautiful services in the long series heard there.

There was a fine audience and great appreciation of the spirit and the artistry of the service.

Particularly beautiful among special numbers was the duet for soprano and alto, sung with splendid effect by Sam Thompson and Francis Duncan, boy soloists of the Trinity Choir.

Young Mr. Thompson made a fine impression also in his solo numbers. During the short time that he has been at Trinity he has made a host of friends, and is repeating there the successes he has reaped wherever he has sung.

ROBERT LOREN QUAIT, Tenor
Concert, Oratorio Recitals
7431 KIMBARK AVENUE
TELEPHONE MIDWAY 6996

LELA LOWE-PIERSON
VIOLINIST
Tel. Rogers Park 4701 6807 Wayne Av.

FLORENCE CARO LINDLEY
SOPRANO
Tel. Ravenswood 679 1615 Granville Ave.

Tina Mae Haines Teacher, Coach Lectures, Recitals
4452 SIDNEY AVE. Tel. KENWOOD 5003

FRANK VanDusen PIANO ORGAN
American Conservatory Kimball Hall

ALTA MILLER
RECITALS MEZZO-SOPRANO PUPILS
1707 Hinman Av., Evanston Tel. Evanston 318

WALTER WHEATLEY
TENOR
Western Address; Lincoln, Neb.

ROWLAND LEACH
VIOLINIST BUSH CONSERVATORY

Mary Bower, B. M. With Chicago Musical College
Teacher of Piano, Harmony, Organ and Psychology of Music
1953 Sunnyside Ave. Phone Ravenswood 6287

MILON R. HARRIS, Tenor
Voice Development and Artistic Singing
STUDIO, 929 KIMBALL HALL CHICAGO

FREDA STARR
AMERICAN LYRIC SOPRANO
Management Lincoln Bureau 1257 So. 27th St., Lincoln, Nebr.

Thomas REMINGTON Basso
ROOM 610 KIMBALL BUILDING

Veada K. Hatfield
SOPRANO CHURCH, CONCERT, TEACHING
361 Forest Ave., River Forest, Ill.

ANNA GROFF-BRYANT
Dean of the School of Three Arts of Lombard College
Galesburg, Ill. Send for latest bulletin.
Chicago Studio. 707 Fine Arts Building.

Adelaide PIERCE
CONTRALTO
Warren Concert Bureau, Schiffmann Bldg. St. Paul, Minn.

Cora ANDERSON
PIANIST Kimball Hall

ARTHUR RANDOLPH FRASER
Choirmaster and Organist, Grace Church, Oak Park
PUPILS—PIANO and ORGAN
TELEPHONE OAK PARK 5749

LILLIAN AMMALE
Pianist Care of MUSIC NEWS

ANN ARBOR APPROVES OF PROKOFIEFF

On Saturday evening, December 14, Serge Prokofieff, the Russian pianist whose modern music has been the subject of much discussion and whose activities as composer and performer have shown him to be a remarkably versatile artist, was heard in Ann Arbor before a large audience. His program consisted almost entirely of his own compositions, Scriabine and Rachmaninoff being also represented, and as elsewhere, the evening's entertainment provided much "food for discussion" among the numerous critics and music lovers who were present. While the masses, apparently, could not fully understand what the young Russian was driving at, they admitted that his music was extremely interesting and were much pleased with the personality of the unusual, but charming, young man. To the professional musician the occasion was of great interest and was taken decidedly serious.

After the recital Mr. Albert Lockwood, head of the Piano Department of the University School of Music, and a concert artist of considerable note, in discussing the matter, made the following statements, which will undoubtedly prove interesting to those who have heard him and also to those who have as yet not had opportunity to have been present at one of his performances:

"The musician, along with everyone else, is asking what is to happen after the war in his particular branch. It is quite apparent and has been so for some time that the older harmonies are insufficient to express the emotions of these strenuous times. We have had the violent rebellion of Schonberg, the orderly rebellion of Scriabine, the program music maker Stravinsky—all prominent in their several manners. Today we listen to a new one, Prokofieff, and the question arises from whom, if anyone, does he derive? Do they all, as a matter of fact, derive from the same mysterious source, or are they individualistic after the manner of the older composers? It is difficult to trace essential individualism in music so novel. It needs maturer judgment and greater study, but I feel that while in Schonberg, Scriabine, Stravinsky and Prokofieff we find a general tendency of the times, yet I see enough difference in style to feel that the new movement already seems to be developing distinct individual types. As in ideas of government there are various types—anarchistic, conservative, democratic, etc., so in the new musical art there are variants—Schonberg, who throws overboard all of the old tendencies, a sort of musical Bolshevik; Stravinsky, who is frankly the futurist programmusic writer; Scriabine, who, accepting very interesting and far-reaching premises, follows them logically to their conclusions, a philosopher as well as a poet, a socialist and democrat; and Prokofieff, whom we are about to attempt to place as a conservative futurist, if such an expression may be allowed. It may be considered a contradiction in terms, but I feel that it expresses my meaning. He is a child of the present, with its fearful experiences, but he does not break entirely with the past. In his music there is no hint of plagiarism from any of the other recent composers;

READ The Musical Observer
the best music monthly published. Too little space to tell you about the many good things it contains. Send for a copy of current issue free. MUSICAL OBSERVER CO., Cooper Square, NEW YORK.

ANNA E. GEORGE
PIANIST COMPOSER
Teaching at Bush Conservatory

Esther Fricke-Green Accompanist
Organist Eighth Church of Christ, Scientist
625 Lyon & Healy Building

Mrs. Charles L. Krum
SOPRANO
Studio, 621 Fine Arts Bldg. Res. 5000 Harper Av. Tel. Drexel 2986

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Buren Stein
Auditorium Musical-Dramatic Conservatory
AUDITORIUM BLDG. CHICAGO

CLARA EDMUNDS-HEMINGWAY
Contralto-Whistler-Reader-Pianist,
ORIGINAL Composition Recitals. ORATORIO, Concert, Recital
CHURCH. 508 Madison, Gary, Ind Phone 1224

SILVIO SCIONTI
PIANIST
American Conservatory, Kimball Hall

FREDERICA GERHARDT DOWNING
CONTRALTO
Oratorio - Concert - Recital
709 South Harvey Av., Oak Park, Ill. Phone O. P. 1478

Allen W. Bogen
CONCERT ORGANIST PUPILS
5429 Harper Ave. Tel. Blackstone 1913

MRS. EDWARD MacDOWELL
Programs of MacDowell Music Steinway Piano
Management: Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway, New York
Proceeds of these recitals revert unreservedly to the MacDowell Memorial Association

IRVING C. HANCOCK
Organist and Choirmaster, Trinity Episcopal Church
PUPILS—PIANO AND ORGAN Phone Drexel 6903

Frances Frothingham
PIANO—HARMONY
605 KIMBALL BUILDING

Jessie Nichols Baldwin
Soprano Teacher of Singing Recitals
617 Kimball Hall and Orchard School

Olive Nevin, Soprano
"A Nevin Worthy of the Name"
325 WEST 57th STREET NEW YORK

GRAHAM HARRIS, Violinist
Winner Nat'l Contest N.F.M.C. Biennial Convention
240 E. Tremont Av. NEW YORK

Palmer Christian
Concert Organist

Scriabine he undoubtedly knows and admires, but does not copy; Medtner, also, he suggests in some degree, and the influence of other composers comes as a faint perfume now and then, but the outstanding feature, the great impression, the final residuum left in my mind after listening to his program was that he was a composer genuinely original as far as it is possible, or better, wise, to be original. Too ardently striven-for originality always results in disappointment and ends by being merely fatuous.

"To speak intelligently and in detail of the works listened to is impossible without a second hearing or a reading of the score. Following impressions are given for what they are worth. The four etudes beginning the program had each a special psychical as well as technical content that was enthralling. The first, with its augmented chords and ascending octaves, was tremendously virile. The second, in a softer mood, was devoted to scales. The third, with its major thirds, partly a lament, partly a wild dance; while the fourth concerned itself with a tremendously strong and rhythmical motif and octave passages. The sonata was futuristically philosophical in its first part and moved according to the freer form of a tone poem rather than the ancient sonata. The scherzo in the older harmonies and in double notes was fascinating in its rhythms. The Andante, one of the most convincing pieces of the new music I have heard, worked to a superb climax. The Vivace began with familiar harmonies in a sort of Slavic tarantelle, growing harmonically wilder as the movement progressed and developing into a marvelous scherzo. The common chord of C major appearing in this remarkable scene made an impression quite extraordinary for that simple triad. This movement contained a charmingly plaintive melody. Of the Quatre Pieces I would say that they are of an earlier period. The Prelude in C major, with its simple figure of broken arpeggios suggesting Debussy's work of about the year 1901, the gavotte in G minor was also in the older harmonies. The march more modern in type and slightly grotesque in spirit. The suggestion diabolique a perfect witches' sabbath, magnificently godless.

"Mr. Prokofieff's success was decided, although had he yielded to the insistent demand for more he might have turned a genuine success into a great ovation. Ann Arbor is fortunate in having the new music interpreted so masterfully by one who seems destined to great things."

Ann Arbor's musical activities have been progressing splendidly, even though sadly interfered with during the early part of the season on account of the epidemic and other unfavorable reasons. The fact that approximately 5,000 University students have been enrolled in the S. A. T. C. and the Naval Unit has necessitated considerable change in the general musical scheme which has been followed so successfully in the university city. Since the schedule of these young men required that they be under military orders during the entire week, with the exceptions of Saturday evening and Sundays, student musical activities have been made to conform to these hours. The concerts in the Choral Union Series have all been placed on Saturday evenings, while the Faculty Twilight Recitals are given Sunday afternoons. In the former series Anna Case and Prokofieff have been heard, while Joseph Bonnet, Toscha Seidel and Enrico Caruso will appear after the holidays, and in the latter series the following artists from the School of Music Faculty have taken part: Anna Schram-Imig, soprano; Grace Johnson-Konold, soprano; Nora Crane Hunt, contralto; James Hamilton, tenor; Robert Richard Dieterle, baritone; Dorothy Wines, Mrs. George B. Rhead and Albert Lockwood, pianists; Anthony J. Whitmire, violinist; Burton Garlinghouse and Earl Vincent Moore, organists.

Under the direction of the Fosdick Commission, Theodore Harrison, head of the Voice Department of the School, has been in charge of singing among the soldiers, and in this capacity each week has held several sings in Hill Auditorium when the entire body was present. National airs, patriotic songs and the more recent trench songs have all come in for their share, and splendid results have been attained, Mr. Harrison's magnetism, enthusiasm and inspiring leadership having elicited the splendid response from the young men. The results have been so satisfactory that the community in general has caught the contagion and Mr. Harrison has been obliged to yield to the numerous demands of the community by providing a series of community sings in Hill Auditorium, which have been attended by thousands of residents, and which it is probable will be continued after the demobilization of the military forces.

Mr. Samuel Pierson Lockwood, head of the Violin Department, who has been ab-

(Continued on page 28)

Maestro Roberto Moranzoni

CONDUCTOR OF THE METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE

A potent factor in the initial performance of "Il Tabarro," "Suor Angelica" and "Gianni Schicchi," by Puccini—Scores brilliantly

FOLLOWING ARE THE PRESS COMMENTS:

"Roberto Moranzoni conducted his forces with the skill and enthusiasm for which he is noted. He deserves the highest encomiums for the masterly manner in which he kept his army off and on the stage in action."—James Gibbons Huneker in the New York Times, Dec. 15.

"Mr. Moranzoni conducted with an authority, varied effect and attention to detail of nuance and contrast which showed his thorough knowledge and intelligent appreciation of and sympathy with all three scores and all the possibilities of their pictorial, dramatic, emotional and humorous effects."—Reginald DeKoven in the New York Herald, Dec. 15.

"He disclosed a complete and sympathetic grasp of the interpretative musical needs and opportunities and put them in fitting use."—New York World, Dec. 15.

"Mr. Moranzoni projected the scores in the exact spirit and meaning of the composer."—New York Telegraph, Dec. 15.

"A word of special praise must be given to Mr. Moranzoni for his painstaking conducting of the three operas."—New York Evening Telegram, Dec. 15.

"To Mr. Moranzoni goes tremendous praise for his skillful and inspiring conducting."—New York Evening Mail, Dec. 16.

"First praise for results must go to Mr. Moranzoni, who conducted with admirable care, insight and energy."—New York Globe, Dec. 16.

Maestro Roberto Moranzoni Studied the Three Operas With the Composer

AT THE TEW STUDIOS

The last pupils' "at home" of the year was held in the spacious and artistically appointed studio suite of Whitney Tew, in the Fine Arts Building, last Sunday.

The same lofty aims were in evidence in the work of the rising young singers, and the atmosphere of this studio is the appropriate setting of an exalted ideal, an energizing spirit which sets itself in an outer tracery of cordial good fellowship and a delightful informality.

That which most impresses the habitue of studios and the concert room when he is called upon to listen to the work of Mr. Tew's pupils, beyond the still amazing manner in which every pupil scales heights and descends into unheard-of tone depths with no effort whatever, is the sincere expression given to the sentiments of the music.

The insincere sentimentality, strained affectation and languishing morendi which palm themselves off as expression and feeling are happily absent. One hears a true meaning, simply uttered and in a clarity of enunciation which the unobservant fail utterly to grasp.

The writer observed a purity in the tone work of these pupils, which carries a velvety softness but withal a sturdy quality, resonance and body.

Another puzzling factor presents in analyzing this entirely unfamiliar tone process —the same singers seem to possess the qualities of the contralto and soprano, the bass and tenor, yet so far as I could detect there was no change in the mode of using the instrument.

I heard, and I chronicle the fact with some trepidation, a man sing an aria with one of the biggest and distinctly bass tones I have ever heard; he followed this with a tenor song, and with a pure lyric tenor quality, and I heard him do some scale work, ascending to the G in altissimo in as delicate and pure soprano quality as I have heard in any female voice.

These facts force recognition; they are incontrovertible, and fully substantiate the statements of this teacher that the voice is today entirely misunderstood.

During the afternoon Mr. Tew followed his custom of illustrating these points, and in a very amused vein told of a tenor who had come to him and made arrangements to take up the study.

The basso in question was singing a tenor song in one of the studios. Mr. Tew remarked to the prospective pupil, "You see what a bass voice can do?"

"Bass?" said the pupil, his expression being one of real pity, "That is not a bass; that is a lyric tenor." After a pause Mr. Tew smiled and said, "My prospective pupil has not been heard of since."

Mlle. Roxan D'Oex opened the program with Dudley Buck's "When the Heart Is Young" and the "Last Rose of Summer." Miss Emma Berg presented the first Astrifiamanti aria from "The Magic Flute," a very difficult and seldom heard choice, with much charm of manner and brilliant vocalization, the F in altissimo at the close of the long fioriture being ringing and full of color.

Mme. Colbran-Melius sang the contralto transposition of "Elsa's Prayer" from "The Golden Legend," by Dudley Buck. Her contralto tones were beautiful and expressive. This was followed by McDowell's "Thy Beaming Eyes" in the mezzo key, with its suitable timbre.

A fine reading of Loewe's balled, "Edward," was given by Mr. John A. Alcott. The singer followed this with Hartman's "Pallid Princess," which he delivered with dramatic force and especially refined diction. He was later heard in Gounod's "She Alone Charmeth My Sadness" and Maude Valirie White's "Farewell Song," in which his versatility in interpretation was easily established. Miss Dorothy Wood gave a brilliant performance of Massenet's "Il est doux," her expression and very good French being highly commendable.

Miss Janet Bergstrom gave a piquant rendering of Maria's first aria from Donizetti's "Daughter of the Regiment." Miss Ruth Carle showed a distinct advance in her command of tone values and dramatic insight in Verdi's familiar "O Don Fatale."

Mrs. John A. Alcott, Miss Verra Schuette and Mlle. D'Oex then demonstrated and beyond dispute proved the position of their teacher. His unhesitating assertion is that the terms contralto and soprano are arbirary and wholly a matter of quality rather than compass. In the case of these singers it would be difficult to say which songs, the high or low, were delivered with the greater fluency, ease and conviction. Certainly no trace of effort was to be detected, and the absence of audible or visible breathing, a clear enunciation and exceptional beauty of tone placed the work of each on a high plane.

The writer disclaims any intention to convey the impression that these pupils, still under the wings of the alma mater, are in possession of the poise and acquired artistry of professional singers, but in the points enumerated they fully qualify.

Mr. Tew stated, granting an understanding of the true process of handling the voice, that any contralto can sing soprano, and any soprano can sing contralto, and goes even further than this and says that he is developing a man's voice and that he will sing bass, tenor and soprano.

The lovely tones of Miss Pauline Bernstein, which reached a climax in her F sharp in altissimo; the clear-cut, yet softly modulated, phrasing of Miss Alice Shaffner, and Miss Elsa Fredeen's musicianly use of a rich quality of voice, all brought forward a high order of expressive recital, an interpretation freed from the expected inappropriate accellerandos and ritardandos, and of pianissimos lacking in tone or conviction.

Miss Edith Scrimgeour, despite evident nervousness, sang with purity of tone and careful phrasing.

Critical analysis derives its value from the degree of intelligence and experience behind it. If the experience does not include familiarity with the principles of true art, the judgment is narrowed in scope and usefulness by its limitations. In the case of the work of Mr. Tew's pupils there are no contemporary standards.

ARCHEUS.

———###———

RUTH THORNE AND FRANK PARKER AT THE EDGEWATER BEACH HOTEL

In the presence of a large and appreciative audience a delightful program was given by Ruth Thorne, soprano, and Frank Parker, baritone, at the Edgewater Beach Hotel on Sunday, December 15.

Miss Thorne, who is known in the South as the Georgia Nightingale, has a lovely voice and a charming stage presence, and she sang with much poise and finish. Her numbers included the following:

"Thou Brilliant Bird" (David), "I Sometimes Wonder" (Woodford-Finden), "Song of the Chimes" (Lola Carrier Worrell), "For Tonight" (German), "Heart of Mine" (Clough-Leighter), "Psyche" (Paladihle), "Invano" (Tosti), "Lithuanian Song" (Chopin), and "The Mocking Bird" (Hawthorne). These were given a splendid interpretation, although Miss Thorne was suffering with a severe cold. We shall be glad to hear her again.

Frank Parker is quite well known and a popular baritone. His voice is of a very pleasing quality and his enunciation and interpretations were extremely good. His numbers consisted of "I Mind the Day" (Willeby), "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal" and "Memory" (Burleigh), "Springtime of Love" (Hammond), "Hail Ye Tyme of Holidays" (Branscombe), "I Wait for Thee" (Fisher), "Little Ghosts" (Fay Foster), "The Pipes of Gordon's Men" (Hammond), "The Heart's Country" (Carpenter), "Candle Lightin' Time" (Loomis), "A Plantation Love Song" (Deems Taylor) and "A Song of Joy" (Doughty).

Excellent accompaniments were supplied throughout the program by Grace Grove and Frances A. Cook.

ELEANORE CAPPS-HOSTLER.

———###———

MARIE KERN MULLEN

At a morning appreciation class recently Mme. Kern Mullen sang two Russian songs in illustration of modern Russian music. One was Tschaikowsky's beautiful "Ye Who Have Yearned Alone," and the other "L'Esclave" by Lalo. Both were excellent illustrations of the theme as well as perfectly suited to Mme. Kern Mullen's richly resonant voice and artistic interpretation. Chicago cannot boast a better, more sympathetic interpreter of songs than Mme. Kern Mullen.

M. C. W.

THE MOODY BIBLE INSTITUTE MUSIC COURSE

DAY CLASSES EVENING CLASSES

Classes in Notation, Harmony, Sight Singing
Oratorio, Evangelistic Singing and Playing
Specialists in Voice, Piano and Organ

NEW TERM OPENING JANUARY 2, 1919

ADDRESS REGISTRAR, 153 INSTITUTE PLACE, CHICAGO

A CELLO RECITAL BY VAN VLIET

Pianos, violins, orchestras, operas, are heard in abundance in New York. From morning until midnight the metropolis has them in plenty. The first two instruments exceed any other musical events—not necessarily in quality, but certainly in quantity. Cellists, curiously enough, appear only on rare occasions at Aeolian or Carnegie halls. As this instrument seems not to be as yet one of the public's favorites, I am asking myself what makes a cello less attractive than the piano or violin? Were we to be invaded with a great number of cellists then there would be a reason to complain of their frequency, but such has certainly not been the case for the last five years. We see, rather, the apathy of the public in the important performers on this instrument. But when we can hear a really great artist on the instrument—such a one as Cornelius Van Vliet—then indeed is there cause for artistic joy. Van Vliet is a master of the cello—one of the godly instrumentalists who should come to the front through what he represents as a performer. His New York recital could not be extensively reviewed right after his appearance on the 21st of November (Aeolian Hall) because of lack of space, so I preferred to postpone it and give him that deserved space which a noted artist is entitled to at this time. Music is the second language, an instrument is the third, and the excellent performer is the first. Van Vliet's technic is as child's play—perhaps, secondary to him. What is essential to an artist of his type is to make the cello speak in a way which a pen is entirely unable to depict. There is a velvet, subtle tone extracted from this instrument of his—a tone which carries far into the listener's heart. His intonation is equal in power to two or three violins, and when, as in the Van Vliet case, interpretations are carried out with brains and musical intelligence, then may we acclaim him a master cellist. There is a reason with the public which fills up Aeolian Hall to listen to a cellist. The reason is that Van Vliet is one of the very few cellists who can satisfy a discriminative audience. The ovation tendered to him was not that of the opera house claque, for there is no such thing in a recital hall. An audience which applauds vehemently a cellist of Van Vliet's type is decidedly an intellectual class of music lovers in comparison to that ignorant mass which ofttimes invades an opera house and applauds whenever a singer breaks forth into a high C. On Van Vliet's program there was a sonata by Valentine, Seven Variations on a theme from Mozart's "Magic Flute," by Beethoven and Decameron Suite by Gouvy, the last two played for the first time here. Also "Carnival Scenes," by Kamp, was new. Two other numbers, "Tarantella," by Jeral, and variations on a rococo theme by Tschaikowsky, completed the program. Mr. Van Vliet is an unaffected player with poise and a manly grace in holding his instrument. But what most concerns him is the extraction of the composer's meaning, and at this recital he gave proof that a cello is an important instrument when handled with such skill as is his. Encores were piled up because the audience wanted them not from purely customary reasons, but because they enjoyed his playing. Only cellists like Van Vliet can make this instrument count in the public's hearts, and we want him to come back to us, and in the same beautiful shape as on the evening of November 21.

JOSEPH DE VALDOR.

###

CLEVELAND

The genial James H. Rogers, critic and composer, and organist at Unity Church, Cleveland, refuses to think well of his own songs, no matter how much one chides him for his modesty. With the greatest naivete (charmingly assumed!) he insists that compositions invariably rise or fall on their merits; that his better known contemporaries owe nothing to clever publicity methods.

"I've nothing to complain of," he said. "The artists have always given my songs a fair chance—and if they find them popular they sing them."

He roared with amusement when we suggested that Cleveland was aching to be represented; that he owed it to Cleveland to make the most of his name.

"I think, perhaps, Cleveland gets out of it very nicely," he said, and then, pleasantly musing: "Of course, if I had begun years ago and kept it up, I might have been some kind of a composer—I don't know. Really, it must be very nice. Don't you imagine they make a good deal of money?"

And we forgot for the moment that we were talking to the composer of "The Star" and other song successes, and that his church music is sincerely loved by those who know it. More of his Christmas music was used this year in Cleveland's larger churches than that of any other composer, saving only Dudley Buck himself.

John O'Sullivan

French-Irish Tenor

The Chicago Opera Association

Called Upon to Sing Werther on Short Notice Scores a Sensational Success

As Soloist in the Concert of Instruments Ancien on Last Sunday Afternoon He Also Made a Splendid Impression

Herman Devries in the Chicago American wrote as follows of his Werther:

"Mr. O'Sullivan's singing was none the less well worth hearing. It was impassioned and restrained, and in the third act, notably in the Vers d'Ossian episode, treated with artistic finish.

"Besides, Mr. O'Sullivan wore the Werther costumes with distinction and in the first act reminded strongly of Sarah Bernhardt's 'Aiglon.'

"I was astonished that Mr. O'Sullivan did not receive the applause he merited in the second and third acts, and I am pleased to say that it was I who gave the signal for approval after the 'Ossian.'"

Edward Moore in the Chicago Daily Journal had this to say of the concert appearance:

"John O'Sullivan, who has been a valuable artist in the last two days, assisted as soloist. He appeared in the first part with an aria from Mehul's 'Joseph in Egypt,' coeval with the rest of the program. Another concert prevented its hearing, but in the second half he sang a group of supposedly Irish songs. It was one of the best performances of music, not very far from the best, that I ever heard. In appearance, in voice, in enunciation and in interpretation, O'Sullivan is capable of being as valuable in concert as he is in opera, which is saying a good deal."

VIRGIL PIANO CONSERVATORY

MRS. A. M. VIRGIL, Director
(An Authorized Authority on Technic)

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF SUCCESSFUL RESULTS HAVE PROVEN
The Efficiency of the VIRGIL Method
VIRGIL P. S. CO., 11 WEST 68th STREET, NEW YORK

Private and class lessons given by OVIDE MUSIN in person — Instructions by correspondence.

OVIDE MUSIN'S
EDITION
"Belgian School of Violin"

4 Books, first principles to highest virtuosity. Ask for history of Belgian School. Enclose stamp. Address

MUSIN'S VIRTUOSO SCHOOL
51 West 76th Street NEW YORK

RICHARD HAGEMAN
Conductor Metropolitan Opera House Tenth Consecutive Season
VOCAL COACH—ACCOMPANIST
CONCERT OPERA ORATORIO
In All the Modern Languages

Some of those who have been and are now with Mr. Hageman are:
ALDA, BORI, BRASLAU, CASE, DESTINN, FARRAR, HEMPEL, HOMER, MATZENAUER, MELBA, MASON, RAPPOLD, AMATO, BOTTA, HINSHAW, MARTINELLI, MARTIN, RUYSDAEL, SCOTTI

Mr. Hageman will also accept a limited number of pupils for the study of accompanying.
STUDIO: 304 West 71st St., New York

Over 35 years recognized as one of the Leading American Dealers in Rare Old Violins

John Friedrich & Bro.
279 Fifth Avenue New York

A very large stock of beautiful old violins, embracing specimens of many of the best makes, every one in perfect adjustment, at reasonable prices. Fine new violins at from $10 upward. Complete outfits at from $15 upward.
WRITE FOR COMPLETE CATALOGUE

KATHRYN LEE
CONCERTS-RECITALS-OPERAS
Lyric-Coloratura Soprano
Principal Soprano Creatore Opera Company
Season 1918-19. Management Raoul Basil
1425 Broadway, Room 73, New York

ADDISON
BRISCOE
Teacher Artistic Piano Playing
Home Tel. Midway 188

Metropolitan Conservatory
1328 Kimball Hall
Tel. Wabash 5883

LILLIAN THOMAS
JOHNSTON
Voice Building—Coaching
Home Tel. Garfield 7672

RALPH MUNROE PARK Pianist
WABASH 761 905-6 LYON & HEALY BLDG.

ANN ARBOR APPROVES OF PROKOFIEFF

(Continued from page 25)

sent on leave for military service, has resumed his duties at the School of Music, and will be available for instruction immediately after the holiday vacation. He will also reorganize the University Symphony Orchestra, which was temporarily discontinued during his absence.

Lois M. Johnston, of Detroit, who has been a student under Theodore Harrison at the School of Music for the past three years and who has appeared among the list of artists at each of the last two May Festivals, is rapidly winning laurels. In addition to filling one of the best church positions in Detroit, her services are in continual demand. On Sunday, December 15, she appeared as soloist with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, under Ossip Gabrilowitsch, and her splendid work received the most favorable comment from Detroit music critics.

Dr. Stanley is planning to offer Gounod's "Faust" and Hadley's "Ode to Music" at the next May Festival, which will be in the nature of a Victory Commemoration Festival, as a tribute to the large number of members of the Choral Union who have enlisted in the service of their country. Programs appropriate to the occasion are being planned.

On December 7th the following members of the School of Music appeared in concert in Chelsea, Mich., and were well received by a large audience: Nora Crane Hunt, contralto; Hannah Cochrane-Potter, soprano; Robert McCandliss, baritone; Burton G. Grim, tenor; Nell B. Stockwell, pianist; Dorothy Haymaker, violinist, and Emily Powell, organist.

Sunday afternoon, December 15th, Earl Vincent Moore, head of the Organ Department of the University School of Music, gave the following program in Grand Rapids, being the third program which he has given in that city during the past two years. In January, Joseph Bonnet, the distinguished French organist, will appear in the same series:

Rhapsody on a Breton Folk Song.....Saint-Saens
Symphony No. 6, in G minor.....
Allegro; andante; cantibile; intermezzo
Oriental Sketches No. 3 (Turkish).....Bird
Slumber Song.....Parker
Allegretto.....Parker
Dance of Angels, "O'er Field and Meadow Merrily" ("New Life").....Wolf-Ferrari
Toccata.....Mereaux
Angelus.....Massenet
Marche Heroique de Jeanne d'Arc.....Dubois

C. A. S.

HONOLULU

The following program given at Honolulu recently as one of a series of ten Chamber Music concerts of the Selenky Quintet was sent us by Richard Vilim, formerly of Chicago but now assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Honolulu:

FRIDAY, DEC. 13

Trio in B flat, Op. 11.....Beethoven
(Pianoforte, violin, violoncello)
Quartet—
Andante Cantabile.....Tschaikowsky
Intermezzo.....Grieg
(Two violins, viola, violoncello)
Solo—Variations Symphoniques.....Baellmann
(Violoncello)
May Mukle
Quintet in E flat, Op. 44.....Schumann

MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee music lovers are greatly indebted to Marian Andrews and her managerial endeavors in bringing the Chicago Opera Company in two magnificent productions recently. Mme. Galli-Curci was in perfect voice and was heard in "Barber of Seville," with Signor Carpi, tenor, and Stracciari, baritone, in the two other important parts. They both have magnificent voices and from the pleasure of these three alone it was well worth hearing, no matter what they sang. The opera in itself is not a favorite and from that standpoint it was a disappointment when there are so many more acceptable. The second operatic evening was devoted to "La Tosca," with Rosa Raisa, soprano, Dolci, tenor, and Baklanoff, baritone. Wonderful opera both in text and structure. If possible, still more wonderful singers to sing it. Out of an audience of five thousand people I think it safe to say there was not a dissenter. Even the person who has no use for any opera at any time, and there are quite a few so-called musicians who feel that way about it, hadn't a word to say. For the play in itself is gripping and left nothing to be desired or imagined at the time. What time wasn't lost in admiration of Raisa's wonderful voice was spent in wonder at her stunning appearance and acting. Signor Dolci made a very good impression, altho his opportunity is not as great as in some operas. The baritone was very fine in the role of Scarpia.

The Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra has been heard in two concerts of their season, with assisting soloists. The partial ban on again due to the influenza return is affecting the attendance and general enthusiasm of everything. Only half capacity audiences are allowed. Mrs. Wyncoop, contralto, was the assisting artist yesterday, and received much enthusiasm for her endeavors.

ESTACADA, OREGON

Robert Louis Barron, well known young violinist, lately of Chicago but now of the University School of Music of Oregon, played the following program at Estacada, Ore., on December 13:

Sonata No. 1, in A major.....Handel-David
Andante; allegro; adagio; allegretto moderato
Concerto in G minor, Op. 26.....Max Bruch
Allegro moderato; adagio; allegro energico
Chant Negre.....A. Walter Kramer
Humoresque.....Felix Borowski
Melody.....Charles G. Dawes
Polish Dance.....Earl R. Drake
Romance.....Svendsen
Orientale.....Cesar Cui
Ilejre Kati.....Hubay
Aurora Potter at the piano.

CHARLES LINK Violinist — Tenor — 800 Lyon & Healy Bldg. — VIOLET MARTENS Accompanist-Coach

Ethel TAMMINGA LYRIC SOPRANO 2711 Lincoln Avenue Telephone Lincoln 813

DANIEL BONUS, Psychoanalyst Specializing in the removal of nervous impediments to health and efficiency in artists, teachers and students. 218 NEW SUFFERN BLDG., DECATUR, ILL.

DUNWELL & FORD Engravers and Printers TO THE PROFESSION 114 S. Wabash Avenue

GLADYS WELGE VIOLINIST TEACHER 5819 West Erie Street

BLOSSOM WILCOX LYRIC SOPRANO Address care FLORENCE VAN KIRK 501 Fifth Ave. New York

LOLA PIERSON TILLEMA SOPRANO Phone Edgewater 1177 1461 Catalpa Ave.

TWO SPLENDID ORGAN COMPOSITIONS By NEVIN
TOCCATA IN D MINOR
"Brought the audience to its feet, and was insistently redemanded."—Edwin Arthur Kraft.
IN SOLITUDE
"One of the best examples of serious organ writing that any American has given us in many a day."—A. Walter Kramer, in Musical America.
Published by GAMBLE HINGED MUSIC CO. 67 E. VAN BUREN ST., CHICAGO, ILL.

RHUE GILL-STOUT BILLY Pianologue—Duet Singing Care Music News

VAN YORX THEO.—Tenor Studio: 22 West 39th Street New York

Fernando Carpi Tenor Metropolitan Opera House
Available for Concerts, Recitals and Festivals
JULIUS DAIBER, Exclusive Management Aeolian Hall, New York Mason and Hamlin Piano

GALLI-CURCI SOPRANO STEINWAY PIANO
HOMER SAMUELS, Accompanist MANUEL BERENGUER, Flutist
Management Chas. L. Wagner. D. F. McSweeney, Associate Manager. 511 Fifth Avenue, N. Y

SCHUMANN-HEINK 3672 Michigan Ave. CHICAGO
Steinway Piano MANAGEMENT HAENSEL & JONES, AEOLIAN HALL, NEW YORK

CONTRALTO Pupil of Pauline Viardot Garcia and Mathilde Marchesi
Mrs. W. S. BRACKEN Teaching at Cosmopolitan School 16th Floor New Kimball Bldg.

PRESS AT LARGE

(Continued from page 19)

religious strain to her program, for what can be more deeply religious than "When Two That Loved Are Parted" (Secchi), "Have You Seen Him in France" and "The Home Road," with its refrain:

"For the long, long road to Tipperary
Is the road that leads me home
O'er hills and plains,
By lakes and lanes;
My woodlands! My cornfields!
My country! My home!"

And then there was "When Pershing's Men Go Marching Into Picardy," by James H. Rogers, Cleveland composer, upon whom the diva called to acknowledge the prolonged applause and which Mr. Rogers declined. Her beautiful legato singing came in full measure in an Indian love song by Thurlow Lieurance, an agnus dei (Bizet) with violin obligato played by Miss Nina Fletcher, assisting soloist, and the Mozart "Vitellia" aria in Italian, her only song not in English, not excepting the Bach "My Heart Ever Faithful." "Taps," arranged by Joseph Pasternack, was a number new to the audience, new as to vocalization but familiar to the many men in uniform and their womenfolk. If the war has done nothing more for some of us than to teach us our national anthem, we can appreciate now more than in the pre-war days the stirring "Star Spangled Banner" when sung other than as a dirge. Lucky we who heard Schumann-Heink's interpretation. Luckier still the people on the stage to whom she sang a number of times.

Madame made a speech, an important one too—she reminded the audience of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra "which you must encourage and pay for," that a promise to sing at a midnight mass Christmas eve at Camp Kerney is the only obstacle to her appearing at the Sunday afternoon concert by the orchestra as a guest and volunteer soloist.

Miss Fletcher's numbers were the Tartini Sonata in G minor, the Beethoven Minuet played as an encore, a Canzonetta (Clayton-Johns) and a Mazourka (Zarzyski). Katherine Hoffman was at the piano.—Louise Graham in the Cleveland News.

♫ ♫ ♫

Rudolph Reuter

Some comment on recent recital:

Of American pianists now before the public, Rudolph Reuter surely takes high rank. His gifts are of paramount order, and his technical mastery as well as his musical intuition deserve admiration. Mr. Reuter put into his performance a virile style and a manner that disclosed that he dominated over every phase of pianism.—Chicago recital, November 24, 1918, Daily News.

Mr. Reuter performed the Chopin group with a certain patrician elegance that was restful and satisfying. Mr. Reuter is always suave and sure in what he does, but in the Liszt pieces he allowed himself a full measure of dash and go.—Chicago Examiner.

Mr. Reuter plays with an ease and fluency that make a sure show of his mastery of technic. In the Liszt he gained emotions that flew fast and free. He is undoubtedly a player of consummate skill.—New York recital, 1918, New York Sun.

His playing of the piano part was splendid. It was not so much the brilliance of his technic nor his temperamental fire than made a deep impression; it was the manner in which he became a vital part of the ensemble. The playing was electric in effect.—Minneapolis Daily News, 1917.

♯ ♯ ♯

Florence Easton in Philadelphia

The press of Philadelphia spoke as follows:

One must particularly commend Florence Easton's beauty of voice and presence as Lauretta.—Philadelphia Public Ledger, Dec. 18, 1918.

Florence Easton is a most winsome daughter, and was in fine voice last night.—Philadelphia North American, Dec. 18, 1918.

Florence Easton contributed notably to the spiritedness of the performance.—Philadelphia Record, Dec. 18, 1918.

Florence Easton is an artist of high caliber and she shows it by what she makes of the role of Lauretta.—Philadelphia Press, Dec. 18, 1918.

Florence Easton gives to the role of Lauretta the charm of personality and beauty of vocalism.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, Dec. 18, 1918.

The lovely aria of Lauretta was given by Mme. Easton with beautiful vocal effect and charming stage presence.—Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger, Dec. 18, 1918.

♫ ♫ ♫

Florence Easton in Boston

Mme. Easton sang music which in the hands of too many performers is merely decorative with sincerity and emotion. She has a fresh and beautiful voice, peculiarly rich and dark in its lower registers. She was recalled with marked enthusiasm.—Olin Downes in Boston Post, Nov. 2, 1918.

Mme. Easton gave pleasure by her pure, expressive voice, finding herself and her audience more particularly in Debussy's aria.—Arthur Wilson in Boston Globe, Nov. 2, 1918.

Mme. Easton sang very finely. Her voice was broad, her intonation always secure even in highest register; there was sufficient flexibility and good expression in the Mozart aria, while the dramatic fervor and sympathetic quality in the Debussy air won the audience completely. She was recalled over and over again.—Louis Elson in Boston Advertiser, Nov. 3, 1918.

Mme. Easton's middle and lower tones were rich and beautiful. She phrased as an accomplished musician. Lia's recitative and aria were sung dramatically.—Philip Hale in Boston Herald, Nov. 2, 1918.

♯ ♯ ♯

Chicago Musical College—The pupils of Ethel Woodstock gave a highly successful program in the Recital Hall of the Chicago Musical College, December 14. Karl Reckzeh's students gave a concert December 16 and a large audience gave much applause to a concert given in the same hall by pupils of Burton Thatcher, December 20. The next program will be given by students of the Preparatory Department, January 8.

♯ ♯ ♯

Chicago Musical College—There will be no concert given by the Chicago Musical College in Ziegfeld Theater this Saturday, but the series of performances will be resumed January 4, when Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" will be interpreted by the School of Opera under the direction of Edoardo Sacerdote.

♯ ♯ ♯

Borowski—Felix Borowski's Allegro de Concert for organ and orchestra was played on Thursday evening by the Chicago Symphony, under the direction of the composer. Herbert Hyde was the performer of the organ part.

PRINTING
FOR EVERY SOCIAL AND COMMERCIAL NEED
Cards, Announcements, Stationery, Programs, Etc.
Correct Form. Artistic Work. Moderate Prices.
SAMPLES AND SCHEDULE OF PRICES SENT UPON REQUEST
THE REGAL PRESS 5514 W. Lake Street CHICAGO, ILL. Phone Austin 920

COMMUNITY HALL
118 MARION ST., OAK PARK
Beautiful new recital hall. Seats 200. Acoustics perfect.
New Mason-Hamlin Grand. For terms and bookings address
GEO. R. HEMINGWAY 121 Marion St., Oak Park

WANT ADVERTISEMENTS

(Advertisements under this head will hereafter be accepted at 20 cents a line.)

WANTED—Music teachers and supervisors of public school music; city, county, state. Federated chain plan (co-operative). Information free. Results assured. Write P. H. Thomas, 109-W-45-N. Y. C.

DIRECTORY

Addresses are Chicago unless otherwise stated

ACCOMPANISTS

Bergman Marion (Artist Accompanist) 562 Oakwood Blvd. (Douglas 6506)

Borncamp Ida May (Phone Evanston 4723 418 Hamilton St., Evanston, Ill.
Boyd Jeanne (Midway 763) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Harrison 2074)
Bradley Ruth (Graceland 5697) 859 Cornelia Avenue
Browne Helen M. (Graceland 7714) 4308 Greenview Av.
Campbell Gordon (Rogers Park 4072) Cosmopolitan School of Music
Campbell Helen (Oak Park 3747-J) 604 Lyman Av., Oak Park
Cartwright Harriet (Res. Phone Drexel 697) 1204 E. 47th and 612 Fine Arts Bldg
Coleman Carlton E. (Superior 8669) Bush Conservatory
Coryell Marion (New York) 72 W. 68th St
Chute Delbert (Midway 5288) 419 Fine Arts Bldg.
Fricke-Green Esther (Haymarket 1888) 625 Lyon & Healy Building
Gilbert Harry M. (New York) 61 W. 50th St.
Grandland Florence M. (Maywood 320) 217 N. 3rd Av., Maywood, Ill.
Grove Grace (Wabash 8324) 400 Fine Arts Bldg.
Henry Edith (Graceland 9601) 721½ Barry Av.
Kittilsby Katharine (Rogers Park 2551) 1533 Sherwin St.
Kurtz George Ralf (Organist) 4609 Dover st. (Edgewater 2959)
Lester William (Midway 8888) 419 Fine Arts Bldg.
Lewis Pauline (Home Ph., Blackstone 1883) 5558 Ellis Av.
Link Violet Martens (Graceland 4816) 846 Oakdale Av.
Lychenheim Marion (Rogers Park 1207) (Ensemble) 2030 Kenilworth
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Lakeview 528) 3623 Pine Grove Av.
McAllister Bessie (Chicago Piano College) 4308 Greenview Av. (Graceland 7714)
McShane Eugenia (Sunnyside 3966) (Organist) 4609 Dover St.
Meagley Mary Willing (Toledo, Ohio) 2307 Monroe St.
Nelson Edgar A. (Edgewater 9332) Bush Conservatory
Olson Mabel W. (512 Fine Arts Bldg.) Summer Address: Galva, Ill.
Orchard Mrs. Charles (Blackstone 1789) 1535 Hyde Park Av.
Porter Beulah Taylor (Rogers Park 1679) 429 Fine Arts Bldg.
Pullis Mabel A. (Drexel 1985) 4312 Lake Park Av.
Ryan Helen Victoria (Oak Park 1201) 330 Washington Blvd., Oak Park, Ill.
Scheib Eleanor (Care Wolfsohn Bureau) 1 West 34th St., New York
Shaw Mrs. George L. (Sunnyside 9828) 4600 Dover St.
Simpson Corinne (Pianist and Reader) Touring in Lyceum work
Stewart Marchia Kelley (Pianist) 7025 Merrill Av. (Midway 722)
Stout Alice Brown (Tel. R. F. 8450) (Soprano) 266 Park av., River Forest, Ill.
Stumpf Aimee C. (Wellington 1855) (Pianist) 3608 Maple Square Av.
Van Grove Isaac (8793 Wabash) 630 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wallace Alma (Organist) (New York) Chg. Music News, 1 W. 34th St.
Williamson Gavin (Home Tel., S. Chgo. 2585) 523 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har.3766)

CHOIR BOY TRAINING.

Thompson Nance D. (Hm. ph., Edgewater 6296) Ly. Arts Cons., Lyon & Healy Bldg.

CLUBS

Mendelssohn Mgt. Harriet M. Snow 64 E. Van Buren St. (Wab. 8740)

COMMUNITY SINGING & PAGEANTRY

Smith Mr. & Mrs. H. Augustine, Boston Univ. or 37 Claflin Rd., Brookline, Mass.

COMPOSERS

Gilberte Hallette (New York) 135 W. 47th St.
White Lida Browning 818 Monroe St., Gary, Ind.

COMPOSERS RECITALS

Hemingway Clara Edmunds (Gary, Ind.) 568 Madison St. (Gary 1224)
MacDowell Mrs. Edward (New York) Gertrude F. Cowen, 1451 Broadway

CONDUCTORS

Ballmann M. (Orchestra and Band) 1257 Foster Ave.

Conti Arnoldo (Chicago Opera Association)
Erb Opera Coach, 1528 Kimball Hall
J. Warren, Conductor—Song Coach
Accompanist, 220 Madison Av. (New York)
Gennaro Giovanni
1103 Kimball Hall
Gingrich Irving. 614 Fine Arts Bldg.
646 Belden Av. (Lincoln 1290)
Oberhoffer Emil (Minn. Symphony Orch.)
The Auditorium, Minneapolis, Minn.
Silby R. Mills (Res. Phone Superior 6660)
1528 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8538)

DANCING

Pryor Ruth (Classic Dancer)
Walker Ballatine Bureau (Wabash 8538)
Virna Harman, 1509-11 Lakeview
Yung Bldg., 116 S. Michigan Av.
Marie (Wabash 7342)
400 Fine Arts Bldg.

DRAMATIC ART

Barnum Letitia V.
Fine Arts Bldg.
Cornick Frances E. (Reader)
Ballantine-Rice Mgt., Kimball Hall
Liten Carlo (New York)
Ricker Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall
Bessie Bowyn (St. Louis)
Stein Artists' Guild, Union Av.
Mrs. Karl Buren (Wabash 9070)
Stokes 55 Auditorium Bldg.
Kate Pentzer (Harrison 5965)
1140 Morse Av., Rogers Park, Chicago

DUET PROGRAMS

Gill-Stout Rhue-Billy
Care Music News
Eastlake-Keirnan Eleanor and Kathryn
American Conservatory
Sullivan Josephine & Eugene (Milwaukee)
233 Mason st.

ENSEMBLES

Chicago Chamber Music Trio
522 Fine Arts Bldg. (Edgewater 8361)
Murdock Trio (Rogers Park 6286)
1316 Albion Av.
Russian Symphony Orchestra, Dan'l Mayer
Aeolian Hall, New York
Tollefsen Trio 946 President St.
Brooklyn, New York

HARP

Conti Mme. Amelia (Calumet 2710)
(Instruction) New Southern Hotel
Lerando Leo Zelenko (The Gables)
Swarthmore, Pa.

LANGUAGES

Berlitz School of Languages
Auditorium Building

MANAGERS

Ballantine Bureau (Wabash 8538)
1528 Kimball Hall
Bazarozy Anthony (New York)
1495 Broadway
Choir Bureau. (Harriet Martin Snow, Dir.)
64 E. Van Buren St. (Wabash 8740)
Haensel & Jones New York
Aeolian Hall
Hall Jessie B. (Bureau of Fine Arts)
425 Fine Arts Bldg. (Harrison 228)
Hanson M. H. (New York)
437 Fifth Ave.
Hawley James, Concert Director
Cable Bldg. (Wabash 1853)
Mayer Daniel. New York
Aeolian Hall
Music League OF AMERICA.
1 W. 34th St., New York
Rice Ethel M. (Wabash 1260)
1536 Kimball Hall
Shipman Vera Brady (Salina, Kan.)
Care of Daily Union
Wagner Charles (New York)
511 Fifth Ave.
Wolfsohn Musical Bureau
1 W. 34th St., New York

MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS

Baldwin Piano Co. (Wabash 4884)
323 S. Wabash Av.
Cable Piano Co. (Mason & Hamlin Pianos)
Friedrich Wabash Av. and Jackson Blvd.
John & Bro (Violins)
279 Fifth Av.,New York

ORGAN

Barnes George W. (Salina, Kan.)
Birch Christ Cathedral
Bogen Robert R. (Oak Park 6846)
Church of Redeemer.
Browne Allen W. (Blackstone 1913)
5429 Harper Av.
J. Lewis (Monroe 5550)
St. Patrick's Church, 130 S. Desplaines
Christian Palmer (Kenwood 7509)
Kenwood Evangelical Church
Conger Sylvia (La Grange 995-W)
29 S. Sixth Av., La Grange, Ill.
Cook Frances Anne (Douglas 3908)
644 Woodland Park (6th Pres. Church)
Cotsworth Albert (Main 2611)
South Cong' Church
Courboin Chas. M. (Organist, Sp'field, Mass.)
Syr. Musical Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Deal Alice R. 4359 West End Av. (Garfield 2856)
New First Congregational Church
Eddy Clarence (Concert Organist)
2021 California St., San Francisco
Edwards Marie (Kedzie 228)
Congregational Church, Wilmette, Ill.
Fickett Elizabeth Dean (Edgewater 3459)
(Accompanist) Edgewater Pres. Church
Francis J. Henry (Choral Conductor, Composer)
St. John's, Charleston, W. Va.
Fraser Arthur Randolph (Oak Park 5749)
Grace Church, Oak Park, Ill.
Gallup Emory L. (Superior 7474)
St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church
Goodwin Hugo (Superior 7283)
St. James Episcopal Church
Groom Lester W. (1916 Lincoln Av.)
Church of the Ascension
Haines Tina Mae (Kenwood 5003)
Organist St. James M. E. Church
Hancock Irving (Drexel 6903)
Trinity Episcopal Church
Hemington Francis (Home Ph. Oak Park 2464)
Church of the Epiphany
Hodge Florence (Christ Reformed Episcopal)
4717 Sheridan Road (Edgewater 106)
Holmes A. Alfred
McClurg Bldg.
Holzworth Alfred (Lincoln 4395)
2594 Orchard St.
Hyde Herbert E. (637 Fine Arts Bldg.)
St. Peter's Ch., Dir. Musical Art Society
Ickes Clara M. (accompanist) (Diversey 2510)
2727 Mildred Av. (Ravenswood Baptist)
Keller Walter (300 Fine Arts Bldg.)
Sherwood Music School
Knight Florence (Wabash 7217)
Kimball Hall
Knodle Walter St. Clare
Philadelphia, Pa.
Mattison Myrtle E.
California Av. Congregational Church
Moline Lily Wadhams (Diversey 8470)
1st Church of Christ, Scientist, Oak Park
Norton John W. (Superior 7283)
St. James Episcopal Church
Polk Harry T. Valparaiso, Ind.
1st Pres. Ch. and Schelling Theater
Porter Hugh (Hyde Park 2461)
Hyde Park Presbyterian Church
Ross Helen Worswick (Home Tel. Oak Park 4405)
Chicago Musical College.
Scheve Edward B. (Grinnell, Ia.)
Iowa College School of Music
Seder Edwin Stanley (126 E. Chestnut St.)
First Cong'l Church, Oak Park
Slade Mason (Christ Episcopal)
65th and Woodlawn Av.
Thompson John Winter (Galesburg, Ill.)
Central Congregational Church
Van Dusen Frank W.
American Conservatory
Wedertz C. Gordon
Chicago Musical College
Wild Harrison M.
1203 Kimball Hall
Zaring Irene Belden (New Eng. Cong'l Church)
4451 Winchester Av. (Ravenswood 1418)

PIANO

Abernethy Patricia (Manhattan, Kan.)
State Agricultural College
Adler Lois (Drexel 396)
1364 47th Place
Ammalee Lillian
Care of Music News
Amsbury Theo (Piano-Theory) Douglas 2723
American Conservatory
Anderson Cora
American Conservatory
Austin Electa (Sunnyside 9555)
(Northwestern Univ.) Evanston
Barber Lyell
Bush Conservatory
Birdsall Edna J. (Lincoln 4635)
2315 Seminary Av.
Blood Blanche (Piano and Violin)
9th Floor, Auditorium Bldg.
Bohnet Cleveland (Home Tel., Oakland 5240)
American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Bower Mary (Ravenswood 6287)
1953 Sunnyside Av.
Brillhart G. Davis (Gunnison, Colo.)
Colorado State Normal School
Briscoe Addison (Home Phone Midway 188)
1328 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Brown Roy David (Wabash 1761)
905-906 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Brumbaugh Frances Pierson (Home, Oak.2470)
725 Fine Arts Bldg.
Clark Helen Drummond (Midway 9608)
Studio 6239 Ellis Ave.
Cleophas Mrs. Kirsti (Piano and Voice)
Kensett, Iowa
Cleophas Gertrude,
care Music News
Cleveland Wyoneta (Chicago Musical College)
830 S. Michigan Av.
Detweiler Harry
Chicago Musical College
Doelling Mae (Concert Pianist)
2912 Burling St.
Durno Jeannette (Oakland 4638)
907 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Ehrhardt Edward V. (Graceland 5717)
523 Oakdale Av. (721 Fine Arts Bldg.)
Eidam Clarence
1625 Kimball Bldg.
Fox Albert E. (Garfield 8277)
Residence 4208 Wilcox Av.
Francis-Du Val Irene (Beverly 931)
(Organ) 2140 W. 103d St.
Frazer Arthur (Superior 8414)
116 E. Oak St.
Ganz Rudolph (Mgt. Charles L. Wagner)
511 Fifth Av., New York
Garwood Victor (Wabash 5388)
American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Gemmer Edwin J. (814 Kimball Hall)
6109 Evans Av. (Normal 3997)
George Anna E. (867 N. Dearborn St.)
Bush Conservatory
Godfrey Eleanor F. (Kimball Hall)
Chicago Piano College
Godowsky Leopold (New York)
Haensel & Jones, Aeolian Hall.
Granquist Arthur
Columbia School of Music
Haake Charles J. (Northwestern Univ., Evanston)
Fine Arts Bldg., Chicago
Haake Gail Martin (Northwest'n Univ., Evanston)
North Shore School of Music, Chicago
Hanapel Rose (Kenwood 523)
4740 Prairie Av.
Howland Betsy M. (Home Tel. Rav. 951)
Chicago Piano College (Wabash 4805)
Irons Myrle Tyler (822 Kimball Hall)
6034 Stony Island Av. (Hyde Park 9942)
Kelly Elizabeth Lee (Wellington 7383)
4028 Sheridan Road
Kelpsch Marguerite (Tel. Harrison 2074)
Lyceum Arts Conservatory
Kenney Cady (Laramie)
University Wyoming
Kimball (Pianist and Teacher), De Pauw Uv'sty.
Minnie Murdoff (Greencastle, Ind.)
Kober Georgia (Sherwood Music School)
300 Fine Arts Bldg.
La Roche Pearle (Wentworth 2630)
5528 Indiana Av.
Lapham Agnes (Hyde Park 4969)
6042 Kenwood Av.
Le Claire Florence (Diversey 1603)
2021 Bissell St.
Levitzki Mischa (Management Daniel Mayer)
Aeolian Hall, New York
Levy Heniot (Kimball Hall)
American Conservatory
Lewis George G. (Teacher) (Harrison 4868)
Cosmopolitan School
Loomis Clarence (Pianist-Composer)
American Conservatory (Oak Park 7727)
Lyon Rose (Belmont 7247)
922 Kimball Hall
Magnuson Lillian
Cosmopolitan School of Music
Marshall Caroline E. (Garfield 9470)
417 S. Central Park Av.
Paine Sarah E. (Piano and Flute)
1226 Kimball Hall (Kenwood 8021)
Park Ralph Munroe (Wabash 1761)
905-6 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Pendry Charlotte S.
Centralizing School of Music
Persson Frederick (Superior 1074)
American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Peterson Agnes (Kedzie 9035)
411 S. Homan Av.
Peterson Edna Gunnar (La Crosse, Wis.)
325 S. Seventeenth St.
Prahl Earl Victor (Superior 8700)
Bush Conservatory
Prindiville Helen (Wentworth 6547)
5934 Calumet Av.
Raab Alexander
624 S. Michigan Av.
Reckzeh Karl (Res. 2042 Bradley Pl.)
Chicago Musical College
Reuter Rudolph
624 S. Michigan Av.
Robinson Carol (Wabash 5883)
1328 Kimball Building
Ryder Mme. Sturkow (Drexel 3300)
4715 Lake Park Av.
Scionti Silvio
Kimball Hall
Seifert Myra C. (Lakeview 29)
585 Hawthorne Place
Shattuck Arthur (Milwaukee, Wis.)
325 Oakland Av.
Smith Lura Schuler (Lincoln, Neb.)
University School of Music
Spencer Allen (Pianist-Teacher)
American Conservatory
Spry Walter (Chicago)
Columbia School of Music
Stead Mabel Riggs
Peoria, Ill.
Stephen Daisy Waller (Pullman 244)
Cosmopolitan School of Music
Stephens Clyde (Coe College)
Cedar Rapids, Iowa
Stumpf Mrs. L. C. (Wellington 1855)
8608 Maple Sq. Av.
Thompson Frank Olin
Wisconsin Conservatory, Milwaukee
Tomlinson Anna (Harrison 6267)
300 Fine Arts Bldg
Wagner Oscar (Kimball Hall)
Wanieck Oscar (Harrison 4868)
Kurt (Graceland 831)
American Conservatory

Warren Minnette (St. Paul) Schiffmann Bldg.
Watt Harmon H. (Kimball Hall) Chicago Piano College
Weed Myrtle (St. Paul, Minn.) 802 Pittsburgh Bldg.
Wells Howard (Kenwood 651) 4958 Blackstone Av.
Willard Carolyn Louise 1628 Kimball Bldg.
Williams Anne (Columbus 1760) 28 Latrobe Av.
Wilson Raymond (Syracuse University) Syr. Mus. Bureau, Syracuse, N. Y.
Zygman Flora G. (Concert Pianist) 825-7 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5013)

PIPE ORGANS

Casavant Bros. Organ Builders South Haven, Mich.

PUBLISHERS

Bingham Helena (Illinois Music Co.) 2622 Marino St., Los Angeles, Cal.
Bond Carrie Jacobs & Son 744 S. Michigan Av.
Fearis (J. S.) & Bro., Chicago 4547 N. St. Louis Av.
Fischer (J.) & Bro., New York 7 and 11 Bible House
Gamble Hinged Music Co. 67 E. Van Buren St.
Gilbert Music Co. (Irving 359) 3924 Irving Pk. Blvd.
MacDermid James G. Fine Arts Bldg.
Summy Clayton F. (Co.) 64 E. Van Buren St.
Witmark M. & Sons (New York) 144 W. 37th St.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC

McConathy Osbourne (Theory, Conducting) Northwestern Univ. Sch'l of Music
Robinson O. E., American Conservatory 6518 Kenwood Av. (Hyde Pk. 3377)
Votaw Lyravine, 10th flr. Audit. Bldg.(Wab.8238) 6026 Kenwood av. (Hyde Park 6738)

SCHOOLS

American Consevatory (Wabash 5388) Kimball Hall
Auditorium Conservatory, Mus. & Dr'm'tic Art 55 Auditor'm Bldg. (Wabash 9070)
Balatka Acad. Musical Art (Anna Balatka, Dir.) 819 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 612)
Bintliff Mrs. Elizabeth Battie School of Music, Ripon, Wis.
Brail School of Music (Florence Brail) 812 Kimball Hall and 403 E. 61st St.
Centralizing School of Music (Wabash 6349) 20 E. Jackson Blvd.
Chapek Music School. 3452 Broadway J H Chapek, Dir. (Graceland 2621)
Chicago Kindergarten Inst. C. C. Cronise, Sec. 701 Rush St.
Chicago Piano College 910 Kimball Hall (Wabash 4805)
Chicago School of Expression and Dramatic Art Fine Arts Bldg. (Harrison 5965)
Columbia School of Music. 509 S. Wabash Av. (Clare Osborne Reed, Dir.)
Cosmopolitan Sch'l of Music (Harrison 4868) 1625 Kimball Bldg.
Dearborn School of Lyceum Arts Auditorium Bldg. (Wabash 6867)
Doney A. M. Musical College 2820 W. 36th St.
Grinnell College (George L. Pierce, Dir.) Grinnell, Iowa.
Heizer Music Sch.(1215 Douglas St., Sioux City, Ia.) Dir. Fr. and Mrs. Frederick Heizer
Hinshaw Conservatory of Music 1110 Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 8335)
Knox Conservatory of Music (Wm. F. Bentley, Dir.) Galesburg, Ill.
Knupfer Walter R. (School of Fine Arts) Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8793)
Loudon The Jennette (Studios) 614 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 8806)
Lyceum Arts Conservatory (Harrison 2074) 600-10 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Mandy School of Music (Wabash 8173) 817-19 Kimball Hall
M. A. Monzel Musical College 911 Kimball Hall
Moody Bible Institute of Chicago 153 Institute Pl.
Musin Virtuoso School for Violin 51 W. 76th St., New York
Northwestern University School of Music Evanston, Ill.
Orchard School of Music and Expression 1537 Hyde Park Blvd. (Blackstone 1789)
Preiser School of Music (Austin 2541) (Fannie B. Preiser, Dir.) 530 Pine Av.
Sherwood Music School (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg.
Saint Cecilia Conservatory Winona, Minn.
Tone-Color Studios. Music, etc. (E. Larrabee, Dir.) Aud. Bldg. & 602 Arlington Pl.
Valparaiso University School of Music Valparaiso, Indiana
Virgil Piano Conservatory 11 W. 68th St., New York
Western Conservatory. (E. H. Scott, Pres.) Kimball Hall (Tel. Wabash 3506)

SOLFEGE, HARMONY, COMPOSITION

Lagourgue Charles, 616 S. Michigan Ave. (Harrison 1719)

TEACHERS' AGENCIES

Allen J. E. (Musical Artist Teachers' Agency) 101 Park Av., New York.

THEORY

Andersen Arthur Olaf (Home Phone H. P. 5783) American Conservatory
Butler Lester S. Worcester, Mass.
Cole Rossetter (Res. Phone Midway 118) 719 Fine Arts Bldg.
Frothingham Frances (Piano) 605 Kimball Bldg.
Graham A. Cyril (Harrison 2580) 509 Wabash Av.
Lutkin Peter C. Evanston, Ill.
Watt Harmon H. Kimball Hall
Wrightson Herbert J. (Piano, Organ) 610 Fine Arts Bldg. (Wabash 2583)

TEACHERS' CLASSES

Mr. & Mrs. Crosby Adams Montreat, N.C.
Dunning Carrie Louise 8 W. 40th St., New York City
Long Carrie Munger (Dunning System) Congress Hotel
MacDonald Harriet Bacon (Dunning System) 3623 Pine Grove av. (L. V. 9037)
Perfield Effa Ellis (950 McClurg Bldg.) National Conservatory of Music

VIOLIN

Barker John (Austin 2541; Home, Elmhurst 43-R) Preiser School of Music, Austin
Barron Robert Louis (Eugene, Ore.) University School of Music
Brambach John M. (Irving 5717) 4045 N. St. Louis Ave.
Breeskin Elias (New York) Daniel Mayer, Aeolian Hall
Breytspraak Ruth (West 738) Knupfer Studio, 630 Fine Arts Bldg
Brokaw Raipn Wichita, Kan.
Brown Mildred (Ravenswood 8448) 2120 Wilson Av.
De Vore Jessie (Blackstone 1789; Drexel 6071) Orchard School, 1535 Hyde Park Blvd.
Durkee Corrol B. (Home Tel. Garfield 2149) 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Western Cons.)
Dyson Lois F. (Harrison 6267) Fine Arts Bldg. (Sherwood School)
Fischel Max L. Chicago Musical College
Frederiksen Frederik (Hm. Ph. Graceland 9166) Studio 600, Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Garagusi Nicholas (New York) M'gt Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St.
Ginsburg Ralph (Wabash 8335) Hinshaw Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Girvin Ramon B. (Albany 2368) American Conservatory
Goldblatt Maurice H. Chicago Musical College
Harris Graham (New York) 240 E. Tremont Av.
Heymar Wally (Sunnyside 1995) 5683 Ridge Av.
Konecny Josef (Phone Lincoln 2944) Tone Color Studios
Kortschak Hugo (New York) 850 Park av.
Kribben Bertha (St. Louis, Mo.) 1050 Thornby St.
Leach Rowland Bush Conservatory
Lipschultz George Milton (Lawndale 5402) 212 Grand Av., Milwaukee, Wis.
Lowe-Pierson Lela (Rogers Park 4701) 6807 Wayne Av.
Lynch Rhea Dorothy (Columbus 2452) 242 N. Mason St.
Michaelis Ralph (Hyde Park 966) 914 Kimball Hall
Mixer Chas. Mitchell (Home Ph. Rogers Pk. 9543) American Conservatory, Kimball Hall
Neill Amy Emerson (Hyde Park 6322) 1446 E. Marquette Road
Welge Gladys (Home Ph., Austin 3417) Preiser Sch. Music, 530 N. Pine av.
Yost Gaylord, 824 N. Pennsylvania St. Indianapolis, Ind.
Zebrowska-Perlowska Antoinette 7812 S. Shore Dr.

VIOLONCELLO

Gegna Max (Julius Daiber) Aeolian Hall, New York
Hess Hans (Edgewater 8361) Fine Arts Bldg.
Slack Anne (Home Ph. Lawndale 3668) American Conservatory

VOICE

Aaron Miriam (Los Angeles, Cal.) 155 S. Kingsley Drive
Annette-Gifford Ethel (Tel. Wentworth 5892) 6237 South Park Av.
Arden Cecil (Metropolitan Opera Co.) Mgt. Emil Reich, 1 W. 34th St., New York
Arendt Else Harthan (Graceland 4997) 819 Sheridan Rd.
Arnd Margaret Louise (Lake View 1657) 3814 Sheffield Av.
Bailey Mr. and Mrs. Herbert (Huron, S. D.) Dir. of Music, Huron College
Baldwin Jessie Nichols(Home Ph. Oakland 8585) Orchard School. 1535 Hyde Park Blvd.
Balfour Constance (New York) Mgt. Daniel Mayer
Barradell Kennard 624 S. Michigan Av.
Bastedo Orrin (New York) 257 W. 86th St.
Beatty Wilbur (Columbus 5032) (Baritone), 331 N. Central Av.
Bender Celia (Piano) (Armitage 4397) Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Berger Emily E. (Contralto) (Oak Park 5163) 418 W. Lake St., Oak Park
Bibb Kathleen Hart (Minneapolis, Minn.) Metropolitan Music Bldg.
Boardman Arthur (Hyde Park 6137) (Tenor) 1536 E. 65th Place
Bowman Mrs. Hatswell (Evanston, Ill.) Northwestern Univ. School of Music
Brashear Roberta (Kedzie 2167) (Soprano) 139 N. Homan Av.
Braun Anna C. (Monticello 5050) 4937 N. Drake Av.
Breed Liela A. 523 Fine Arts Bldg.
Brenk Ethel (Milwaukee, Wis.) 137—20th St.
Brittan Louise (Harrison 6267) 300 Fine Arts Bldg.
Browne Kathryn E. (Soprano) 6945 Stewart Av. (Normal 3162)
Burmeister Anna (Soprano) (Ravenswood 4527) 4527 Greenview Av.
Burton Arthur (Harrison 5802) 618 Fine Arts Bldg.
Burton Louise (Wabash 8703) 800 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Butler Hanna (Wabash 4870) 512 Fine Arts Bldg. (Soprano)
Calkins Elton (Summerdale Cons.) 1209 Morse Av. (Rogers Park 2928)
Campbell Sara Irene (Austin 6201) Chicago Musical College
Carpenter Allen Rae (Hyde Park 7604) 816 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8700)
Carpi Fernando (New York) Metropolitan Opera Co.
Case Anna (New York) Aeolian Hall, Mgt. Musical Bureau
Caspers Bertha (Soprano) (Kenwood 870) 4748 Champlain Av.
Castle Lester Hugo (Blackstone 1359) (Basso) 6434 Ellis Av.
Caton Louis (Calumet 459) 728 Fine Arts Bldg. (Har. 6528)
Chaiser Florence (Rogers Park 2034)
Chalmers Thomas J. (Baritone) New York Metropolitan Opera Co.
Clark Charles W. (Superior 8700) 839 N. Dearborn St.
Clarke Edward (Res. Ph. Edgewater 9133) (Baritone) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Clippinger D. A. 617-18 Kimball Hall
Clissold Edward T., 327 S. La Salle St. (Baritone) Con. Men's Fall Festival since 1908
Cook Dwight Edrus (Grinnell, Ia.) (Tenor) Grinnell College
Cook John Loring (Tenor) 817 Kimball Hall (Wabash 8173)
Comer Sybil (Harrison 2074) 600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Crabbs Elmer J. (Park Ridge 2111) (Tenor) Park Ridge, Ill.
Craven Carl E. (Tenor), 422 Fine Arts Bldg. 305 E. 54th St. (Oakland 6451)
Crow Ben C. (Tel. Beverly 3121) (Baritone) Morgan Park, Ill.
Dahlstrom Margaret (Western Conservatory) 1227 Kimball Bldg. (Irving 5613)
De Lima Edna (New York) 158 Madison Av.
De Luca Giuseppe (Metropolitan Bureau) Aeolian Hall, New York
Devries Herman 518-528 Fine Arts Bldg.
Diaz Rafaelo (Tenor) Metropolitan Opera, New York
Dickey Annabelle MacIntyre (Res. Hyde Pk. 7397) (Contralto) 422 Fine Arts Bldg.
Diederich Walter (Austin 2111) (Tenor) 5526 W. Monroe St.
Donath Kurt (Tenor) 613-614 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Downing Frederica Gerhardt (Oak Park 1478) 209 S. Harvey Av., Oak Park, Ill.
Dressler Eugene (Ravenswood 3661) 4436 N. Ashland Av.

Dufresne Edouard
823 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Dunford Frank M. (Basso) (Kedzie 8310)
710 S. Central Park Av.
Easton Florence (New York)
Haensel & Jones
Eilert Edward (Baritone) (Evanston 3317-R)
1300 Main St., Evanston, Ill.
English Arthur B. (Kenwood 6432)
905 Kimball Hall
Evans Frederick Vance (Appleton, Wis.)
Lawrence Conservatory
Evans Ruby (Kenwood 9735)
Mgt. James Hawley
Ewen Emma (Soprano)
220 N. Kostner Av. (Superior 6234)
Fannell Thomas A. (Tenor) (Rogers Park 3020)
6579 Lakewood Av.
Ferguson Alice Geer (Soprano) (Gary 1504)
810 Van Buren St., Gary, Ind.
Fernando Francisco ,Dramatic Tenor
Teacher, 244 E. 23d St., New York
Ferrari Leonora (Calumet 2452)
(Soprano) Care Music News
Fitch Mary Rickard (Home Ph., Beverly 1846)
Lyceum Arts Conservatory
Fitziu Anna (New York)
Majestic Hotel
Fleming Gertrude Ogden (Wabash 6349)
Centralizing School of Music
Freeman Ida Belle (Columbus 2593)
(Contralto) 5906 W. Ohio St.
French-Barr Melba Mae (Edgewater 8322)
1530 Kimball Bldg.
Gale Permelia (Oak Park)
304 N. Oak Park Av.
Galagher Chas. E. (Chi. Bureau Fine Arts)
425 Fine Arts Bldg. (Harr. 228)
Gallagher Madeline (Kedzie 4886)
3455 Fillmore St.
Galli-Curci Amelita (511 5th Av., New York)
Management Chas. L. Wagner
Gannon Rose Lutiger (Austin 1352)
624 S. Michigan Av.
Garner George R. (Kenwood 2814)
4405 Champlain Av.
Gilbert Elizabeth Hallenbeck (Soprano)
Lawrence Cons., Appleton, Wis.
Gould Herbert (Rogers Park 9440)
523 Fine Arts Bldg.
Griffith Yeatman (New York)
318 W. 82d St.
Groff-Bryant Anna (Galesburg, Ill.)
Director Lombard College
Hadley Grant (Baritone) (Wabash 1260)
Kimball Hall
Hageman Richard (New York)
304 W. 71st St.
Hall Mabel Preston (Midway 6120)
5416 Cornell Av.
Hammond Freeman M. (Harrison 2074)
600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Harmon Raymond (U. S. Army Hospital, 12)
France
Harris Milon R. (Wabash 4805)
929 Kimball Hall
Hartman Lucy J. (Tel. O. P. 7315)
605 S. Ridgeland Av., Oak Park
Hassler-Fox Mme. (New York)
133 Fifth Av.
Hatfield Veada K., (River Forest 3170)
361 Forest Av., River Forest, Ill.
Haworth Helen Boyle (Superior 4670)
(Contralto) 9 W. Goethe St.
Hebert Harriet L. V. (Hyde Park 5092)
817 Kimball Bldg. (Wabash 8173)
Highsmith-Lyding Mary
6816 Cornell Ave.
Hoffman Grace (New York)
216 W. 72d St.
Holinger Elsa (Lincoln 3772)
629 Deming Pl.
Holmquist Gustaf (Sunnyside 6111)
624 S. Michigan Av.
Holstman Orpha Kendall (Kenwood 4414)
1124 E. 46th St.
Hostetter Hildred Hansen (Graceland 2927)
2837 Burling St.
Huelster A. O. (Wabash 5018)
825-27 Kimball Hall
Johnson Frank (Basso Cantante)
1914 Montrose Av. (Sunnyside 4073)
Johnson Hertha E. (Harrison 7949)
1207 Kimball Hall
Johnson Jennie F. W. (Kenwood 6513)
700 Oakwood Boul.
Johnston Lillian (Home Ph. Garfield 7672)
1328 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5883)
Johnstone-Bishop Genevra (Soprano)
624 S. Michigan Av.
Jones Ethel Edith (Sunnyside 3448)
Columbia School of Music
Keating Cornelia M. (Sherwood Mus. School)
510 W. 69th St. (Wentworth 4021)
Kilby Lemuel W. (Home ph., Graceland 9275)
613 Lyon & Healy Bldg. (Wabash 7165)
Kimbell Grant (Tenor)
4756 Forrestville Av. (Drexel 8519)
Kingston Morgan (New York, Aeolian Hall)
Metropolitan Musical Bureau
Knowlton Jean (Superior 4603)
(Soprano) 620 Fine Arts Bldg.
Knotts Richard (Pittsburgh, Pa.)
Cameraphone Bldg.
Krum Mrs. Chas. (Gr. Crossing) (Drexel 2968)
621 Fine Arts Bldg.
Kuppin Louis (Tenor) (Oakland 6179)
521 Fine Arts Bldg.
La Fond Phyllis (New York)
Mg't Antonia Sawyer Aeolian Hall
Lamont Forrest (528 W. 111th St., New York)
Chicago Opera Assn.

Landwer Lillian (Lincoln 8880)
915 Diversey Parkway
Lang Wilhelmine (Dram. Soprano)
2054 W. Chicago Av. (Humboldt 24)
Langenhan Christie (Mgt. Hugo Boucek)
116 W. 39th St., New York.
Langer Ora Padget (Blackstone 1828)
1369 E. 52d St.
Lash DeWitt Durgin (Wabash 8662)
420 Fine Arts Bldg.
Latchaw Guy C. (Moody Institute)
(Baritone) 153 Institute place
Lazzari Carolina (New York)
Management Charles L. Wagner
Lee Kathryn (New York)
1425 Broadway (Raoul Biais)
Lenox Lucy Roberts (Oak Park 3530-R)
1019 Superior St., Oak Park, Ill.
Lester Margaret Smith (Midway 8888)
5211 Blackstone Av.
Lewis Maude (Oakland 955)
(Soprano) Cosmopolitan School of Music
Libberton Cora (Soprano)
1839 Hammond St. (Lake View 177)
Lindley Florence Caro (Ravenswood 679)
1615 Granville Av.
Lowenberg Ruth (Soprano)
4236 Grand Blvd. (Drexel 1863)
Lund Rene S. (Baritone)
3302 W. Adams St. (Van Buren 1763)
Lutton Charles Edwin (Harrison 1277)
6538 Woodlawn Av. (Blackstone 3384)
Macbeth Florence (New York)
Daniel Mayer (Aeolian Hall)
MacBurney Thomas
609 Fine Arts Bldg.
McCormack John (New York)
Charles Wagner, 511 Fifth Av.
MacDermid Sibyl Sammis (Midway 1999)
520 Fine Arts Bldg.
Maclennan Francis (New York)
Haensel & Jones
Mann Ellen Kinsman
429 Fine Arts Bldg. (Midway 1289)
Marcusson Grace Brune (West 611)
400 Fine Arts Bldg.
McGaw Winifred S. (Rogers Park 9118)
(Contralto) 1416 Jonjuil terrace
McGranahan Thos. J. (with the Colors)
Address 7939 Harvard Av.
Miessner W. Otto (Milwaukee)
521 Beverly Road
Miller Alta (Mezzo Soprano), 1707 Hinman Av.,
Evanston (Evanston 318)
Miller Reed (New York City)
Mgt. Haensel & Jones, Aeolian Hall
Miller Sophie (Voice and Harmony)
931 Kimball Hall (Graceland 6296)
Minninger Florence (Edgewater 6833)
5864 Magnolia Av.
Mountz S. W. (Los Angeles)
Hotel Sherman (Main 7087)
Muenstermann Esther(Hm.Ph.Superior 6635)
608 Fine Arts Bl.(Wab. 8988)
Mullen Marie Kern (Phone Wabashi 5918)
(Contralto) Intrnat'l Coll. of Music)
Nakutin Alexander (Harrison 6701)
823 Kimball Hall
Namara Marguerite (Soprano)
Chicago Opera Association
Neff Hazel Dell (Pittsburgh, Pa.)
4263 Fifth Av.
Nevin Olive
Sewickley, Pa.
Noe Emma (Dramatic Soprano)
Chicago Opera Association
North Dorothea (Drexel 1549)
4601 Michigan Boul.
Olin Nora Loraine, 504 Lake St., Oak Park
605 Kimball Hall (Wabash 5065)
Owens H. W. (Seeley 1147)
2112 Washington Blvd.
Papert Frances (Normal 7360)
(Contralto) 223 E. 55th Pl.
Paradiso Donato A. (New York)
807 Carnegie Hall,
Parmenter Thirza Mosher (Lyc. Arts Cons.)
Lyon and Healy Bldg.
Parry Mme. Barbereux
514 Fine Arts Bldg.
Pease (Bass) 910 Colfax St., Evanston
Peterson Alma
Chicago Grand Opera Co.
Peterson-Barth Helen (Edgewater 1847)
(Contralto) 1440 Carmen Av.
Peterson May (Metropol. Opera Co.), New York
Mgt. Mus. League of Amer., 1 W. 34th St.
Pfeiffer May (Austin 9798)
4718 Washington Blvd.
Phillips William (Baritone)
Cosmopolitan School of Music
Pierce Adelaide (St. Paul, Minn.)
Schiffman Bldg. (Warren Mgt.)
Proctor Warren E. (Maywood 1615)
Res. 1845 S. Ninth Av., Maywood, Ill.
Quait Robert Loren (Midway 6996)
7431 Kimbark Av.
Rankel John R. (Wabash 8324)
400 Fine Arts Bldg.
Ranous Arthur (Baritone) (Diversey 1617)
900 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Raymond Marion Taylor (Rogers Park 1494)
1317 Greenleaf Ave.
Reed Alma Hays (Soprano)
6543 Glenwood Ave.
Remington Thomas (Home Ph., Irving 4973)
American Conservatory
Ringo Marguerite (New York)
414 W. 121st St. (Morningside 8905)

Roberts Kathryn (Contralto)
3900 Sheridan Rd. (Wellington 9649)
Roney Henry B., Suite 633 Fine Arts Bldg.
1021 Leland Ave. (Sunnyside 6912)
Ruggles E. Bernice (Soprano and Accompanist)
Cosmopolitan School, Kimball Hall
Russell Estelle L. (Tel. O. P. 3506-W.)
807-808 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Saenger Oscar (New York)
6 81st Street
Samoiloff Lazar S. (New York)
Carnegie Hall
Schumann-Heink Ernestine,
3672 Michigan Avenue
Schuster Katherine (Lyric Diction)
Centralizing School, 20 E. Jackson Blvd.
Scott Gilderoy (Contralto)
848 Wilson Av. (Edgewater 4805)
Seabury Berniece (Douglas 3584)
2914 Ellis Avenue
Shaffer Helen Louise (Hyde Park 6728)
512 Fine Arts Bldg. (Ass't, Hanna Butler)
Silver Hazel (Superior 8700)
Bush Conservatory
Sjoselius Alice (New York)
Mgt. Evelyn Hopper
Slade Louise Harrison (Contralto)
1243 N. State St. (Superior 5718)
Smith Mable Corlew Superior 5544)
Alexandria Hotel
Smith William Griswald
6758 Perry Av.
Snider Blanche (Wabash 7900)
429 Fine Arts Bldg.
Sparkes Lenora (Daniel Meyer,
Aeolian Hall, New York
Starr Freda (Soprano)
614 Wayne St. (Sandusky, O.)
Steele Mary H. (Douglas 3945)
619 Groveland Park
Stein Karl Buren (Wabash 9070)
55 Auditorium Bldg.
Stevenson Lucille
1625 Kimball Hall
Stults Walter A. (Evanston) Kimball Hall
Northwestern University School of Music
Stults Monica Graham (Evanston, Ill.)
1519 Hinman Av.
Tamminga Ethel (Lincoln 813)
2711 Lincoln Av.
Tenney Mr. and Mrs. George L.
Lewis Institute (West 793)
Tew Whitney (Wabash 6990)
613 Fine Arts Bldg.
Thatcher Burton (Baritone)
Chicago Musical College
Thornburgh Myrtle
72 W. 68th St., New York
Thorne Ruth (Tr. Harrison 228)
(Soprano) 863 N. LaSalle Av.
Thomson Mary Peck (Res. ph., Douglas 3908)
620 Fine Arts Bldg.
Tillema Lola Pierson (Soprano)
1461 Catalpa Av. (Edgewater 1177)
Todd Ernest O. (Tenor) (Edgewater 3765)
301 S. Wabash Av.
Tregillus Aurelia (Harrison 4480)
904 Kimball Hall
Trevisan Vittorio (Chicago Opera Asso.)
904 Kimball Hall (Harrison 4480)
Trowbridge J. B. (Tenor, Conductor, Lecturer)
Bible Institute, Los Angeles, Cal.
Vander Meer Celia (609 Fine Arts Bldg.)
403 W. 103rd (Wabash 8988)
Vance Mary Hesselgren (Rogers Park 1028)
1100 Loyola Av. (Metropolitan Cons.)
Van Der Veer Nevada (New York) Mgt.
Haensel & Jones, Aeolian Hall
Van Grove Mabel Cox (Harrison 5965)
Fine Arts Bldg.
Van Pyk Tor (Lyceum Arts Conservatory)
600 Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Van Sant La Forte (Teacher)
1456 Kimball Hall
Van Yorx Theodore (New York)
22 W. 39th St.
Ver Haar Edna Swanson (Pullman 4041)
11104 Indiana Av
Votaw Lyravine (Wabash 8238)
110 Auditorium Bldg.
Wait Barbara (Contralto)
632 Fine Arts Bldg.
Wall May (Oakland 1220)
(Contralto) 4140 Drexel Blvd.
Waterman Carl (Appleton, Wis.)
Lawrence Conservatory
Weaver Iva Bigelow, Lyon & Healy Bldg.
Mary Wood Chase School
Webster Frank B.
1506 Kimball Hall
Wessman Mildred (Ravenswood 7955)
5404 N. Paulina St.
Westervelt Louise St. John (Superior 1408)
Columbia School of Music
Wheatley Walter
Lincoln, Neb.
White Emily (Phone Wellington 2115)
3809 Alta Vista Terrace
Blossom (Green Bay, Wis.)
Wilcox 114 Ashland Ave.
Williams Dr. Carver
Kimball Bldg.
Witherspoon Herbert (New York)
44 W. 86th St.
Wynekoop Lucille Megahan (Edgewater 3358)
4500 Sheridan Rd.
Zendt Marie Sidenius (Edgewater 5796)
853 Lafayette Parkway

Refinement of Tone and Delicacy of Touch

Are the Distinguishing Features of the

Baldwin Piano

IT is these features that lend confidence to an artist when playing a recital. Nothing is so inspiring to even the amateur as the sympathetic tone and the wonderfully responsive action of the Baldwin.

Honored by Greatest Awards at International Expositions

The Baldwin Piano Co.

Manufacturers

323 SOUTH WABASH AVENUE, CHICAGO

---

Elizabeth Lee
PIANIST KELLY
4028 SHERIDAN ROAD

---

WILLIAM PHILLIPS
BARITONE—Recital, Oratorio, Concert
Cosmopolitan School of Music
Res. Ph., Lake Forest 641

---

LESTER S. BUTLER
STUDIOS: 20 Forest Street, Lexington—Day Building, Worcester, Mass.
Voice, Harmony. Local Editor "Music News." Special Writer on Musical and Other Topics. New Rapid and Ben Pitman Shorthand Writer and Teacher. (Study these by mail.)

---

RUDOLPH REUTER
PIANIST
Management HAENSEL & JONES
Aeolian Hall New York

---

OSCAR WAGNER
PIANIST
Kimball Bldg. Harrison 4868

---

RUBY EVANS
SOPRANO CHICAGO OPERA ASSOCIATION
Mgt. James Hawley, Cable Bldg.

---

FLORENCE MINNINGER
SOPRANO
A Successful Concert Singer
For Dates Address 5804 Magnolia Ave. Phone Edgewater 6833.

---

Clarence Eidam Pianist
16th Floor, Kimball Bldg. CHICAGO

---

HUGH PORTER CONCERT ORGANIST
Instruction Recital
1400 E. 53d Street Phone Hyde Park 2461

---

Richard Knotts BASS-BARITONE
Concert—Recital—Oratorio
Cameraphone Bldg. Pittsburgh, Pa.

---

Peoria Musical College
FRANKLIN STEAD, Director
School of Expression MUSIC Modern Language
Faculty of 28 teachers who have enjoyed study with the best American and European masters. Catalog sent on request. Address
PEORIA MUSICAL COLLEGE, Cor. Madison Av. & Fayette St., Peoria, Ill

---

Languages | The Berlitz School of Languages
Auditorium, Congress Street Entrance
Telephone Harrison 392
All Languages by Superior Native Teachers
Terms Reasonable Trial Lessons Free
Private Lessons and Classes School or Residence
400 BRANCHES IN ALL COUNTRIES

---

Gertrude Cleophas
Pupil of Zeisler and Leschetizky Pianist
Brooks-Evans Building ..Minneapolis, Minn.

---

HARRIET L. V. HEBERT
Pupils CONTRALTO Recitals
6417 Minerva Avenue

---

GEORGIA
KOBER
PIANIST Sherwood Music School
300 Fine Arts Building Chicago

---

BRAIL FLORENCE R.
School of Music
812 Kimball Hall. Branch, 403 E. 61st St.

---

J. S. FEARIS & BRO.
Publishers of the FEARIS and other COMPOSITIONS
4547 N. St. Louis Avenue

---

Lemuel Kilby
BASS-BARITONE
613 Lyon & Healy Bldg.

---

Northwestern University
SCHOOL OF MUSIC
The University School of Music offers courses in Piano, Organ, Violin, Violoncello, Voice and Theory of Music leading to academic degrees. Also a diploma course in Public School and Community Music. Literary studies in the College of Liberal Arts included without extra cost. Thorough Preparatory School maintained. Refined social environment and beautiful situation on the wooded shores of Lake Michigan.

The professional String Quartet, the student Symphony Orchestra of eighty, a junior orchestra of thirty-five, the A Capella Choir and the presence of the Evanston Musical Club and the great North Shore Musical Festivals with choruses totaling over 2,000 voices offer unparalleled practical advantages.

SEND FOR DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF COURSES

PETER CHRISTIAN LUTKIN, Dean
EVANSTON, ILL.

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS-URBANA
3 0112 097182353